Believe Arabs Bulwark Against Reds

Britain Wants To Keep Arab Friendship, Excellent Safeguard

LONDON, May 22 — (AP) — Britain was reported reliably today to have told the United States reservation of Arab friendship is essential to safeguard the Middle East against the march of Communism.

Diplomatic officials said that was Britain's answer to still-informal American protests against an avowed British intention to stick by treaty obligations to supply Arab nations with arms "unless and until" the United Nations intervenes in Palestine.

Lewis Douglas, United States ambassador, called on Foreign Secretary Bevin to discuss the situation, it was officially announced.

Though official sources refused formal comment, it was learned British officials here and in Washington have told the United States Arab-British relations must be maintained as a "great barrier" against the flow of Communism to the south.

The foreign office acknowledged steady exchange is going on between Washington and London in an effort to reach an accord on Palestine policies but said there has been no result.

One responsible source expressed doubt such an agreement could be reached unless and until a stalemate in the Arab-Jewish struggle should enable the United States and Britain jointly to intervene. Even then, this source said, Britain would insist upon acting only in consultation with her Arab "allies."

British reaction to American support of Israel has ranged from alarm at mounting tension between the two countries over Palestine to indignation over a move in the senate appropriations committee to investigate whether American financial aid is being used to help Arab armies.

The United States wants the U.N. security council to (1) declare formally that a breach of the peace has occurred in Palestine and (2) issue a mandatory cease fire order. If either side failed to obey, the council could invoke sanctions against the offender.

Baby Twister Hits Bonarlaw

BONARLAW, May 22 — (ENS). — Following a heavy rain shower from the east Friday noon on the 7th Concession of Rawdon township, a violent wind from the northwest, of twister proportions, clashed with the front of the shower over the farm of Robert Mathews. In five minutes a large barn, a henhouse and several young apple trees in the nearby orchard were levelled.

There were three horses and eight calves in the barn and the father of a Dutch immigrant family of seven children was knocked unconscious by falling timbers. He was hauled from the wreckage and apparently suffered no more than minor bruises. The animals were removed from the ruined buildings when help arrived. The rear addition of the farm dwelling proper was shifted on its foundations but withstood the fury of the wind. No damage estimate has been set at the present time.

Picton Man Wounded When Shell Explodes

PICTON, May 22 — Using a power saw in her father's workshop, Dorain Weese Friday cut the tendons of her right hand. She was taken to Belleville hospital by a neighbor.

At nearby Cherry Valley, Vernon Armstrong sustained a deep wound in the left arm when a shell exploded in his shotgun. The end of the barrel was blown off and a piece of metal pierced his arm.

AT HOME WITH THE TULIPS — Prime Minister Mackenzie King has liked flowers from away back and like the hundreds of Parliament Hill inhabitants eagerly watches every spring for the first tulip to show its head out of the vast floral beds that make the Hill a mass of color. More than 400,000 tulip bulbs were planted in the countless beds and borders and produce these gorgeous blooms every year. —Photo by Malak, Ottawa

Seek Husband In Wife's Death

VANCOUVER, May 22 — (CP). — Body of Mrs. Joanna Baker was found Friday night in her suburban South Burnaby home and police said they were looking for her 31-year-old husband, Percy, in connection with the slaying. Police said the woman's head had been smashed with a hammer and her throat garrotted with a silk stocking.

Body of the woman was discovered by her three young children at 10 p.m. when they entered the house after playing in the backyard. The children told police their mother worked in a restaurant and normally slept late during the day.

Police tentatively set the time of death at 2 p.m. Friday afternoon.

The three Baker children are Vivian, 7, Jackie, 6, and Bonnie, 5.

Crack Police Preparing To Smash Baby Racket

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 22 — (CP). — The crack police forces of two nations combined today in the job of smashing a widespread international black market in babies.

Drawn into the swiftly spreading investigation were the R.C.M.P. and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Saint John police and Children's Aid officials said the ring's operations extended as far south as New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Operations of the black market centre in Saint John, where a boarding home served as a clearing house, babies sold for as much as $1,500, most of them going to the New York and Newark, N.J., areas. Some children were sold twice. Twins brought a premium.

Premier John McNair, who is also attorney-general for New Brunswick, said he had written the external affairs department

Argentine Embassy Clerk Under Arrest in Ottawa

OTTAWA, May 22 — (CP). — RCMP officers are anxious to learn why a 26-year-old Argentine Embassy clerk had in his possession a German sub-machine gun and a .38 revolver. The clerk, Debonair Enrique Ladesma, will appear in court today on a charge of being in illegal possession of offensive firearms. He was arrested on Friday as a county bailiff seized his costly, four-door sedan in a downtown garage to meet a $219 bill for long distance telephone calls, all believed made to his native Argentina.

In his hotel room, he at first barred police from entry, claiming diplomatic immunity, which the Embassy failed to verify.

Police officers found a pearl-handled revolver among a pile of shirts in a chest of drawers. A search of the seized sedan disclosed a .38 millimetre sub-machine gun wrapped in brown paper in the trunk of the car.

After two hours of police questioning, Ladesma was reported claiming he purchased the weapon for $24, expecting to dispose of it in Argentina for $1,000.

Touches Off Probe
It was George (Buck) Boucher, Ottawa Senators' coach, who touched off the 10-weeks' investigation which preceded the arrest.

In a hotel room next to Ladesma's, Boucher heard him moving "around" all hours of the night, and constantly running water in the wash basin. Boucher "got the impression he might be developing pictures," and tipped off a former member of parliament who tabbed the Mounties.

R.C.M.P. officers opened a quiet investigation and said Friday night: "We are not yet in a position to state what has been disclosed so far... we are most anxious to learn why he was in possession of a machine gun and why he carried a revolver in a shoulder holster."

Wanted to Keep Baby
First knowledge of the ring came when an unmarried mother, who offered her baby to the black market agents and then decided to keep the child, appealed to the police for help.

Travis W. Cushing, president of the Children's Aid Society, said more than 50 babies had been sold during the last year. Most of them went to the United States but several were sold in Canada.

He said two women acted as agents, working through previous clients who knew of unmarried mothers. A Saint John professional man was said to be leader of the ring. He is believed to have been connected with a similar organization operating in another province.

Ralston Dies Suddenly In Montreal

Ex-Defence Minister Working On Friday, Died During Sleep

MONTREAL, May 22 — (CP). — Col. James Layton Ralston, wartime minister of national defence who resigned from the cabinet after a difference of opinion on conscription policy, died Friday night.

J. E. L. Duquet, partner in his law firm, said death came suddenly in his sleep to Col. Ralston, who was 66.

Appointed to the defence portfolio after the death in an airplane crash of his predecessor, Hon. Norman Rogers, Col. Ralston held the post until he quit in October, 1944.

During the intervening period he carried most of the political responsibility for the surging growth of Canada's three armed services.

The post was not strange to him. He had been defence minister in Prime Minister Mackenzie King's cabinet in 1926; and during the first world war he had a distinguished record as an officer in the field.

And he was familiar with the wartime administration, too, for he had been finance minister from Sept. 7, 1939, until he took Mr. Rogers' place.

The defence ministry, under the stress of war, had been divided into three, with Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, now Premier of Nova Scotia, looking after the navy; Hon. C. G. Power minister for air, and Col. Ralston giving main attention to the army.

Heavy Load
For four years, Col. Ralston—who made a national reputation between the war as a commercial lawyer—carried the heavy load of his office, including the increasing

Burned In Crash

PORT HOPE, May 22 — (ENS). — Pinned in the cab when his truck struck the corner of the highway bridge just east of here this morning, Albert Crain of 146 Gladstone St., Hamilton, was burned to death when the truck burst into flames. Port Hope fire dept. put out the fire and police found the charred remains near the steering wheel. The east-bound truck struck the southwest corner of the bridge, the impact tearing off the front wheels. The truck then veered over to the north and the gas tank exploded. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine investigated.

Two units of the same command also are being transferred inland, from MacDill Field, Fla., to Topeka, Kas. The air force said the move will place its big bomber operations at a "strategic location near the geographical centre" of the United States.

Another step toward a stronger air arm was in its final stages in Congress. A House-Senate conference committee was putting finishing touches on a multi-million dollar measure to build or enlarge air bases on the country's northern flanks, from Alaska to Iceland.

The 70-group measure will permit orders for new and modern air force and navy planes to be placed immediately. But the planes will not begin to appear before next year, and the last of them will show up in about three years.

Kidnap 12-Year-Old High School Student

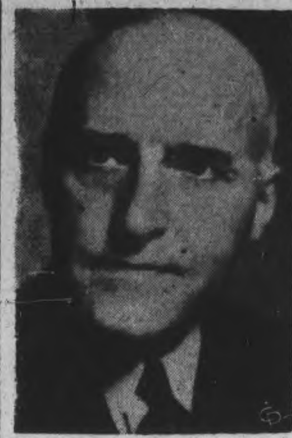

LOS ANGELES, May 22 — (AP). — Alan McCauley, 12-year-old junior high school student, was missing from his home today and police said they found a ransom note demanding $1,500.

The boy was missing from his room when his parents returned early this morning. Police said the boy's room had been ransacked. The ransom note, with several words misspelled, read: "If you don't leave $1,500 at the parking lot next to Ralph's market at Crenshaw and Exposition Blvds., you'll never see your son again. And I don't mean maby (sic)." It was signed: "The Unknown" (sic).

Officers said a rock had been thrown through the boy's first-floor bedroom window.

U.S. Air Force Shifts Bombers To Safer Place

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP).

The United States air force began building today toward a record peacetime strength of 70 groups. At the same time, it made plans to shift its long-range bomber command away from the vulnerable east coast.

The $3,198,100,000 air force expansion measure whipped through Congress over administration protests was signed into law Friday by President Truman, with the warning that he may not approve outlay of the full sum.

Defence Secretary James Forrestal and budget director James Webb will help him decide when such spending is "necessary in the national defence." Those words appear in the bill.

The air force decision to move its strategic air command from Andrews Field, Md. 12 miles from Washington, to Omaha, Neb., was announced a few hours earlier.

Two units of the same command also are being transferred inland, from MacDill Field, Fla., to Topeka, Kas. The air force said the move will place its big bomber operations at a "strategic location near the geographical centre" of the United States.

New Jerusalem Drive Appears Forming; British Down 4 Raiders

Report Jewish Troops Counter-Attacking With Back To Wall; Holy City Divided In Two By Fighting

CAIRO, May 22 — (AP). — Cairo reports said Egyptian troops lanced northward to Hebron and Bethlehem today, lining up with Arab Legion troops five miles south of Jerusalem in what looked like a new drive against the Holy City. In Haifa, British military headquarters announced British fighter planes shot down four Egyptian raiders which struck at a British airfield of the Haifa enclave early today in bombing and strafing attacks. Three Britons were reported killed in the attacks and six wounded.

Jewish army headquarters in Tel Aviv said Jewish troops counter-attacked in the fifth day of the blazing battle of Jerusalem. Jews in the old city battled furiously with their backs to the wall against heavy pressure from the Trans-Jordan Legion of King Abdullah.

Premier Nokrashy Pasha's party newspaper said a mobile force of undisclosed strength speared northward after reaching Hebron, 19 miles south of Jerusalem, linking with Legionnaires at Bethlehem, scene of Jesus' birth. There was no official communique on this action.

Hagana, the Jewish army, said the Jews threw Jerusalem counter-attacks at the Sheikh Jarrah quarter at the base of Mount Scopus, and at Beit Safafa, just south of Jerusalem. It said Jews occupied Beit Safafa, an Arab village.

Cling Desperately
Dispatches from inside the old walled city quoted Arab officers as saying Jews clung desperately to a 200-yard square of the Jewish quarter based at the Beit Yaacov Synagogue. Arab dynamiters Friday blew down the north wall of the Tiferet Israel Synagogue, Jerusalem's tallest building, trying to dislodge holdout Jews.

The City of Jerusalem was approximately split in two between Jews and Arab Legion forces. A dispatch from Amman, Trans-Jordan, quoted King Abdullah as saying he still is ready to accept peace in Jerusalem if the Jews "express their willingness for peace." He said when the United Nations truce commission visited him in Amman May 16, "I expressed my readiness to take responsibility for feeding the Jews in Jerusalem and supplying them with all essentials if they accepted a truce."

"Unfortunately they refused." A high Hagana officer in Tel Aviv said Friday Jewish forces are holding the boundaries of their new state, despite contrary Arab claims. In some cases the Jews were operating beyond the boundaries set up for them in the

"We have no idea what we are going to find in the Holy City," the white-haired Shore said. "We're ready for anything."

Harold Evans, the Philadelphia Quaker named mayor under a U.N. Assembly resolution, has said that his first aim will be to mediate between Arabs and Jews in attempts to bring order to the Holy City.

Union Organizer To Be Deported

TORONTO, May 22 — (CP). — George Knott, mine union organizer and former member of the Communist party of the United States, is slated for deportation—probably today or tomorrow.

As soon as arrival here of a copy of his birth certificate establishes his U.S. citizenship, the director of the southern Ontario region of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.M.M.S.W.) will be taken to the border and dropped off, likely at Buffalo, N.Y.

Knott, a native of Philadelphia, told a Friday's immigration board hearing that he had been a member of the U.S. Communist party for 12 years. He said he quit the party in March, 1947, and since then has had no association with the party nor engaged in any of its activities.

U.S. Consul-General Seriously Wounded

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP). — The state department announced today that Thomas Wason, American consul-general, was seriously wounded in Jerusalem today.

Wason was wounded while returning to the consulate from a truce commission meeting at the French consulate, but the department was not immediately advised how he incurred his injuries.

He was taken to Hadassah, English mission hospital. According to reports to the department from Vice-Consul William Burdette, Herbert M. Walker, a member of the naval communications unit, was wounded by machine-gun bullets near the com-

Six Nations Indians Lose $1,289,000 Gov't Suit

OTTAWA, May 22.—(CP).—The Six Nations Indians have lost their $1,289,000 suit against the Government. Mr. Justice C. G. O'Connor of Exchequer Court decided Friday that there are no grounds for a petition of right against the Crown in the Indians' case, based on the disposal of lands and money which the tribes owned early in the 19th century.

Western Powers Agree On New German Setup

LONDON, May 22.—(AP).—Responsible diplomatic sources say a six-power agreement has been reached here to set up a provisional government this year for western Germany.

They reported Friday a tentative decision has been made to call a constituent assembly about Sept. 1 with broad authority to draw up a constitution for that area.

However, in Allerton, Pa., Charles E. Bohlen, United States State Department counsellor, told the Allentown Morning Call the report was premature.

The six are the United States, France and Great Britain, which share occupation of western Germany, and Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, linked in the Benelux Customs Union and adjoining Germany as France does.

They have been meeting in London since Feb. 23 in the second western power conference on western Germany's economic and political future. Russia, occupying eastern Germany, has taken no part.

The diplomatic sources said a formal communique could be expected early next week. They said only technical details are holding this up.

But the main reasons for delay, said one source, are the demands of France and the low countries for guarantees that western Germany's industry shall not be built up to the point where the Germans will be able to invade neighboring countries.

The litigation started with a petition from Frank Miller, chief councillor of the Six Nations of the Grand River, and his tribesmen for damages from the Government for breach of trust. Mr. Justice O'Connor decided there was none.

Last January the exchequer court heard an argument on points of law to decide whether there should be an actual trial of the case.

The Indians argued that breach of trusteeship was involved in Joseph Brant's action. They claimed that the upper Canada government was involved, and that its responsibility now is held by the government of the Dominion of Canada.

The Crown, through the justice department, claimed the act of union of 1841 did not provide that the united province of Canada should take over liabilities of upper and lower Canada, which it combined. It said, too, that the statute of limitations had outlawed the Indians' claim, and that the action could have been started about 1860.

By Friday's decision, the Crown's argument was sustained. The century-old claim of the Six Nations has been set aside. The $1,289,000 they claimed will not be paid.

problem of providing sufficient recruits to keep the overseas army up to strength.

He was said to have been at times in disagreement with Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, then head of Canadian forces in the United Kingdom.

Ralston Retires
By 1944, Col. Ralston had become convinced that recruits called into the forces, under the National Resources Mobilization Act, for home-defence service should be ordered overseas.

At the time, Prime Minister King declined to accept his advice, although later he found it necessary to impose compulsory service overseas.

Col. Ralston retired, being succeeded by Gen. McNaughton. But he retained his seat in the Commons as member for Prince constituency in Prince Edward Island.

When his successor, with Cabinet approval, later moved to send draftees abroad, Col. Ralston as a private member supported the move in a notable speech. He said that, if the Government had gone that far while he was Minister, he would have been satisfied.

After leaving the Cabinet he returned to the law practice in Montreal, which he had deserted when asked to join the Government. A corporation lawyer of distinction, he was selected to head the counsel representing the Maritimes, his birthplace, at last year's inquiries into railway freight rates.

Hard Worker
A prodigious worker, Col. Ralston, threw himself into all the jobs he undertook with unsurpassed energy. No detail seemed too small for his personal attention.

The result was that, both as finance minister and defence minister, he was in his office early and late. Friends often said they wondered how he stood up under the strain.

In the Commons he spoke like the great lawyer he was. He made no attempt at eloquence. To him, reasoning was every thing. He marshalled his arguments with a care, and left the rest to the intelligence of his hearers.

Happy Companion
When he could be pried free of his work he was a happy companion with an optimistic view of life. He loved to swap yarns with people he met. On the hustings, he stuck to the old idea of injecting funny stories into his speeches.

He had a great love for ordinary soldiers and took a compassionate interest in all their difficulties and hardships.

Even his political opponents were quick to admit his varied abilities.

When Hon. Charles Dunning resigned in July, 1939, because of ill health, Col. Ralston refused the post, standing by a decision to "abandon politics which he made in 1935 when parliament was dissolved.

But outbreak of the Second World War changed his mind. He said he would serve in any capacity. He would have preferred active service—as in the 1914-18 conflict when he rose from a captain to command a battalion with rank of lieutenant-colonel, and won the Distinguished Service Order and Bar.

But his age was against that. Instead he became Finance Minister. Member after member told the 1940 war session of the Commons that Prime Minister King should resign in his favor.

An Iraq defence ministry communique issued in Baghdad said Iraqi planes had bombed Beit Josef settlement and the town of Beisan.

The communique said Iraqi forces had occupied hilltops dominating the Mukhadh area of the Jordan River valley and had shelled a Jewish armored column advancing toward Gesher, six miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

A Tel Aviv communique said counter-attacking Jewish forces had driven the Arabs out of Samakh, just south of the Sea of Galilee. The Syrians claimed earlier their forces had destroyed five Jewish settlements in that area.

The Cairo military announcement said Egyptian aircraft bombed a steel works in the Tel Aviv region Friday, attacked oxygen factories east of Jaffa and raided El Ramle Airport southeast of there.

Egyptian air raids were also reported against settlements north east of Gaza.

Report More Mumps Cases Than In All '47

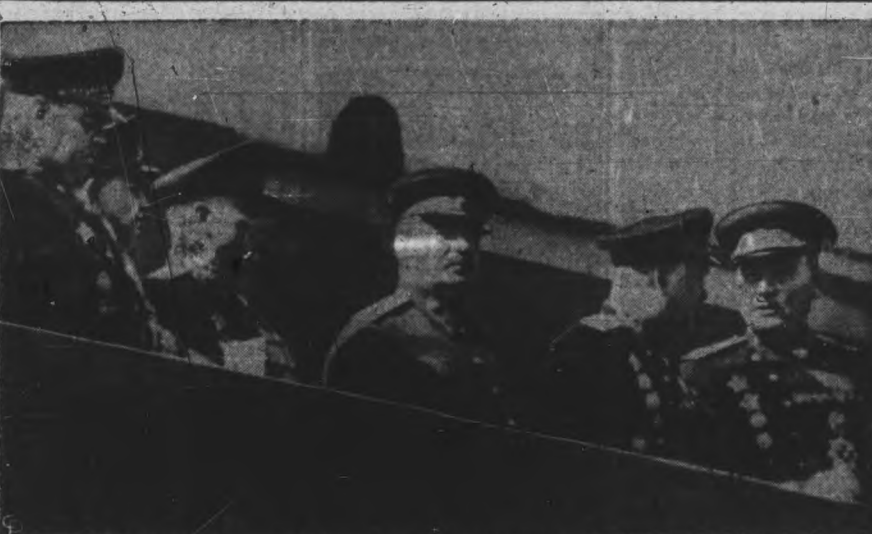

COBBOURG, May 22 — (ENS). — The measles and mumps epidemic in some sections of Northumberland and Durham counties reveals that in any given locality the children of any particular age group will sooner or later be exposed to mumps or measles and this is consistent with the general experience throughout the country. It is revealed in the April report of the counties health unit.

In the first four months of 1948 there were more cases of mumps reported than in all 1947, and almost as many cases of red measles as in 1946 and 1947 combined. Some of the increase in communicable disease is more apparent than real, as the reporting of mumps, measles and chickenpox by parents has improved, the report states.

Examination of the figures for the past three years reveals that those localities which had few cases of mumps in 1946 and 1947, have a large number this year, whereas the district which had outbreaks of the disease in 1946 and 1947, have largely escaped this year. The same is true in the case of measles. For example in Cobourg and the adjoining area, the incidence of mumps was low in 1946 and 1947 and this year there is a high incidence. In the Bowmanville district, where in 1946 and 1947 measles was not common, this year there are a large number of cases.

In the control of measles and mumps there is not available a vaccine or toxoid such as has been prepared to prevent smallpox or diphtheria. The health unit points out that this does not mean that the problem of measles and mumps should be ignored and a completely defeatist attitude adopted. Steps may be taken to curtail the occurrence of measles among certain age groups and to modify its severity. It is extremely important to prevent young children developing measles at least until they are four or five years old. Over 90% of the deaths from measles occur below this age and a great many of these under two years. In addition it has been amply proven that fewer children develop complications or die, if properly cared for. Also, early warning of exposure to measles allows the family doctor to take such steps as giving whole blood from a parent to the infant to modify the attack, when this procedure is advisable. Early diagnosis allows the family doctor to take steps to modify or prevent complications.

All methods for the control of mumps and measles depend on good reporting and isolation of the child from other children during the acute stage of the illness. It is of value for parents to be warned of the presence of these diseases in order to prevent the exposure of young children. During the month of April,

Opposition Launches Attack On Abbott's Budget

OTTAWA, May 22 — (CP). — Spokesmen for the three Opposition parties told Finance Minister Abbott in the Commons Friday what they thought of his budget—and it was nearly all bad.

This is the way they suggested the country's finance should be handled:

Progressive Conservative Party—Income tax exemptions should be increased by an amount equivalent to the jump in the cost of living during the last year. Small businesses should be given some tax exemption on money re-invested in their operations to encourage them to increase production.

CCF Party

Income tax exemptions should be increased from the $750 to $1,200 for single persons and nurses made 177 visits to cases of communicable disease as well as many visits to schools because of children reported absent for communicable diseases. A total of 95 immunization clinics were held in offices and schools during April. The usual monthly clinics were held at Cobourg and Fort Hope. A total of 184 people were X-rayed at these various clinics.

A new child health conference was started at Codrington with the assistance of the Codrington Women's Institute. Sanitary inspectors visited 65 eating establishments and in 45 cases swabs were taken of eating and drinking utensils for bacteriological examinations.

In co-operation with the Cobourg municipality and the garbage contractor, a rat extermination program was initiated at the local garbage dump. Bait was laid at numerous points and replenished for four days in order to attract the rats and obtain a maximum kill with the poison used on the fifth day. The campaign was entirely successful and it is reported that no rats were seen during the week following the use of the poison.

Child Some Better

TORONTO, May 22 — (CP). — Condition of eight-year-old Teresa Dowling, victim of a brutal attack last Monday, continues to improve, hospital authorities said Friday. The police search continues for the stone-wielding assailant who left the child for dead in a suburban York township field.

from $1,500 to $2,000 for married. Sales and excise taxes should be lifted from clothing and other goods as well as from foods. A public investment board should be established to control industrial expansion.

Social Credit Party

Income tax exemptions should be raised to $1,500 for single taxpayers and $2,400 for married. Businesses should be given a modified tax scale to aid production. A national monetary authority should be established to initiate a debt-retirement program; family allowances should be increased; old age pensions should be increased and new pensions put into effect.

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Muskoka-Ontario), opposition financial critic, topped his suggestions with a motion of non-confidence in the government.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, spoke for his group. He added a sub-amendment to Mr. Macdonnell's amendment. It embodied his suggestions for budget improvement and criticized the government for failure to reduce the tax burden on those in the low-income groups.

Solomon Low, Social Credit leader, placed his party's proposals before the chamber but was prevented by house rules from making a further amendment. Only two such motions can be moved in the budget debate.

Earlier, the House gave final reading to a government rental insurance bill, aimed at encouraging construction of multiple dwellings by guaranteeing builders and owners a return on their investment. It now goes to the Senate which resumes sittings June 1.

A Few Good Words

In the budget debate, Mr. Macdonnell had a few good words to say for Mr. Abbott's financing. He agreed that it is good to budget for a surplus but if Mr. Abbott was withholding tax relief for an election year, it was "wrong and inexcusable."

He warned, too, that the rise in the cost of living was precipitating a series of new wage demands and urged that the government make some contribution to that situation. Increased income tax exemptions, for instance, would take up only 25 per cent of the estimated surplus of $469,000,000.

He took issue with the government's trade policies, blaming its foreign exchange difficulties on revaluation of the dollar to parity with the United States dollar which discouraged investment of American capital in Canada.

Mr. Coldwell said the budget, combined with the last one, gave too much tax relief to wealthy individuals and corporations. The excess profits tax, abolished last year, should have been continued.

Likes British Plan

Canada might adopt a variation of some of the tax allowances granted in Britain. The British government gave a farmer an additional exemption of $1,000 if he invested that much in improvements to his farm. Similar exemptions might be granted in this country to farmers and those building homes.

Mr. Low termed the budget a "dreary, ball-and-chain" document which gave no sunshine, no faith and no optimism.

He urged the government to provide $75,000,000, by subsidy or other means, to encourage output of primary products now in short supply.

He estimated that all his proposals would cost the government $969,000,000 and suggested it be provided for by the estimated $469,000,000 budget surplus, by $100,000,000 in interest charges which could be saved by debt reduction, by an extra $100,000,000 in revenue which would stem from his program and by $300,000,000 of newly-created "national credit."

"That Is Not A Canadian Name"

A young lady of our acquaintance who is to be a June bride received a letter of congratulation the other day from an old aunt living in Ireland. She is Canadian by birth and has never been to the "Old Country", nor has the aunt visited Canada. The old lady said in her letter, "What is the name of the young man you are marrying? Is he English, Scotch or Irish?" It would never occur to the aunt that there might be Canadians whose ancestry was not British or Irish—except of course the French-Canadians whom she would class with aboriginal Indians or foreigners. The young lady herself, living in a district like this, did not think the question odd—her future husband's name is Campbell. People with names like Razilisa, Czenich and Lofke do not come within her orbit. For her, a native-born Canadian of Southern Ontario, all Canadians could have but one "Old Country"—the British Isles.

In older Canadian communities like ours, it is generally assumed that anybody with a foreign-sounding (that is, not English, Irish or Scottish) name is not really a Canadian. People with strange names who move into our district are regarded with initial astonishment and some dismay—they must be queer people with names like that. They are not Canadian names, are they?

Times have changed more quickly than our attitudes. In 1901 more than ninety per cent. of the non-French population was of British Isles origin. Those were the days when about one-third of the Queen's students had names beginning with Mc or Mac. According to the last (1941) census, 5,715,904 Canadians were of Anglo-Saxon origin, 2,307,713 were of "foreign" (and non-French) origin. In other words, only 71 per cent. of the people of non-French extraction were of British and Irish stock. In the English-speaking population, therefore, one in every four persons might be expected to bear a "foreign" name. The percentage of "foreign" names would really be smaller, for many of them have been anglicized, but it is sufficiently high that even in southern Ontario we should stop thinking of Poland as a non-Canadian name. Post-war immigration has brought still more non-British names into Canada.

Can Anglo-Saxon names be called "Canadian" names? The census taken after the First Great War (1921) showed that only 77 per cent. of the people of Canada were born in Canada. Subtract from this total the 29 per cent. of French origin (who are almost entirely Canadian-born) and it will be realized that less than half the non-French-speaking population were born in Canada. Of that native population many were only first generation Canadians. In those days there was no such thing officially as a "Canadian citizen" and in reality the Campbells, Joneses, Murphys and Kents were more Scotch, Welsh, Irish and English than Canadian. Times have changed. Only 51 per cent. of the soldiers in the Canadian army in the first war were born in Canada. In the last war 84.81 per cent. of the men and women in the Canadian army were native born, and many of them had names like that of Pilot Officer Mynarski of Winnipeg who was posthumously awarded the V.C. for gallantry in 1944.

The dear old Irish aunt's question was well meant, but it was out-of-date and should have been irrelevant.

"The Echoes"

The handsome 1948 issue of the P.O.V.S. school magazine came into our hand at tea-time yesterday and engrossed us completely for a full fifteen minutes. That is a tribute we usually can offer only about the very best novels, a new book of verse, the Saturday comics and our income tax papers. It is handsomely designed and laid out, there are so many handsome young men and pretty young ladies pictured in it, catalogue of stories, poems and events is so wonderfully varied, that we must compliment the student editors (and the advertisement collectors in these days of high printing costs) and the staff advisors on this year's Echoes. We are relieved to know that the school staff serve in a merely advisory capacity—and we hope an inconsequential one—for the most valuable school magazines are those fathered and produced by the students themselves without prodding from above. We had a feeling of affinity with the Editors when they revealed that they, like us, can slip in print—as for instance in: "The Greek inscription, although not Canadian in origin, belongs to the greatness of western tradition".

The Princess And The Presbyterians In Paris

We read with amazement that the Scottish Association of the Lord's Day Alliance Observance Society had the impudence to send Prime Minister Attlee a telegram expressing its "profound regret that the itinerary arranged for Their Royal Highnesses, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh while on their official visit to Paris, included attendance at racing, theatre and night club dancing during the Lord's Day".

Saint Ambrose gave counsel to Saint Augustine in this wise: "When I am here (in Milan), I do not fast on Saturday; when at Rome I do fast on Saturday". When in Rome do as the Romans do. The Princess Elizabeth and her husband, being in the public eye and the public service have not the freedom of other young couples. In Paris they may not do as other tourists do. Nevertheless they should not be expected to act like the stiff-necked Scotsman—who himself in Paris might forget some of his prejudices. A private Presbyterian in Paris could, however, parade about with as stiff a neck as he could command and no harm would be done except to the neck. Princess Elizabeth and her husband, being ambassadors, must fit in with the customs of their hosts. In modern Paris they cannot act like Queen Victoria and at the same time promote cordial relations with modern Frenchmen.

The Princess attended two separate church services on the same Sunday on which, according to the Lord's Day Alliance's accusation, she went to a race track and a dance. We are not suggesting that her attendance at a dance was any less a pleasure than her attendance at the two church services. We are glad that she had the fortitude to go to the dance, and the good sense. She would show the same good sense in Edinburgh or Peterborough, Ontario, where she would not go dancing of a Sunday evening, knowing that her Edinburgh or Peterborough hosts would prefer that she stay at home and knit.

We have no patience with the shilly-shallying of papers like the Standard of St. Catharines (Ont.) which carries an editorial comment on the matter. It cannot make up its mind whether the Princess was right or wrong, the Lord's Day Alliance too mustardy or commendably upright. It says:

"Well, whether we agree with this rebuke, or feel that it's a wee bit austere, there are many people who will find it encouraging to encounter such a staunch stand for religion, especially in the face of the world-wide Communist drive to deprive humanity of a God."

The italics are ours; we wish to call attention to the Standard's logic. We cannot refrain from parodying Samuel Butler—"O, God, O Ontario".

The Twenty-Fourth

Empire Day, Victoria Day, Fishing Day, Picnic Day, Firecracker Day, Sunday, the 24th of May—all come this large week-end. So many things are bundled into the 48 hours and so many people have been planning it for weeks, like servicemen anticipating a 48-hour leave, that the best word we can give our readers is our sincere wish that at least one of the two days will be literally a sun day. We have done with prophesying, bewailing and thundering and have descended to simple hope. Should there be rain we can offer this consoling thought: it should at least be possible to take off the winter storm windows.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The banns read out in churches do not seem to put embargoes on weddings.

Children who make a scene are always heard.

All ordinary letters are now to go as air mail—but not to and from Peterborough. We have no airport. Anyway, things in this district never can go all up in the air. If they are not in the groove or on the track, they merely go haywire.

Breeches And Bibles

By JOHNATHAN TWIDDLE, B.A.

I TOOK my dear niece Cecily to the Royal Ontario Museum last week when I was in Toronto attending a Synod meeting. She is a charming creature, though a bit wild to my way of thinking, for she has been living in that city for six months and had never once darkened the doors of the Museum.

My intentions were not altogether to please and educate her. There is one mummy in the Museum which fascinates me, and I always pay it (or rather her) a visit when I am in Toronto. It is the oldest mummy in the collection, dating from the year 3,000 B.C. The pre-historic creature is a remarkably well preserved small woman—lying in a crouched position she is not more than three feet long—and her matted hair is visible, and one toenail. It is that toenail which fascinates me. There it is, protruding from the embalmed foot, a toe-nail 5,000 years old. Flesh may be mortal, but not her toe-nail. I took pains to point out to Cecily that it was not painted.

WE came to the mummy room and upon the collection of early printed books. My niece gave little squeals of delight which surprised and shocked me. I had no idea that the child would be interested in old books; anyway one should not squeal at a Caxton.

"What is a 'Breeches Bible', Uncle Johnathan?" So that was why the little minx was squealing—she had read the sign "Breeches Bible".

I said coldly, "You are looking at one."

"But why is it called by that funny name? Oh! I do love the quaint printing!"

Apparently I had misjudged her—the ancient books in the case, with their dry leather bindings, their illuminated pages and their archaic type were stirring her imagination.

"The Breeches Bible is so-called because of the way a verse in the seventh chapter of Genesis is translated. The translators were literal-minded. Instead of the King James version's wording that Adam and Eve sewed fig leaves together and made aprons for themselves, this Bible reads 'They sewed fig leaves together and made themselves breeches'."

This delighted Cecily. She looked for the breeches, and then, as if she were in church, whispered, "It must be terribly old."

"Printed in Geneva in 1560".

"Why in Geneva, Uncle Johnathan?"

SO I explained, as she should have known had she paid attention to her history instructors, how the translation of the Bible was linked with the Renaissance in England and the Reformation, and that since Bibles in English were frowned on by the authorities in the 16th century and publicly burned, they had to be published abroad and smuggled into England.

She listened and looked—particularly at an Amsterdam Bible in which because of a printer's error, a 'not' had been left out. The Commandment read "Thou shalt commit adultery". And I reflected on the great work of translation which had gone on from John Wycliffe the reformer to the translation of the King James version now in use. John Wycliffe who, in the late 14th century, resisting the authority of the Church, made the first English translation of the Bible because he wanted the people to be able to read the Bible in their own tongue, and not to have to depend on priests' and scholars' interpretations of the Latin. When I recalled the Lollards, Cecily began to remember more than I thought she knew. Her attention wandered as I talked of Tyndale, whose translation (about 1530) into good English verse—angular formed the bases for the phrasing of the King James (1611) version and Coverdale's complete version of 1535.

WE came to the cases of Egyptian jewels and it took me a half hour to pry her away from them. She said that she should accidentally on purpose break the glass covering, snatch a few of the ornaments and run off with the loot. Of course, the dear child did not mean it—nevertheless I kept a nervous eye on her until we reached the street. One cannot tell what this young generation will do next.

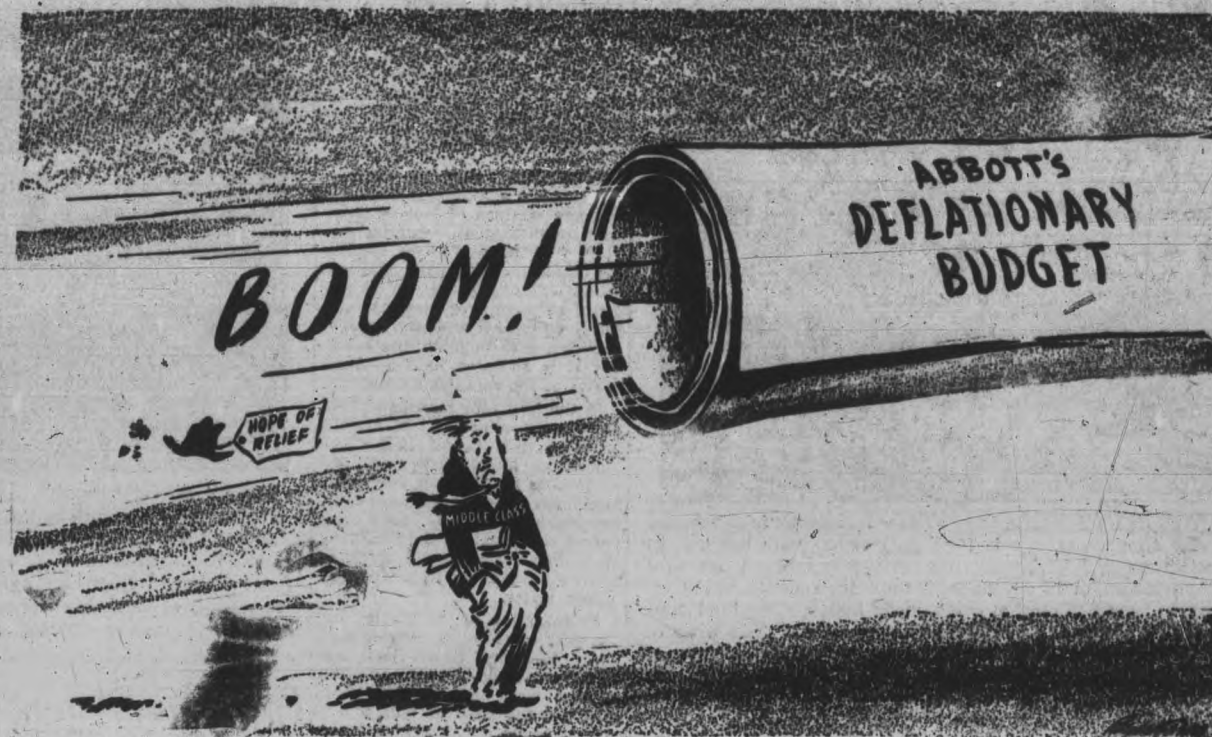

IN exchange for my hospitality at the Museum, Cecily took me in the evening to a place on King Street. She said it was her turn to educate me—bless the child! She had changed her short-skirted frock into something long and old-fashioned, with petticoats underneath. I quite appreciated this thoughtfulness, for she knows my tastes are conservative and that a Queen Alexandra type of gown, though out of date, is to my mind more womanly and modest than the modern things one sees in Peterborough.

The place (it had a Greek name) was restful, though we did have to sit on stools beside the bar. She chattered amiably about fig leaves as breeches, which of course pleased me mightily, as I have made a study of the matter, and have a theory that when fig leaves began to appear on late Greek and Roman sculpture, it was a sign of moral decay in those nations. I argued the matter on aesthetic grounds, dear Cecily on practical—but really, her grounds were shaky, because she has never seen a fig leaf—I have, and know them to be quite appropriate for the use Adam and Eve put them to—as aprons, not as breeches.

CECILY used the Genesis story to assure me that Adam and Eve were conjugally more happy than modern couples who quarrel about who "wears the pants", because since Adam and Eve both wore breeches, they could have no quarrel. This rather annoyed me, for in a lovely mouth like my niece's I object to the American use of the word "pants". Pants should be unmentionable in polite society, because they properly mean articles of underclothing. The outer garments that gentlemen wear are trousers.

Cecily thought the word trousers was too restrictive. She asked, "Would you say that that woman over there is wearing trousers?" I turned in dismay—yes indeed, some obvi-

(OR, SORRY, THE LINE IS BUSY)

I've just come from a lecture, my dear,
By the most intriguing man,
He talked about "Modern Art"
And a chap called "Say Zan."

Well, he showed us the funniest pictures,
One was an awful sight,
You couldn't tell top from bottom,
He called it a "study of apples"
Well, maybe, for all I know,
But it looked like a lot of silly nonsense
To me
And I told him so.

He showed us a portrait, too—
A coarse looking jade
With her hair all standing on end, (Not a bit like the one I had made From that photo of mother)
This one was all purple—and rough,

I can't for the life of me tell what they see
In this modern stuff!

But wait till I tell you, my dear,
The worst one of all was a nude,
They have no business showing such things,
I consider it downright crude;
But then, these artists don't think so,
They're certainly queer,
I'm glad that it's only decent people like us
Who live around here.

I'll just stick to Aunt Lucy's "Begonias"
He can have his Van Gaws, or Van Dyke
Or whoever he is—I'm not one for these new-fangled notions,
I know what I like.

ously loose female was wearing trousers. We compromised by calling them breeches.

BY this time I was feeling rather upset. The woman in breeches was partly responsible—really I would have preferred to see her in a fig leaf than in that immodest get-up. But chiefly it was the drinking habits of the people around me. Torontonians seem to be addicted to gulping gaudy mixed liquors in fancy drinking glasses. I am rather strict about such matters and never take anything but half a tumbler of milk filled up with the tonic Courvoisier.

We left the King Street establishment, Cecily to return to her abode to sleep the sleep of the innocent, I to take my train for Peterborough. I had to be at Morning Service to act as sidesman. It was a good collection, and in the afternoon I gave a report to the vicar on the Synod meeting.

Learning French

Where language is concerned they teach French so well in the Protestant schools of our district that the majority of the children speak much better French than the French Canadian children learn to speak English in the Catholic schools. Do we not see every year, in the schools called Protestant in the city English children, Israelite, Greek, Romanian, etc., acting Molieres or Racines and what is remarkable, their French is almost without trace of accent. Where are the Catholic schools which produce students of French origin able to do as much in English? It is for the simple reason that pupils in the French Catholic schools practice so well the advice of a bishop of Three Rivers, some decades ago to "teach English, since it must be, but teach it badly" that parents who want their children to be bilingual send them to English Protestant schools, and pay the big sum of about $12 a month. Even at these high prices Catholic children are not received unless there is room, the majority of the schools being already crowded and must be enlarged to receive all the children who have a "right" to an education in these places. Formerly French Canadians gloried in being able to speak English, whereas the English did not speak French. Today there is anxiety over the fact that a knowledge of French is spreading more and more among people of another origin.—Le Clairon, St. Hyacinthe.

U.S.-Russian Conference?

Even by considerable straining and conceding sincerity in a desire for a new conference, it is impossible to see the good of one. There are plenty of places at which the Russians could display any new willingness to find agreement. The Four-power Council in Berlin is one. That in Vienna is another. Lake Success is another equally good one. There is no lack of opportunity for a meeting of minds if the desire for it exists.

What is needed is not a new table upon which everyone may put his cards down. All that is needed is agreement on the game that is to be played, an end of Russia's insistence on playing blackjack while the rest are trying to play contract bridge.—Montreal Star.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For God, who commandeth the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us.

We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed; always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body.

We have the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak; knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you.

For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God. For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day.

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. (II Cor. 4: 8-10, 13-18.)

May 24 Marks Birthday of Great Empire Has Let World Know It Never Quits

Monday is May 24, Queen Victoria's birthday and the day when the British people observe the growth of the British Empire.

In 1948 there are some people who are celebrating the birthday of Great Britain and the British Commonwealth and Empire. There is nothing new about that, because through the centuries people have been saying that Britain's future was behind her and the days of the British Isles were numbered.

And, always the British people have come up through adversity to rise high in world esteem. The British people are not beaten as easily as all that.

Away back in 1629 when Charles I was King, it was apparent to many earnest Englishmen that England was going to the dogs. There was an evident moral decadence and the people seemed to have hit the skids from which there could be no recovery.

But, that was more than 300 years ago and just look at the history written by the British people since the days of Charles I. Those who had sung the swan song then made a grave error in judgment. They did not reckon on the recuperative powers of the people.

The flag followed trade in building the British Empire. That empire was a steady growth, not a manufactured entity. The people went out from the United Kingdom and carried their ideals and their abilities with them. They developed an empire that was founded on the sturdy foundations of faith in God and keeping the powder dry.

Five times have Britain and the Empire saved the world from domination by a tyrant. Five times have the British people stood against the threat of aggression. Except for the wars against Holland, the British have fought against the whims of one man to conquer the world.

There have been Philip of Spain. Louis of France. Napoleon of France. Wilhelm of Germany. Hitler of Germany.

And, in this last war against Hitler, the British people stood alone against aggression during that terrible year from the summer of 1940 to the summer of 1941. Few thought the British people could do it, but the British people did.

The start of the British Empire goes away back to 1485 and King Henry VII. Before that time the British people had been torn by internal strife. It was Henry VII who ended the Wars of the Roses and set up a monarchy that drew the people to him.

Also during the time of Henry VII Portuguese and Spanish sailors were crossing the Atlantic Ocean to America. Where the British Isles had been on the rim of the world by being on the edge of Europe, they now became the centre of the world, by virtue of their geographic position in relation to the New World.

It was Henry VII who gave middle class people in England an opportunity. These people could go out into the world and make their way. They could adapt themselves to life and they did so.

Henry VII was succeeded by his only surviving son, Henry VIII. This Henry is best known through history as the monarch who had six wives. And, when he grew tired of a wife, he just had her head chopped off.

But, it was Henry VIII who put the British Empire on the map. He made the British Navy. When his 45 vessels which included 15 galleons. The fleet guaranteed the British people against invasion from the Continent. That protection from invasion held good in 1940, just as it did in 1540.

On one occasion, when invasion threatened, Henry VIII advised building ships of English oak. When he was told they would be costly, he asked which would be the more costly, to build the ships or to lose England? The warships were built.

Skipping along to Oliver Cromwell, the British Empire owes much to him. He was the first man who caught the vision of an empire that was not to be a number of exploited areas, but of an empire that would be the embodiment of a missionary ideal.

Through the long history of the British people, there has always been a man to come to the fore to guide the destinies of the United Kingdom and to help fashion history. Back in 1756, when all seemed lost to Louis of France, it was Pitt who said: "I try, and that no one else can."

There are great names through history. They run from Henry VII to Churchill and they include men and women who changed the course of nations and who builded better than they knew.

This May 24 sees the British Empire girding for the struggle that reconstruction brings. The challenge to regain the heights in these years of peace is strong. The war brought trial and courage.

Through the years to come, as the years gone by, the British people will continue to advance through the accepted practice of trusting in God, and keeping the powder dry.

ANDY CLARKE, beloved broadcaster of the CBC died Wednesday night. He succumbed to a heart attack in his 66th year. Andy Clarke was the voice of the thousands of farmers, villagers, and others who live close to the outdoors and love it. He was the successful city fellow, who without exactly saying it, played down the city people, and glamorized the common folk, the people in those important little places outside the big cities. His was a genial, homespun broadcast, a cracker-barrel oration tingling with dry humor, and with true-to-life incidents from the back concessions. Incidents that the big city dailies ignored in favor of blood-chilling world events, but which were as much a part of the lives of many people as their three meals a day—and which they much preferred, to the so-called world-shattering which they preferred. He lived close to the pulse of rural life, and although his home was in Toronto, it was obvious that his heart was miles away with his devoted listeners.

THIS SUNDAY BROADCAST was a golden thread woven into the tapestry of many lives, a thread that will be missed, no matter who takes over the assignment. People regulated their Sunday morning routine to be near the radio at ten o'clock; old people, and invalids waited eagerly all week for it. Thousands who had never seen this unassuming, friendly character would have driven miles if they thought they could have met him—and those who did were never disappointed. That cheerful drawing voice was just one part of a personality that attracted and held people with its sincerity, its magnetism, its disarming quality. During the past two years, failing health had not made the broadcasts easy, and the numerous public appearances at fall fairs and other functions, while tiring, seemed to bring new energy to this veteran newspaper and radio man. At one time he broadcast from his sick-bed and the mail, normally quite heavy, tripled. The "Mayor of the Little Places, those important spots outside the big-centres" is dead, but his spirit lives on. "May his soul rest in peace."

THIRTY MEMBERS of the executive of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters will meet in Peterborough Saturday and Sunday, June 5 and 6. It will be the regular quarterly meeting. Peterborough Fish and Game members have arranged to take the visitors by bus to Deer Lake hatchery on Saturday afternoon, and Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests will send a department official along to answer all questions. The Fish and Game members following the lead of the Mayor and City Council are striving to maintain Peterborough's reputation, as the friendliest city in Ontario, and it is likely many of them will invite the visitors for a whirl at pickerel fishing. It would be very nice if enough pickers were available to give these 30 visitors a fish breakfast on Sunday morning. The visitors should be able to catch sufficient for that purpose if they are taken out by local anglers who know the spots. Anyone wishing to co-operate should get in touch with Bob McCabe, Jack Baldwin, Charlie Kingan, George Ruttle, Norm Bradley or any other member of the executive.

Early this week I got mixed up with eight mad Americans. I say "mad" because they would leave the fishing only long enough to have one meal a day. They caught pickerel galore, but they only kept the limit—six per day. They were the most unorthodox anglers to ever visit Hastings, because they wouldn't use plugs or live bait, they fished exclusively with flies. All had spinning reels and either fly rods, or long flexible steel casting rods. The gear consisted of a long streamer (unavailable in Canada), a No. 3/4 spoon on a short shank, and a long gut leader with a couple of split shot for sinkers. They fished in rain, sunshine, daylight and darkness and how they caught pickerel. By mid-week they were keeping nothing under two pounds, and they wouldn't give them away, but returned the fish unharmed to the river. Like the skeptics in Mark Twain's story, the natives came to scoff, but remained to applaud, and they were bugged at the results of this fly-casting. After the first day, they were trying to buy flies, but the visitors had none to sell. Frank Zanders, hardware man from Canal Fulton, Ohio, and resident of Canton wished many times he had several dozen "Weber flies" with him. Paul Swigart, undertaker, Canal Fulton had rheumatism when he arrived. It disappeared the following day, and even though he flopped into the river twice with heavy waders on, it didn't return. Ray Warnock, Canton insurance man cooked pancakes when he got tired of fishing and was affectionately dubbed "Mother Warnock". At other times he was so afraid people might start talking business with him, he pretended he was a clergyman. Instead of packing lunches, they brought a ten pound roll of pretzels and parked them on shore to sustain them. Joe Rozlog and his brother Frank of Brewster were the professionals. They caught more fish, and talked tackle incessantly. Leo Peters, Cuyahoga Falls, was in water to his hips the first day with waders on, when a six-pound walleye got off his hook, he dove at the fish and came up with it, coughing and spluttering, then celebrated with a war-whoop that startled the entire village. Warren Shippe was the quiet one, but his angling was superlative. His home is in Canton. The 8th member was Bill Peters, North Canton, a plumber by trade, but an angler by preference. He sang bass in the quartet, and the people of Hastings will no doubt remember the Whiffepoop song.

LEGAL LIMITATIONS restrict the total take home bag for the eight to 48 pickerel, and I'm tipping Ack Ackerman, Vivian Gray, Monty Cross and Johnny Moss to visit this crowd early, if they want a delicious walleye. The party rigged up two live boxes in a creek, and kept the big ones alive. They ate the smaller ones, and added many dozens of large rock bass (panfish) on the side. Don't think they cooked the meals, no sir, the woman next door cooked a whopping big meal for them every night at eight o'clock, and her husband kept the cottagers warm by stoking the stoves with wood. These jokers had no time for menial tasks—that would take them from the important work of fishing.

PICKEREL FISHING has been excellent since opening day. The largest one reported was caught in the Otonabee river at Peterborough by Frank Biddle, Rogers street. It weighed 9 1/2 pounds. Several whoppers were taken at Young's Point on Highway 23, 14 miles north of Peterborough, and at Bobcaygeon at the head of Pigeon Lake. Live minnows are the favorite bait, although fair results are being obtained on plugs during the late afternoon. Bill Hulse, a city of Cleveland, police officer, and Al Karlinger, who runs the 10th Street Community Club, are staying at Isle o' Mann Lodge, Burlington Falls, and they claim the pickerel fishing beats anything they ever tried. (Pat Patterson of Cleveland, please note.) All points along the Trent river from Campbellford to Rice Lake, and on the Otonabee to Clear Lake, have produced fine fishing during the week. While the run was early, and anglers expected poor results, the catcher reported upset their gloomy predictions. The number of Americans appear less than a year ago.

HERE IS A PUZZLER: Why is it that some wild ducks have difficulty diving for food when they first arrive in the spring. An old-timer on Pigeon Lake told me recently he spotted several wild ducks, and they attempted to dive but could only get their heads under water. He caught three, and placed them on the front of his row boat. They stayed for about a minute, then dove overboard, and disappeared. He didn't see them again, although that is no proof that they drowned. One duck caught by another native and unable to dive was found to have an injured leg. It had apparently been caught in a muskrat trap, that some trapper had been too lazy to pick up, or else one that had been forgotten on the trap line. The bird managed to fly when it was released.

Father Takes Wayward Son To Police But Parent Becomes Final Actor

By BOB BUCHANAN

There was a little scene of drama enacted last week in the guard room of the Peterborough police station. It had a full supply of all the essential qualities—the conflict of mixed emotions of a young father and his son.

The nine-year-old boy had been missing from his home all night. His father had teamed with the City Police in a night-long search. They finally found him, about 8 o'clock in the morning, emerging from an alleyway between two rows of stores.

It was one of those cases, it was explained in which the father and mother had exhausted nearly every effort to control the child. Could the police help them?

The latest act had been this one—he had simply not shown up when bedtime came around. Police and his father searched every nook and corner of his regular haunts, questioned his friends, rummaged around other likely places.

When his father finally found him after the harrowing night's hunt, the flood of relief and despair combined to bring him to the police, to see if something could be done to "straighten out his thinking—he doesn't seem to realize right from wrong."

Central figure of the scene, which was in the guard room, was a city constable, a modest Irishman, he would not permit his name to be used. The uniformed man played a superb role in the little bit of life which followed.

Standing before the boy, he let the nine-year-old know in no uncertain terms that disobeying parents, loose use of the truth and other boyish mischief were regarded in a most serious light by the law.

He first showed the boy the cells where the prisoners were kept.

"Wouldn't that be a nice place to spend the summer days when you could be out swimming and fishing?" he asked quietly.

The boy gulped audibly. Sanitary and neat as they are, the sight of the cells seemed to have a profound effect on him.

Then the policeman recounted the progressive steps which lay in wait for "little boys who don't do as they are told." The school of correction, reformatory, finally penitentiary were each painted in grim colors, with forceful effect.

While he talked, the officer slowly and casually drew a deadly-looking cat-o-nine-tails through his competent fingers, eyeing it thoughtfully. The boy eyed it, too, with a fascinated horror. He wouldn't really use a thing like that on little boys? Or would he?

The whip was there for its psychological effect only. As the police explained, they have no authority to use corporal punishment on a child, even with the parents' consent (which they had in this case). Only a court order, seldom issued, gave that power.

But, psychologically, the whip was being applied heavily with every word. The lad jumped visibly whenever the police tapped the handle on the desk to emphasize a point. The nine dull-black leather thongs, holding the boy's gaze hypnotically, seemed to gleam with potential hate.

The officer had been asked by the father to "try to do something with him." Not a smile creased his face as he fired questions in a hard voice and met the hesitant answers with challenging stares. The twinkle of understanding in the corner of his eye was carefully hidden from the subject of the questioning.

"Where did you spend the night?" A rather weak story faltered out—something about staying at the home of a chum. That story was nipped when the officer marched him over to that house and asked the adults there. No, he had not been there. Their children had been in bed by 10 o'clock.

"You're lying faster than a horse can trot," was the blunt retort as the boy feverishly sought new avenues of explanation. This was a few other comments on what happens-to-little-boys—who-tell-lies.

The boy's father sat through the proceedings unhelpfully. "You kept your mother and me up all night, looking for you with the police. Your mother has been crying. Doesn't that mean anything to you?"

The boy hung his head. "I'm supposed to be at work, but how can I go to work if I have to hunt for you all night. . . what would happen to you if I lost my job."

Still a young man, perhaps 35, the father's voice sounded aged in misery, his whole tired body and lined face painted with emotional distress.

Again, the only answer was the humbled silence of his son.

The climax of the interview had to come soon. The policeman had recommended that the father use the "cat" then and there, while the boy would understand why he was being punished.

The father's struggle with himself was painful to watch. He looked at his son for a long minute. It was now or never. He took a deep breath.

"Take off your coat," he ordered. Slowly and fearfully, the order was obeyed.

Taking no chances that his determination would fail, the father strode across the room, landed 10 sharp, stinging blows. The cry of the boy in pain could be heard. The father's anguish could be sensed.

The whip was thrown down and the man turned his back and walked to the window. There were two pairs of red eyes there. A long pause, with stifled sobs. "Come on home, son."

Thomas Ward First Owner Present Site of Bridgenorth

By HELEN MARRYAT

Thomas Ward of Port Hope was one of the party of gentlemen from "the Front" on that day in May, 1819, when, after ascending the Otonabee River in a skiff, for the purpose of selecting a mill-site and prospecting generally, they landed just above Spaulding's Bay, "at a spot which was in after years a steamboat landing."

The others in the group need no introduction to the reader of the Examiner: Chas. Fothergill, at one time M.P.P.; John Farrelly, the surveyor; Adam Scott, the millwright and Barnabas Blether. John Edmison, an intending settler, who had already drawn a lot of land at hazard, was a well known resident of Smith Township at a later date.

Thomas Ward, Clerk of the Peace for the district, had his first sight of what was to be Peterborough County when, next morning, he and Edmison, started for Mud Lake, following the blaze on the communication line, now Chesham Road, and sharing the meals of the settlers of the previous year.

Ward was the owner of the land comprising the site of the present village of Bridgenorth, and having seen his property, he and Edmison returned to the party camping on the Otonabee. These men had discovered a possible mill-site which could be obtained at a trifling cost, and well pleased with the results of the expedition, they passed down the river, and crossed Rice Lake that same evening.

Thos. Ward was born in London, England, June 20, 1770. Having studied law with John White, a student at Gray's Inn and later called to the Bar by the Inner Temple, he accompanied that gentleman to Canada, when he had received the appointment of Attorney-General of Upper Canada from the newly created Lieut.-Governor, John Graves Simcoe.

When Simcoe decided to remove the capital from Newark to the site of old Port Rouille (now Toronto), Ward was among the number who saw the soldiers clear away the brush and trees, and lay the foundation for "Little York". He assisted in organizing the first government and, with the Attorney-General, built one of the first houses there in 1795, there were but twelve dwellings apart from the barracks.

Having studied law, Ward was made a statute lawyer, one of the first in Upper Canada, and was one of the first benchers of the Law Society of the Province.

At the close of the century he went to Brighton, and not long afterwards settled at Port Hope, where Jonathan Walton and Elias Smith had come in 1797, and Myndert Harris, earlier still.

In 1808, Mr. Ward was appointed Registrar of the county of Durham, and held that office until 1847, when he resigned and one of his sons succeeded him. He was the second Registrar of the United Counties, and the Hon. George Boulton followed him as Registrar of Northumberland. He was at one time Judge of the County Court, and was Judge of the Surrogate when he died, Feb. 27th, 1861. He was Clerk of the Peace, having held that office for upwards of forty years for the United Counties, and was succeeded by the Crown Attorney, John Douglas Armour.

He took the first census of the Newcastle District, when there were but forty heads of families, with but four yoke of oxen and one horse. This was probably done soon after the creation of the Newcastle District in 1802. When the town of Newcastle was laid out, he was the owner of an acre lot. Another well-known man, David McGregor Rogers was a nearby resident.

About 1806, Thos. Ward married Mary Playter of Toronto, and thereby became a connection of Major Rogers, who had also married a Miss Playter. Mrs. Ward was born on December 13, 1782, and died February 20, 1847. Of their eight children, Ely, was a witness of the burning of the steamer "Caroline", in the cutting out of which, Robert D. Rogers was an active participant.

Thos. Ward, himself, served throughout the War of 1812-1814 as a captain; his company was stationed along the lake shore between Toronto and Brighton, and part of the time he acted as paymaster for the troops.

His chief, John White, the first Attorney-General of Upper Canada, was killed in a duel, fought behind the government building in York, on January 3, 1799, by John Small, Clerk of the Executive Council.

So, Thomas Ward, who had seen the very beginning of parliamentary life in Upper Canada, lived until the year when the Prince of Wales visited a very different Peterborough from the one he had seen on that day in May, 1819. Thomas Ward was 91 when he died. He was one of the founders of St. John's (later St. Mark's) Church at Port Hope, and on an eminence to the northeast of Port Hope, known as Ward's Hill, Trinity College School now stands.

Hoe With Light Touch To Speed Your Garden

Cultivating the garden not only benefits the plants, but gives posture training to the planter.

Of all the agricultural practices which have come to us from the past, the one most under attack in current scientific investigation is cultivation.

Many consider cultivation of the soil, once seed has been sown, to be harmful. But also harmful is weed growth, and the development of a hard soil crust which prevents the free circulation of air, so the plant roots may breathe.

Few now contend that cultivation checks evaporation of water from the soil, rather it is believed to help dry out the top soil.

It is still one way in which weeds can be killed and the soil crust broken up; and both these objects can be accomplished by shallow stirring of the top soil, not deep enough to disturb the surface roots of plants, or to dry out the soil unduly.

For the amateur the rule would seem to be: Go easy with the hoe. Cultivate often, to kill weeds when they are small white sprouts, which can be brought to the surface by stirring the soil not more than one inch deep. Or else use a mulch to take the place of cultivation.

Mulches have been shown by a scientific test to be superior to cultivation as a means of keeping the soil moist, preventing the formation of a crust and insuring aeration.

Mulches of fresh organic material, such as manure, straw, alfalfa, peat moss, lawn clippings and others, stabilize the granular structure of soils and prevent surface compaction.

In testing various mulching materials, it was found that when seeds of Cheeping's fescue grass were sown between plant rows, it produced the same effect as a good manure mulch, at considerably less expense.

Sown at the rate of 3 pounds to 100 square feet, this grass makes a thick growth. Toward fall the grass dies out. Crop production is said to be as good as when any other mulching material is used, and the cost less.

Many other materials have been used successfully to mulch gardens. Newspapers will serve for this purpose, laid down wet, using several thicknesses, and anchoring with staples, or stones.

Excellent results can be obtained from a heavy mulch of lawn clippings, applied a little at a time. The first application should be well mixed with the top soil; and then it may be built up to several inches in thickness, so that weeds are kept down and evaporation checked, but at the same rains are allowed to penetrate the soil. Tomatoes especially like a mulch of this kind.

Petes' Lacrossers In Draw With Brampton Seniors

Lacrosse returned to Peterborough for the '48 season on Friday night in Miller Bowl when Brampton Excelsiors—a Senior "A" squad—and the Petes, who are Senior "B" champions, fought it out to an 8-all draw. Cold, wet weather kept the crowd down but there was a fair-sized gathering and the fans enjoyed a lively and tight tilt. A band was in attendance and Mayor Owens officially opened the season with a trophy presentation.

Brampton took a 3-1 lead in the first quarter but the Petes hit their stride and had a 5-4 margin at the half. They were in front 7-5 to end the third and still had a two-goal lead late in the fourth when Brampton counted two fast ones when the Petes suffered the only penalty of the game. Some stiff checking was seen in spots, but it was generally clean and fast.

Looked Good

The 1948 Petes looked real good for a first game of the season. Their stars of last year were augmented by some classy newcomers and the team gave their senior "A" opponents a tough exhibition. The Petes really earned a win but the visitors showed deadly accuracy when in position. Though the footing was rather greasy, the teams kept up a fairly fast pace throughout and the fans saw some smart early-season lacrosse. Another exhibition is planned for next Friday.

Carl Madgett and Crawford were the pick of the Excelsiors with Wilson, Taylor and Raine also prominent. Jack Breakspear, Aron Dugan, Jerry Creighton and Terry Gordon stood out most of the route for the Petes, with the two Hills also good. The whole team shaped up well for a starting struggle and, at that, they were minus Curly Warren, Pup Curtin and Ron Horton.

The teams:
Brampton—Goal, Fagerquist, defence, Shepherd and Watt; centre, Madgett; wings, H. Madgett and Garbutt; rover, Crawford, alternates, Steele, Ferrie, Wilson, Raine, Taylor, Gowing Gallagher, Formica, Cuthbert and Arthur.

Petes—Goal, B. Hill; defence, J. Creighton and Magee; centre, E. Creighton; wings, Dugan and R. Breakspear; rover, Smith; alternates, J. Breakspear, D. Vitarelli, L. Vitarelli, J. J. Hill, Gordon, Foote, Dundas, Renwick, Bush, Edgar and Connolly.

Referee—W. Mullis, of Brampton.

Athletics Take Game

ST. CATHARINES, May 22—(CP)—St. Catharines Athletics edged out a 14-13 victory over Mimico Mounts in an exhibition game to open the senior lacrosse season here last night. Mounts led 1-0 in the first quarter, then A's took over for a 9-4 lead at the end of the third. In the final quarter Athletics led 14-8 at one time, but the Mounts, led by Ken Dixon and Jack Dorney, netted five straight counters.

SET OPENING DATE

The opening game of the Big Four Interprovincial Football League will take place at Toronto September 4, D. Wes Brown, secretary of the IFRU, announced Friday in Ottawa. Ottawa Roughriders will journey to the Queen City to meet the Argonauts in the opener of a 24-game schedule which concludes November 6. League playoffs will be held on November 10 and 13.

Calgary Race Meet Opens, 500 Entries

CALGARY, May 22 (CP)—The ringing cry of hopeful punters and just plain horse-lovers—"They're Off"—rolls across the Prairies today heralding the opening of the 1948 season of the Sport of Kings in Western Canada.

Start of the Calgary race meet today also marks the 24th season of racing in the West under the jurisdiction of the Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders and Racing Association. The association was organized in 1925 by R. James Speers of Winnipeg and a group of associates.

Before the 14-day meet ends June 7, bettors are expected to pour more than $1,000,000 through the pari-mutuels.

More than 500 horses, including the 48 two-year-olds and 65 three-year-olds are on hand for the races. Stables from all sections of Canada, from Mexico and from the States of California, Kentucky, North and South Dakota, and Iowa are represented—all seeking a share of the $64,400 in purses that will be distributed in the 98 races.

Remain on Circuit

Majority of the stables will remain on the Prairie circuit for the full 79 days of racing scheduled this season. From here, the ponies swing to Winnipeg for the Winnipeg Jockey Club meet June 18 to July 3, and then swing into the Exhibition meets at Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina.

Seven Canadian thoroughbreds, headed by the Prairie champion Pagan Star, have been entered in the 6½ furlong Premier Handicap—today's feature event.

Pagan Star, by Jopagan out of M'Lise, last year won $11,835 for owner Neil Campbell of Okotoks, Alta. The other probable starters, with last year's winnings in brackets are: Little Dee ($2,675); Karakas ($2,280); Allied Admiral ($1,855); Elmbrook Count ($1,322); Beach Drive ($1,335); O My Dear ($1,255).

The Star, one of the greatest thoroughbreds ever raised in the West, was good enough to run against Count Speed when the latter set a new world record of 1:41 for 1 1/16 miles at Golden Gate Fields, Albany, Calif., last year.

PET SHADOW WINS

The Buffalo-owned colt Pet Shadow Friday coasted to a victory in the 50th annual running of the Woodstock Plate, feature of the fifth day's card of the Ontario Jockey Club's spring meeting at old Woodbine Park, Toronto.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Senior baseball returns in the revived COBL here Monday morning at 10.15 in Riverside Park when Batawa (the Belleville district entry) plays the Petes. Can't say who will take the mound for the men o' Murphy, Bill Edgar, Ganner Whitehill or Doug Loucks. Latter is a fine ex-Junior, a right-hand thrower with lots of speed and hooks. Ed Starr and Al Meneses are the catchers, while the infield will likely look like this: Larry Edwardson at first, Freddy Garvey on second, Mowle Dalton at short, and George Walton on third. Joe Stewart, Tommy Foley and Jack MacInnes in the garden. This senior "A" opener ought to draw a big holiday crowd.

Just to refresh fans' memory on distances of the diamond—after watching hockey on 100 by 90 feet surfaces all winter—the grandstand is not to be less than 60 feet back of home plate. The pitching distance is 60 feet 6 inches, the spread between bases is 90 feet, and from home to second 127 feet 3 3/4 inches. That's cutting it fine, eh? Pitcher's rubber is 24 by 6 inches and cannot be higher than 15 inches above the home plate level, with the mound sloping gradually. The ground rules are made by the home manager, who submits them to the rival manager. If the latter refuses to accept them, then the umpire has authority to make ground rules.

Baseball, not being cricket, goes in for a lot of trickery. It is considered quite ethical to steal the other side's signals, hence it is interesting to watch the coaches at first and third in action—especially with runners aboard. While a "duster" is sometimes used to keep a batter from crowding the plate too closely—"loosening 'em up", pitchers call it—the "bean ball" is frowned upon. That's deliberately trying to hit the batter. A good way to cure a pitcher of that habit is to step back and swing hard above the ball, letting the bat slip from the hands toward the mound. After ducking such a missile, the average hurler will start to behave!

Nor is there any diamond law against a slider with the ball blocking a runner coming into the base. But he does so at his own risk, the antidote for that block being to slide in spikes foremost. Better to give the runner half the bag. Runners slowing down just long enough to block a fielder's vision on a grounder may be called out for interference, even though the fielder finally sees the apple in time to get his hands on it. But the game is full of tricks—it is known as the scientific sport. A big leaguer one time threw a potato six feet over the third baseman's head and then calmly whipped the ball to the plate for an out. So they had to write in another rule! Baseball's like that.

Another reminder of the jamboree put on by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Morrow Park on Monday (May 24) afternoon and evening. Sports on the program include three harness horse races and three men's softball games. Followers of the pacers and trotters should see some good ones on the half-mile dirt track, with the starting gate used. The four City Softball League teams compete in two afternoon semi-final struggles, the victors clashing at 6.30 p.m. for the silverware and individual prizes. With the weather right, it will be a good spot to spend several hours and should attract a huge crowd.

Today sees the official opening of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club—with tennis addicts maybe in action, too. And, again if the weather is favorable, many of the golfing fraternity will congregate on the large links lying just west of the city. Prexy Frank Buckland will greet members and guests, and Lex Robson, club pro, will be a busy man indeed. So will Hugh Logan up at the Peterborough Club as they have a busy week-end, also, having officially opened proceedings last Saturday. Prospects appear real bright at both fine layouts for a big season with increased membership, more equipment and improved courses.

Bad weather held down the lacrosse crowd to hardly a thousand last p.m. here but they officially opened the season. And the Petes showed their class already by tying Brampton's "A" crew 8-8 in a neat exhibition. Should have won it, too. It was good early-season lacrosse and both sides hustled throughout, with little rough stuff showing. The Excelsiors will be better as the season progresses, but then so will the Creighton crew. Along with the starry locals who took the Ontario senior "B" title last semester, they have half a dozen ace newcomers and some of them were quite prominent last eve. The others, along with other Peterborough players, will hit their stride shortly. And the big local lacrosse following can bank on some smart gutted-stick performances by the Petes as the season progresses. There'll be another tilt next Friday.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' REALTY: Frank Dehaeny will see mitt action next week in the Olympic trials in Montreal. Juvenile ball game at two this a.m. for seven heats, followed by a junior game in Riverside. On Tuesday there at 6.15, it's northern bantams versus the Hawks. Intermediates and juniors play away on the holiday. After Monday, the Petes haven't a COBL game till the next Saturday, and it is in Oshawa. Men's softball at the Bowl on Tuesday: Combines vs. Knights, and Legion vs. De Laval. Girls begin next Wednesday. Jack Breakspear was hot for the lacrossers last '47, so was Aron Dugan. We also liked the two Hills, and figure Terry Gordon will be popular. Legion puckists will recall the redhead in that hot OMA series with Orillia. The Petes' senior ball game in Belleville is off for wet grounds; they drift at two today at the Ex. Church softball Tuesday: Murray St. vs. St. Andrew's at Central and George St. vs. S.A. at Prince of Wales in p.m.; George St. vs. Keene midgets at Oval, and St. George's vs. Knox at King Edward; revised schedule in shortly. Winnipeg Horse Western Hope In King's Plate

By JAMES BASTABLE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 22 (CP)—The oldest annual turf classic in North America, the King's Plate will be run Monday when a field of top Canadian three-year-olds meets in the 89th running of the historic event with its purse of 50 guineas and $10,000—added.

A throng of 40,000 is expected to crowd old Woodbine Park to watch the dozen or so thoroughbreds match speed and stamina over the gruelling mile-and-one-eighth gallop in Canada's top racing fixture.

Eastern stock has held the coveted trophy since its presentation in 1880, in honor of Queen Victoria. But since nominations were extended in 1944 from Ontario to Canadian-breds, tight-lipped rail birds see a strong western threat from the tippy-turvy field of campaigners.

Lord Fairmond, western hope from the Whittier Park Stables of Winnipeg, entered the charmed circle of favorites when he turned in a dawn workout, mile in 1:41 3-5 recently.

The brown colt by Fairmond out of Sweepden, will be piloted by Alberta-born Johnny Longden, the bronzed veteran who recently made American turf history when he booted home his 3,000th winner.

Graduating from the Alberta wheat fields, the 38-year-old veteran was signed three weeks ago by Lord Fairmond's owner R. J. Speers.

Pre-race workouts have hailed to establish a heavy favorite but horsemen think Sweepden, carrying the double-blue silks of Toronto's Hatch Stables, may repeat the winning performances of Hatch's entries in 1941, 1944, and 1945.

Known As Queen's Plate
Established in 1880 as the Queen's Plate, this foremost of Canadian races was run as such until 1902 when it was changed to its present name.

The King's purse has been presented every year though rules for the classic changed through the years. Originally he race rotated among various Ontario centres but in 1883 it was established permanently at Toronto's Woodbine Park.

In 1944 two other changes were made; the $9,000—added money was increased to $10,000 and owners were allowed to take their players south of the border for winter training. But if they race across the border they are disqualified.

With 20 King's Plate victories—eight won consecutively from 1891 to 1898—the famous Sweepden Stables is well out in front since Don Juan won the inaugural running of Canada's richest horse race at Carleton, Ont. The Hatch and Giddings Stables follow the yellow and black silks with five each.

In its unbroken 66-year-old history, the race has been staged at Carleton, Quebec, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Whitby, Kingston, Ottawa, Barrie, Woodstock, Prescott and Picton.

Although clinging to winter book choices bettors will remember last year's Plate upset when a rank outsider, Moldy, thundered into the stretch, turning back a half-dozen favorites, to reach the wire and just fall short of Uppermost's track record of 1:53.4-5 set in 1945.

Limit U.S. Boxers Appearing In Canada

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 22—(CP).—No boxers from the United States Amateur Union will be permitted to appear on a card in Canada unless the Canadian club in charge of the show is an affiliate of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

This was announced on Friday night by Harry Hainsworth of the U.S. Amateur Union who took part in amateur boxing discussions with representatives of the AAU of C and of the Ontario Boxing Association. The AAU of C representatives said there was no desire on their part to force clubs into their union. But they thought it in

IT'S AN OLD HABIT WITH HIM—For the fourth time, Rex Mays, the Glendale, Cal., veteran, has won the pole position for the 500-mile Indianapolis speedway classic Decoration Day. Mays averaged 130.577 miles per hour for 10-mile test on the first day of the qualifying trials. He is shown in his Bowes Seal Fast special with Mechanic Pete Clark.

Pirates Hand Dodgers Sixth Straight Loss 8-4

By RALPH BODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a big jump from the bottom of the heap to the National League's first division but Pittsburgh Pirates are trying to prove that it can be done.

Of course, the season has a long way to run and the Pirates may hit a snag when they run into the usual heavy mid-season double-headers but Manager Billy Meyer's crew is in third place today, pressing St. Louis Cardinals for the lead.

Friday at Brooklyn the Pirates handed the Dodgers their sixth straight loss, 8-4.

Frankie Gustine and Max West were the big guns in the Pirate bombardment, but former Dodgers, Ostermeuler, Hal Gregg and Dixie Walker also played important parts.

Gustine lashed out five hits, a homer, double and three singles, scored four times and batted in two runs, while West chipped in with a three-run homer.

Given Car Walker who for nine years was the idol of Dodger fans, was given an automobile by his admirers before the game. The popular outfielder drove home two runs.

Ostermeuler opened for the Pirates and shut out the Brooks until the sixth when they pushed over three runs. In the seventh, he left in favor of Hal Gregg, after the first two Dodgers got on. Gregg retired the side although a run came in. He blanked them the rest of the way.

The second-place New York Giants took an 8-3 cuffing from Chicago Cubs, the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals bowed 3-1 to Braves in a night game at Boston.

Two homers by rookie Clarence Maddern and a homer and triple by Eddie Waitkus featured the Cub triumph. Four Cardinal errors allowed the Braves to score three unearned runs and thus halt a six-game St. Louis winning streak.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, gunning for his fifth straight victory, was the victim. Warren Spahn held the Cards to seven hits, including a homer by Stan Musial.

Clear Weather Turns Up For Turf Fans

TORONTO, May 22 — (CP). —

The weather forecast for Toronto today was clear and cool, which was nothing like the condition of the thousands of turfgoers trying to pick the winner of the historic King's Plate on the holiday Monday.

The weather was all to the good for the thousands packing old Woodbine Park racetrack this afternoon for the next-to-closing day card highlighted by the King Edward Gold Cup handicap.

The weather also promised that the track would be fast, and continuing fast Monday, when the best of Canadian-bred three-year-olds go to the post in the 89th running of the King's Plate.

The change in track conditions, and the fact the 89th running of the continent's oldest horse race is at a distance of a mile and an eighth, added to the perplexities of the faithful who were backing no one but several candidates for the King's guineas.

The plate trials last Monday, only race in which the plate horses may run as three-year-olds before starting for the guineas, were run in mud, and were run at only six furlongs.

The plate field announced today not only included the best Canadian-bred three-year-olds in training but had for riders several of the topnotch jockeys in North America.

One of them was Ted Atkinson of Toronto, a leading jockey on United States tracks slated to make his Canadian debut aboard Charlie Turner's colt All British, winner of one plate trial division. Another is veteran Johnny Longden of Taber, Alta., who set a mark of 3,000 winners in North America recently.

Jockey Pat Remillard, long a favorite of Ontario track patrons was engaged to ride the Kimrars Stable's Chance Toss, one of several outsiders.

Suggest Change In PGA Tourney

ST. LOUIS, May 22 — (AP). —

There has been considerable talk around the current Professional Golfers' Association tournament about eliminating the qualifying round and tossing all comers right into match play. There has also been talk, mostly by the knockout victims, about eliminating these early 18-hole tests, and making all matches 36-hole Marathons. The latter suggestion probably won't be heard for a while after Friday's run of overtime clashes. There were seven extra hole matches in the first round and two more in the second.

Thought for Food.

Rotund Ed (Pork Chops) Oliver was wandering down the fairway the other day when a friend offered him some refreshment—a cup of chocolate milk. "No thanks," replied Ed, "that sort of stuff isn't good for your stomach." But apparently the offer gave Porky ideas, for the next time he was sighted, Oliver was leaving a refreshment stand, biting into a king-sized hot-dog.

Worsham Thinks He's Lucky Man

ST. LOUIS, May 22 — (AP). —

Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Calif., United States open champion, thanked "luck" for his presence in third-round play of the Professional Golfers' Association tournament today.

Worsham considered himself fortunate in winning Friday's first-round match over Al Watrous of Birmingham, Mich., one up.

Big Jim Ferrier, 1947 champion, wasn't so fortunate. The Austrian-born Ferrier currently of San Francisco, lost in the second round to masters champion Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N.Y., one up.

But if Worsham was discouraged by his tough trials in the qualifying heats and first round, he had only to look to his 7 and 6 second-round victory over Ernie Ball of Oak Park, Ill., for encouragement.

Worsham faced Jim Demaret of Ojai, Calif., today in the third round and Harmon went up against Henry Ransom of Ravinia, Ill.

Ransom won from Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago 3 and 2 in the second round, and Demaret won from George Getchell of Oklahoma City 3 and 1.

Newark Smashes Orioles In 7-2 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Bob Porterfield, Newark Bears' sensational rookie right-hander, has added Baltimore Orioles to his imposing collection of victories. He stopped the Orioles 7-2 on Friday night to gain his sixth victory in as many starts.

Porterfield, who recently had a string of 36 straight scoreless innings snapped, limited the Orioles to six safeties, including a homer by Warren Robinson in the ninth inning.

The victory enabled the Bears to move to within half a game of the second-place Montreal Royals and to within 1½ games of the pace-setting Syracuse Chiefs.

In the only other game Friday night Jersey City Giants, defending pennant winners, dropped into a seventh-place tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs by bowing 10-2 to the Leafs.

Oscar Judd, veteran left-hander recently obtained from Philadelphia Phillies, checked the Giants on six hits and fanned six in posting his first win.

The Leafs slugged three Jersey City hurriers for 13 hits including homers by Johnny Wels, Hank Blassatt, and Vic Barnhart.

lian-born Ferrier currently of San Francisco, lost in the second round to masters champion Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N.Y., one up.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Ottawa reports tell of the formation of a new senior six-team senior hockey circuit whose playing will be decided by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. The league will be made up of RCAF Flyers, Hull Volants, Ottawa Army, New Edinburgh, Cornwall and Verdun. The first four were members of the Ottawa City League last season.

W. Scott Pearson, Registrar of the City of Ottawa, is reported as the president of the new circuit to be known as the Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League. Capt. J. A. Angus will be secretary-treasurer. Each team will play a 40-game schedule, 20 games at home and 20 on the road.

Gerry Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., captured the Marathon run of 26 miles 383 yards Friday night in Los Angeles, staged as a side feature of the Coliseum relays.

Cote, winner of the recent Boston Marathon, negotiated the distance in 2 hours 43 minutes 30 seconds. Joe Smith, Somerville, Mass., was second and Tom Crane, Springfield, Mass., was third.

Anton Raadick of Chicago and Estonia won a split 40-round decision over 20-year-old Smuggs Hursey of Washington on Friday night in New York's Madison Square Gardens. Henry (Snow) Flakes, Buffalo heavyweight, punched out a unanimous decision over Lee Oma of Detroit, in the co-featured 10-rounder.

At Birkdale, England, the United States golf team on Friday rolled up a 2-1 lead over Great Britain in defence of the Curtis Cup. Louise Suggs, US women's champion, and Grace Lenzyk were defeated 3 and 2 by Jean Donald and Jacqueline Gordon. The American team needs only two wins and tie in Saturday's six singles matches to retain the silverware.

A special committee appointed by the Board of Control, decided in Toronto Friday that the playing field of Exhibition Park be 50 feet closer than originally planned to the semi-brown grand stand under construction. The committee includes civic officials, an architect, and representatives of Toronto sports organizations.

Chicago's city fathers, burdened with tax, housing and other problems, took cognizance of another one Friday — the White Sox. Until Friday the Sox, Chicago's entry in the American League, have won only four games since the 1948 season opened. They have lost 19 games. The City Council unanimously approved a resolution offering the Sox sympathy for games lost "through bad breaks and tough luck" and expressing confidence in ultimate success. The Sox responded Friday by beating the New York Yankees 3-0.

WIN GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S LITERARY AWARDS — Winners of the Governor-General's Literary Awards for the best works of fiction, poetry, creative non-fiction, academic non-fiction and humor published by Canadian writers in 1947, as announced

Gabrielle Roy 1947 Winner Of Canadian Literary Award

TORONTO, May 22 (CP).—Gabrielle Roy, native of St. Boniface, Man., has won the Governor-General's Literary Award for the best fiction of 1947 with her novel, "The Tin Flute," Dr. J. Markovitz, national secretary of the Canadian Authors' Association, announced today.

Last year the fiction award went to Winifred Bambrick, Montreal harpist, for a first novel, "Continental Review."

William Slater of Toronto captured the creative non-fiction award with "Haida," the story of one of Canada's fighting ships in the Second World War.

The award for academic non-fiction went to Robert MacGregor Dawson, professor of political economy at the University of Toronto, for his monumental book, "The Government of Canada."

Dorothy Livesay (Mrs. Duncan Macnair) of Vancouver received the poetry award for her volume, "Poems About People."

The Leacock Medal for Humor was won by Paul G. Hiebert of Winnipeg, with "Sarah Binks," a satire in the form of fictionalized biography.

W. O. Mitchell of High River, Alta., is winner of the $500 prize donated by the Echoes committee of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire for encouragement of Canadian literature. The prize was awarded to Mr. Mitchell — who is also a short-story writer — in recognition of the high quality of his first novel, "Who Has Seen the Wind."

Unanimous Choice — "The Tin Flute," an English-language edition of Gabrielle Roy's "Bonheur d'Occasion," was the unanimous choice of the fiction judges. The French-Canadian author was elected a member of the Royal Society of Canada last September and recently received the Prix Femina Vie Heureuse (Paris) for the year's most distinguished novel by a woman. Miss Roy now is in Paris with her husband, Dr. Marcel Carbotte, who is doing post-graduate work in medicine.

William Slater, now in business in Toronto, was a lieutenant commander in the Royal Canadian Navy in charge of public relations work.

A Maritimer by birth, Robert MacGregor Dawson graduated from Dalhousie University, later studied at Harvard and the University of London, England, and has lectured at Dalhousie, Rutgers University and the Universities of Saskatchewan and Toronto. His previous books include "The Civil Service of Canada," "Constitutional Issues in Canada" and "Canada in World Affairs."

Dorothy Livesay is a young poet whose work has captured several previous honors including the Lorne Pierce Medal from the Royal Society of Canada.

Paul G. Hiebert is professor of chemistry at the University of Manitoba. All presentations will be made at Ottawa June 12, at the annual dinner of the Canadian Authors' Association.

To Plant Trees On Week-End Near Ganaraska

PORT HOPE, May 22.—An extensive planting program has been arranged by the Ganaraska Conservation Authority, to be carried out during the Victoria Day week-end, in co-operation with the Boy Scouts of Ontario.

The camp site is to be the same as last year, states Mr. H. R. S. Ryan, secretary of the Authority, namely, on the McMillan property known as "The Cold Spring," in the northwest corner of Hope township, northeast of Kendal.

The camp will be established to accommodate at least 100 Boy Scouts, who are to be in attendance from such points as Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa, Peterborough, Picton and Belleville.

Mr. Ryan wishes to make it distinctly understood that the presence of visitors on Sunday not only will be permitted but will be most welcome. Directions on reaching the camp may be obtained from Mr. Ryan, Mr. A. H. Snelgrove, Mr. Frank Long, Mr. Dick Norman and others.

The Authority, states Mr. Ryan, has just about finished its program of buying property in the Watershed area for the year. Already this recently constituted body, representing the municipalities concerned and the Ontario Department of Planning and Development, has acquired by purchase 1,048 acres of land, for forestation purposes.

Negotiations for a further 60 acres in Clarke Township are now in progress, which will about end this activity for the season.

The figure of 1,048, states Mr. Ryan, represents the acreage bought only during the present year. The total area already purchased by the Authority is 2,268 acres in extent.

Use Canadian 'Chipmunk' For Training RAF Fliers

By JAMES MCCOOK

LONDON, May 22 (CP).—A two-seater monoplane, designed and built in Canada, will be used to train the "week-end" fliers whose predecessors helped win the Battle of Britain in 1940.

Air Secretary Henderson, in a statement to the Commons, said the historic Tiger Moth—used for training British Commonwealth air forces for 15 years—will be supplanted in RAF Volunteer Reserve operations by the Chipmunk.

An official said the new trainer, designed and built by the De Havilland Company at Toronto, was called "Chipmunk" because "the chipmunk is a small Canadian animal and this is a small Canadian aircraft."

Neither Air Ministry nor De Havilland officials could estimate how many machines will be needed but before the war hundreds of reserve pilots received experience in flying during week-ends and holidays. They were available for immediate duty with the regular RAF when the war started.

De Havilland officials said about "half a dozen" Chipmunks now are in the United Kingdom. Production will be continued in Canada, but if the demand is great enough some might be constructed in the United Kingdom.

The first Chipmunk, designed by W. J. Jakinuk at Toronto, was flown on May 22, 1946, by Pat Fillingham, chief production test pilot. Delivery of sample machines began in December, 1946.

20 Canadians Teaching In Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, May 22 (CP).—As the result of an unofficial remark dropped by Emperor Haile Selassie a few years ago, Canadians are in charge of Ethiopia's largest educational institution and newest school for adult education.

The Emperor's remark was that he would look with favor upon Canadian Jesuits coming to teach in one of his country's schools. This remark subsequently reached the Pope through unofficial channels.

Now, Rev. Dr. Lucien Matte, 13 other Canadian Jesuits and six Canadian laymen comprise the administrative and main teaching staff of Addis Ababa's big Tafari Makonnen School, largest in Ethiopia.

The Jesuits are not here as missionaries but as regular teachers in a public school under the supervision of the Ethiopian Ministry of Education.

"The Jesuits in Addis Ababa wear regular business suits instead of distinctive religious garb," explained Dr. Matte, "in view of the particular circumstances which attend our work here. Our ecclesiastical authorities have permitted us to dress as laymen."

The Jesuit teachers come from various colleges of the Society of Jesus in Quebec Province, and the lay teachers are from Jacques Cartier Normal School in Montreal.

Tafari Makonnen School is a combined grammar and high school with both boarding and day pupils. The total student body numbers 1,015. Subjects are the same as those taught in Canadian and American schools of the same level. All class instruction is in English. Besides the Canadians, there are 26 Ethiopian teachers.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Liberal Leader Here Tuesday

Hon. Farquhar Oliver, Liberal Leader, will address a rally in PCVS auditorium on Tuesday night at 8:30 in the interests of Charles H. Elliott, the Liberal candidate for Peterborough.

On the same platform will be Mrs. John Houck of Brampton, an outstanding woman speaker, and member of the Royal Commission on Education set up by Premier Drew three years ago. Mr. Oliver after speaking in Peterborough is scheduled to speak in Port Hope in the interests of Garnet Shields, the Liberal candidate for Durham. Elected First in 1926.

Farquhar Oliver won his first political victory in 1926. Elected at 22 in Grey South as a United Farmers of Ontario member, he was the youngest man ever to sit in the Provincial Legislature.

Mr. Oliver lives on and works the 550-acre farm near Priceville, 30 miles south of Owen Sound, that was his birthplace. Manager of the farm is Mrs. Oliver, the former Annie Mabel Crutchley of Durham, Ont. They were married in 1930 and are kept busy with Mr. Oliver's political career and their herds of dairy and beef cattle.

There are two good reasons why a political career appealed to Mr. Oliver as a young man—his uncle, John Oliver, was Liberal Premier of British Columbia for nine years, and his own debating ability.

For his first entry into the Legislature—until after the 1937 election he ran as a U.F.O. candidate. However, in 1941 he entered the Liberal cabinet of Mitchell F. Hepburn as minister of public works and welfare. He resigned the portfolio in 1942 over the manner in which Mr. Hepburn passed the premiership over to Gordon Conant.

Mr. Oliver was a protégé of Miss Agnes Macphail, former member of the United Farmers of Ontario and the first woman to enter the House of Commons at Ottawa. After holding her seat in Grey Southeast, later Grey-Bruce, for 18 years, she was defeated by a Liberal. She was elected to the Ontario House as a CCF candidate in 1943 for York East. Defeated in 1945 she is again a candidate in the same riding in the forthcoming election. Mr. Oliver became Liberal House Leader in the Legislature in 1945. On May 16, 1947, he was elected Leader of the Ontario Liberal party.

It's Full Speed Ahead At CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC Making the Things Canada Needs

An opportunity for you to look over Peterborough Works will be given at a special
"OPEN HOUSE"

You will see huge generators being built. These will produce electricity in hydro-electric stations.

All types of wire and cable are manufactured—from wire as fine as a hair to the largest types of power cable.

Building switchgear which enables electric utilities and industrial plants to control their power circuits.

It requires big machine tools to make big electric equipment. Be sure to see this 40-foot boring mill when you visit the Plant.

Already, we in Canada use more electric power per capita than any other people in the world. But that doesn't mean time out for a breather.

Many new power developments are under way from one end of this country to the other... and these new generating stations require the kind of equipment we build. This increased production of electricity must result in a further demand for every type of product made at Peterborough Works. The great home-building drive swings ahead. Manufacturing industry needs more and more electrical equipment. Many of our mines are in process of electrification. The benefits of electricity are being made available to more and more farms. All of this adds up to increasing demand for electrical products.

All this means that we're very busy here in Peterborough. And that's the way we like it. New buildings are going up, new machinery is being installed. Our employment figure, an all-time high, is still climbing. Demand for the goods we turn out, in spite of our best efforts, still vastly exceeds our output.

Because we believe that Peterborough folk are interested in what goes on here at the plant, we want you all to come along sometime in the next few weeks and see things for yourselves. We'll give you the date and details later. We're afraid we won't have time to clean house especially for your visit—but we're sure you'll take us as you find us.

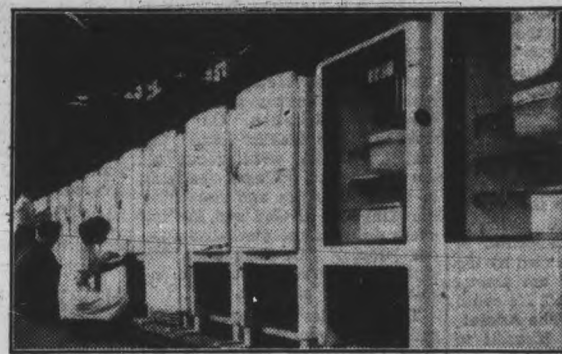

We think you will be interested in seeing the latest developments at Peterborough Works—not because we're the city's largest industry—but because our work here is helping to bring the benefits of "electrical living" to more and more of our fellow Canadians.

J. J. McNeil

Manager, Peterborough Works

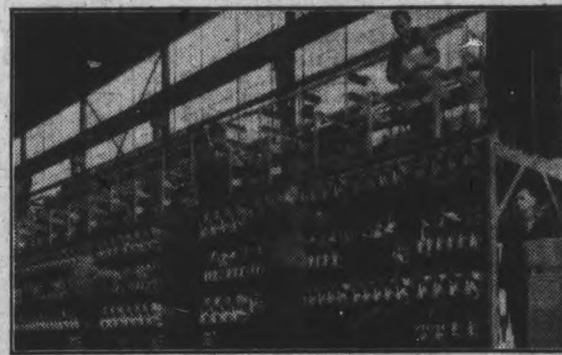

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. LTD.

Refrigerators for Canada's electric homes are rolling off the production lines at Peterborough Works.

You will be amazed at the thousands of electric motors being manufactured to drive the machines of industry and the motor-driven appliances in the home.

This board to control the electric motors in a large steel mill is only one of the many types of control equipment produced.

Hundreds of draftsmen, engineers and office workers play vital roles in the production of electric products at Peterborough Works.

The Fiery Test of Moral Courage

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Book of Daniel

By Alfred J. Buegcher

Four Jewish youths, Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, were taken captive to Nebuchadnezzar's court, but they refused to eat the food and drink the wine at the king's table, and were allowed to live on Hebrew fare.

At the end of the time set by the king, the four were brought before Nebuchadnezzar, who found none at court equal to Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in all matters of wisdom and understanding.

Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image and demanded that all his subjects should worship it. Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego would not bow before the image and when the king was told he had them thrown into a fiery furnace.

Later King Darius signed a decree that anyone who petitioned any but him should be thrown into the lion's den. Daniel prayed to God and he was cast into the den with the lions. MEMORY VERSE—Daniel 2:20

A Cordial Welcome Extended To All

Highest Christian Ideal
That of Service to Man

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus said: I Am Among You
As He That Served.

St. Luke 22: 27

The Gospel according to St.

Luke was very probably written for the Greeks. It is quite possible that a Greek gentleman about the year A.D. 90 came across this manuscript in a book store. He would be attracted to this beautiful book because its opening words were written in the Greek of educated men. It was written with the same intention that the editorial in the London Times makes its appeal to the upper class of readers. It is written for a high Roman official who is called "Excellency". Moreover he recognizes that the writer is also an educated man with the gift of clear simple language giving a word picture of the Carpenter of Nazareth. Yet he is startled by the words: "Jesus said: I am among you as He that serveth". He could not expect the Christ, The Anoint-ed of God, to lower Himself to be a servant.

Remember that this Greek gentleman was trained from early boyhood that the Greeks and Romans were the "Benefactors" of the world. Had they not given law and philosophy. All other nations were barbarians, only fit to serve their betters.

More than nineteen centuries have passed yet many Christians are shocked by the idea of service for others. The Germans claimed that they were founding a new order when they began the second war. It is not so. Hearken to the description of Nebuchad-nessar, who lived 25 hundred years ago. "All the peoples, nations and languages trembled and feared before him; whom he would he slew, who he would he kept alive. Whom he would he set up, whom he would he put down."—Dan 5:19.

It is hard for us to understand and realize the startling claim:

"Jesus said: I am among you as He that serveth." The age in which He lived was based upon authority in the minds of men.

"It also am a man under authority" is the quiet, proud claim of the Centurion. To rule and command was the outward sign of power. On the other hand the highest Christians find it hard to believe it is practical. We have to learn that the idealist is in the long run the man who is right:

An American teacher reminds us that both the idealist and the realist must do his part to rebuild our civilization. Our Lord was both the idealist and the realist. "Jesus went about all the cities and villages teaching in the synagogues and preaching

the Kingdom of God and healing every sickness and disease among the people." He translated His ideals into practice for our inspiration and example.

The Apostles had been quarreling about greatness; who would have the highest place in the Kingdom of God. Is your imagination gripped by this description of Our Lord's service: "Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into His Hands and that He came from God and went to God; Risen from supper and took a towel and girded Himself. After that He poureth water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet and to dry them with the towel wherewith

He was girded."—St. John 13:2.

Multitudes are in the shadow of death through hunger in Europe.

Yet the loudest cry we hear from many is "Our rights". The Lord would teach us "My rights are to serve".

LET THIS MIND BE IN YOU

WHICH WAS ALSO IN CHRIST JESUS, WHO, BEING

IN THE FORM OF GOD, TOOK

UPON HIM THE FORM OF A SERVANT.

Moral and Physical Courage
Are Hope of World Today

Scripture—The Book of Daniel

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Courage, both moral and physical, is more necessary in the world today than before.

Fear is rampant. Nations and ideologies are opposed in the modern world, and all people fear the future. Fear is the most primitive of all emotions. It is felt by animals and men alike.

However, courage also is inborn in humans and also in the animal world, and is the most admired of all virtues. To call a man "yellow" or cowardly, is the final insult. Moral and physical courage are the hope of the world, for our leaders and for the common man.

With wisdom coupled with courage our problems can be worked out and the world become a place of co-operation and security.

In the time of which we are studying, when the Jewish people were exiled to Babylon, they suffered from terror, too. If anyone dared disobey the whim of a tyrannical king, who had absolute power of life and death, he might be killed in the most brutal manner. If he made enemies, he was in grave danger of losing his life, which was indeed a cheap commodity in those days. High moral and physical courage was

could equal Daniel, Shadrach,

Meshach and Abednego in wisdom and understanding.

Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image and decreed that all his people must bow down before and worship it. Everyone did but Jewish youths, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and when the king was told of this he was furious and ordered them thrown into a fiery furnace. The three were bound and cast into the furnace, where they sang and glorified

God, not being harmed. When the king saw that their courage was rewarded by this miracle, he acknowledged their God was all-powerful and promoted the three to places of high honor.

In the reign of Belshazzar

Daniel told that king that he was

City Dwellers Head North On First Holiday Week-end

The great stampede of city dwellers for the wilds started Friday night, to take advantage of the first long Spring week-end. The most efficiently organized families with summer cottages have spent weeks planning for the great getaway and after Mother picked up the children at school and Dad at work, they were on the road. By today at noon, there was a steady stream of vehicles threading the highways, sleek cars with shiny new trailer cabins, old buses with open trailers, jalopies full of young people, motorcyclists, hitch hikers.

City Anxious To Hold Seed Fair

Peterborough set out the welcome mat Thursday night for the Quinte Seed Fair and the Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen to help establish Farmers' Week as a permanent event for the middle of March.

Officers of both these organizations look on the proposal with favor from the success of the trial shown here two months ago, but they have to get the support of their membership.

Peterborough farmers, the Department of Agriculture, city and county council, and local industry, that is interested in farm affairs are all willing to help on the same scale as this year's.

Total expenses of the week were estimated at $2,700.

When he lost control of the car he was driving, Garfield Turner, Mather's Corners, on Friday evening ran into the ditch doing slight damage to the car. Damage was estimated at approximately $20.

Plumber Says Fixtures Not Too Plentiful

Shortages of plumbing fixtures and similar materials are still acute, although somewhat eased from last year's tightened position. Gordon Dobbin, executive member of the Ontario Branch, National Association of Master Plumbers, charges that use of the raw iron and steel for "non-essential" uses is contributing to the shortages.

He would not enlarge on the term "non-essential" as he said that "some lines of business may consider themselves essential and as important as supplying these needs for homes."

"However, in view of the great demand for housing, particularly with veterans, we feel that the needs of the heating and plumbing industries should receive more material."

He said that plumbing contractors have been doing everything possible to see that available supplies of scrap iron are diverted to the manufacture of fixtures for domestic markets. The makers are offering $45 a ton for scrap iron, an extremely high price. Despite this effort, he said, "there are suspicions that other sources are offering even higher prices to get this material into less necessary lines of products."

The situation as regards basins, sinks and toilet parts is still bad, Mr. Dobbin said. All United States sources of these were cut off with the austerity program. There are only three Canadian firms which can supply them. The largest one, in Toronto, has not been in production of these goods recently, due to changeovers in their equipment to increase the quantity and variety of the products. As soon as this new production begins, it should help to meet some of the tremendous demands. There is a possibility - that this increased supply may be as much as 10 to 20 per cent of the present flow, indications showed.

An allied product in which the shortage is also a headache for the suppliers, he said, is eaves-troughing. The supply is still in the present inability of Canadian refineries to turn out the material in sufficient quantity. It is believed that efforts are also being made there to increase production capacity.

His firm, he said, this week received some spikes - the first in two years. Now, the situation is reversed: spikes, but not enough troughing.

"There are hundreds of people who have not been able to do anything about their eaves for the whole year period - nearly eight years now. The effects are be-such matters as rotting wood-work. Appearances of some homes are beginning to suffer."

H. S. Longhurst Administrator Resigns Post

Mr. H. S. Longhurst is retiring at the end of the month as eastern Ontario administrator for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, successor to Wartime Housing Limited, to become secretary-treasurer of the Armstrong Lumber Co. of Peterborough and Port Hope.

He has been manager and virtual landlord of 2,300 houses built by the federal government in the wide area from Lindsay to Hull.

Mr. Longhurst is being succeeded by Mr. J. W. Wacker of Sarnia, property manager in Hamilton for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The extensive development of Mr. Longhurst's responsibilities is recalled by his appointment seven years ago in charge of the first Wartime Housing project in Peterborough.

At that time 50 houses were built at Burnham's Point for incoming workers in local factories that were rapidly switching to wartime production. That housing contract was almost immediately expanded to 82 houses, and as the Dominion government's allotment of work to local manufacturing plants quickly expanded, the number of houses steadily increased to 857. Subsequently 128 other dwellings were erected by Housing Enterprise for returning service men and their families. Their supervision was transferred to Mr. Longhurst's office.

The success of his work here recommended Mr. Longhurst for regional administration. The initial emergency of accommodation for munitions workers continued as men began returning from active service into community circumstances of acute lack of housing. Canadian industry had become so preoccupied with production for victory, that the normal increase in building was suspended for years. A new social and domestic problem faced the country, and the Dominion government endeavored to extend its housing program for the benefit of ex-service men and their families.

Mr. Longhurst's territory of supervision included: Peterborough, Kingston, Ottawa, Lindsay, Smith Falls, Perth, Port Hope, Cornwall, Renfrew, and other communities in Ontario, and Hull, Valleyfield and Brownsburg in Quebec. The total number of tenant families was around 2,300. In spite of the 758 houses that have been built in Peterborough under several plans of the government, the Longhurst office has had a continuing and numerous backlog of applicants. The renting of these houses in the condition of anxious need for many young families has been a phase of Mr. Longhurst's duties that called for patience and sympathetic consideration.

All that experience and performance is now behind Mr. Longhurst as he returns to the lumber business with a splendid record as agent of the federal government in its housing enterprise. Previously he was with the H. R. Scott Lumber Co. and will now become secretary-treasurer of the company organized by Ald. Gordon Armstrong some months after his return from overseas with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

The Armstrong company has a branch in Port Hope, the manager of which is H. James Hayward, formerly of Peterborough, who was a Company Sergeant-Major with the S. D. and G.'s. He was employed some time ago in an engineering capacity in Quebec, but Ald. Armstrong believed that he wished to return to this district, and offered him the Port Hope management.

ST. GEORGE'S WIN
St. George's trounced St. Paul's 25-5 in a Bantam Church League contest held at King Edward School on Friday night. It was a close game until the seventh inning when the winners pushed across 12 runs.

CIVIC HOSPITAL DONATIONS
Peter Robinson Chapter IOOE has undertaken to donate $600 for the furnishing of a ward at the new Civic Hospital. It is the Women's Association of George St. United Church, not the Women's Auxiliary as previously reported, which is to contribute $200.

INVESTIGATES ACCIDENT
A case of dangerous driving is being investigated by Provincial Constable A. E. Grayling of Havelock today. Judging by wheel marks on Highway 7, a car out of control, ran into a ditch a few miles from town and damaged a fence. There are no further details.

CIVIC ARENA CAMPAIGN
City-wide canvass in aid of the Civic Arena campaign is being reorganized and will begin on Tuesday. Reorganization is being carried out as so many people asked canvassers to come back, when building of the secondary rink had started. Canvassers will be carrying pledge cards, for people unable to contribute at the time they call.

LAKESHORE TIME
Cobourg citizens are now in a comparable position to Peterborough main streeters. They now have a four-sided clock, and at a glance from any direction the citizens get a clock-face reading. The new time-piece in Cobourg was termed "an unusual and desirable condition" by the town council. The George and Charlotte clock is Peterborough's example of "time, marching on."

HOLLY ACRES OUT
Among the certainties a few days ago was the renomination of Holly Acres as Progressive-Conservative candidate in Carleton. It looked like a win in a romp. And as with southern Democrats, all you have to do in Carleton is grab the primary and you're elected. Mr. Acres has been provincial representative of the riding for 25 years. The new candidate is Don Morrow.

RECORD GRADUATING CLASS
The largest graduating class in the history of Queen's University received their degrees last Saturday. 633 students successfully completed their courses. The class was so large that graduation exercises took part both in the morning and afternoon. 243 received bachelor of science degrees, almost twice the number in last year's class.

Beauty Contest At Jamboree Has Many Entries

Entries for the Jaycee Jamboree beauty contest include more than 30 horses from Peterborough district and nearby communities. Keen competition in three races will provide fans with many thrills.

City baseball teams are prepared for the four-team playoff on Monday afternoon and the championship game at 7:30 Monday evening. The teams will compete for a trophy presented by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Art Lucking, Beauty Contest Chairman, said early Saturday morning that a few more entries would round out a top notch contest. One entry received came from "Miss Peterborough-1947" winner at the Legion contest at Nicholl's Oval.

In a thorough program for children, the Jaycees have planned the following attractions: pony rides, a midge midway, ferris wheel and swing rides. Moving pictures provided by the National Film Board will be shown, the Provincial Police plan a demonstration of their new radio system and a fly casting demonstration are included in other features of the Jaycee Jamboree.

Boost In Taxes Jars Many Home Owners

"They're whacking it to us this year," was the wry comment of a property owner paying his first instalment of the 1948 taxes at the city hall this morning. After all the reporting of an increased rate back when the municipal budget was set for the year, it appears that many citizens do not realize the effect on the individual until they come up against the tax bill.

Recent conversations have been heard in the buses, mobile forums of opinion, not severely critical of the higher taxes this year, but generally comparing the amounts now coming due with those of 1947.

Expression of taxpayer opinion is generally directed to the staff of that department in the Simcoe St. offices. An attempt at cheerful reply to the man who regarded himself as being "whacked" was made by a girl behind the counter. "Maybe they'll be lower next year."

And maybe they won't. A fact which most property owners do not mention is that the sales values of their properties have ascended substantially beyond present assessment levels. Transfers and turnovers during the last four or five years have exceeded owner expectations.

Registry office recording has continued this year to indicate lively realty business in Peterborough. Opportunity of selling however is heavily braked by cost of replacement. That applies particularly to people with one house or one store. The others with multiple ownership are getting deep icing on their cakes these months. But, as some of the members of the council might probably comment, that is a facet of present property circumstances and facts which is not mentioned on the paying side of the counter in the tax collector's office.

Anglers Pray For Sunshine Want Action On May 24

"The 24th" has been heralded for weeks now with store-window loads with firecrackers, and kids using them extensively. Now, with the first long holiday week-end of the summer season here, there are thousands devoutly hoping for fine weather. Plans vary with individuals and organizations, but the weather plays a part in all the schemes. Meteorological reports (weather forecasts, to the masses) are glumly non-committal, having misused conspicuously in recent weeks. It says: "Cloudy."

For the recreation line of thought, it is perhaps natural for the residents of the Kawartha district to think first of fishing. The anglers will be swamping the district waters for two preys: pickerel and speckled trout. An expected influx of out-of-town fishermen will swell the crowds at the rivers and smaller streams.

In Peterborough, the Jaycee Jamboree will be top attraction. To be held on the Exhibition grounds, the big show will include horse racing, softball games, carnival attractions.

A Scout Camporee at Nassau will be the objective for more than 200 Scouts and Cubs of the city and their leaders.

Bus companies in and out of the city are preparing for the usual week-end rush. At least two extra buses will be on the Ottawa-Montreal run. There will be extra coaches also on the runs to Lindsay, Tweed and Trenton.

Sports Aplenty
Three or four more buses than normal number will be on to handle the traffic to Toronto and from Toronto to Peterborough.

The ardent gardeners are not feeling too happy about the weather preliminary to the big sleep. The soggy ground does not appear overly conducive to digging in it; the thought of kneeling industriously in mud is not appealing to any but the die-hard enthusiasts.

Sports will be blossoming in various parks. Side, Batavia plays the Petes a Central Ontario Baseball League in Belleville on Saturday, a juvenile game will be staged that afternoon in Riverside Park, followed by a Junior Lakeshore League contest.

On Monday morning, in Riverside, Batavia plays the ePtes a COBL fixture.

The local junior and intermediate ball teams play out-of-town Monday.

The lacrosse squad goes to Montreal and Quebec City for exhibitions on Saturday and Sunday.

And the Kawartha Golf and Country Club officially opens its season Saturday.

Oh, well, it might turn out with sunshine...

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Art of Stencilling Revived Way to Express Individuality

Time was when our forebears wielded the stencil brush from necessity. With the price of wallpaper prohibitively high in bygone days when its manufacture involved a laborious hand-made process, grandmother had to satisfy her urge for decorating by stencilling walls, doors, mantels and anywhere else where her fancy landed. The large items done, she would as likely as not frugally use up the remaining paint touching up her coffee mill, sewing box, or perhaps worn dressing table accessories.

Today, stencilling has been revived as an almost lost art as a means of expressing individuality in our homes. Whether you use water-mix or oil paints, it's a simple craft to master and the chances are that you will come out with a decorative effect that far exceeds your expectations.

Stencil work is of particular value in emphasizing architectural lines and breaking up large areas of plain colour as with patterned effects on painted walls or ceilings. This type of work is easily executed and acts as a trim or border for either panels, dado or frieze.

Stencils can be purchased in a wide variety of patterns. If you prefer you can develop your own motifs.

Making Your Own Stencil
Here's how to go about making your own stencil. To cut the stencil you can use a regular stencil paper, but any rough stock will do. The old timers usually ripped pages from their household account books (good quality rag paper). Tag weight cardboard soaked in linseed oil is excellent

They'll Do It/Every Time

SEEMS LIKE THE GARDENERS ON THE GOLF COURSE ARE NEVER DOING ANYTHING

By Jimmy Hatlo

EXCEPT WHEN YOU'RE TRYING TO SINK A PUTT—WITH MAYBE FOUR BITS OR A DOLLAR ON THE HOLE

It is a good idea to cut two stencils exactly alike. Trace your pattern onto the stencil with carbon paper. Fasten two sheets of paper firmly together with scotch tape before you begin to cut. Your final design can be no better than your stencil, so work slowly and carefully.

Place your paper on a sheet of glass for an even edge. Manicure scissors are just the thing for fine corners. The simplest patterns are all cut on one sheet, but in the more intricate designs such as once used on rare old stenciled trays and Hitchcock chairs, every leaf, every flower, every bit of fruit merited its own stencil. Each design is made so that when one impression is completed, you merely lift the pattern away from the surface, and join the next impression by placing the end cuts of the pattern over those previously made, repeating this operation until the border is completed.

The most important fact about stencilling is that clean, sharp designs result from using a comparatively dry brush. Overloading the brush with color is the cause of nearly all stencil decoration troubles, such as blotting and ragged edges. Dip the brush to load it well with material and then wipe out all you can on the side of the pail. Then stamp or rub it out more on a board or sheet of newspaper. When no more color comes off in thick blobs the brush is ready to use. To reload, pick up colour from the board or newspaper.

Try the Simple Patterns First

Each time the stencil is lifted examine the black and wipe off any material that may have run through around the edges of the cuts. This will avoid smearing the wall when making the next impression. It might be a good idea to try the simple patterns first, progressing to the more interesting multiple patterns as your skill grows. . . and it will, for the process is simple and fascinating. Such delightful decorations can be created so easily and successfully that you will discover yourself searching for spots to which you can apply your newly acquired art.

With interior stencilling completed, let's take a look at its use on garden furniture. Many people prefer the contrast of new white against the summer green; but do not like the coldness of pure white alone; they want something in a little happier mood. So let's drag out the paint pot and see what we can do here. The outdoor painting is going to call for a bit of specialized treatment. The old master craftsman who designed and painted coaches developed the art of stencilling on surfaces which were to withstand extremes in weather. If you old paint is sound, fine . . . but if it is weathered you'll want to apply a new coat of good white lead paint as a base. There are any number of designs suitable for garden furniture. If you choose one with more than one color make sure the first one is dry before applying a new color.

Popular for Modern Interiors

Not only is stencilling applicable to early Colonial motifs, but can be used in the most modern interiors. You might try a large baroque scroll repeated in a border above your mantel, a tassel and fringe swag placed just below the ceiling line of your room or a border or seashores hung on dining room or kitchen walls with a winding painted ribbon. Paint a headboard for your bed right on the wall. It's an easy thing to give your house that special decorator touch if you succumb to the lure of stencilling your own designs.

Sea Lions Gorge On Fish School

NANAIMO, BC, May 22 (CP). — Huge herds of sea lions feasted on colichans, little silver fish valued for its oil and as a table delicacy, and departed for the north one month earlier than usual this season.

For Dominion Fisheries officials charged with the annual sea lion hunt, the early departure of the quarry came as a surprise and disappointment. After the usual five-day hunt for the salmon-destroyers, the patrol ship Atlin Post returned with a kill of only 38 instead of the usual 300.

It may be necessary to send an expedition to northern breeding grounds where sea lions can be dispatched with machine-guns.

Jews Of Rome Mourn Beurling

ROME, May 22 — (CP). — Sorrowing Jews in Rome Friday mourned the deaths of two former RAF fliers, who had volunteered to fight for the Jewish cause in Palestine — George (Buzz) Beurling, Canadian war ace, and Leonard Cohen, a Briton.

As the bodies of Beurling and Cohen were carried through Rome's Jewish quarter, stores along the route of the funeral procession let down their shutters as a sign of mourning.

Beurling, 26-year-old Montrealer, who was Canada's No. 1 ace of the Second World War with a bag of 31 enemy planes, and Cohen died Thursday when their single-engine plane plunged 700 feet, crashed and burned at Rome's Urbe Airfield.

World's Largest Antlers

FREDERICTON — (CP). — A deer shot in New Brunswick forests in 1936 has been judged the world's largest. At a recent contest sponsored by the Boone and Crockett club of New York the animal shot by the late Brooke Dolan of Philadelphia was measured for the largest set of antlers on record.

A HOME TO BE PROUD OF — If you are the type that prefers an all-on-one-floor home, this is a design which will be sure to interest you. It's lovely to look at—and lovely to live in! We know the owners are mighty proud of their sparkling white cottage; and we think they have every reason to be. Don't let the "cottage" appearance fool you though. Beside the five-and-a-half rooms which appear in the plan, there is the basement to consider. Here we find a housekeeper's bedroom with washroom and shower, and a superb playroom paneled in natural knotty pine, complete with open fireplace and bar! Heating is by oil furnace. All radiators are recessed in the walls, with hinged metal covers for easy cleaning. Wide, thick-butt cedar siding produces a deep shadow line in the sun. The sharp contrast with the spotless white paint is very pleasant. Composition shingle roof is black. A delicate touch has been added in the wrought ironwork on the porch, which is painted black.

Simplicity and Good Taste Go Hand In Hand In Building

Thousands of bright-eyed Canadian couples go merrily to architects or builders each year and return sad and discouraged people. No, these young people aren't stricken by the lack of material or labor—they know all about that. What has taken the wind out of their sails is to learn that their "Dream House" will cost so much to build. In fact, considerably more than the budget will stand.

As serious as a situation like this seems to the individual family, it should not mean disaster for their homebuilding plans. A round table conference over eliminating non-essentials from the "Dream House" is almost sure to lop off several hundred dollars in construction costs.

Compact Roof a Saving

It is important to realize too that simplicity and good taste go hand in hand—and that the simple house is the cheapest home to build. If your budget is limited don't expect to build a "cozy little cottage" that has wings that go this way and that. A compact house, devoid of complicated roof lines is a real saving. And, of course, a simple square or rectangular foundation cuts costs as well. But don't jump to the conclusion that by eliminating a basement you are going to "save" scads of money. True, you may save on foundation work under certain conditions, but by doing so you may unconsciously be increasing the area of the above-ground part of the house to provide space for furnace, fuel, laundry facilities and necessary storage room. Be careful about this point.

Economy-wise homebuilders keep their room dimension to standard sizes, if possible, in order to use joists which usually come in 8, 10, 12 and 14 foot lengths, etc. Quite a saving is realized by keeping your plumbing system simple. Piping and labor are reduced to minimum by having bathrooms "back to back", or directly over the kitchen or first floor washroom. Stock millwork, including doors and windows can bring a real saving.

Never Pays Out Installation.

Don't try to skimp on insulation to cut costs. This never pays in the long run. It is well to consider ceiling heights, however. Materials are wasted and heat loss by over standard height.

Bowed, or bay windows which require foundation work are very attractive indeed, but involve considerable labor and materials which help boost costs. Avoid these on the limited budget house.

Better than 90% of Canadian homebuilders intend to have a fireplace. That's fine, but why not have it on an outside wall and save a bit on face brick? Another way to hold down costs when planning an outside chimney is to lay proper foundations for the chimney when erecting the house; but build the chimney later.

Omit Shutters

Speaking of leaving things till later reminds us that it may be better to omit shutters, or that screened porch, or the garage, until a more flush period. And, of course, plan the house so the you could build an addition on the basic house when the need arises. Nowadays, we haven't the same feeling about used materials. If salvaged lumber can be purchased it can reduce costs, as can used brick.

Why not consider saving on decoration at first? Walls on even the best houses have a tendency to show cracks during the first year due to normal settling. This condition is aggravated today due to the prevalence of unseasoned lumber. How about leaving the papering job until after the first winter?

We know a very charming couple with excellent taste who decided to economize by leaving all second floor rooms with exposed sub-flooring for the first year. They painted all the surface not covered by rugs with gray colors. The result was most attractive.

Three-Act Comedy Cleverly Presented

A very clever and amusing three-act comedy drama was presented by the members of Lakefield United church choir in the Sunday school hall of Mark St. United church Thursday evening. Although inclement weather prevailed a large and enthusiastic audience filled the hall to hear a well paced and lively play that was above average in amateur circles.

The cast of eight people was well balanced. The comedy, directed by the minister of Lakefield United church, Rev. G. F. Kelly, clearly demonstrated the fact that weeks of hard work and capable training had gone into the preparation of this fine production. The play, entitled "Take My Advice," largely centred around the efforts of Jimmy Samson, a fast-talking salesman and Bob Marston, newspaperman in their efforts to wake up and put on the map the sleepy town of Eureka. Mr. Howard Vaughan, played the newspaperman and Mr. Archie Stewart the salesman, Rev. G. F. Kelly was also outstanding as the town doctor.

Wargim who was determined that Eureka should remain just as it was without interference from outside, Mr. Sam Black as Jud Fenton, who hates work, Mrs. Roy Jackson as Peggy Arson, whose money and influence finally freed the town from dictatorship of John Wargim, also showed fine ability in their chosen roles.

Other members of the cast who were Miss Jean Millar as Vergy Mannion, Miss Helen Kelly as Mrs. Nelson Dodd, social leader of Eureka and Miss Betty Millage as Mercia Wargim filled their supporting roles with high ability at all times. The whole cast was so fine it would be difficult to choose an outstanding star and they reflect much credit on themselves and their director.

The play was sponsored by the Mark St. choir under the direction of Mrs. Cecil Searies who, along with Mrs. E. De Nure entertained the audience between acts with two pleasing piano duets.

Drew Criticizes Health Grants As Oliver Pledges To Repeal Ont. Amusement Tax

TORONTO, May 22.—(CP).—Premier Drew in an Ottawa speech Friday night criticized the Federal Government's offer to the provinces of $30,000,000 in health services grants. All the provinces except Ontario and Quebec previously had given up certain taxing rights to the Dominion in return for annual flat grants. Now the other seven provinces were dissatisfied with grants in lieu of taxes, he said. He described the $30,000,000 offer as an attempt on the part of the Dominion to lessen this dissatisfaction.

"The Dominion had to find some way of handing over money to these provinces without admitting that the original grants were unfair," the Premier told a lively meeting from which a heckler was ejected by police.

In another campaign speech Friday, Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver hinted at Cornwall that a Liberal government, if elected June 7, would repeal the 20-per-cent amusement tax imposed by Ontario this week after the Federal government removed it.

Premier Drew told a Hawkesbury audience he was proud that never since Confederation has there been such close friendship between Ontario and Quebec as that which exists today.

Develop Power

"There is no doubt that with this degree of co-operation between the two provinces, we will proceed step by step to develop the (Ottawa river) power sites in this area."

Mr. Drew replied to Mr. Oliver's charges that an Ontario Power Commission plane was being used for Progressive Conservative political campaigning. He said the only time on his tour that he had been in the plane was from Kapuskasing to Timmins when it was necessary to discuss the St. Lawrence river project with Hydro chairman Robert Saunders. The conference was held in the air.

Repeal Gas Tax
Mr. Oliver made his comment on the amusement tax after declaring that a Liberal government would repeal the three-cent-a-gallon tax imposed by the Progressive Conservative administration when the levy was discarded by the Dominion.

He pledged his party to "regain lost ground" in Dominion-Provincial relations. He said Dominion-Provincial co-operation was a big issue of the Ontario election.

"The sort of super-provincialism we have been getting under (Premier) Drew can only result in loss to ourselves."

He told a Vanleek Hill gathering a Liberal government would extend Hydro-Electric service to rural areas as fast as it was able.

Premier Drew had charged the Liberal government with lack of interest in rural Hydro in that, in the last year of its tenure—1943—it had installed only 50 miles of Hydro lines.

Mr. Oliver said this charge was "utterly absurd." The Liberal government had been forbidden by wartime controls from installing any new Hydro service while copper and aluminum necessary for power lines extensions were urgently needed for war. The restrictions were not lifted until 1944.

Mr. Drew charged the Federal Government with "attempted usurpation of power" and declared that it had not been for the Ontario and Quebec governments, "Canada to-day would not have a constitution worth the paper it is written on."

Some Heckling
The heckling was confined to the beginning of the meeting when Premier Drew was attacking Communism. When one of the hecklers, whom Drew called a Communist, was removed by police, the Premier remarked:

"That was all he wanted. He came here to make a noise and cause a disturbance and then, after being hustled out of the hall, to claim that he was denied the right of free speech."

Premier Drew discussed the offer made last week by Mr. King to give $30,000,000 to the provinces in the form of health grants. He told why Ontario and Quebec have refused to do as the other seven provinces have done in giving up certain taxing rights to the Dominion in return for annual flat grants.

Brief Fight
Communist material was being passed out at the door of the Collegiate before and after the meeting and a brief fight developed. One distributor objected to a person trying to tear the paper from his hand and knocked him down with a punch. Police immediately intervened. A constable tried to see that no one bothered the distributors any more, but no one was apprehended.

Mr. Oliver said at Vankleek Hill that every farmer should be able to have hydro power and enjoy its conveniences.

Before 1934, under a Conservative administration, hydro had been restricted to only rich farmers. There had been a monthly service charge of $4 and a requirement of three subscribers to the mile.

The Liberal Party under Mitchell Hepburn had reduced the requirements to two and the service charge to $1 a month. These reductions had made power available to every farmer.

WHO WAS SHAKESPEARE and what did he look like? Visitors to the Redpath Library at McGill University in Montreal are more confused than ever, for they see not one Shakespeare but three. Pointed Poem By Unknown Soldier Recited To Parliamentary Group

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, May 22 (CP). — A poem written by an unknown but obviously skeptical soldier was recited to parliamentarians at a propitious moment recently.

The Commons Committee on Veterans Affairs had just finished its prolonged study of amendments to the Pensions Act. Brig. J. L. Melville, twice-decorated soldier who now heads the Pensions Commission, rose to reply to the thanks of the members for his contribution to their deliberations.

He quoted a poem which Winston Churchill once recited to senior military officers on a visit to this continent. It does:

"God and the soldier we adore
In times of danger, not before.
The danger past and wrongs arighted,
"God is forgotten and the soldier slighted."

It took Brig. Melville quite a time to learn its source, but he finally found it in a book of quotations. The poem was found in a Gibraltar sentry box more than a century ago. Its authorship was never disclosed, other than it was by a British Tommy.

A few days after it was quoted here, the Government announced a 25 per cent increase in war pension rates.

Parallel Courses

In the 1890s, two youngsters from the Eastern Townships countryside went to Sherbrooke, Que., to go to school. One, John Thomas Hackett of Stanstead, was 12; the other Louis Arthur St. Laurent of Compton, Que., was 14.

In the six years they went to school together, they became close friends. As Mr. Hackett recalled recently, they had their different opinions but they were most vocal over the things on which they agreed.

Both became lawyers. Both in time became president of the Canadian Bar Association. Recently Mr. St. Laurent, now 65, rose as External Affairs Minister of the Liberal Canadian Government to lay down what some observers said was Canada's first foreign policy. His first critic was the same John Hackett, acting as foreign affairs expert of the Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Hackett kept wide of personalities or petty bickering. "I wish to maintain the uncontroversial tone of this debate," he said. "It is here, I think, that government, that statesmanship and that patriotism can render their greatest service to Canada."

Across the green aisle of parliament, his old friend and new enemy heard him out.

Wells Believes He's Most Maligned Actor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 22 (AP). — Orson Wells, visiting here briefly from his current base in Rome, paused long enough to declare he is "the most attacked figure in theatrical history."

The show business Jack-of-all-trades flew into town to dub music and various screams and wind noises into his film version of "Macbeth." He looks until the traditional Wells, appearing slimmer than usual and wearing a neat tweed suit and a well-trimmed haircut. But he is as busy as ever with various projects, including retakes here for the Roman-made "Cagliostro."

Finding him in an expansive mood, I asked if he would ever be able to shake the title of "self-styled genius."

"Isn't that amazing?" he reflected. "I have never termed myself a genius, nor has anyone else. I can show you books of clippings, none of which says I am a genius. And yet I have reams of articles aiming to deny that I am a genius."

Wells then made his assertion he is the most attacked man in theatrical history. "And I don't know why," he said.

Pendulum Swings Back

"The pendulum is swinging back in England," he remarked. "They used to hate me over there. But now I am one of the biggest box office stars. The funny thing about it is that I have become popular there not for my good pictures, but for some of the clatter I have been in."

The situation is different in the United States, where Wells says his popularity ranks with that of Johnny Weismuller. "I never expect to be acclaimed in my own country," he said.

Wells leaves soon for Rome, which will continue to be his base of operations. His next film will be an original story based on a Pirandello idea, which he'll write, direct and star in for Sir Alexander Korda. After that comes "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Orson said he enjoys making films in Italy, because of the freedom far removed from the desk-borne generals of Hollywood, he can create as he pleases. He is bothered neither by columnists nor crowds.

Oklahoma Show Will Close After 2,202nd Performance

By PAT USSEER

NEW YORK, May 22 (CP). — The bell finally tolls for "Oklahoma!" one week from to-night.

That night will mark the 2,202nd performance of the musical at the St. James Theatre, and terminate an unprecedented run. The show which put the Theatre Guild on its feet financially opened March 31, 1943.

Had "Oklahoma!" continued for another 28 days, it would have surpassed the world's record run of "Chu Chin Chow," the London hit of 1916.

But the curtain drop on May 29 will not be the last for the musical production. The company will take to the road, opening a three-week engagement in Boston May 31. Two other "Oklahoma" companies already are performing, one now in Los Angeles and another at London's Drury Lane Theatre.

Three Lively Legends
"Ballet Ballads" the re-creation in song, dance and pantomime of three legends, makes its professional bow this week on Broadway. It is an engaging and lively show. The first episode is the story of Susanna and the elders.

Katherine Litz was graceful and appealing as the dancing Susanna while Sheila Ogelle took the singing part. In Willie the Weeper, the second episode, Robert Lenn and Paul Godkin gave equally while Sheila Vogelle took singing and the dancing Willie respectively. Rounding out the performance is the story of Davie Crockett, the celebrated hunter from Tennessee. Ted Lawrie sings and acts the part.

A Shaw Record

The Maurice Evans production of Shaw's comedy, "Man and Superman," established a Broadway record on Wednesday night when it became the longest-running GBS play in Manhattan's theatre annals. It took the mark from the Meissner Shubert production of "Fanny's First Play" which ran 256 performances in the 1912-1913 season. The Evans production will close at the Hudson Theatre July 3 and will embark on a trans-continental tour starting September 29.

DOROTHY DIX Ever-Unsolved Problem Teen-Agers vs. Parents

When parents and their adolescent children clash, as they do on practically everything under the sun, the retort of the youngsters is "It's my life. I've got a right to do with it what I please." Which they consider an irrefutable argument that settles the matter. But father and mother think otherwise. They feel that their offspring belong to them, body and soul, and that they are licensed to control their every act, and to force their every taste and opinion and habit upon their teenagers.

And this clash of opinions, which is a civil war that goes on generation after generation, is one of the pathetic problems in life for which no one has ever found the solution. For youth is youth and age is age, and not once in a blue moon do the two see eye to eye.

Of course, when callow boys and girls assert their independence and their right to their own lives, they talk nonsense. No one is free to follow his own impulses. No one alone pays the bill for his own folly or wrongdoing. We are all bound on the same rope, and we stand or fall together.

Parents Suffer, Too
When Mary gets smashed up in an automobile accident because she would go out with a drunken boy, she doesn't suffer alone. It is the mother and father whose hearts are torn with anxiety; who spend weary days and nights watching by her bed in a hospital, and who pay the penalty of a headstrong girl wrecking her life.

And if parents think that they have a right to dominate their children's lives and cut them according to their own paper patterns, they make as great an error as do the foolish girls and boys who think they have a right to five as they please. It can't be done successfully, because every child who comes into the world has a different identity and must develop along its own line, and if Mom and Pop interfere much, they only muss things up.

All of us know strict parents who never let their daughters have a date, or even go to the movies unless some member of the family goes along to chaperon them; who have to turn over their wages to Mama and wear the old-fashioned clothes that Mother buys for them, and who never have any fun or any liberty. No slave has a drearier life. Yet Mother honestly believes that she is doing right by her girls by bossing the life out of them.

And we know so many men who are failures in life because Father wouldn't let them follow the occupation for which Nature intended them and in which they would have been happy and successful. The world is full of preachers who should have been golf professionals, or carpenters who would have been cracker-jack salesmen, or doctors who should have been farmers, or divorcees who would have been devoted wives if only they had been allowed to pick out their own mates.

Certainly the youngsters are wrong when they claim that their lives belong to them exclusively and they have a right to play ducks and drakes with them if they please. But the parents are equally wrong when they try to make their children copycat them. Liberty is one of the things that needs to be handled in moderation. Pity that parents and kids can't get together on the matter.

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 23

Sunday's horoscope urges a calm and well-regulated mode of action, on this day, since the energies, emotions and impulses are liable to get out of hand and into strife, accident and tumultuous conduct in all forms, contacts and adventures. Under such wild stimuli it would be easy to fall into danger and difficulty and make way for unhappiness and misery in business or domestic life.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are admonished to conserve their energies and substance and to regulate their conduct, since any sort of ungoverned behavior, wild, reckless or turbulent acts, could precipitate very disagreeable, rancorous, even violent comebacks. Accident, fire, loss are indicated, with serious conflict with those in influential places, whose support is vital. With care, calmness, tact and consideration there is prospect of a surprising culmination for secret plans, tact agreements or very ingenious ideas or ideals.

A child born on this day has ability, versatility and originality for surprising success and adventure, if it be disciplined as to its overwrought temperament or turbulent emotions.

For Monday, May 24

Monday's astrological forecast is for a definite and long-range conquest of a devastating, upsetting, complicating and well-nigh hopeless state of affairs, spelling loss, estrangements and abrupt smashing of all plans, hopes and wishes. By a common sense realization of such disintegrating factors, with a concentrated marshalling of all the forces, influences and resources available, there might be dramatic success. Work for stable and enduring security and recognition. Shun hasty decisions, nervous tension.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to study carefully in order to get a proper perspective and a sensible appraisal of a strange, complicated and menacing state of affairs, the culmination of which could mean a deep speeding-up, separations or estrangements, poignant and revolutionary. Under surprise, nervous strain and excitement, serious mistakes could be made. A sound, logical, tactful, and astute course of action and consideration could bring about stable, far-reaching and happy developments.

A child born on this day while having a restless mental attitude, with keen and uncertain emotional urges, is well endowed with stability of character, industry and far vision, to mend devastating and disintegrating forces and dramatic upsets in life.

For Tuesday, May 25
Under the impetus of highly-energized forces and faculties, although rich with promise for wise action, an excess or over-strenuous grasp of expansive openings would overleap the bounds of reason. While opportunities are seen for forging ahead on ambitious plans and projects, yet any exaggerated ideas of prodigality could be the means of defeat and loss. Consider carefully all contracts, expenditures and agreements.

Those whose birthday it is have excellent prospects for a particularly productive and progressive year, with projects and objectives of more than passing importance in line for support from those in power and large influence, possibly in public relations. Yet a tendency to rash, impetuous and exaggerated attempt to force the issues, could undermine the best-laid plans and ambitions. Misfortune through contracts could follow carelessness.

A child born on this day, although clever, progressive and influential, also may defeat its best opportunities by overacting, carelessness or impetuosity.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Held
MARMORA, May 22 (ENS)—The annual mothers' and daughters' banquet of St. Andrew's CGIT took place in St. Andrew's hall on Tuesday.

Totem poles and Indian figures featured the table decorations. Shirley Rennie, president, submitted the royal toast.

The toast to the mothers was given by Helen Naylor, with Mrs. R. Rennie replying. The toast to the CGIT was proposed by Mrs. E. M. Cadigan and responded to by the local leader, Miss Jean Workman.

Rev. E. M. Cadigan, in a brief address, touched upon the CGIT in general and its duties towards the church. A piano solo was played by Marina Kouri. Marieanne Drummond sang to the accompaniment of Barbara Nobes. Jack Cadigan furnished a trumpet solo. Marilyn Sproul recited and Jennie Reynolds sang.

Two Excellent Dressings For Salads this Summer

By KAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 22. (CP)—

Spring-time is salad time.

Now that fresh vegetables are falling out of the luxury class, the housewife has on hand cress, radishes—even lettuce—for a crisp, colorful salad bowl. And she may add other vegetables as they come in season.

Home economists recommend two excellent dressings for the salad which should be on every menu for lunches throughout the summer.

French Dressing—Ingredients: one teaspoon salt; two teaspoons sugar; one-half cup vinegar; one cup salad oil.

Mix salt, sugar and paprika in a pint sealer. Add vinegar and oil. Seal the sealer and shake well. Keep in cool place and shake well each time before using.

Basic Boiled Dressing—Ingredients: two cups milk; two teaspoons salt; two tablespoons mustard; one-quarter cup flour; one cup sugar; few grains cayenne; three eggs; one cup vinegar.

Heat milk in double boiler. Beat eggs until light and add dry ingredients. Add hot milk and return to double boiler. Cook, stirring until thickened; then stir in vinegar slowly. Cook two minutes longer. Yield: three cups.

Eleanor Patterson is Bride Of Charles H. Earnshaw

Miss Eleanor Edith Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Patterson, became the bride of Charles Harry Earnshaw, only son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Earnshaw, in All Saints' Anglican Church today. Tulle and blossoms formed a beautiful setting for the ceremony performed by the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Douglas Landry sang "O Perfect Love" before the bride entered the church, and during the signing of the register, "Because". She was accompanied by the organist Mrs. W. A. Logan.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white lace and satin. The long pointed sleeves and deep yoke were of lace with the drop-shoulder line edged with folds of satin caught with seed pearls, and the tight fitting bodice of lace over satin was fastened at the back with tiny covered buttons.

The skirt was full with puffs of lace at the hipline, and it fell into a long graceful train. She wore a train-length veil of fine tulle caught to a coronet of orange blossoms and carried Easter lilies with sprays of bouvardia.

Bridal attendants were Miss Marilyn Joyce Patterson, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, Mrs. Russell Scrivner as bridesmaid, and Miss Margaret Anne Patterson, younger sister, as junior bridesmaid. They were charming frocks of pink, turquoise and yellow moire taffeta, designed similarly with full gathered skirts, and gathered bodice inset, with low neckline, and the short sleeves had pleated trim that was repeated on the peplums. They were originally designed head-resses of net in bonnet shape with flowers to match their dresses fastened at the back of the brim, and their gloves were also in matching shades. Each carried a nosegay of sweet peas with carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. Arnold Jackman. Mr. Russell Scrivner and Mr. Marwood Patterson, brother of the bride, ushered. For the reception held in the Green Room of the YWCA Mrs. Patterson chose a powder blue crepe gown, a hat of black lace straw with fuchsia flower trim and black lace gloves. Mrs. Earnshaw was attired in blue grey crepe with grey accessories and each wore a corsage of red roses. The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon on a motor trip through western Ontario. For travelling the bride will wear a suit of fine check navy and white wool, a hat of navy straw with pink trim, shortie topcoat and accessories of navy and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnshaw will reside in Peterborough.

MAIN AIM OF A DOUBLE
DO YOU KNOW what is the principal purpose of a takeout or informatory double? It is to help your side reach a game contract. It is all well and good to realize, when you force a bid out of your partner by means of such a double, that he may be quite weak. But if your own hand is well above minimum for doubling and his compelled bid shows a nice fit, or if he later indicates some amount of strength by a voluntary bid, you should think of going on to the point you hoped for in the first place.

voluntary call of 2-Hearts. South's shift from that to 2-Spades, a mere preference, indicated that his own double was based on an irreducible minimum, perhaps even being a bit shaded, or that he didn't fit either of North's suits any too well. In truth, South's holding was appreciably over minimum for a double, and his arrangement of honors and distribution were fine for a spade contract.

South, indeed, should have made a bid of 2-Spades over East's second call, of 2-Clubs, to show that his hand was some better than a minimum double and also fitted the spade response admirably. Had he done that, North would have leaped into game. Having passed, as he did on that second turn, South should have welcomed North's free bid of 2-Hearts with open arms and should have rushed gleefully into game. Even the rankiest coward should then have called 3-Spades instead of two, an invitation North might well have accepted with his spade A and his extremely fine distribution. North, of course, made game without difficulty, losing only one trick in hearts and two in diamonds, but couldn't score it because it wasn't bid.

Your Week-End Question
What should be the very first action you consider after your right-hand opponent has over-called your partner's original bid with either a suit or No Trump bid?

Hybrid Corn Knocking At The Planting Season's Door
— If The Rain Stops — Merits Of Ladino Clover In Pasture Planning — Junior Farmers Sponsor Farm Entrance Competition.

More hybrid corn recruits were reported in local grain circles this week. Total acreage may reach 500. Time limit for planting draws nearer as the season enters the last week of May.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, has been advising farmers for the last year that the hybrid variety can be successfully grown here. He cites the success of farmers who took the initiative themselves and have demonstrated "that it can be done."

Spotty weather in the west, with too much rain in wide areas, may reduce the supply of feed grain next winter.

"The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. T. L. Kennedy, appealed last winter to Ontario farmers to plan for an additional 50,000,000 yield of grain this year," Mr. Paterson said. "The necessity of boosting production as a means of supplying our own needs as much as we can appears to be more acute as doubts arise in our Canadian season."

Mr. Paterson says some local farmers have already proved that hybrid corn of the earlier varieties can be confidently accepted by Peterborough farmers.

"And it should be planted now, the earlier the better. Of first importance is maturity of the crop. Then, we are assured of a mechanical picker for the harvest. Personally, I am hoping that the farmers who have been thinking of a hybrid crop will put in the seed right away."

John Dryden of Brooklin writes: "The varieties should be the earliest maturing obtainable. To keep the corn next winter it is most important to have it dry ripe before the first frosts. Otherwise not only is the product high in moisture, but the food value is also decreased. Soft corn is hard to keep the following spring. Poultry, hogs and horses will clean corn off the cob which to me is the cheapest and easiest method of feeding it. For cattle, it must be shelled or else the cob must be put through a coarse (¾-in.) in the hammer mill. We prefer the latter method as the ground cob provides bulk as well as appearing to reduce the heating effect of the corn."

Mr. Dryden adds the comment: "Present prices of corn make it more valuable to shell and sell, than to feed livestock in my estimation."

Chris Steenburgh planted three acres on May 27 last year on his Belmont farm, seven miles north and east of Havelock. The results were exceedingly good, but husking had to be done by hand. This year a picker will be available.

FARMERS ASKED TO CO-OPERATE

The Statistics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with the Agricultural Division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is now sending to farmers in Ontario, a schedule for the June survey of crops, live stock and poultry. The purpose of this schedule is to secure data from which the Department of Agriculture may estimate the acreages sown to field crops this year, the numbers of live stock on hand and their disposition during the past six months.

The form has been considerably changed in appearance, but there are actually fewer questions on the new schedule than on the one used last year. This new arrangement was made in order to make it easier for farmers to answer.

In this appeal for co-operation of farmers in an enquiry that is planned and prepared for their benefit, the Ontario Department gives absolute assurance to them "that in no circumstances will these reports be used for taxation purposes."

Figures for individual farms are kept strictly confidential and are used only by the Statistics Branch for the purpose of obtaining county and provincial totals. It is in the farmer's own interest to provide the data required, since accurate estimates of agricultural production are needed by government departments and farmers' organizations to provide a basis for the development of sound production and marketing policies.

At this time, Canada's share in providing exports under the European Recovery Plan is being decided. The results of this survey will be used, in part, to determine how much of Canada's agricultural produce can be marketed abroad under this plan. It is, therefore, of national importance that every farmer complete the survey form and return it as soon as possible after June 1, 1948.

J. B. NELSON'S NEW POST

Appointment of J. B. Nelson as associate director of the new cost studies branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, is announced by the Hon. T. L. Kennedy. A former representative of the Department in Peterborough county, Mr. Nelson has been lately with the co-operation and markets branch.

"The new cost studies branch is being established to undertake studies into the costs of farm production," Col. Kennedy says in his announcement. "It is too establish relative costs in various areas of the province, and to give guidance to farmers in their efforts to lower their cost of production."

The director of this branch is Dr. H. L. Kennedy, outstanding economist now serving in Winnipeg with the marketing services branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. He obtained his BSA degree in 1930 from the University of Manitoba, and his MA in 1931. He began studies at Cornell University, New York, in 1931 as research assistant in land utilization, and was subsequently engaged with the Manitoba, Alberta and Dominion governments.

Since 1945 he has been chief of the Dominion Economics Division for Manitoba. He returned to Cornell in 1945, and completed the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in June 1946. His thesis title was: "An Economic Study of Dairy Farms in the Province of Alberta."

JUNIORS' COMPETITION

Junior farmers have extended to May 29 entries in their farm entrance competition. They received $100 from the Federation of Agriculture to assist them in providing prizes for this undertaking. Top winner will get $25, second $20, third $15, and so on.

CANADIAN CHAMPION—Fairy Raleigh Zana, Jersey cow owned by Featherstone Brothers, Trafalgar, Halton County, Ontario. Zana's record of 146,810 lbs. milk, 7,980 lbs. fat is the long distance milk and butterfat record for the Jersey breed in Canada. In terms of butter, Zana produced 9,290 lbs., which at present prices would retail for nearly $4,000.00; 58,724 quarts of milk at 20c per quart would retail for $11,744.80. Made into ice cream, her product would produce over 17,500 gallons of ice cream or over 1,500,000 cones of ice cream.

Purpose of this competition is to improve farm frontages. It won't add anything to fertility of a back field, but it will improve farm appearance. First scoring of the entrant farms will be done June 1, and the final comparative examination will be September 1. It poses the question to the competitors—what can you do to improve fences, gates, mail boxes and so on.

Some day the farm may be sold, and in the meantime the years will co-operate with owners in the growth of hedges, shrubs and arrangement of trees. Down near Bensford there was a Robinson farm with a cedar hedge that contributed a decorative effect that could not be matched in many miles of travel.

DISEASE IN NEW VARIETIES OF OATS

Ernest McWilliam contributes the following warning against a weakness to specific blight that has been discovered in several new varieties of oats.

"In recent years agricultural scientists produced a variety of oats that was completely resistant to all or known strains of rust and species of smut. It was named Victoril. It was of no economic importance, being heavily awned, and had little or no yielding ability. However, the plant breeders used this variety extensively to incorporate this disease resistant characteristic into our good varieties to combine the best features of the two.

Unknown to these workers at the time there is a fungus called monillias in our soil that causes a disease in oats known as hemisporium blight. The new variety Victoril is particularly susceptible to this blight and transmitted this weakness to the varieties of which it was a parent. In Canada this has attacked the varieties Beacon and Garry, and in the United States—Osage and Boone. Losses have been estimated as high as 30% which led to the decision of our plant breeders to withdraw these varieties from common use.

This disease is caused by soil borne fungus. Seed treatment has had little or no effect as a control measure. It attacks these varieties throughout the continent showing that the organism is very wide spread.

The first symptom of the disease on oats is a discoloration of the lower stem and leaves. The bottom of the stem eventually turns dark brown to black, cutting off all food supplies to the plant. This results in a withering of the entire plant, and consequent lowering of yield of grain.

Dr. C. L. King, plant pathologist of Kansas State College, says that in 1946 the loss in yield was one per cent, and had increased to 30% in 1947. He has warned all growers to avoid all susceptible varieties in 1948, or the loss will be staggering from this one disease alone.

It is felt that Canadian farmers should also be warned to avoid the planting of Beacon and Garry oats until some means of control is found or until these varieties are entirely withdrawn. Erban, Beaver, Ajax and the older varieties are immune to this organism so far, and may be planted with safety.

VALUE OF LADINO CLOVER

Frank C. Paterson has been recommending for some years the inclusion of Ladino clover in pasture mixtures.

F. S. Nowosad of the forage crops division of Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, discusses this legume in a recent statement from the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

"Ladino is a giant variety of perennial white clover. In good growing conditions it will grow 12 to 18 inches tall, and the leaflets may become as large as those of common red clover.

It is propagated by seeds and by plants that start from the joints of the creeping stems. In favorable conditions a single plant may spread to form a clump two or three feet in diameter in one season.

Ladino will grow well where red clover or alsike grow well, and will grow fairly well where the drainage is not good enough for alfalfa.

It is highly palatable to all classes of livestock. (Mr. Paterson says Alex McKinney at Brampton had an entire field of Ladino last summer, and obtained excellent nutrient results for a herd that was on ROP). It starts growth fairly early in the spring, recovers quickly after grazing, and makes good growth throughout the season, unless the weather is too dry. Ladino is especially desirable as an addition to any hay-pasture mixture. It is highly recommended for poultry pastures.

Due to the high moisture content and the lack of stems to keep the hay from packing as it dries, especially if the stand is pure, this legume is difficult to cure for a good quality of hay."

As to mixtures Mr. Nowosad says: "When seeding down for one or two years of hay to be followed by pasture, one-half to two pounds of Ladino clover seed per acre should be added to the recommended hay-pasture mixture for that particular soil condition. Part or all of the alsike clover in the mixture may be replaced by the Ladino. In permanent pasture mixtures one-half to one pound per acre of Ladino may be used with an equal quantity of white Dutch clover.

Ladino grows well in simple mixtures with timothy or other similar grasses where two to four pounds per acre of Ladino is used if other legumes are not included.

Ladino yields from 50 to 150 pounds of seed, to the acre if it could be harvested and saved. However, so far there is no sure way of harvesting and saving seed successfully."

Peterborough dairy farmers generally have included Ladino in their pasture mixtures during the last five or six years.

NORTHERLAND GIRLS

More than 100 Northernland girls are busy under the direction of 17 local leaders for their annual achievement day to be held at Eighteen Sat. May 29. Exhibits and contests relative to the project "The Club Girl Entertains" will be featured under the supervision of Miss Marion Hart, home economist for the county.

PLAN TWO-DAY TRIP

Junior farmers are planning a two-day bus trip into Western Ontario probably June 19 and 20. Don Milburn says the dates have not been finally set. They will probably spend their night on the road in London.

HOG PRODUCERS' MEETING

Peterborough hog producers will meet Mon. May 31 at 8 p.m. (DST) in the office of the Department of Agriculture, M. H. Johnston is president and Bruce Graham secretary. Farmers who make through packing plants are urged to be present. The purpose of this meeting "is to give a report to the directors and members of the annual meeting in Toronto and to discuss any other matters of interest to the industry."

FREE BOOKLETS

Frank C. Paterson has copies of a printed booklet compiling the addresses and proceedings of the 1948 convention of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association. They are free to local farmers.

CORN IN GLENGARRY

John D. MacLeod assured Glengarry farmers this week the hybrid corn could be grown successfully in their county. Recently, Mr. MacLeod returned to his farm at Dunvegan after years of valuable work as director of the weeds and seeds branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. J. R. Annett of Canadian Corn Starch Co., told the meeting at Alexandria that farmers should inform themselves in the growing of grain corn. Two recommended varieties 240 and 275.

FAITH PAYS OFF

A young Peterborough farmer who kept his head above the gloomy predictions that were rumbling through the poultry industry at the beginning of last winter pocketed this week a hefty dividend from his faith.

He received a cheque for $3,500 for 1,500 capons at the price of 30¢ a pound live weight at his home. They were for New York delivery where they will bring around 80 to 90 cents a pound. His net profit on that part of his flock should look good in his bank account.

This story could be spun out with interesting details and point of moral, but it would be lost on those who read about such signs of promise as ERP and other peg of hope and fail to imagine possibility of benefit to themselves.

2 MAJOR BATTLES RAGE IN JERUSALEM

ROMANCE BY MAIL—Miss Eileen McClelland, pretty Belfast girl, will arrive in Canada July 20, to wed Robert Glass, Hastings. The romance was conducted by letter for the past two years and neither has seen the other but have exchanged pictures. Miss McClelland and Mr. Glass are shown above.

Boy Wins Girl By Letters Pretty Irish Colleen Will Wed Hastings Man

HASTINGS, May 26.—The pen can also be as persuasive as an arrow of Cupid, recently discovered by Robert Glass, 37, of this village, who is soon to marry a Belfast girl he has never seen. He has been writing for the last two years to Eileen McClelland, 27, who is leaving her home in the Ulster city July 20 for the matrimonial climax of their romance by correspondence.

Mr. Glass saw a picture of Miss McClelland in a London newspaper sent to him by his father in May, 1946. Spring was in the Hastings air as he looked upon the pretty photogenic features of Miss McClelland.

Scends Congratulations.

"There was a story in the London paper about Eileen's brother

Hull Praises Canada, King In His Memories

TORONTO, May 25 — (CP) — Canada is "one of the few countries that have practiced in a model way the rules governing the right living together of nations," Cordell Hull, former United States Secretary of State, writes in his memoirs, published today.

Canada is mentioned a score of times in the two volumes of "The Memoirs of Cordell Hull," and Mr. Hull has nothing but praise for the Dominion and for Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Most of the memoirs, called "among the most important of our time" by American reviewers, are devoted to the period 1933-1944 when Mr. Hull was a member of Franklin D. Roosevelt's cabinet.

With the help of Andrew Bessie, former Associated Press reporter, at the state department, he has written a careful and interesting narrative.

"No sector of our foreign policy gave me more satisfaction or brought more fruitful results than our relations with Canada," he says. In 1933 co-operation between the two countries had sagged to a low point. By 1944 they had built a solid economic relationship.

Mr. Hull also writes that Canada, under the "brilliant leadership" of Mr. King, "was of immense assistance" to both Britain and the United States in relations between them.

Urge Sex Perverts Be Given Operation

TORONTO, May 25 — (CP) — A resolution urging legislation permitting surgical operations on incurable sex perverts was passed today by the council of York township. It followed discussion of a recent attack on eight-year-old Teresa Dowling, recovering in hospital from a skull fracture inflicted by a stone-throwing assailant.

Council also recommended hospital treatment for persons suffering mental illnesses and believed likely to commit crimes of violence.

Rail Parley Called By Mitchell

Mediation Conference To Re-Open Talks
On Wage Increase

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell scheduled a strike mediation conference for this afternoon with Frank Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee seeking wage increases for 112,000 Canadian railway workers in International Brotherhoods.

In an attempt to stave off a threatened tieup over wages, the minister already had met with officers of the two major railways and with A. R. Mosher, president of the 30,000-man Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and their transport workers.

While the minister had no comment on his meeting with Mosher, the union president said Monday night his group was willing to reopen negotiations with the companies if they would consider a 20-cent-an-hour pay increase.

99 P.C., Favor Strike

The tally of a strike vote among C.B.R.E. members, its president said, indicated they had voted 99 per cent in favor of strike action to enforce their demands. The international groups were still voting, with a decision expected about June 21.

Original demand of the unions was for a general 35-cent-an-hour increase. The railways offered seven cents after two conciliation boards had recommended that figure.

The 90-cent amount now named by Mr. Mosher was the minority recommendation of the conciliation board in each case.

There was no indication today that the railways had gone beyond their seven-cent offer. Up to the moment, it was understood, they had no counter-proposition through the minister.

Mr. Mitchell's objective at present was described as just that of trying to bring the parties together for a start on new negotiations. After that, the government was hopeful they would compromise their differences without a strike breaking out.

Two Gunmen Hijack Meat Truck, Couple

CHICAGO, May 25 — (AP) — Two gunmen teamed Monday night to hijack a truck loaded with 27,000 pounds of meat and abduct a truck driver and his wife.

Albert Uphouse, 41, told police he had driven the truck load of meat, valued at $15,000, to a used car lot where he had planned to meet his wife to inspect a car they planned to buy.

As Mrs. Uphouse was about to drive home in her car, the two gunmen appeared, forced Uphouse from the truck and ordered him into the car with his wife.

One gunman drove away with the meat truck. The second then forced Mrs. Uphouse to drive several miles from the scene. He fled after taking the ignition keys, Uphouse told police.

Britain Counsels US Draft Stiffer German Controls

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today Britain has counselled the United States to go part way in meeting French demands for stiffer economic controls in six-country plans for rebuilding western Germany.

This was reported discussed Monday at a conference between Foreign Secretary Bevin and U.S. Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas.

The meeting reflected Bevin's last week in the western Germany conference of the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Then near agreement, the French were reported to have balked suddenly, insisting the language of recommendations already approved must be clarified. Their chief delegates hurried off to Paris for week-end conferences with top cabinet officials.

Conference sources said the chief French objection is that the American plan for international control of the Ruhr is too loosely drawn.

Under the plan, an international control board, upon which the six participating countries plus Germany would have seats, would supervise allocation of the Ruhr's iron ore, coal and coke.

The French were reported to be insisting the board be given additional powers over western Germany's import and export program as a greater safeguard against recreation of a German industrial machine capable of dominating the continent.

Bevin has suggested, diplomatic officials said, concessions to the French.

List Canadian Order

LONDON, May 25 — (Reuters) — Paul Hoffman, United States administrator of the European recovery program, has already authorized shipment of $40,000,000 worth of goods to Britain from Canada, Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told parliament today. He disclosed this in answer to a question whether any goods had been received from the United States under ERP. He replied negatively.

Egyptian Attack Kills Flier From Hamilton

HAMILTON, May 25 (CP) — A Hamilton youth, 22-year-old W.O. Douglas Foster, was one of the three members of the RAF personnel reported killed on Saturday as the result of an attack of Egyptian aircraft on the British airfield at Ramat David, Palestine.

Born in Newcastle-On-Tyne, England, he came to this city with his parents at the age of three, living here until his enlistment with the RCAF attending Memorial School, and later, Central Collegiate.

The joined the RCAF in August, 1943, and was stationed in England for a year until his discharge from service in April, 1946. He returned to Hamilton for a refresher training course. He had been stationed in Palestine since February of this year.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Thomas W. Foster, and his sister, both of Hamilton.

2 Men Missing In Bay Of Quinte

BELLEVILLE, May 25 (CP) — Provincial Police and searchers from nearby Point Anne today have not located bodies of two men believed drowned Sunday night while fishing in the Bay of Quinte, five miles east of here.

Missing are Rodwell Parsons, 23, Belleville, and Birgit Seers, 31, Point Anne.

The pair went fishing Sunday in a small boat with an outboard motor. Some hours later Point Anne villagers heard cries for help, but no one was able to locate the men. Both are married to English war brides. Parsons is the father of two children and Seers has a one-year-old daughter.

Yesterday morning searchers found the overturned boat and an oar floating near the spot where the cries for help were believed to have come from. Dragging operations were started immediately.

Oshawa Angler Hit By Bullet

OSHAWA, May 25 — Morris Lucyk, 277 Ballard St., had a 22 bullet removed from his right leg in Oshawa General Hospital Monday. Lucyk was hit by a random bullet while fishing at Scattergood Marsh near Oshawa's lakefront Sunday afternoon. He was in a motorboat when hit.

Although farmers surrounded the area and provincial police were summoned at once, no one was apprehended at the time. Later a man was arrested on Bloor St. E., some distance north, and PC Harry Kift said police are investigating the possibility that he had fired the shot. He was found in possession of a 22 rifle and has already been charged with shooting on Sunday and shooting without a license.

Police have seized over a dozen 22 rifles within the past few weeks in this area.

"There have been a great many complaints of haphazard shooting with 22's, and it has been hardly safe around the marshes these days," said Constable Kift. "A lot of people don't seem to realize that game and fisheries regulations prohibit shooting on Sunday or in any area where there are nesting ducks or pheasants."

Warn Arabs Must Obey Cease-Fire

Refusal To Comply
May Bring End
To UK Commitments

LONDON, May 25. — (AP) — Foreign Secretary Bevin said today Britain has been using her utmost influence to insure that the United Nations' cease fire order is accepted by Jews and Arabs in Palestine.

Bevin's statements in the Commons were offered only a few hours after he and Lewis Douglas, United States ambassador, met for the third time in four days in an effort to reach an Anglo-American agreement on a method for producing peace in Palestine.

Bevin, responding to a request by Opposition Leader Winston Churchill for a statement on Palestine, said he would be glad to make a full statement but that there were good reasons for not doing so today. Bevin told the House such a statement "would necessarily be prejudicial to the important discussions which are still taking place."

The foreign secretary said British efforts have been aimed at adoption of a United Nations Security Council cease fire resolution which would be "sufficiently objective and impartial to have a good chance of acceptance by both sides" and at getting the Jews and the Arabs to accept such a resolution.

Give Warning

Monday night it was learned Britain has warned Arab states to observe the U.N. order.

A refusal to comply may lead to a suspension of British treaty commitments to the Arab states.

The commitments include the loan of at least 40 British army officers to Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion and the supply of arms, munitions and military equipment of all kinds to Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Egypt.

"British obligations to the United Nations take precedence over our commitments to the Arabs," one informant said.

Call Thousands To Fight BC Floods

Dynomite Dozen Homes To Prevent Jam-Up In Stream At Kimberley

KIMBERLEY, B.C., May 25 — (CP) — About a dozen houses in this centre were dynamited today to prevent them from being swept away by the swollen Maple Creek river. The houses would dam up the stream. Lois creek has surrounded 15 houses and is threatening to undermine the Canadian Pacific Railway roadbed.

A labor force, including men of the reserve army and about 2,000 employees of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Kimberley, is striving to curb flood waters which have claimed one life and caused heavy damage in the East Kootenay district of British Columbia.

At Grand Forks, four-year-old Nick Zebin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zebin, was drowned Monday in the waters of Fourth of July creek.

At Fort Steele, 20 miles west of Kimberley, all families on the west flats have been evacuated. The Bull River C.P.R. reservoir near Waikerie was smashed Monday, causing a surge which broke most communications, and flooded the farming area between there and Bonners Ferry in Idaho.

Without Water

Marysville, three miles below Kimberley, now is without water, floods having smashed the water works intake.

Families at Fernie escaped the floods by minutes, evacuating their homes in the path of the swollen Elk river.

Flood waters of the Kettle river at Grand Forks continued to recede after flooding the city to a depth of eight feet in places Saturday. The floods interrupted jubilee celebrations of the city of Cranbrook.

Battle Forest Fires

WINNIPEG, May 25 (CP) — Fire fighters were rushed by plane Monday to battle widespread forest fires in Manitoba's eastern mining area and along the Ontario-Manitoba border. The chief blaze, believed started a week ago by a prospector who left a camp fire burning, has spread throughout an area five miles long and one mile wide near Wallace Lake.

Revised Code Changes Worker Status

OTTAWA, May 25 — (CP) — With one final amendment, the Commons industrial relations committee today completed revision of the Federal Labor Code and reported it to the Commons for third reading.

The amendment broadened the definition of workers excluded from the bargaining provision of the code. It would exempt all confidential employees. Originally, the code excluded as confidential only those whose work touched on labor relations.

Earlier, the committee rejected an attempt to write into the Code specific protection for workers' pension rights in cases of strikes and illegal dismissals.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) introduced the amendment. Mr. Knowles said his proposal was aimed at preventing a repetition of the situation in the 1919 Winnipeg strike of Canadian Pacific Railway employees, who lost pension rights over that walk-out.

He said the employee's protection in strikes would apply only to legal strikes. Also, in cases of dismissal, it would only apply when such dismissal was contrary to the code.

Can't Guarantee Pensions

Labor Minister Mitchell said that it was impossible by legislation to guarantee pension payments in spite of strikes or lock-outs. Companies, he said, might go broke in the process.

The Knowles amendment, he said, was something which should be left to collective bargaining. Further he argued that a clause of this kind might make employers diffident about introducing pension plans.

Norman Lockhart (PC—Lincoln) said the Knowles amendment only would add "ambiguous" and "hypothetical" matter to the code. On a vote, Mr. Knowles' amendment was defeated by an 11-7 majority.

Renew Speculation Royal Baby Expected

LONDON, May 25 — (AP) — Speculation that Princess Elizabeth is expecting a baby in the fall broke out afresh Sunday in the London press. The Sunday Express said Buckingham Palace is discussing "an interesting announcement" for the immediate future. Accessible court sources repeated what they have said for months: "If this is true only the Royal family knows about it."

Pressure Against Jews "Terrific" Hagana Says As New Attack Under Way

Israel Reports Jordan Valley Cleared Of Arab Soldiers,
As Cease-Fire Deadline Extended 48 Hours

JERUSALEM, May 24 (Delayed)—(AP)—Two major battles, with casualties heavy on both sides, raged tonight in Jerusalem beyond the hour originally appointed by the United Nations for a cease-fire order. (This dispatch was filed at 11 p.m., Jerusalem time, three hours after the deadline. The UN Security Council, however, extended its deadline last night for 48 hours to permit the Arab nations to study the proposal.)

Two Egyptian infantry companies, supported by field guns, joined soldiers of King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan Legion and Arab irregulars in southern Jerusalem's fringes and recaptured a colony.

Hagana, the Jewish army, said the Arabs attacked at 4 p.m. today, routing Jewish defenders of the colony in three hours of bitter fighting.

Hagana said its forces later regrouped in the Jerusalem suburbs of Arnona and Talpith and counter-attacked Arab forces entrenched in the Mar Elias monastery. This is the site of the Well of the Magi, where the three wise men are said to have rested on their way to the scene of the Nativity.

The Arabs attacked the Jews in the old city at 8:30 p.m. A Hagana spokesman said the "pressure is terrific."

Jews infiltrated into Arab territory during the afternoon and ambushed a 40-car Arab supply convoy from Ramallah to Jerusalem. They wrecked six trucks.

The Arabs made their third effort in three days to drive the Jews from Notre Dame Hospice at the New Gate to the Old City.

The Hagana commander posted an order on the city walls calling up all persons and fortunes as needed in the battle for Jerusalem. The order forbade the evacuation of houses or closing of shops and threatened arrest and punishment to war profiteers and dealers in the black market. The order was an attempt to restore to normal the Jewish quarters and to array the city for total defence against an Arab army invasion.

Hagana claimed today Jewish forces had broken the Arab siege of the Valley of the River Jordan. A communique issued by the army of Israel, said: "the whole Jordan valley has been cleared of enemy forces." The communique did not make plain whether Hagana meant the entire river from the Sea of Galilee to the Dead Sea, or merely the northern part assigned to the Jews under the UN partition plan last November.

Seizure of the whole valley would cut the Arab communication line between Amman, Trans-Jordan, and the Arab Legion now fighting in Jerusalem. The Jordan is the boundary line between Trans-Jordan and Palestine.

The communique said Israeli forces had "apparently" broken the settlements of Sha'al Hagolan and Masada, near the southern tip of Galilee, and said the whole of Samakh area now is in Jewish hands.

A later communique said Jewish forces had "apparently" broken the settlements of Sha'al Hagolan and Masada, near the southern tip of Galilee, and said the whole of Samakh area now is in Jewish hands.

Avert GM Strike With 11-Cent Wage Increase

DETROIT, May 25 — (AP) — A threatened strike of 225,000 General Motors Corporation employees was averted early today by an adjustable 11-cent-an-hour wage increase. The settlement climaxed 18 hours of almost continuous bargaining with the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

It is expected to have these significant results:

1. Set the third post-war wage pattern for virtually the entire 1,000,000-man auto industry and other important segments of the economy of the United States.

2. Bring an early end to the 14-day-old strike of 75,000 Chrysler Corporation employees.

The wage formula gives the GM employees a flat 11-cent-an-hour boost as of now.

However, the union agreed that on next Sept. 1 the company may revise this figure upward or downward — a cut or a boost — depending on the cost of living by then.

If costs go up they will get a boost above 11 cents. If they go down, the company may cut the 11-cent figure but not by more than five cents.

It raises the average in G.M. plants in the United States to $1.61 an hour for production workers.

If living costs drop, the worst a G.M. employee would take would be a cut-back in his base wage to $1.56 an hour. However, the contract provides that he gets another three cents an hour a year from now regardless of what living costs do.

Urge Reuther Lead New Party

DETROIT, May 25 (CP)—Petitions urging Walter P. Reuther, international president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), to lead the formation of a "genuinely democratic Farmer-Labor-Progressive party" following the November elections, were circulated here today.

Sponsors of the movement are six youth and student organizations which have banded together into the National Youth Council for Independent Political Action.

Hitchhiker Holdup Traps Pagle-Breaker

LONG BRANCH, Ont., May 25 — (CP)—An armed motorist today led police to John Hamilton, 18, of Hamilton, wanted by Hamilton police on charges of theft and parole violation.

The motorist said he picked the youth up on the highway near Hamilton and became alarmed when he produced a toy gun and brandished it at the driver. Believing the gun to be real, the infatuated by a stone-throwing as-motocist tipped off a Long Branch service station operator, who brought police to the scene.

Discusses Heckling

TORONTO, May 25. (CP) — Premier Drew today charged the heckler at Monday night's election campaign meeting in Welland with attempting to "prevent free discussion." The Premier referred to the Welland meeting during a half-hour radio address delivered over a provincial network from a Progressive Conservative luncheon here today.

Czech Probe Vetoed By Russians

Ignatieff Substitutes For McNaughton At United Nations

LAKE SUCCESS, May 25—(CP)—A 34-year-old Russian-born Oxford graduate today is the leader and oldest member of Canada's delegation to the United Nations Security Council.

George Ignatieff, who won a Rhodes Scholarship while studying at the University of Toronto, is taking the place of Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's permanent U.N. delegate, who returned to Canada at the week-end for a two-week visit.

Principal adviser to the delegation when McNaughton is present, Ignatieff is assisted by J. H. C. Lewis, 33; John K. Starnes, 30; George K. Grande, 28; and H. H. Carter, 29.

The Canadian group appears the youngest of the 11 delegations gathered around the U-shaped council table.

Ignatieff, born in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, the son of Count Paul Ignatieff, was appointed to the Canadian delegation in 1940.

In the last two years he could often be seen whispering into McNaughton's ear while Russian delegate Andrei Gromyko spoke. Ignatieff is one of the few western-power representatives who speaks Russian.

He joined the Department of External Affairs in 1940 after serving from the year's outbreak in the intelligence branch of the British Army. He has served as a secretary at Canadian embassies in London and Washington, and as an adviser to McNaughton on U.N. Atomic Energy Commission.

Five-Hour Debate

For a solid five hours Monday the council tangled with the Czechoslovakian question.

Russia's Andrei Gromyko finally exercised his country's 24th and 25th vetoes to block further consideration of Chile's demand that the council investigate Russia's role in the February grab of power by the Communists in Prague.

American Delegate Warren Austin immediately blasted Russia with the charge of trying to hide the facts of the Czech case. He promised to gather statements for the council from Czech refugees in the United States and the American zone of Germany.

The 24th Russian veto was used when Gromyko rejected a majority attempt to term "procedural" the setting up of a sub-committee to receive information on the subject. A procedural matter cannot be vetoed under U.N. charter rules.

The final round of the two-month-old fight was a 9-2 vote on the question of setting up the sub-committee. The Soviet Union joined Russia in the negative. The Russian vote constituted a veto.

Fire Destroys Millbrook Barn

MILLBROOK, May 25 (ENS)

—Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the barn, and contents, at Ted Scott's property, Bank street, about 12.30 Saturday night. The fire company responded promptly, and extinguished the flames before they reached any adjacent buildings. Mr. Scott had stored in the barn material for a new roof; feed for his chickens; a number of tools, and a quantity of fire wood; none of which was saved. Fortunately the family had not retired, but their first intimation of the fire was seeing the building in flames.

Some insurance was carried but not enough to cover the loss which Mr. Scott estimated at between four and five hundred dollars on the contents of the barn, and possibly $1,500 on the building itself. A serious conflagration was avoided by the fact that there was no wind; the house is a frame one, as is also the Byam residence next door, and there are a number of other frame buildings in the immediate neighborhood.

Mystery Commander Dies In Great Britain

LONDON, May 25—(AP)—Commodore Sir Charles George Matheson, 72, 'mystery ship' commander in the First World War, died here Monday. He was credited with being the last man to sink a German submarine in that war.

His ship, the Q-12, roamed the sea lanes disguised as a rusty old tramp steamer. Investigating enemy warcraft discovered the British Navy's White Ensign and a battery of heavy guns when the Stamer's false sides dropped away.

Oliver Promises To Reinstate Hogg In Hydro

TORONTO, May 25—(CP)—

Hecklers and Premier Drew traded verbal blows Monday night—the sparks flying during a rousing campaign meeting in the Great Lakes seamen's centre of Welland.

The give-and-take reached a climax when more than 100 persons walked out of the county court house in the middle of the premier's speech.

"Good-bye George!" shouted a heckler as the crowd moved out. "Thank you," replied the premier. "This is a local improvement of high order."

Premier Drew also spoke at Niagara Falls and gave a radio address: Liberal leader Oliver delivered speeches at Kingston and Enterprise; CCF leader Jolliffe addressed meetings in Colborne and Kapuskasing.

The walk-out at Welland followed a barrage of cheers, boos, questions and remarks directed at the premier and earlier at the Progressive-Conservative candidate Harry Lewis. More than 400 persons had been packed into the court house.

In his radio address Premier Drew declared that a vote for the CCF is a vote for "confiscation of all producing property." Speaking over a provincial network, he said this conclusion is drawn from what he described as a "book formally approved by the Ontario section of the CCF under the title, 'The Case of Socialism.'"

The premier also criticized Mr. Oliver, declaring at Niagara Falls that when the Liberal leader attacked the Ontario government for building four-lane highways he was inconsistent. Premier Drew said a Liberal minister of highways, T. B. McQueen built the first four-lane highway in the province.

Bring Hogg Back

At Kingston Mr. Oliver said that if the Liberal party is elected one of its first moves will be to reinstate Thomas Hogg as chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. He charged that Dr. Hogg was "fired" last fall to "cover up" Premier Drew's inability to cope with the Hydro power shortage. The premier's reason for asking for Dr. Hogg's resignation had been that the Hydro chairman had failed to tell him of negotiations with the Commission to take over the Ottawa Light, Heat and Power Company. Yet George H. Challies, vice-chairman of the Commission and a member without portfolio in the cabinet, had been present at negotiations between the Commission and the Ottawa company.

Mr. Oliver declared the real reason for Dr. Hogg's dismissal was that "someone had to be the scapegoat and it might as well be Dr. Hogg." The Hydro Commission under the Progressive-Conservative government had been "dominated by politics."

Better Marketing

Speaking at Enterprise, Mr. Oliver outlined plans for "revitalized" Ontario department of marketing. He told a meeting of the Frontenac-Addington Liberal Association that the time had come to "wake up before it is too late to find new markets and new uses for farm products."

Mr. Oliver said he would not make specific promises to particular areas as Premier Drew had done. The premier had promised large sums of money for hospitals and other facilities in Northern Ontario.

"If that doesn't get him elected," said Mr. Oliver, "you can't buy votes any more in the province of Ontario."

In Northern Ontario Mr. Jolliffe told a Kapuskasing audience that a five-year program is required to develop roads in the north. Better secondary roads were required. They were vital to the development of the north's tremendous forestry and mineral wealth.

Mr. Jolliffe at Cochrane criticized the "promises" being made by Premier Drew. He said one had only to look at the Progressive Conservative government's 32-point program of the 1945 election to judge the premier's statements.

The CCF leader outlined his party's health program to be put in effect if a CCF government is elected June 7. It would be similar to Saskatchewan's present health program.

2 Americans Killed By Snipers' Bullets

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP)—A sniper's bullet and machine-gun fire proved fatal Sunday to two Americans in Jerusalem.

Thomas Wasson, United States Consul-General in Jerusalem died Sunday, victim of an unidentified sniper's bullet in the battle for the Holy Land. The bullet passed through his right arm and chest.

The deaths of Wasson and Walker were the first major incidents of the extending conflict made by Faris El Khoury of Syria.

He said Middle East communication difficulties prevented the Arabs from consulting before the original deadline. The council takes an anxious day off today, reconvening tomorrow with the questions of India-Pakistan and Czechoslovakia, as well as Palestine, on the agenda. An attempt to close the breach in Anglo-American relations was seen in the prompt support by both Britain and the United States of the extending request made by Faris El Khoury of Syria.

ish fighting units penetrated Kafr Hareb on the Syrian border east of Ein Gev, a Jewish settlement on east shore of Galilee, and destroyed it.

Rus Away

The communists said the inhabitants ran away and Syrian troops fled in six trucks. The trucks struck mines, the Jews reported, and blew up, killing all the soldiers.

The Jewish air force bombed Arab concentrations at Fiq, in Syria, and other points, the Jews said.

In Haifa, meanwhile, a United States consular source disclosed that 17 American vessels, Marine Corp. will not return there to pick up 103 Jewish passengers, who had refused to embark last Friday because they lacked a guarantee of safety when the ship reached Alexandria, Egypt.

Sixty-nine other Jews, including several Canadians and Americans, were taken from the Marine Corp. last week by Lebanese authorities. They still are being held.

Not Much Hope

LAKE SUCCESS, May 25 (CP) Hopes were low today that Arab states will use a 48-hour extension granted by the United Nations Security Council to accept a cease-fire appeal.

The seven-member Arab league requested and received Monday night an extension on the deadline of a "stop-war" call from the council.

The appeal had been accepted by Israel, whose authorities reported, however, that Arab forces were firing in the Holy Land one half hour after the deadline of noon, EDT, Monday.

The political committee of the Arab league meets today in Amman, Trans-Jordan, to consult on the council appeal. Zionist representatives here indicated that Israel will accept the new deadline of 1 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

But there was no indication from Arab quarters that they will back down from their demand that Jews abandon their project of a state in the Holy Land. The Jews will not accept this condition.

The council takes an anxious day off today, reconvening tomorrow with the questions of India-Pakistan and Czechoslovakia, as well as Palestine, on the agenda.

An attempt to close the breach in Anglo-American relations was seen in the prompt support by both Britain and the United States of the extending request made by Faris El Khoury of Syria.

He said Middle East communication difficulties prevented the Arabs from consulting before the original deadline.

Unveil Plaque At Grove School

A memorial tablet was unveiled in the infirmary of The Grove School at Lakeside on Sunday by Vice-Admiral H. T. W. Grant, C.B.E., D.S.O. The infirmary is named Collingwood after the naval battalion, which was practically destroyed at Gallipoli in 1915.

Hugh Winslow, the donor of the infirmary, an old boy of the school and one of the survivors of the Collingwood battalion, said he intended to send a short account of the unveiling ceremony to the survivors, who have helped to provide somewhat similar memorials.

"A record of naval actions," Mr. Winslow continued, "is often inscribed on a plaque placed near the quarter deck of a ship or her successor of the same name. It therefore seems quite fitting that a plaque should now be placed in what might henceforth be considered the quarter deck of this new Collingwood."

Boy 3 Breaks Legs In Truck Collision

PICTON, May 25.—Graydon Sims, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sims, Main St., had both legs broken at noon Monday when he collided with a truck. He is in Prince Edward County Hospital.

The young lad had left the dinner table and ran outside and the accident occurred in front of his home a few seconds later. Both his shoes were torn off by the impact. Constable Dean, 16, of RR 3, Picton, sustained a dislocated shoulder when a car, in which she was a passenger left the road and crashed into a stone fence near Millford. The vehicle was driven by George Orser, 16, of South Bay.

The Unfairness Of The Amusement Tax

The twenty per cent. Federal tax on theatre, movie and other "amusement" tickets was imposed as a war measure and was tolerated by the people as a war measure in the way that they put up with other unpopular but essential legislation in those years of national emergency. The war has ended and the Dominion Government has done away with the amusement tax. It has stepped out of that field only to have the Ontario Government enter it.

The excuse the Drew administration gives for reimposing this onerous tax is that our hospitals need money and that all the money collected from the heavy amusement tax will go towards the building and support of hospitals. We do not quarrel with the need for supporting hospitals out of Provincial funds. Our objection is this: hospitals are for all the people and the money of all the people should support them. It should not be only one or two groups who pay for them. Nevertheless, that is what the twenty per cent. tax on admission to ball games, theatrical production (professional and amateur) and movie houses is doing. The people who happen to like these things are the ones who are paying this hospital tax. It is not all the people. Hospitals should be supported by general taxation, not by a special tax which hits only some of the people.

Mr. Drew is politically courageous and when he takes up a policy he sticks to it despite strong objections from even his supporters. For instance, he is showing courage in pursuing his liquor policy. It is therefore perhaps too much to hope that Mr. Drew will be brought to reason in the matter of the amusement tax by abolishing it, though an insistent demand from the Conservative candidates running in the present elections might induce him to lessen the rate of the tax.

Vandenberg Not Running—But Available

Politicians who are backing Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan for the Republican Presidential nomination have been using shrewd strategy in keeping him out of the running, but still available. They have risked no loss of prestige in primary elections in which other Republican candidates were strongly entrenched. They expected these contests would serve to heighten the probability of deadlock at Philadelphia among the three leading candidates, and their expectations have been realized. Consequently, Senator Vandenberg's position as leading compromise candidate has been strengthened.

Recognizing this, the Senator's backers let it be known last week that he would serve if drafted by the convention probably the biggest news of the United States Presidential campaign to date. The release was well timed to influence the convention course, to be plotted for Pennsylvania's seventy-three delegates. These delegates will probably vote for "favorite sons" on the first two ballots; there was uncertainty about their vote from then on, but Pennsylvania's Governor Duff, leader of the delegates, was known to favour Vandenberg. With the Senator known to be available, support from Pennsylvania seems assured.

While Republican political developments generally support the predictions that Vandenberg will be the party's presidential nominee, there are rumours that party "bosses" may seek another form of compromise. The group of Republicans known as the "Old Guard" are opposed to Vandenberg; their candidate is Senator Taft of Ohio. In the event of a deadlock, it is said that the Old Guard is prepared to seek a union of the Taft and Dewey delegates to support those two candidates for President and Vice-President, with the two men tossing a coin to settle the candidacy for the higher post. It sounds like a strange method of choosing a Presidential candidate, but it is reported by a responsible Washington columnist as being the latest development of Old Guard strategy.

Supporters of Senator Vandenberg, however, feel that he could defeat even this union of leaders, for the Old Guard cannot control the second choice of many delegates pledged to Dewey until a deadlock occurs. There is the further factor in Vandenberg's favour that political observers in the "Deep South" report that he would carry several states there if running for President against Mr. Truman. These reports, coupled with reports of popular polls showing gains for Vandenberg, may influence the vote of many delegations after the Republican convention narrows the field down to three or four candidates.

Colonel The Honourable J. L. Ralston

The sudden death of Colonel Ralston last Saturday removes from his large group of friends and political and legal colleagues a respected and admired companion, and from the Canadian people a valued public servant.

Colonel Ralston was considered one of our more brilliant lawyers and one of the most successful. His sharp mind and hard determination ranked him with other great public men, like the late Viscount Bennett, who came out of the Maritimes and Dalhousie Law School. He had a long career in Nova Scotian and Federal politics and was a Cabinet Minister in various King administrations from 1926 until his resignation as Minister of Defence in November, 1944.

It was the blend of the soldier and statesman in him which led to the severing of his long Ministerial association with the Prime Minister. As a major with the Nova Scotia Highlanders from 1916, and his experiences overseas where he gained the D.S.O. twice and came to command of the regiment, he brought to his post as Minister of National Defence not only political shrewdness and administrative ability but a knowledge of the services and a practical sympathy for the active men in uniform. After visiting our troops in Italy and France in 1944 he became convinced that the N.R.A.M. men ("Zombies") were needed overseas and should therefore be conscripted for his duty. It was a mark of his integrity that political considerations and personal friendship did not dissuade him from resigning his portfolio when his policy was not accepted by the Cabinet.

The death of this man of vigour, probity, native toughness and ability is a very great loss to his friends and the Canadian people.

Britain's Loss

Immigration from the British Isles to this country has been heavy since 1945, and Canada is actively encouraging it through its various offices in Britain. We need people and those whom we are getting are generally of the best type—young, vigorous and ambitious. It is our gain. But gain is usually accompanied by loss to someone else. The loss is Britain's. We tend to forget this. Unlike the nineteenth century export of her capital to create industry and prime commerce which brought dividends from the investment, this export of her people is a capital loss. Canada is but one of many countries milking the Old Country.

A P.E.P. report on "Population Policy in Great Britain" shows that, apart from the change in numbers, the age-distribution of Britain is changing rapidly and perhaps disastrously. The total of people between the ages of 15 and 45 may fall by as much as 750,000 in the next ten years. The drain caused by the various Dominions' immigration activities accentuates this change, for the immigrants are almost exclusively within these age limits.

The situation is causing some alarm in Britain, and a Royal Commission on Population is now making an investigation. The time may be at hand when Britain should in her own interests put a stop to the drain on her chief resource, her people.

Electioneering Letters To The Editor

Since the election campaign began in this district we have published in our "Letters to the Editor" column letters expressing all shades of political opinion. There have been epistles from Conservatives, Liberals, C.C.F.s, and even from readers who have no political axe. With today's issue we are closing the column to political factions. Elections are fewer than two weeks distant and we feel that people with urgent matters of political principle to discuss and political tricks to expose will already have set them down. The nearer the elections the more virulent the political platitudes. We have no desire to have the "Letters to the Editor" columns become party ramps.

"Of Cabbages and Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

"WHAT greatly helped John Bull" (writes Hesketh Pearson, in his clever biography G.B.S.—A Full Length Portrait) "as a box-office attraction, was the example set by Arthur Balfour, the Prime Minister, who went to see it four times, taking Campbell-Bannerman and Asquith, the Opposition leaders on two of his visits. And what finally established the Court Theatre as a money-making concern by sending fashionable society flocking to its doors was King Edward VII's Command Performance on March 11th 1905. 'Short of organizing a revolution I have no remedy,' wrote Shaw to Vedrenne (the theatre manager) on hearing that the King was going to see his play. Vedrenne was not in search of a remedy; he rubbed his hands with glee, chuckled at Shaw's little joke and hired special suite of furniture for the Royal Box. King Edward, who had frowned his disapproval of Arms and the Man, laughed so heartily over John Bull's Other Island that he broke the chair on which he sat, the damage being debited to the management and paid for, if not with pleasure, at least without protest by Vedrenne."

"SHAW was always on the lookout for a doctor who had meditated on headaches (continues Pearson). One afternoon, just after recovering from an attack, he was introduced to Nansen and asked the famous Arctic explorer whether he had ever discovered a headache cure.

"No," said Nansen with a look of amazement. "Have you ever tried to find a cure for headaches?"

"Well, no. That is a most astonishing thing!" exclaimed Shaw. "You have spent your life in trying to discover the North Pole, which nobody on earth cares twopenny about, and you have never attempted to discover a cure for the headache, which every living person is crying out for."

GREAT leaders are always the subject of legends and stories. Bernard Montgomery was no exception to this rule.

"There were also his personal oddities" (writes Alan Moorehead in his recent biography—Montgomery) "which were the constant unending subject of conversation wherever he went. Some of the incidents had a quite inexpressible flavour about them. There was, for example, the day he was addressing a meeting of Home Guard officers. Those who arrived sixty seconds late (including one general) found the doors bolted against them. Indignant and hostile, they were admitted at half-time and sat down to hear an hour's brilliant exposition (I quote the indignant general) of defensive tactics. At the end of his lecture Montgomery announced that he would present a play which he had written himself. While the audience waited fascinated, four soldiers dressed in German uniforms entered carrying umbrellas. As they opened the umbrellas a loud report echoed through the hall, and this, apparently, was to illustrate the arrival of parachutists in England. The four soldiers then lined up on the platform and announced solemnly: 'We'll cut the throat of that bastard Montgomery. Finish of Play.'

"Even across the years the mind still reels as it contemplates this exhibition. And yet and yet: 1940. Invasion expected at any moment; perhaps there was something in it. At all events few people in that hall forgot the lecture, or Montgomery."

FEW men have ever displayed such an extreme degree of mind over matter as has the late T. E. Lawrence—better known as Lawrence of Arabia.

"When out in the playground one day," writes his mother in the collection "T. E. Lawrence By His Friends," "at 11 o'clock he saw a small boy being pulled by a bigger one; he went to the rescue. They had a struggle; he fell and one of the bones in Ned's leg got broken near the ankle; he was wearing boots that day which helped to support it. He walked into the school supporting himself by the wall, and did his mathematics until one o'clock. He told his brothers that he had hurt his leg and could not walk home, so they put him on a bicycle and wheeled him back."

"A stranger whose car had come to a standstill in the road" continues the English historian Lionel Curtis in the same volume, "asked him to crank it. Just as Lawrence was pulling the lever, the driver advanced the spark. The engine backfired and broke Lawrence's wrist, but somehow the engine started. The driver hanked him and drove on, and Lawrence never allowed him to know that his carelessness had broken his wrist. The accident cost him months of pain, borne with a never-fading smile."

"NOT many years ago"—writes Edgar Wallace in his interesting life-story—People, "a brutal murder was committed in a country town, and it occurred to a sort of journalist who supplied sensations for a certain newspaper that it would be a great idea if he could get a confession as to how the murder was committed. With the help of an unscrupulous person who had access to the prisoner, he conveyed the following offer. He would pay for the man's defence, though the result of the trial was a foregone conclusion, and in addition would supply him with 'out-side food' whilst he was awaiting trial. If he would smuggle out the story of the deed.

"The murderer, a man of low mentality, agreed. The story of the murder was set out piecemeal, and in return counsel was briefed for the defence.

"On the day of the trial the horror-hunter had the biggest and most sensational story ever published, and he only had to wait for the verdict to release the confession. But so eloquent was the counsel that the man was acquitted! Today, in a provincial newspaper office, there exists an unusable murder confession, whilst the scoundrel who committed the murder is at large—I saw him near Marble Arch a few years ago!"

DISRESPECT FOR THE CLERGY?

Sir: Last night on the political platform at Parry Sound when Colonel Drew described the statement of the Rev. Dr. Hugh Dolson, a respected member of the United Church, as being guilty of falsehood and also added in the same breath that those who accused the present Ontario Government as being under the control of liquor interests were contemptible liars, Colonel Drew has publicly insulted the respected clergy of the United Church and all of its members.

Premier Drew is really making it hard for his candidates. I am sure people would like to know why Colonel Drew has the support of all the bar-tenders and all the alcohol-inspired journalists and newspapers if his legislation has been in the interest of temperance. The Silver Rail Cocktail Bar on Yonge Street, Toronto, brought back to the promoters their $100,000 capital investment in nine months because there was no ceiling on the price of liquors sold by the glass and apparently there were no inspectors around either.

The people of this province generally are opposed to any interference with individual liberty and generally speaking there is a very wide respect for the clergy and all the churches keep out of politics so when the premier of a province assails the clergy of the United Church in the manner that Colonel Drew has done, he shocks the sensibilities of the public.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

NOT PRO-DREW

Sir: The liquor question should prove how the Conservatives have forced the relinquishing of rights by forcing the sale of liquor without the vote of the people. That is one of the most detrimental of all, for liquor as it is sold today is the source from which Drew admits much of the great accumulated sum of money now in the power of the government was obtained.

The Drew Government boasts that old age pensioners are getting $40. All I have questioned have never had more than $30. Hundreds of them do not have a decent place in which to live much less enough to eat or wear on $30 a month.

Road improvement is far more essential for our own people than for the tourist business, so why take tax money away from one section leaving little for improvements, then boast how it is being used to build improved roads over wilderness sections for tourist business.

The Drew Government has proven by action so why should voters let them remain in office? This election was brought on to get security before forcing other relinquishment of civil rights of the people. Now is the time for the voters to act.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

Sir: The old tricks are still used, giving plums where it will do the most good for the Party in Power, at the expense of the common people. It is those least able to pay the taxes to cover this spendthrift plan, that have it saddled on them. Giving away the twenty-five millions plus will not have the effect this time, that it had in the past when butter, rents, and other necessities were not classed in the luxury column.

Mr. Scott, you are treading on quicksand when you, as you say, are tapering off the export of timber. Why did you not have the courage to use the sharp axe and cut off the practice of letting your southern neighbour have natural products to be shipped back in a

And it came to pass, that, while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul having passed through the upper coasts came to Ephesus. . . . And God wrought special miracles by the hands of Paul. . . .

Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists, took upon them to call over them which had evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We adjure you by Jesus whom Paul preacheth.

And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a Jew, and chief of the priests, which did so. And the evil spirit answered and said, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye?

And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded. And this was known to all the Jews and Greeks also dwelling at Ephesus; and fear fell on them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified. . . .

Many of them also which used curious arts brought their books together, and burned them before all men; and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.

So mightily grew the word of God and prevailed. (Acts 19: 1, 11, 13-17, 19, 20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Monsieur wanted the picture hung to the right, madame wanted it on the left. But monsieur insisted that the servant should hang the picture according to his orders. Consequently, Joseph stuck a nail in the wall on the right, but this, he also went and stuck another in on the left.

"What is the second nail for?" his master inquired in astonishment.

"It's to save me the trouble of fetching the ladder tomorrow when monsieur will have come round to the views of madam."

A Yorkshire mill-hand charged with having set fire to a large hayrick, was defended on the ground that he was not altogether responsible for his actions. One of the witnesses, a typical Yorkshireman declared that the prisoner was "wring in 'is lead."

"Can you mention any occasion on which the prisoner behaved in a manner to warrant your statement?" he was asked.

"Yes," answered the witness. "Ah mind once he got half a crown too much for his wages, an'—"

"Well!" said counsel, as the witness hesitated.

"He took it back to t'manager!"

A man, having to make a trip to Paris, feared he would be seasick. As soon as he got on the boat he went straight to his cabin and drank about half a bottle of whisky. Waking up eventually and finding the engines had stopped and the boat was at rest, he rang for the steward and ordered coffee.

"Do you know, steward the only thing that has kept me away from the Continent up till now is my fear of sea-sickness, and instead of being sick, I've slept like a top and didn't feel the slightest roll."

"No, sir," said the steward. "I don't expect you did. You see, it's too rough for the boat to put out, and we're still in harbour."

Was the tapering plan you speak one of your twenty-two points? What about the other twenty-one? I used fish, but is this the time of year that you would expect suckers to be plentiful? I wonder if Earl Hand, K.C., thinks the people are suckers to believe the C.C.F. are tainted with Communism. These two straws, the one the Provincial Conservative Government, including the Hon. Harold Scott, is grasping to keep in power, and the one Earl Hand, K.C., is grasping that abominable lie about the C.C.F. are both bending and it will take a mountain of straw to keep them from sinking. If Hon. Harold Scott and Earl Hand, K.C., want any further proof they have only to contact some of their old rank and file.

Last Mark Wins King's Plate In Record Time

By JACK MITCHELL

TORONTO, May 25.—(CP).—A homebrew colt with a heart as stout as his lungs and the homespun man who taught him to run like the wind are today the Canadian racing circles today for their sweeping victory in the historic $10,000-added King's Plate.

Last Mark, the last of a sturdy line, and Uncle Jim Fair, the racing man who bred and raised the leathery brown colt, earned their place among the bluebloods of Canadian turfdom at old Woodbine Park Monday.

Together, they cracked the select circle of winners of the oldest continuously-run fixture in North America—and did it with the elation of champions. The fleet colt ran the race faster than it was ever run before in its 89 years and the breeder-trainer-owner, who gained his first King's Plate victory, was as confident before post-time as he was happy afterwards.

They're as much alike in some ways as twin foals—the winner of the King's 50 guineas and the owner whose training quarters was a plowed field on his stock farm at Cainsville, Ont.

Fair—Uncle Jim to the stablehands along shedrow—comes of the breed of work-a-day racing men who see more down than ups in the uncertain business. The colt is the son of parents more noted for being prolific than for the quality of their offspring.

Great Ovation. But they stood on the winner's circle Monday and heard a spontaneous ovation from the Victoria Day holiday crowd of some 48,000. Little Howard Bailey, the Toronto boy who Fair said rode "a perfect race," rated his mount flawlessly to win the mile-and-an-eighth test in 1:52 minutes with a blistering stretch run. It was 18 seconds faster than the plate record set by Utermaster in 1944, though 1.4 seconds slower than Bon Jour's track record for the distance.

The colt, running seventh in the field of 16 at the three-eighths pole, scooted through the field, catching the leading Joey Bomber and Lord Fairmont before the turn into the homestretch, and was drawing away with a 4½-length lead at the wire.

The popular betting choice, Last Mark returned $7.05 for $2 in capturing the winner's purse of $11,010 and the royal guineas. The famous Johnny Longden, who piloted Lord Fairmont to second place, said Last Mark was "just too much horse" for his mount.

Two other topnotch U.S. jockeys were among the field. Ted Atkinson, who came from New York's Belmont park, finished 13th on All British, the second choice at 3-1, and Chris Rogers from Boston's Suffolk Downs wound up second-to-last on Coleraine.

PLATE DAY HIGHLIGHTS — Records went tumbling in all directions at Woodbine Park Monday when the 89th running of the King's Plate took place under superb weather conditions before a mammoth crowd. Picture shows Joey Bomber winging away on top as the field hit the first turn, with Meal Time (rail) and Polipat, a field horse, following in close attendance. The ultimate winner, Last Mark, was back in the middle of the pack at this young stage in the mile and an eighth gallop.

Local Horses Show Well In Big Meet

Burton Lee, owned by Hugh Davis of this city, and driven by Jim Sutherland, won two heats, and was second in the other of the 2.28 pace at the harness horse race meeting in Morrow Park on Monday. Vivian McKinney, owned by Stanley Blewett of Peterborough and driven by H. Elmhirst, took two firsts in the free-for-all, but broke while leading in the third at the three-quarter post and ran sixth. Jack Sunday of Lansdowne won that heat.

The free-for-all provided the main interest on the program as several scratches cut down on the entry in the other two races. A big crowd saw some keen racing on a fair track, and the times of the free-for-all were quite good for this season. The half-mile was clocked in 1:06½, 1:06, and 1:07, with the second mile of 2:14 the fastest of the day. The first half of the 2.28 was checked in 1:07.

Two other Peterborough horses, M. Post's Lena Direct and Hugh Davis' Parson had good heats, too, in other races. Prize money totaled $850, the program being in connection with the Jaycee's Jamoree.

Hal B. Watson of Toronto was official starter, with C. R. Bradley handling the starting gate. Judges were Stanley Lowe and Jack Thompson, with Fred Wiltshire, Dr. Art Johnston the timers and Dave Fleming the clerk. The races were run under Ontario Association rules.

The results:

Dick Irvin is pleased with the contract Montreal Canadiens have offered him to coach their 1948-49 N.H.L. squad but he still is undecided whether he will take it.

A Montreal newspaper quoted Irvin Saturday as saying in a long distance conversation from his Regina home that he was pleased with the terms offered by Manager Frank Selke of the Habs but his delay in giving an answer was prompted by indecision whether "it's time to call it quits with hockey."

"There are no difficulties involved," said Irvin, "beyond my decision if 38 years as player and coach is enough active hockey for any man. My wife is lukewarm about another season apart—in our 17 years of married life we've really lived together only five years or so."

Cyrille Delannoit, unheralded Belgian boxer, dethroned Marcel Cerdan as European middleweight champion in Brussels Sunday night by scoring an upset, 15-round decision over the Frenchman. It was a severe blow for Cerdan who had been sought by promoters in the United States for a September title fight with the winner of the Rocky Graziano-Tony Zale championship bout June 9.

Brooklyn Dodgers suffered a mighty blow Monday when relief hurler Hugh Casey was placed on the disabled list. This means the veteran fireman, who was a strong factor in Brooklyn's pennant victory last year, will be lost to the team for 60 days. Casey slipped on the stairs in his apartment and fell heavily on his right side. X-rays showed no break but the right hander was taped heavily.

Ab Morton of Galt set a new record for the annual five-mile feature event of holiday road race held in Kitchener Monday. He went the distance in 28.56 minutes, besting the old mark of 29.16. Arthur Wilson of Preston won the two-mile event with Eric Read of Elmira coping the mile run and Ernest Carter of Guelph the half-mile.

Beau Jack, displaying the form that once made him top man among lightweight boxers, Monday night slammed out a thirteenth 10-round decision over Tony Jgniro of Youngstown, O. There were no knockdowns. Jack weighed 140 and Jgniro 147.

Frank Gustine of Pittsburgh Pirates and Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals, took advantage of short visits in Brooklyn to jump into the thick of the National League batting race. Gustine advanced 32 points with the help of a five-hit day in Flatbush to wrest the lead from Boston's Tommy Holmes. Gustine is hitting .425 and Holmes .413 according to latest official averages. Musial enjoyed a great series against the Dodgers and as a result he hopped all the way from eighth place to third at .398, a gain of 49 points for the week's work.

Cleveland's Lou Boudreau slid 44 points in the American League batting race last week, but he still tops the circuit with a .396 average. It was also rough going for Boston's Ted Williams, who dropped 29 points to .368 and yielded the runner-up spot to Al Zarilla of St. Louis Browns. Zarilla .381 is 15 points back of Boudreau.

TCS Win Match 107 To 24 Over P-W Club

The first home game of cricket season was played at Nicholls Oval Saturday between the locals and Trinity College School, Port Hope. This match has been played for many years with varying results, but on Saturday the school scored a decisive win by 107 to 24. It was a cold unsuitable day for cricket and conditions were not pleasant but there was some good play.

Going to bat first the school had two players to thank for their win. A. Wilson, coach of the school team, the opening batsman, played a fine innings for 85 retired; He showed good defence and some hard hitting including four sixes. The only other double figure scorer was A. Hughes, 24, these two players scoring 89 of the school's total of 107. The other nine players only made 18. The fifth wicket fell at 35 and then Hughes joined Wilson and the pair added 55 runs, taking it to 90 when Wilson retired. The rest did little and the innings closed for 107.

Started Well. Dyer and Wright were the opening bowlers and were doing well until Wilson hit Wright for three sixes in one over and the latter was relieved by J. Wild. He had bowled well and at times had hard luck, beating the batsman but missing the wicket. Dyer took five wickets for 42, Wright two for 47 and Wild 2 for 17. The weather conditions were not favorable, to good fielding and some catches were missed, but a new comer, W. McKissock, on his first appearance for the side kept wicket well conceding only one bye.

The local innings was one long disaster against the bowling of Wilson and Timothy, who were relieved by Hett and Cooper when the result was a certainty. Six wickets were down for nine runs. J. Wild batted well for 10 showing strong defence and was beginning to hit when he was bowled by Cooper and the innings closed for 24, leaving the school winners by 83 runs. The bowling analysis speaks for itself. In addition to Wilson, the school team included two masters at the school, G. Timothy and A. Hett.

The local team was a weak one. A. Pagett and B. Roberts, two reliable batsmen could not play and not one of last year's newcomers were available and much was expected of these players. It was a curious feature that two of the winners batsmen scored 89 runs out of a total of 107 and for the losers J. Wild 10 and F. Dyer five, were responsible for 15 out of the local total of 24.

Next Saturday, May 29, Grove School will be visitors at Nicholls Oval and on Saturday, June 5, the locals will travel to Port Hope to play a return match with TCS.

Red-Hot Bears Edge Giants In 5-4 Tussle

By The Associated Press

Syracuse Chiefs, 1947 International Baseball League playoff champions, are moving at fine clip into the current race but New York Giants and Montreal Royals are breathing right down the Chiefs' head feathers.

Syracuse, behind the five-hit pitching of veteran Dixie Howell, all downed Baltimore Orioles 5-2 Monday night to stretch its winning streak to four games. However, the Chiefs, who now have won 14 of their last 17 games, are only a game and a half ahead of Newark and two up on the Royals.

Frankie Drews led the Chiefs' 10-hit attack with a triple, double, single and walk in four trips to the plate. Austin Knickerbocker, with a single and triple, drove in three runs while Lew Riggs batted in both Baltimore markers on a homer and single.

The red hot Bears came from behind and beat Jersey City Giants 5-4 to stretch their winning streak to seven in a row. Newark spotted the Giants a 4-0 lead in two innings and then came back with two in the seventh on homers by Ted Sepkowski and Johnny Lucadello and three in the ninth to win.

Take Twin Bill. The Royals celebrated Victoria Day at home by taking both ends of a twin bill from the Rochester Red Wings, 8-2 and 13-3. Jack Banta fanned eight and held the Wings to five hits in the first game to gain his third victory. Duke Snider homered for the Royals and Vern Benson for the Wings.

Snider also clouted a four-bagger in the second game to share hitting honors with Marv Rackley and Al Gionfriddo, who collected three apiece.

Toronto Maple Leafs also celebrated Victoria Day by taking a twin bill from Buffalo Bisons, 4-3 in 10 innings and 8-7 in 12 frames. Hank Blasatti broke up the 10-inning morning game with a home run.

The Leafs piled up a 6-0 lead during the first five innings of the second game, which was played at night, but the Bisons forged ahead by scoring seven runs in the sixth and seventh innings with the aid of two homers by Chet Laabs and one by Coaker Triplett. The Leafs tied it in the ninth and won in the 12th when Oscar Judd squeezed home Stan Lopata.

Short a couple of regular players, they also bobbled the ball for nine miscues and this beat them: Dadson, the Bowmanville southpaw, held them to two hits and fanned 14. Petes Capture COBL Opener Against Batawa Bunch, 10-3

The Petes opened the COBL season here Monday morning by beating Batawa 10-3 before a large crowd of fans. They broke up a good ball game with a five-run outburst in the eighth inning, all unearned runs as the visitors kicked the ball in costly fashion. Batawa used two hurlers, while the Petes spread the twirling chores among three mounds-men. It was good early-season baseball till near the finish.

Page 2 led the local regulars at bat with two for three, while Edgar got one in one trip. Peacock and Rankin each had two in four tries for Batawa. Smart catches were pulled off by Dalton and Stewart. The losers reeled off two double-plays.

Two walks, a wild pitch and double steal gave the Petes a run in the first and they made it 2-0 next time up when Stewart tripled and tallied on a bunt hit by Page 2.

Whitehill for four hits, including two doubles, and those, along with an error, accounted for their three markers in the fifth frame. The Petes came back with a trio in the sixth on two walks, a passed ball and three singles. They put it on ice in the eighth with five runs on two hits, one double, two free tickets, a passed ball and four misplays.

Doug Loucks hurled four frames and looked real good with a one-hit effort and four whiffs. Gunner Whitehill ran into trouble early, though his side drove in three runs during his sojourn so he got credit for the win. Bill Edgar finished strongly, striking out half a dozen. None of the trio issued a walk. Bedore threw five hits but was driven out in the sixth and Peacock finished in fair fashion. The Petes bunched hits better and cashed in on errors, as on earned runs it was 3-3.

Combines Take Jay-Cee Cup From De Laval

R-E Combines swamped De Laval 23-0 Monday evening in Morrow Park to win the Jay-Cee softball challenge trophy before a big crowd. It went seven innings and saw the Combines pound Tom Parsons' pitches hard throughout as De Laval turned in a poor defensive showing with nine misplays. Ken Guilfoyle threw two-hits for the Combines, who played errorless ball. Half a dozen of the losers went down on strikes in the one-sided tussle. The teams:

Bees Winners Over Aces In Lakeshore

The local junior "B" Bees buzzed through to an 11-3 Lakeshore Junior Baseball League victory over the local Junior "A" Aces in Riverside Park on Saturday. The Bees had two big frames to roll up the count, but most of their runs were of the unearned variety as the Aces kicked in with seven costly errors. Both sides showed a lot of promising junior players. Plunkett looked good on the mound with a dozen strikeouts, and he had better backing throughout than Conlin. Sullivan and O'Heron each had two hits in five for the winners, as Conlin got two in four for the losers, while Hall and Estlick made nice catches.

Turnesa Enters PGA Finals

ST. LOUIS, May 25. — (AP). — Firing against the great Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., today for the championship prize of $3,500 in the 30th Professional Golfers Association tournament is Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y.

Mike was continuing a Turnesa tradition. Three times now one of the seven Turnesa brothers have gone into the finals of the PGA.

On the basis of past tournament performances, Hogan figures to win rather handily today, but Mike will be shooting a few extra licks for two of his brothers — Joe and Jim, the Turnesas who failed to win the PGA after reaching the finals in 1927 and 1942 respectively.

Mike, who'll be 40 years old next month and is Turnesa No. 4, got into the finals by upsetting Masters champion Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N.Y., 1-up in a rugged 37-hole match Monday.

Hogan advanced to the finals over Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., 2 and 1.

Hogan played 183 holes in 26 strokes under par in advancing to the finals. Turnesa was 16 strokes under par for 177 holes.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

C.C. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The Bees stung the Aces and raised an 11-3 lump in Riverside on Saturday to open the Lakeshore Junior Baseball League. Both are local teams and have been calling themselves the "A" and "B" teams, so we are temporarily calling 'em the Aces for the "A" crew—and the Bees (the "B" bunch) till they get over being bashful and get a label. An odd thing was that, on earned runs, it should have been 1-1 as errors figured in all but two runs in this game. While it was loose ball, and rather slow, some promising junior material was seen on both sides. Plunkett pitched well and had better backing than Conlin, while the latter, along with O'Heron and Sullivan, led the hitters. As Hall and Estlick pulled off neat catches.

City Ball Loop schedule opened there, too, on Saturday in a five-frame go—as they had a time limit on it. The combined crew of East City and the northward white-washed westenders 7-0 in a fair show. Not too many early-season errors and the pitching was okay. Shaughnessy came up with a two-hit effort for the victors while Corkery showed enough but his support wasn't quite as good. Kumpf had one hit in one official appearance while Langhorne lashed out a dandy four-bagger and a single in three attempts, which is mighty nice work. Like the Juniors, these juveniles turned up some right promising talent and it should be a real dog-fight down the stretch in this section of the large and lively City Baseball League. Aid. Swanston, Dodds and Young officially opened it.

Petes and Colborne

Intermediate Petes began their Lakeshore Loop schedule with a 9-4 win in Colborne with Cray pitching steady ball and his buddies hitting the apple hard. A good game, we're told, with Hall hurling best for the homers. He arrived real late and showed plenty, and no doubt will pitch for them here on the morrow. This tilt is 6:30 in Riverside Park and ball fans should see a nice number. Jack Billingsley's bunch were minus a couple of players they expected—due to softball—but still started off in auspicious fashion. Cray, Girard and Paget (who had four for five) were the main hitters.

COBLA Petes also got off on the right foot here on the holiday with a 10-3 morning victory over Batawa before a goodly gallery. Used three twirlers to try 'em out and Whitehill got credit for the win, though Loucks and Edgar pitched better ball. The Gunner is a slow starter. Loucks gave one hit in four frames. Losers used two heavers. It was a good 5-3 game till the visitors blew in the eighth and the Petes showed a lot of power at the plate in the clutches. Edgar and Paget (a junior) led the clouters, while Stewart and Dalton had neat catches. It'll be good ball before long, and it wasn't a bad opener. The Mayor and Aid. Swanston and Young officially pried off the lid. Swanny can still hit.

Races And Softball

Jay-Cees' jamboree at Morrow Park drew a big crowd for the holiday, and softball and harness horse racing were sports' features. In softball, Legion defaulted in the aft to De Laval, as Combines whipped Knights 15-6. In the final, the R-E crew walloped De Laval 23-0 back of two-hit hurling by Guilfoyle. So they get the cup. Races were interesting, especially the free-for-all. Stan Blewett's Vivian McKinney took two heats of this but had tough luck to break in the third. Jack Sunday taking that one. The times were real fast. In the 2:25 pace, Hugh Davis' Euron Lee took two and Filka got the other. Jimmy Brewer, a Port Hope horse, won all three starts in the 2:22. Crowd made a lot of noise during the races.

Girls' softball returns to the Bowl scene tomorrow eve with these tilts scheduled to start the season: Ashby's vs. Woolens at seven, followed by Marines vs. Electrics. And on Friday, it's Lock Co. vs. Lindsay here and Lakeside vs. Westclox. As rain has interfered with many recent workouts, most of the managers aren't sure yet of their starting lineups, but all expect to field strong squads, so these openers should draw well. No gate charge. Albert Watkins looks for a better Marines' team than a year ago as he has three good twirlers, Eleanor Whittaker, Mary Downer and Marguerite Connelly, formerly of Lindsay. More on this loop again.

Whip Headlines It

Whipper Billy Watson is back on a local mat card, wrestling big Lee Henning in the main bout of the pro card in the Brock Arena tomorrow night. The Whip always stages a swell show and this one should pack 'em in. Because it has an extra strong supporting cast Nanjo Singh tackles Dr. Ed Meske in the semi-final, while John Katan takes on Jim Burnette in the prelim. Singh wrestled the British Empire crown from Watson recently and the Whip certainly plans to get the Hindu into the ring with him again soon for a return bout. Singh himself is a powerful matman. In fact there are several outstanding grapplers on this local card.

GRAB-AG: Men's Bowl games tonight: Combines vs. Knights at seven, and Legion vs. De Laval. Latter will be under new sponsorship shortly, we're told. Calladine and Wood handle the first fray and it's Dornier and Quenby in the other; Thursday, Ranger and Board, with Morin and Phelan. Industrial softball schedule out tomorrow. Peewee and midget sections of the Church Loop open tonight. Oshawa Merchants beat Kingston Locos 9-4 Monday in the Motor City to open their COBL season. Bowmanville beat our junior "B" ballsters 8-0 yesterday; junior "A" team didn't play. Northend bantams meet Hawks at 6:15 tonight in Riverside. TCS won a cricket match here 107 to 24 o'er the week-end. Kawartha Golf Club had its official opening Saturday. Local Hi-Y cagers won in Belleville 32-21. Allan Pacey drove good races with Vivian McKinney in the free-for-all Monday. Trojan AO meeting tomorrow eve in the SA hall on Chamberlain to present trophies and crests for hockey, moving pictures, too; all boys are invited. Soccer meeting in the "Y" at 7:30 tonight. Guess that winds up a terrific week-end.

Maniaci Pulls For Demaret

ST. LOUIS, May 25. — (AP). — Joe Maniaci is a big guy with little luck. A former star at Fordham and with Chicago Bears, Joe now coaches football at St. Louis University. He was encountered on the golf course Monday, pulling like the dickens for Jimmy Demaret to beat Ben Hogan.

Jimmy used to work for me, Maniaci recalled. "He was golfing at the Bainbridge naval station when I was athletic director there. Lew Worsham was his assistant. But somehow Joe couldn't pull Jimmy through and Worsham had bowed to Demaret two days before. Jimmy Demaret celebrated two anniversaries yesterday. It was his 35th birthday and the second time he had lost to Ben Hogan in the semi-finals of the Professional Golfers' Association tournament.

Dot's All Brothers.
 Ted Williams, the Red Sox slugger, is du here today to see his first golf tournament. Chances are it won't win his affection away from fishing and hunting. Jug McSpadeen, who announced his retirement from tournament golf, spent most of Monday afternoon putting on the practice green. He probably will try to qualify for the national open.

TORONTO, May 25. — (CP). — While working extra time in preparation for his holidays, railway brakeman Bernard Walker fell beneath a freight car he was uncoupling. Doctors amputated his left leg. Walker served six years in the navy on the Murmansk run and was twice torpedoed.

Petes Winners By 9 to 4 Over Colborne

The Intermediate Petes opened their Lakeshore Baseball League schedule Monday in Colborne, a 9-4 victory before a good-sized crowd. Jack Billingsley's bunch punched the apple in timely fashion and showed a lot of hustle to earn the duke all the way. They outthrew their rivals 15 to 8 in the well-played game, each side having but two a-lap. The same squads clash here this Wednesday evening at 6:30 in Riverside Park.

"Dids" Cray pitched steady ball for the winners yesterday, while the losers used four, E. Cowie, W. Clary, B. Clary and Hall—the latter showing most. Paget led the victors at bat with four for five, one a double. Cray had three in five and Girard two for four, including a two-bagger. Burns also belted a double. For Colborne, Burling went best with two bingles, one good for two bases. Nice catches were pulled off by White and Bill Sullivan. The teams:

Petes — Connelly ss, Paget 2b, Guerin 1b, Girard c, Jones 3b, White cf, Sullivan rf, Burns lf, Cray p.

Combines Take City Opener Over West, 7-0

The City Baseball League opened its schedule Saturday in Riverside Park with a five-inning juvenile fray, a time-limit cutting it down before a slim crowd. The North-East Combines blanked the Westend 7-0 as Shaughnessy hurled two-hit ball and fanned three. Corkery gave six hits for the other side, fanning four, but had shaky support in spots. Kumpf led the hitters with one in one try, while Langhorne topped the winners at bat with a homer and single in three tries. He batted in three runs.

OSHAWA, May 25. — (CP). — Oshawa Merchants opened their organized Central Ontario Baseball League here Monday with a traditional Victoria Day opener against Kingston Locos. The Merchants got away on the right foot with a convincing 9-4 victory.

The Locos were late in arriving at the field and the game was further delayed since they had forgotten to bring along an umpire. A local official had to be pressed into service.

Oshawa hurler "Pat" Shehan, A.P.T. instructor at the Ajax division of the University of Toronto, kept a total of 11 safeties scattered over the nine frames and was in serious trouble only twice. In the seventh, he loaded the bases after two out, with two hits

In the ninth, the visitors had their best frame when Mulholland opened with his third hit of the day, Labannon was hit by a pitch and Cunningham singled to score Mulholland. Labannon was caught taking chances on the bases after an outfield out but Conner got his third hit of the game to score Cunningham with Kingston's last run of the game.

Whipper Watson To Meet Lee Henning In Main Bout

In what appears to be the best balanced wrestling card presented this season, Whipper Billy Watson will meet Lee Henning in the main event at the Brock Arena tomorrow night. Henning is big and powerful and one of the craftiest wrestlers in the business. Watson will be all out to win this one, being his first match since he lost the British Empire title three weeks ago.

The Whip is taking on all the rough matmen in his quest to regain his title. The Iowa Cornhusker Henning is one of the toughest.

Manager Jim Laidlaw scored a ten-strike when he signed Nanjo Singh, the new British Empire champion to meet Dr. Ed Meske in the opener. It will also be Singh's first bout since he won the title and Nanjo will have to be at his best to stop the smooth-working Meske.

To round out this all-star card, John Katan will take on Jim Burnette in the semi-final. Burnette has quite a reputation across the border and should give Honest John a rough time.

Newhouser Shows Old Form Hurls 5-2 Win Over Boston

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sport Writer

Hal Newhouser, Detroit baseball fan's greatest idol since Ty Cobb, has finally begun to look like a pitcher. He was in 1944, 1945 and 1946. Those were the years the southpaw star rolled up 80 victories while losing only 27 games.

Hal's return to form began last Wednesday when he hurled a masterful four-hit victory over Boston Red Sox. He followed up Monday with a seven-hit, 5-2 triumph over Washington Senators.

That was only Newhouser's third win of the season. Since he beat Chicago White Sox in the opening game, he had been shelled from the mound five straight times and had dropped four decisions.

Newhouser's best friend Monday was first baseman Paul Campbell, who clouted a triple with the bases loaded off Early Wynn in the bottom half of the first inning. Hal had started wobbly by giving up three hits and two runs in the first half of the inning. He finished strong, however, retiring 17 of the last 18 men to face him as he registered eight scoreless frames.

New Experience
Brooklyn Dodgers were also enjoying a new experience. They were riding high, wide and handsome on a one-game winning streak. The man responsible for Brooklyn's first success since May 13 was southpaw Preacher Roe. The Brooks dropped eight straight since then to fall into the National League basement.

Roe went the route with an eight-hit, 9-4 win over Cincinnati Reds.

Jackie Robinson and Eddie Miksis led the Dodger attack. Robinson climaxed a three-hit day with his second home run of the season. Miksis drove in three runs to highlight a six-run fourth inning.

The victory pushed the Dodgers up two notches into sixth place, seven percentage points in front of Chicago Cubs. The Reds plummeted into the cellar.

Kalter (Monk) Dubiel, who only 10 days ago blanked New York Giants with three hits, pitched another three-hitter on Monday night as the Phillies whipped the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals 6-2 in Philadelphia.

Mickey Rooney Choosey About Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 25 (AP)—Here are the names that are starring the Hollywood news today:

Mickey Rooney is getting choosey about his screen roles and doesn't think he will do the Tod Sloan biography, "Monkey on a Stick." Says the defiant Mickey: "They thought I was finished after I came back from the war. But I fooled 'em with 'Killer McCoy.' I am just getting started."

David Niven is baffled by the talk of a film career for his bride, the beautiful Hjordis Tormoden of Sweden. "She has never acted and never intends to act," says David.

Tom Drake finally got the break he deserves in "Words and Music." Now MGM is talking about starring him in a sequel to "The Green Years."

Robert Taylor is finally getting back to what gave him his first screen fame—romance. He will have some torrid love scenes with Ava Gardner in "The Bribes."

Nina Foch continues to profit from her stage jaunt in "John Loves Mary." She goes right from the arms of Glenn Ford in "Undercover Man" to those of William Holden in "Hearsay." The two films are shooting an advance stages, and to hurry the former opus along, scenes are being shot with three cameras.

10-Second Review
"Melody Time" is another joyous package from the Disney wonderworks. This cartoon variety show is tops in beauty and imagination with vocals by Francis Langford, Dennis Day and the Andrews Sisters. Best song is "Pecos Bill" (sung by Roy Rogers).

Senator Fallis Defends Drew Policy

Senator Iva Fallis, Peterborough, defended Premier George Drew's stand on Dominion-provincial agreements in an address at the Progressive Conservative committee rooms Saturday night. The woman member of the Senate spoke in support of Hon. Harold R. Scott.

She pointed out the experience of British Columbia in signing the tax agreement with the federal government. Critics, she maintained, had accused Mr. Drew of "playing politics" on the issue. However, she said, the B.C. deal was made between the Liberal government of that province and the federal Liberal government.

Senator Fallis quoted several editorials from the leading Liberal daily newspaper in B.C., which criticized the results of the agreement. It had put that province in such a financial state, she said, that B.C. had been forced to impose a separate sales tax.

"British Columbia would not have signed it if it had known then what it knows now," she quoted from the Liberal paper. She also quoted figures showing that, of $144,000,000 now collected there, the province received back only $20,000,000.

Would Have To Beg

"If we had signed, we would now be in the same position of having to beg, cap in hand, before the federal government: Mister, can you spare a dime?" she said. She pointed out the

Lower Requirements For Army Enlistments

OTTAWA, May 25.—(CP).—Defence Minister Claxton today announced that educational requirements for enlistment in Canadian armed forces have been lowered.

Mr. Claxton said that, generally, applicants with one or two years less than junior matriculation will be accepted in the Army, Navy and Air Force. Previously, the standard had been junior matriculation or its equivalent, with exceptions in the case of certain veterans. Now it has been shown, the minister said in a statement, that civilian trade experience and learning ability can compensate for deficiencies in formal education.

Six Are Fined On Liquor Counts

The holiday week-end brought the usual number of liquor charges in court today. Morgan Pinch, RR 10, Peterborough, was fined $15 and $2.50 costs for illegal possession of liquor.

Alfred Reid, 477 Rubidge St., paid $10 and $2.50 cost for being drunk in public. Irvin Webb, Norwood, was fined $15 and $2.50 costs for illegal possession.

Fined $10 and $2.50 costs each for being drunk in public were: James H. Robinson, 172 Stewart St.; John Bickersteth, 389 Queen St.; Hugh Adams, Havelock.

Stole Three Shirts Gets Two Months

Clark Purdy, RR 2, Peterborough, was sentenced to two months in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of three men's shirts before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in court today. Evidence was given by PC Allan Edmondson that the accused had been caught with the freshly-laundried shirts, which had been taken from a clothesline.

Only question to the officer from the accused was to ask if the city policeman had any right to pick him up outside the city limits and when the constable was off duty.

"Yes, sir," was the brief reply.

Air Forces On Alert

MANILA, May 25.—(AP).—It was learned unofficially today that United States Air Forces on Okinawa were placed on full alert several months ago and that jet fighter planes are conducting regular patrols. Unofficial sources disclosed this during discussions concerning a London report that a British Overseas Airways four-engine flying boat was intercepted by a U.S. fighter near Okinawa Saturday while enroute from Japan to Hong Kong.

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP).—Anthony Dupre, a 68-year-old former circus trapeze artist, Sunday became the father of triplets—bringing his total number of children to 35. U.S. Cooperation Approved By St. Laurent

OTTAWA, May 25.—(CP).—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said Monday night he considered close co-operation between the Commonwealth and the United States would not interfere with Commonwealth ties. In this he agreed with Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, South African Prime Minister.

However, Mr. St. Laurent said he did not believe that an address Sunday by the Field Marshal would indicate that a Commonwealth conference was contemplated for the near future.

"Canada would be one of the first to know," he said.

In an address delivered on the eve of Empire Day, recorded in South Africa and broadcast by the BBC, Field Marshal Smuts referred to the position of the United States in the Commonwealth and said that the association between the two "would mean a concentration of resources and a command of world communication which would give pause to any potential aggressor."

Association between the Commonwealth and the United States would not interfere with Commonwealth status. Smuts, a veteran empire statesman, pointed to Canada as an example.

"Canada has for long found loyal membership of the Commonwealth compatible with close co-operation with the United States and has thus set a precedent for the Commonwealth as a whole."

"Flavoured with Pulp Mill Waste"

VANILLA from waste pulp mill liquor... rock wool insulation from blast furnace slag... Yesterday waste... today, useful products contributing to Canada's industrial advance which has made us one of the world's great manufacturing nations—with greater, more interesting, more varied opportunities than ever before for the talents and enterprise of young Canadians.

Today our vast natural resources are being developed not only more extensively than ever before. Canadian science and initiative are developing them more intensively too.

OUR NATURAL gas is now the source of a great new fertilizer production... Sulphur fumes are processed into sulphuric acid... From formerly waste hydrogen comes a Canadian nitric acid...

FROM THE waste liquor of our pulp and paper mills now come ethyl alcohol, vanilla flavour, yeast, some forms of plastics. New developments convert our saw mill waste into kraft pulp; slash from sawing into insulating board.

"OPPORTUNITIES HERE..."

LAIRD MILLER of Jarvis, Ontario, "started at the bottom" in a local industry 20 years ago, has advanced to a position of responsibility today. 13 years ago he took over the failing local newspaper, has built it up until it has gained recognition as one of Canada's outstanding weeklies. He has served eight years as Councillor, four as Reeve, on his municipal council; last year was elected to the Board of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

LAIRD MILLER says: "I'm glad I stayed in Canada when others were seeking success elsewhere. There have always been opportunities here for those ready to take advantage of them—but never have there been so many, or such a variety, of them as there are today."

People Today Aren't Living Speaker Says At Murray St.

Dr. Russell F. Aldwinckle, professor of Christian Theology in the McMaster Divinity School, was guest preacher on Sunday at the 102nd anniversary of Murray Street Baptist Church. "I came that they might have life and have it abundantly," was the text of his sermon at the morning service.

Dr. Aldwinckle said that we sometimes use the phrase, "I want to live," when we mean we want to get out of the humdrum of everyday life and to experience a higher existence. "Sometimes," he said, "we are lifted out of ourselves for a moment and we feel we have touched the abundant life, a life fuller and more satisfying than everyday life."

"I am firmly convinced," he continued, "that Jesus intended us to live a fuller and more abundant life than the human race is living today. We are made in the image of God and fashioned for life with him."

He said that the modern world thought that abundant life was to be attained by self-expression, that yielding to physical impulse was the way to true happiness, but the abundant life as Jesus understood it involved certain conditions. He asked why if men were prepared to discipline themselves to become athletes or soldiers, they should not be prepared to discipline themselves to achieve the Christian way of life.

He said there was a way of escape in our religion. "It is possible for men and women to become new creatures in Christ Jesus." The chaotic world of today was attributed to human nature, which people say cannot be changed, yet "the whole glorious history of the Christian Church shows human nature can be changed. In every age, men and women have entered into abundant life through the power of God."

"When Christ has found us," he ended, "we enter into a life that is richer, more abundant and more satisfying than anything we have known before."

Miss Marguerite Hodd, of St. John's Presbyterian Church in Hamilton, was the guest soloist. Members of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, as well as of Murray Street Church, took part in the service, which was conducted by the Rev. Ivan Morgan and the Rev. C. G. Boyd.

Congregation Honors Retiring Minister

LAKEFIELD, May 25—(ENS)—After the regular morning service last Sunday, Rev. Lucas M. Sharpe, who is retiring as minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was presented with a motor rug as a token of his congregation's esteem.

The large congregation remained for the reception which included a farewell address by the Clerk of Session, J. S. Chaplin, and the presentation from Allan Clark. Mrs. Sharpe was given a reversible rug.

Mr. Chaplin expressed the regret of the church members at his retirement and spoke highly of his six-year ministry. "During your pastorate you have consistently brought us thoughtful messages of hope and faith, with a broad and tolerant viewpoint on the problems of the present day."

"Your first years here were war years and we remember your kind interest in the men from the armed forces and the earliest petitions that were offered to the Throne of Grace for their safety. Your sympathetic ministrations to the sick and bereaved will not be forgotten. It is our earnest prayer that you may be restored to health, and given strength for many more years in the Master's service."

Mr. Sharpe thanked the congregation for the gift and expressed his regret that declining health had not permitted him to complete the full term of his seven-year pastorate.

His resignation was officially received at a meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery on May 11. Regret at his leaving was also expressed by his ministerial colleagues. He had served two years as Clerk and one year as Moderator.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe will live at Frankford, near his birthplace. Despite the fact that he will be retired, he hopes to do some supply work.

Total damage was estimated at $425 when a northbound taxi and a southbound car driven by William Storey, 25 Gilbert Avenue, Toronto, were in a sideswipe collision on the Port Hope Highway, approximately five miles south of Peterborough, early on Friday evening.

To Operate 9 Playgrounds In Peterborough This Year

A plan for the operation of nine playgrounds in Peterborough this summer was outlined by Recreation Director Jack Dane at the meeting of the Recreation Commission held recently. Nine playgrounds were recommended with suggested personnel on each, including salaries for principal instructors as well as totlot and playground instructors. The nine suggested playgrounds included Lions-Riverside, Kinsmen-Inverlea, Fleming Place, King Edward, B'nai B'rith-Turner Park, Prince of Wales School, Queen Mary School, Confederation School, and Dixon House.

The plan called for three supervisors at Riverside and Inverlea with two at King Edward and Turner and one each at all others. Specialists in Handicrafts, Athletics, Pageants and Story Telling would be hired to visit all playgrounds conducting their activities for a specified period, each day. The total salary for all playground supervisors for the ten weeks period, June 28 to September 4, would be $5,250. Supervision of the swimming areas at Lions-Riverside, Kinsmen-Inverlea, and Kinsmen-Hamilton Parks would cost $2,100 for the ten weeks period, bringing the total cost of supervising the outdoor summer program to $7,350.

Mr. Wales, Commission Treasurer, pointed out that due to the restricted budget it might not be possible to supervise all the playgrounds and swimming areas as recommended in the Directors' report. It was moved by Mrs. Munro and seconded by Mr. Borden that a Playground Committee consisting of Mrs. R. Whalon, Mr. Q. McKinney, and Mr. R. Oulmet, study the proposed plan and bring in a recommendation at a special meeting to be called by the Recreation Commission Chairman.

Mrs. R. Whalon and Mrs. J. E. R. Munro were appointed as a committee to inquire into playground uniforms. A standard uniform would be adopted by the Commission which all supervisors on all playgrounds would wear.

Want Band Concerts

A discussion on Park Band Concerts resulted in the plan being turned over to Mr. McKinney's Music Committee with power to act. It had been suggested during a discussion that the band concerts, held in Nicholls Oval last year, had proven themselves in that the attendance for the six concerts held, totalled 25,000 people. It had previously been suggested by Mr. G. Routley of the Salvation Army Band that concerts be held in outlying districts, possible on an evening during the week. Mr. Routley pointed out that many people experience difficulty in reaching Nicholls Oval on Sunday night for a concert, and felt that the best way to overcome this problem was to take the music to the people.

The Eastern Ontario Gladiolus Society was granted permission to use the Dixon House for a card party and buffet luncheon to raise funds for the benefit of the Secondary Rink.

A mock-up copy of the first annual report was presented by Mr. Dane. This report was in the form of a 24-page booklet and

NEW HOME FOR IMMIGRANTS

The first of some 500 immigrants from Malta are shown above waving a greeting as they arrived in Montreal recently from Halifax. Electricians, fitters and machinists, they are en route to London, Ont., where they will be placed in industrial work. Many of them are veterans of the African campaign and all share equally in the award of the George Cross conferred by the King on the brave citizens of Malta for the privations suffered during the last war.

House Has Another Chance To Outlaw Communist Party

OTTAWA, May 25 — (CP). — The Commons will have another opportunity Tuesday to debate a private member's Bill aimed at outlawing the Communist and Labor-Progressive Parties in Canada.

There have been several developments since the Bill, sponsored by Wilfrid Lacroix (Lib.-Quebec Montmorency), first was debated a few weeks ago.

The government has made use of existing legislation to deport Reid Robinson, the international vice-president of the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) on the grounds he is a Communist. An Immigration Board of Inquiry also ordered deportation of George Knott, another United States citizen and official of the Mine Workers' Union.

Fear Underground

This policy of deporting alleged Communist labor union officials is expected to continue, but some believe that the government will not go as far as to vote for Mr. Lacroix's Bill. Government officials have indicated they fear outlawing of the Communist Party would drive communism underground.

The Progressive Conservative Party has made clear where it stands. At its recent annual meeting the party membership went on record favoring a ban, but the CCF has taken the stand that the Bill would interfere with the freedom of individuals.

Rules Revision

The House Committee on Rules sitting twice a week since early in the session, with Speaker Fautoux in the chair, is seeking unanimous agreement before presenting its report.

The committee has been deluged with suggestion: All the way from proposals to change the Commons' hours of sittings and reduce the 40-minute time limit on members' speeches to such suggestions as indicating in Hansard when a member reads his speech.

Business Progress

The content of Finance Minister Abbott's 1947-1948 budget, in the view of parliamentary observers, has increased the likelihood the Commons can finish its business by the end of June.

Mr. Abbott has been criticized for doing too little for the taxpayer; but it is that factor which may speed proration.

Textile Workers Win Election

As the result of a ballot authorized by the Ontario Labour Relations Board on Thursday, the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL) was elected bargaining agency for the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. employees. The bid of the United Carpet Workers Association for this post was defeated when the employees chose the TWUA as the agent to bargain collectively with the management.

A. E. Johnston spoke to the employees on behalf of the Greater Toronto Textile Joint Board. "This is a great victory for the workers in Brinton-Peterborough Carpet, and especially so for those workers in this mill who have stood so loyally alongside the TWUA for the past two years. They have indeed shown a real trade union spirit and today have reaped a full reward for their efforts.

"Now we can all go ahead, shoulder to shoulder, with the rest of the organized workers in Peterborough and the other 17,000 members of TWUA in Canada."

Warns Motorists

TORONTO, May 25 — (CP) — Ontario Highway Minister Doucette Friday appealed to motorists to drive carefully during the holiday week-end. "Don't take a chance," he advised. "See that your car is in perfect condition... then drive as if you expected others to be much less careful than you are yourself."

DOESN'T ROTATE—Despite the opinions of all authorities on the solar system, this rugged individualist, Adolph Grauer, former New York civil engineer, is confident that the moon does not rotate on its axis as it revolves around the earth. He made the ingenious device he is showing here to prove it. Grauer, who, incidentally, is the father of radio's Ben Grauer, has made a five-year study of the moon and insists that it always keeps the same face towards the earth. He will explain his theory and his model, which he calls a lunarium, before the amateur astronomical association at its July convention in Milwaukee.

LIBRARY OPENING

As Monday was a public holiday, the Public Library will be open until 9:00 p.m. on Wednesday this week. Normally the Library is closed on Wednesday afternoon and evening, which is a half-holiday.

BUILD GAS PLANT

The supply of natural gas in Elgin County is diminishing so rapidly that a $2,000,000 plant is being erected there to manufacture gas from crude oil. It will be the largest plant of its kind in Ontario.

TOURISTS FLUSTERED

Travel over a freshly rolled and oiled stretch of highway 28 leading into Burlington Falls splattered many week-end tourists' cars with oil and dust. Highway department action on this over the week-end was not popular with the holiday drivers.

WAS MANAGER HERE

William Harris, Dunstons, who died in Toronto Friday, was manager of the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Commerce some 20 years ago. He was 84 at the time of his death, was born at Lindsay and was with the bank 44 years. Recollection today was that he preceded Mr. A. J. Reynolds as manager, and retired on pension about 20 years ago.

WEDNESDAY OPENING

Grocery stores and barbers' shops will be open on Wednesday afternoon this week, because of the public holiday on Monday, when all stores were closed.

ILLEGAL FISHING

One fisherman says he saw many people openly trolling and using artificial bait in Stony and Clear lakes at Kawartha Park over the holiday. This is illegal before July 1.

HEAD LETTUCE RIPE

First of the new crop of head lettuce was picked at Leamington Monday. Buyers were paying two dollars a dozen. First Essex cauliflowers should be ready for picking at the end of the week.

NOT TOO FAT FOR HIM

Short, but oh-so-fat, was the speckled trout caught by Bill Miliken, 817 George street, over the holiday. Caught in Mink Creek near Tory Hill in the Haliburton area, the trout was only 16 inches long, but when dressed weighed four pounds.

FISHERMEN PLENTIFUL

Auburn Dam provided sport for many pickeral fishermen over the holiday. Also popular was Young's Point, where 38 cars were counted. Eager though the anglers were, the pickeral did not respond, and catches were small.

MARKET GOOD

Saturday's market featured, with the fine weather, a handsome display of cut flowers and boxed plants. Vegetables were plentiful, and chickens and eggs remained about the same. The upstairs market was small, but downstairs and outside were busy until 2 o'clock.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT

The Ontario Department of Highways will spend about $80,000 in improving the road between Stirling and Campbellford, said Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow. This road is not at present owned by the province, but it is expected that the province will take the road over within the next two years, he said.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

PRETTY GIRLS AND FAST HORSES—An audience of more than 8,000 enjoyed themselves at Morrow Park Monday afternoon in a variety of fast-moving events in the season's first large outdoor local attraction sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. There was a beauty contest, good horse racing, softball and sideshow attractions. The choosing of "Miss Peterborough 1948" was the highlight of the afternoon; she is shown in Top photo, Right, Norma Gray, and on her Left, Teresa Goselin, "Miss Runner-up"; there were seven contestants in all. Lower photo shows the most spectacular racing heat, first event in the free-for-all, and shows a close finish of three drivers; winning mare Vivian McKinney, driven by Allan Pacey and owned by Stan Blewett, both of Peterborough, is shown in Right foreground.

Norma Gray, 18, Beauty Queen

Queen Victoria might have arched a royal eyebrow in displeasure at the sight of girls parading in bathing suits if she had been alive to see it, but without doubt local citizens, both young and old, enjoyed the selection of a Miss Peterborough for 1948 at the Jaycee Jamboree on Monday afternoon.

Miss Norma Gray, 18, 151 Stewart St., won the crown when she was picked from a group of the city's loveliest single girls by the five judges of the beauty contest.

A slim, 130-pound blonde, the new queen of Peterborough is a CGE employee who has never previously entered a competition. She said she was both surprised and happy at the judges' decision.

As winner she received a clothing award valued at $150 and a chance to enter the Miss Canada elimination contest prior to the choosing of a Miss America at Atlantic City in September.

Miss Runner-Up was Theresa Goselin, 19, 66 Ware St., a petite brunette who was chosen Miss Peterborough of 1947 at a Canadian Legion beauty contest last year. She received a clothing award valued at $75.

Contestants were chosen for beauty, figure, posture, poise and grace. They were required to pass the reviewers' stand clad first in evening gowns and then in bathing suits.

As the girls walked across the stage, which was erected directly in front of the packed grandstand, there was a deafening roar of approval. A glance through the enthusiastic throng revealed a cross section of males from kindergarten age and just able to emit long-low whistles, to grandfathers still able to appreciate the aesthetic value of a well-turned ankle. But there was a proportionate number of moppets and grandmothers in the stands as well.

Five Judges—Other contestants were Joan Fletcher, Geraldine Breault, Leona Turner and Mary Turner. Gordon Day was master of ceremonies and the judges were Herbert Payne, Toronto; Paul Emery, Kent City, Michigan; Miss Barbara Taylor, Weston, Ont.; Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH; and James Juby. Kenneth Jones, past-president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, thanked the spectators for supporting the Jamboree and told them that the Jaycees are a going concern.

An estimated 4,000 adults and countless children thronged the Exhibition grounds to take advantage of the holiday and amuse themselves at the first outdoor fair of the season. Trotting events, the beauty contest and softball games drew the largest crowds, but thousands more came back at night to see the display of fireworks which were let off in front of the grandstand. Children Free

As usual the midway was appreciated by the kiddies who were admitted free to the grounds. Pony rides, the ferris wheel and

Gandhi's Death Pleased Many Major Reports

"Many Hindus were pleased at Gandhi's death," said William Kemp, a former major in the Indian Army, in an interview today. Major Kemp has just come to Peterborough with his wife and three children, and left India at the beginning of this year.

"He was regarded as a trouble-maker by many people," he continued, "and after his death things seemed to quieten. Some Hindus are now returning to Pakistan, and in Bombay things are quite normal."

Major Kemp joined the Black Watch as a private in 1922 and went out to India the same year. He transferred to the Indian Army in 1925 and was commissioned in 1940. During the war, he served in Iraq and Sudan, as well as in India. After partition, he volunteered to serve in the Indian Army and was often working under Indian officers.

On the day of partition, Major Kemp was at Simla. "The first day," he said, "the Sikhs came up from the plains and started rioting, killing Muslims. Hooligans were rampant. Indian Army troops commanded by Indian officers were brought up. They opened fire on the rioters and did a very good job of quelling the disturbances."

"At the beginning of September, I went down to Delhi, which was in a shambles. Sikhs and Hindus had previously slaughtered thousands, killing refugees as the trains arrived at the station. Shooting and rioting was taking place all the time, but by the time I left, towards the end of the month, it was fairly quiet."

"It was at Jullundur, in the Punjab, that we were cut off by floods for ten days. After the fourth or fifth day, we were kept supplied by light planes. There were 150,000 people washed away in the neighboring district. The floods were terrific, they caused even more casualties than the rioting."

Horrible Stench—Major Kemp said that the interference of refugees was well carried out with Indian troops, commanded by both Indian and British officers, controlling and guarding the routes. By November the last of the road convoys had practically ceased and refugees were being transferred by rail and air.

He said that one of the worst of his experiences was a journey from Jullundur to Amritsar. "You couldn't take your handkerchief away from your nose all the way. The Muslims, who had died from the rioting, starvation and floods, were lying unburied by the side of the road. The stench was intolerable. All the dogs in the district were having a feed, eating the bodies."

He said that he thought it would take some time for the situation in India and Pakistan to return to normal as it was before partition. "Among many," he continued, "there is no respect for the British as in the past, but the ordinary working man and the old soldier regret us leaving. There is a growing appreciation among Indians of the work done by the British in their country."

Mr. Kemp and the three children, William, 13, Geraldine, 10, and Belinda, 7, were all born in India and have travelled all over the country. When Mrs. Kemp and the children returned to England last year, before the troubles started, it was the first time the children had been in Britain. They are at present staying with Mrs. Kemp's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson, 170 Albert St., and hope to make their home here.

ELECTED PRESIDENT—Kenneth Gillespie, Peterborough, was elected president of the Baptist Young People's Union at their annual convention in Brantford on Saturday.

Ken Gillespie Heads BYPU

Kenneth Gillespie, 110 Lock St., was elected president of the interprovincial cabinet of the Baptist Young People's Union at that group's convention in Brantford on Saturday. More than 900 delegates from 20 countries attended. A former basketball star at the PCVS, Mr. Gillespie is studying theology at McMaster University and expects to graduate in 1949.

In his speech to the delegates, he said:

"One living spirit sets another on fire. It is a natural thing for people to seek more than life."

"Many young people are not particularly concerned with their ignorance of the Bible, or their irregular attendance at church. We have become mildewed with good taste."

"Christ used the friendly approach and his one and only absolute command was to love. The element of friendship is power, personal power."

Mr. Gillespie also spoke of last year's youth conference in Oslo, Norway.

Rocket Ignites House Roof On James St.

A flaming rocket that landed on the shingle roof of the home of Herbert Morrett, 30 James St., brought the Fire Department hurrying to East City on Monday night. A small hole was burned in the roof but it was soon extinguished by firemen with a stirrup pump. Damage was estimated at $10.

Apparently Fire Chief George Smith's request that care be observed in handling fireworks was adhered to by those who like to celebrate the Queen's Birthday in noisy fashion. There were no other fires due to fireworks and it is believed that nobody was injured.

Other calls over the week-end included chimney fires at the homes of R. Fairs, 332 Burnham Ave., and B. Livingstone, 281 Perry Street.

Shortly after 2:30 p.m. on Monday the Department was called to the Examiner, 400 Water St., when fumes from an upset bottle of acetic acid began to fill the building.

Later in the afternoon a small fire broke out in the Campbell's Dairy stables when spontaneous combustion caused a manure bin to ignite. No damage was reported.

Minnow Harvest Worst In Years

Gone from the market are the large chub minnows for pickeral. High water and cold, changeable weather have permitted them to spread from their usual haunts. Peterborough fishermen are being walled the loss, and the sellers of minnows are not much happier. Still available are the smaller redfins and shiners, but these are not as effective for successful pickeral fishing as the chub minnows.

Topping a spring of bad minnow trapping was last week. Jesse Airless, well known bait dealer, said this year has been the worst of any he remembers.

is one of the most common and troublesome of house ants. It is a red ant and is so small that it is hard to see. In this part of the world it passes its entire existence in heated dwellings, forming its colonies beneath floors, wall spaces and basements. Ants feed on greasy material, meats, garbage, etc.

Any pest problem in the hands of amateurs leaves room for error, meaning time and money wasted, to say nothing of the trials to your patience. In the case of such seemingly simple pests as Ants, it's the better part of wisdom to call an expert.

How Many Get $40 A Month Morton Asks

"The Conservative party should not deceive the electors of this province by giving the impression Old Age Pensioners are now receiving $40 a month," said Jack Morton, C.C.F. candidate at a meeting held Saturday night at his committee room. In his belief the majority of local pensioners were not receiving more than $30.

"Our member should tell us the number receiving the $40 a month in this county," he challenged.

Morton defended his stand that the big interests were grabbing the best timber limits but expatriated the Peterborough Examiner in regard to an inaccuracy in the report of his speech at Apsley Saturday, May 15th. "It was due to poor reporting by a member of my group," he said. "I did not say that the Conservative candidate was personally implicated in any way and if he has suffered any embarrassment, I deeply regret it." The reference to "red herrings" was made in respect of the efforts to a prominent member of his group who had charged the C.C.F. had Communist sympathies in an effort to confuse the electors.

Morton reminded the meeting that the C.C.F. Saskatchewan Government had passed legislation providing security of tenure of the home farm section. "This ought to silence those who say the C.C.F. will take your farm away."

Trade Balance In Bad Shape Britain Reports

By The Canadian Press

A disturbing factor in the current economic scene is the report from Britain that her unfavorable balance is running at an all-time high.

To compute the significance of this, one must recall that Britain's economy has been based upon importing raw materials at low prices and exporting finished goods at prices which will show a profit.

Now her problem is that the price of raw materials has gone up and she can no longer import them even relatively cheaply, and therefore she can't manufacture cheaply for export.

Therein is revealed the problem of the European recovery program. It makes it possible temporarily for Britain to buy, but the demand created raises the prices.

ERP is designed for the recovery of all western Europe, but the key point is Britain. Accordingly, ERP must, if it is not to be a loss, look into the significance of the present position of the British trade balance, as must every country concerned in British recovery—especially Canada.

Britain, because of her accumulated skills, can produce more efficiently than any country with the probable exception of the United States and Canada. Then, if she cannot produce at a profit, it would seem inevitable that the trade world is out of joint. It seems doubtful that the problem can be solved without Britain, the United States and Canada getting down to a very careful consideration.

Hundreds Of Jews Honor Canadian Flier

ROME, May 25. — (CP) — Hundreds of Rome Jews paid homage Monday to George (Buzz) Beurling, Canadian fighter ace for whom funeral services were held here at the Valdesse Protestant Church.

Jewish shops were closed in honor of the Montreal fighter pilot, who brought down 31 enemy planes during the Second World War.

Beurling was killed here with another noted war flier, Leonard V. Cohen of Liverpool, England, when the plane they were to fly to Palestine crashed at Rome's Urbe airport. Funeral services for Cohen were held last week.

The Canadian legation here said it had been notified by Beurling's family in Montreal that they wished Beurling's body buried in Palestine.

Representatives of the Jewish state here said Beurling's body will be buried temporarily in Rome's Veranda Cemetery, pending arrangements to ship it to Palestine for final burial. Cohen was buried in the Jewish cemetery here last week.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Before the largest gathering of lawn bowlers ever to convene on an opening day, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club ushered in the 1948 lawn bowling season on Monday, May 24.

Close to 100 bowlers, ladies and gentlemen, were in attendance.

In opening the 1948 lawn bowling season, President William Jeffries, on behalf of the board of directors, welcomed all and especially the new members. He said he hoped that all would find the bowling club a pleasant place to come to and to enjoy this summer pastime. He urged all to read the schedule book from cover to cover and he also stressed the importance of being on time.

Out of respect and in memory of many of the bowlers who, since last season have passed on, the president asked the gathering to bow their heads in a minute of silence.

Considering the extensive rain for the last month, the greens were in good condition.

The draw was ably handled by R. Dyer, R. Hendry, C. McWry and J. Ridyard.

The winning rinks were: First—Mrs. Bartley, F. Mowry, H. Wilson, E. Wall, skip.

Second—A. Clarke, K. Shadgett, Mrs. D. Bearne, W. Jeffries skip.

Third—D. Shadgett, Mrs. A. Jackson, Mrs. P. McArthur, G. Souby, skip.

Passing Notes
Congratulations to H. Freeman and his committee. They did a swell job on the schedule book.

We noticed John Fitzpatrick had a big grin on his face—maybe the opening of the third green had something to do with it.

Bob Gamble was seen out practicing. Bob likes it when it is hot—real hot.

Some of the boys were a little late in coming around. They were left out of the draw. "Be on time" is the 1948 slogan.

Pres. Bill Jeffries was busy shaking hands with everybody. We always did vote for Bill.

It was grand to see Bob Hendry back in his old job on the blackboard. He's tops on that job.

Looking over the crowd, there seemed to be a lot of new faces. Certainly we didn't know half of them. Nice going for the membership committees.

Tonight we play the first half of the President-Vice-President Competition. Tomorrow night the second half.

Our first open tournament is called for Wednesday, June 9. Men's rinks. More later.

Do you heed the request: "Keep Off the Grass"? Most people do... but there is always the odd person who pays no attention. Whether this sign is in a park or on your neighbor's lawn, it is common courtesy to respect it. The sign is there because someone wants the grass to grow, not because of a selfish whim. A community is only as beautiful as you care to have it... and by doing your share you are making a real contribution to "Good Citizenship".

The year was 1841 ...

... six days of turmoil—that was election week in Upper Canada! Voters formed in long queues to mount the "hustings" (a rough wooden platform) ... declaring aloud for all to hear, "I vote for John Smith." Often groups of hard-fisted toughs stood by, armed with cudgels to be used on those who voted the "wrong way."

But men who kept true democracy as their objective finally won the right of a secret ballot—the right to vote as you wish without fear of intimidation.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Legion Intends To Keep Eye On Communists

SASKATOON, May 25.—(CP).—A question—the point at which freedom of political belief becomes license—will challenge delegates to the 12th biennial national convention of the Canadian Legion.

The nearly 1,000 delegates, representing 300,000 members and 2,000 branches of the Legion, have on their agenda a long resolution asking the Federal government to explore "the possibility of curbing subversive Communist activities by legislative enactment without, at the same time, unduly curbing our normal civil liberties."

Mr. Gen. C. B. Price, of Montreal, who is stepping down from the office this year, referred in his presidential report Monday to the activities of Communists with Legion branches.

He said that although its constitution definitely bars Communists from membership, there was evidence "here and there" that veterans belonging to a Communist organization have been accepted into the Legion.

"Their activities must be closely watched lest, amidst the confusion they cause, they seize control and reduce the branch to a state of impotence."

The resolution dealing with the curbing of Communist activities will ask the deportation of foreign-born Communists except for those on foreign government service.

Earlier, the delegates gave approval to the Legion's stand for a ceiling of $50 rather than $40 on allowances paid aged and needy war veterans.

In other proceedings, the convention:

1. Approved the 25-per-cent increase in basic pension rates granted by the government, and congratulated the Legion Command on the "able presentation of its case."
2. Passed 15 resolutions for changes in pension law or administration.

14 Fatalities Mar Holiday In Dominion

By The Canadian Press.

Total of 14 eastern Canada fatalities, six of them in the Maritimes, clouded a long week-end during which sunny, warm weather drew thousands from Canadian centres to participate in Victoria Day festivities.

A much lighter violent death toll than during similar week-ends in the past, the death list also accounted for five deaths and two missing in Ontario and three deaths in Quebec.

Greatest number of fatalities—eight—occurred in road accidents as residents streamed to resorts, beaches and sports attractions. There were two drownings and two missing, feared drowned. Three men died in shootings and one suffered fatal burns.

Killed in traffic accidents were: Archie Worrell, 55, Glace Bay, N.S., found burned to death in an automobile Monday near Reserve, N.S.; Villa Valley, 35, at Bathurst, N.B., Monday; Gerard Coulombe, 22, and Juliette Delisle at Beausaire, Que., and Lucien Laporte, 30, at St. Therese, Que.; Albert Crain, 18, of Hamilton, trapped in a truck at Port Hope, after it hit a bridge and burst into flames; Colin Kelly, 64, at Rodney, Ont., when his car was hit by a train; Alfred Boyen, 23, of Carleton Place, Ont., at Overbrook, Ont.

Two of Ontario's thousands of boaters on Victoria Day—Rodwell Parsons, 23, of Belleville and Birgit Seers, 31, of Point Anne—were believed to have perished in the Bay of Quinte. Their fishing boat was found empty and awash.

There were two drownings in New Brunswick: two-year-old Nancy Teed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Teed of Saint John, and Aubrey Howland, 25, of St. Stephen.

Accidental shootings took three lives: Dennis Pelletier of St. Basile, N.B., Avening Marion Keith, 23, New Canaan, N.B., and Erman Schultz, 19, near Matheson.

Fatally buried at Brantford was Ernest Cass. Firemen removed him and two others when he entered a burning building to save. The other two were unhurt.

HELD ON ARMS CHARGE—Enrique Ladesma, 26, a clerk in the Argentine Embassy, who was arrested by Ottawa Police Saturday and charged with illegal possession of firearms, including a sub-machine gun, 400 rounds of ammunition and a revolver.

Rita Lashwa, F. J. McCarthy Pledge Vows at Marmora

An Empire Day wedding which took place in Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, united in marriage Rita Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lashwa, and Franklin Joseph McCarthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCarthy of 212 Perry St., Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. J. Farrell. Bouquets of snapdragon, tulips and narcissus decorated the altar tables for the occasion. Miss Joan McCarthy, sister of the groom, played the wedding music. Mrs. Cecil Viscoff, of Peterborough, sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was wearing a gown of white satin with long sleeves coming toilly points over her hands. The fitted bodice had a yoke of net and the dropped shoulder line was edged with folds of satin, trimmed with lace. The skirt was full with puffs of satin, trimmed with lace, at the hip-line and it fell into a long graceful train at the back. Her veil was finger-tip length, of embroidered silk net, and caught charge from $12 to $25 a week are left to handle the bulk of the "middle class" children. For children who, for money or other reasons, cannot go to real organized camps, the trend towards "day camps" is growing. They require from 8 to 10 days "bringing" or "coming" for ox tongues, much shorter for pork tongues. Boil in water to cover until tender; an ox tongue requires more than 3 hours; pork tongues much shorter. Add lima beans which have been soaked on special occasions, even overnight. Swimming, leathercraft, techniques in art, building teepees, listening to stories, flag raising ceremonies, special interest groups, overnight hikes, all-day trips, afternoon trips, inter-camp visits and outdoor cooking, all form part of camp.

Wherever juniors go this summer, however, expensive camp, agency camp, or day camp, camping authorities want to emphasize that Camp is not a place, nor yet a plan. "Camp is what happens to the campers—what they take home with them in their memories, in their purpose, in their improved and newly acquired skills, in their friendships, in their appreciation, in their awareness of God and in His way for the world."

Steamed Raspberry Pudding (see note) Top Milk or Cream Coffee

Directions
The One-Burner Dinner needs some explaining today. The idea is to boil the tongue with the lima beans in bottom of large double boiler, and to steam the raspberry pudding on top.
Tongues have become very much in demand in the butcher shops so you may have to order one ahead from your butcher. They require from 8 to 10 days "bringing" or "coming" for ox tongues, much shorter for pork tongues. Boil in water to cover until tender; an ox tongue requires more than 3 hours; pork tongues much shorter. Add lima beans which have been soaked overnight about 1½ hours before tongue is expected to be tender.

Make Steamed Pudding Batter. One-half cup butter or half and half butter and shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs beaten, 2½ cups sifted flour 3½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 2 cup berries, (blueberries or raspberries or currants or raisins may be used) OR if desired, jam may be used in bottom of container under batter. Cream the butter or shortening until fluffy, then add sugar gradually while creaming. Add the eggs and beat until very light. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt and sift into batter mixture alternately with the milk. Fold in berries. Turned into greased top of double boiler and steam for 1½ hours over boiling water without removing cover. This pudding may be steamed in the steamer in large or individual moulds. It is also nice to use this batter over 1 tablespoon marmalade in bottom of individual moulds.

British Stylists Agreed Hemline Set at Mid-Calf

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, May 22 (CP).—Paris or New York notwithstanding, London has fixed the hemline at mid-calf in fashion's New Look controversy.

That was the unanimous decision reached at a London meeting of 400 representatives of the British fashion trade — from Bond Street to mass production firms — in approving new autumn styles. To end confusion they said the "London Look" this autumn would be a little shorter than the "Paris Look" — rather "more moderated than exaggerated."

Trade shows soon to open in London will see the line set by the Apparel and Fashion Industries Association. It will feature suit-jacket lengths tending to be shorter and skirt lengths remaining about mid-calf with swing skirts if anything just a little longer than that.

The trade decided to feature a variety of full skirts along with a classic suit with pleated or slim skirt lines. There will be no full or tent swag coat and marked lines in autumn coats — a slim-waisted fitted coat "more feminine than ever" with new treatment of the collar.

Softer Shoulders

Lengths of London fashion coats will conform to the lengths of suits. Softer shoulders will continue and there will be a slim waist and full-hip effect without the use of padding. Unpressed pleats will be a feature of both coat styles.

Color trend of town and country clothes will be toward half-tones say the British stylists. And there will be a gradual return of dyes North, who is seeking remain popular for sports wear.

Basel Wardman, assistant secretary of the AFIA, said that in coat and costume business "Britain is the acknowledged leader of world fashion."

"There has been talk about knee-length, ankle-length and mid-calf-length skirts, about shoulders and hips and jacket lengths. Women have been afraid to stock their wardrobes until styles were clearly fixed."

"With the autumn fashions we shall stabilize technical details without interfering with freedom of design."

Charm Ripens Wild Age Woman's Age Own Business

How old is Anne? You won't find out from Anne. It is one of the secrets that women keep hidden deep in their hearts. In a recent poll that was made on women's ages only one woman in 20 told the truth. Well, that's all right. A woman's age is her own business, and if she thinks that she looks like a bobby-soxer instead of Grandma, it is her own affair. In her soul every woman is like the astute lady who said that she had been 29 for ten years and she meant to stay that way.

But the queer thing about women's obsession about remaining perpetual teen-agers is that their efforts to side-track time mainly runs to hair-dos and lipstick. Heaven knows that in a world that is full of ugliness we shouldn't be choosy about beauty, and we owe a vote of thanks to any woman who is easy on the eyes, no matter how she does it.

Now it is a fine and philanthropic thing for women to make themselves as pulchritudinous as they can and to look as young as they say they are, but pretty is as pretty does and, alas, many women fall of attaining perpetual youth because they take the wrong method.

Look ridiculous! They put their whole faith on

London Shops Offering Ladies' Hats for Hire

BY MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 22 (CP).—An exclusive new hat for every big occasion — the aim of every woman of fashion — is possible in London where "hats for hire" is coming into vogue.

Hats ranging in value from seven to 14 guineas ($29.40 to $58.80) can be hired for one guinea ($4.20). Hats for racing, Royal Garden parties, cricket matches, christenings, weddings and special dates all are available in up-to-the-minute models.

A London milliner introducing the system said he found his clientele "are women of fashion, society ladies and diplomats' wives who need expensive model hats for every big social occasion and are today unable to stand the cost of such demand on slender incomes."

"It is creating models hats for a fast diminishing market. It was to my advantage to introduce the hire system. A lady can hire, say, a 10-guinea hat, and nine others for the price she once had to pay."

He hastened to add, however, that the thing he has to watch is not to hire two of the same models for the same affair.

The milliner said that the hat-hire system was so conducive to the necessities of the moment it was a complete success.

Debutantes were glad of the system.

Keeping Up Pretence
"Daughter of impoverished, aristocratic families find that their coming-out year means that they are entering a world of fashion where they must keep up a certain prestige to the best of their bankroll's ability. It is on such occasions that the hire system gives certain relief."

Actresses too are among his customers.

But most actresses think that models should be presented to them so that the fashion house can say they have worn them.

"But," said the milliner, "when your name is already made there is little advantage in this, especially as there are so many actresses."

The system requires "good will" money to be deposited against the return of the hat in the same condition. This ranges from £3 to £8 ($12 to $24) depending on the price of the model and is returned immediately on receipt of the hat.

One of the trickiest models awaiting the racing season's demands is a mushroom-shaped Edwardian bonnet made from a silk square carrying either the Royal racing colors, other racing colors or any regimental colors.

Worn straight on the head, tied with a tulle chin-tie, its colors blaze. And, asked the milliner "what could be more 'hazy' than that?"

which the energies and emotions should be firmly weighed in the balance before any systematic action be enforced. Undercurrents of the tricky, subtle and involved could wreck major objectives, with snarls and schemes exacting penalties and regrettable loss of funds and peace of mind. Caution and alertness might lessen dangers.

For the Birthday
Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which the final results depend upon a wise, discreet, and conservative course of action, in which important decisions may have to be made in realm of home, career and business. There are indications of a sinister, subtle and treacherous undercurrent in which much depends upon a straightforward evaluation of obscure or complicated plots and schemes. Shun all tricky entanglements, with an eye to intrigue, in making agreements or in personal correspondence. Defer action if possible.

SALLY'S SALLIES

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

REOPENING THE BIDDING
WHETHER to pass and let the opponents play the hand at a low contract, or to reopen the bidding with some call of your own—there is one of the most delicate problems that confronts a conscientious duplicate player. In rubber bridge, the answer is often clear-cut. If the bidder's side has no part-score, a game is not immediately at stake, and little is to be gained by reopening the bidding unless your own side has some prospect of game or a sizeable penalty for doubling. But in match-point play, the question of reopening it or not may involve the difference between a top and bottom score for your side, decided by just a few contract points.

2-Spades, which was passed all around and made. In one case it went a step higher to 3-Spades, which was set a trick, with the loss of two each in the minors and one in hearts.

Where the 1-Spade was passed by East to South, who reopened with 2-Diamonds or a double, various things happened. In a couple of cases, bid went to East, who ended it with 2-Spades. And then there was the longest bidding of all, as shown in the table which carries on to where North was in 3-Clubs.

Offhand, that call by North at such a level would appear risky. But it proved to be far from that. With the trumps breaking, the declarer lost nothing except two tricks, one of them in each major. A losing heart was tossed on a diamond top, a spade was ruffed and another spade was put on the fifth diamond, established by ruffs.

Tomorrow's Problem

That was the farthest the bidding proceeded at any table in a big special duplicate party. The earliest stop to the auction was where South made a bad pass of 1-Spade and West managed to make an extra trick. The next earliest was where East raised to 2-Spades.

Experts Present Flood Prevention Plan

OTTAWA, May 25—(CP)—A $2,212,700 flood prevention plan Friday was urged upon the South Nation conservation authority by officials of the Ontario Planning and Development Department.

A feature of the plan is the construction of a five-mile channel near Spencerville, to divert waters of the South Nation river into the St. Lawrence river. Affected by the plan are a score or more southeastern Ontario municipalities.

A. H. Richardson of Toronto, chief Ontario conservation engineer, urged:

1. Construction of dams at Spencerville, Donville and Hyndman, all bordering the South Nation river.
2. Reconstruction of existing dams at Spencerville and Chester.
3. Building of a channel from Spencerville to the St. Lawrence river.
4. Grading of the river above Chester.

The Ontario officials also urged a 10-point soil conservation plan which includes the establishment of farm woodlots, conservation of land for all sloping erodible land, maintenance under sod of all erodible land, and the discontinuance of burning peat in bogs which might act as natural reservoirs.

Also recommended was the establishment of a south nation forest consisting of 198,076 acres to protect the natural water storage areas and to form a basis for a sound forestry policy in the watershed.

The Ontario officials proposed that the cost be borne three ways, the provincial and federal governments each contributing 37½ per cent and the municipalities the remaining 25 per cent.

Dewey Leading Oregon Primary

PORTLAND, Ore., May 25—(AP).—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York ran an easy length ahead of Harold E. Stassen today in tabulation of Oregon's Republican presidential primary count.

But whether he had finally taken the measure of his Minnesota rival still rested in the late count yet to come.

Returns tabulated from 951 of Oregon's 1,861 precincts gave the New York Governor 41,488 and Stassen 35,506.

Dewey's surprise showing in upstate cities and the rural precincts was an important factor in the New Yorker's early pace. Pre-election indications were that this was Stassen country, with Dewey's principal hope populous Multnomah county and Portland.

At the half-way juncture Dewey was ahead in 20 of Oregon's 36 counties, Stassen in 15. One was unreported. But as upstate returns rolled in late last night, Stassen cut down Dewey's county lead from its high point of 22 to 8.

Gardiner Thinks Margarine "Just As Good"

OTTAWA, May 25—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner, clarifying his position on oleomargarine, told the Commons Friday night he thinks margarine is "just as good" food as butter.

Rising during study of his estimates, he observed that he had a statement to make "for the benefit of newspaper editors who are writing editorials across Canada rather regularly."

He continued: "I would just like to say that at no time have I ever said, and at no time have I ever been reported as having said, as far as I have seen the press, that oleomargarine is not a good food.

"As a matter of fact, so far as I know it is just as good a food, from the point of view of food value, as butter."

"I want to say that because I read editorials every day in which I am quoted as having said something contrary to that."

UN Cease-Fire Demands Fail As Jews Find Arab Terms Too Stiff

Report Syrian Government Says Arabs Flatly Reject Appeal; Council Delays Reading Answer Two Hours

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., May 26—(CP).—The United Nations' demand for a Palestine cease-fire by 1 p.m. EDT today failed when the Arabs laid down conditions unacceptable to the Jews. Arab delegates received instructions from their governments a few minutes before the deadline set by the Security Council Monday.

Plan To Discuss Health Scheme Early In June

OTTAWA, May 26—(CP).—Health Minister Martin Tuesday night said that representatives of provincial health departments will meet in Ottawa June 7-8 to "lay the ground work" for the $30,000,000 a year federal health plan.

Mr. Martin said he had talked with deputy ministers of health from Saskatchewan, British Columbia, Prince Edward Island and Manitoba while they were attending a Canadian public health association convention in Vancouver last week.

"They were all pleased as punch with the plan," Mr. Martin said in an interview. "The forthcoming conference will be exploratory. We are anxious to put the plan into effect as soon as possible."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, when he announced the national health scheme two weeks ago, described the grants as the "first stages" in the development of a comprehensive health insurance plan for Canada.

He mentioned that a health insurance scheme could not be launched immediately because of the country's tremendous shortage of hospital beds. Means of remedying this lack presumably will be discussed at the forthcoming conference.

PLAN TO DISCUSS

Wife For Sale Wants $10,000

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y., May 26—(AP).—Mrs. Dorothy Lewis, attractive 28-year-old blonde divorcee, today offered herself "for sale" as a wife to a man with $10,000 and willing to support her and her two small children.

Several hours after Mrs. Lewis made the offer in a feature story published in the Hempstead Newsday she said she had received 14 calls from men who told her they had the money to put up. She said she will begin interviewing them tonight.

Her offer appeared in a story after the newspaper had refused this:

"Wife For Sale: Divorcee, blonde, attractive, wants man to marry and support her and two children. Must be willing and able to make immediate $10,000 cash settlement."

Married at 15 and divorced eight years ago, Mrs. Lewis claimed that her former husband refused to support her and her children, Dorothy-11, and Tommy 10. She works part time as a registered nurse and has a job in a night club.

Remand Sudbury Man In Manslaughter Case

SUDBURY, May 26—(CP).—Clifford Larue, 28, of Sudbury today was remanded to June 9 on a charge of manslaughter arising from the death May 10 of Emma Belle. Bail of $5,000 was renewed.

The original charge of murder was reduced May 19. Miss Belle was shot to death in a car. Ernest Faford, 35, driver of the car, was remanded on a vagrancy charge to June 9. Bail of $100 was renewed.

OSHAWA, May 26 (CP).—Fire which swept through a combined service station and grocery store Tuesday night caused an estimated $20,000 damage. Flames shot 50 feet in the air as gasoline tanks exploded.

Shake Up Finnish Cabinet Try To Ease Crisis From Communist Strikes

HELSINKI, May 26—(AP).—President Juho Paasikivi shook up his cabinet today in an effort to end the political crisis arising from Communist strikes.

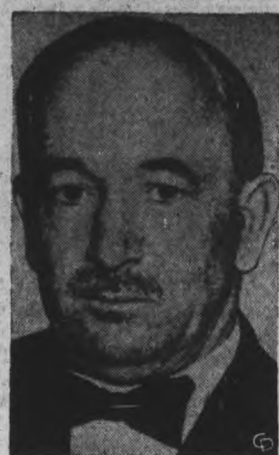

From 30,000 to 100,000 were on strike in Finland in protest against the dismissal of Yrjo Leino, Communist Minister of Interior, censured by parliament last week. Parliament voted non-confidence in him after he was criticized for letting 20 persons be extradited to Russia.

Paasikivi appointed Eino Kilpi, of the Communist-dominated popular Democratic coalition, as Minister of Interior succeeding Leino.

Lennart Heljas, Agrarian, was named minister of education. Herta Kuusinen, wife of Leino and real leader of the Finnish Communists, was appointed vice-minister for social affairs.

Responsible quarters said all strike started on the Leino issue will be ended at once. The walk-outs had paralyzed Finnish docks and had spread to heavy industries. Conservatives said only 30,000 were on strike but the Communists and Popular Democrats placed the number at 100,000.

GRAVELY ILL—It was reported today that Eduard Benes, President of Czechoslovakia, is seriously ill and is not expected to recover. He is said to have suffered two strokes.

Czech President Very Ill; Expected To Die

LONDON, May 26—(AP).—An official Czechoslovak diplomatic source said today that President Eduard Benes is "gravely ill" and is not expected to recover.

The informant said Czechoslovakia's president had two strokes recently.

Benes had been ill for a number of months. A spokesman for the Czechoslovak embassy would make no formal comment on his condition now, beyond saying that the state of the president's health is "very serious."

Czechoslovak diplomatic sources here have speculated that in the event of Benes' death or resignation, he would be succeeded by the Communist premier, Klement Gottwald, who seized power early this year.

Grand Duchess Settles On Farm

MONTREAL, May 26—(CP).—Grand Duchess Olga, sister of the late Czar Nicholas II of Russia, will arrive in Canada next month and the entire family will settle on an Ontario farm, it became known today.

They have been living in Denmark since 1919 where they owned and operated a farm. As an agricultural family, they expressed a desire to come to Canada.

The family consists of Col. Nikolai Aleksandrovich Kulikovsky, the Grand Duchess' husband; two sons, Jihon Nikolasevich Kulikovsky, Gurli Nikolasevich, and their wives, two grandchildren, Ksenia and Leonid Kulikovsky.

Arrangements for the move were made with the C.P.R.'s department of immigration and colonization. The family will sail from Liverpool and arrive at Montreal June 9.

Their exact future location in Ontario has not yet been definitely established.

Hint France Makes New Peace Proposal

LAKE SUCCESS, May 26 (CP).—A private top-level talk in which State Secretary Marshall of the United States was the key figure raised speculation in the United Nations today that a new French-American plan to quell Arab-Jewish fighting in Jerusalem was under consideration.

Those attending U.N. observers viewed with special significance the personnel attending the meeting with Marshall Tuesday. Those attending were said to include:

Alexandre Parodi of France, Security Council President for May; U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie; Francis B. Sayre, American delegate, expert on trusteeship affairs; Byron Price, an assistant secretary-general of the U.N. and wartime director of United States censorship; and Dean Rusk, head of the office of U.N. affairs in the United States state department.

Parodi said Monday that France is on record as favoring "any measure which could re-establish the tranquility and maintain the peace in Jerusalem."

Besiegers Warn Jews To Surrender

Arab Blitz Expected As Deadline Passes; Fighting Unabated

JERUSALEM, May 26—(Reuters).—Besieged Jews holding out in catacombs under Jerusalem on Tuesday night heard a voice booming at them through loudspeakers warning them to surrender "before it is too late."

Jewish fighters, peering from rifle slots in the ancient Notre Dame Hospice and the modern Barclay's Bank, heard the voice address them from Pontius Pilate's Judgment Hall one mile away.

"Jews of Jerusalem," the voice said, "the bodies of some 600 Jews lie at Bab El Wad (Arab road block) on the Jerusalem Tel Aviv road. They are dead. They died in a hopeless attempt to break through the iron ring which the Arab Legion flung around Jerusalem."

"Their arms, armored cars, and equipment have been captured by the Legion. No relief can come to the besieged Jews of Jerusalem. The Jews can spare themselves, their wives and children untold misery and suffering if they surrender."

"It is open to you to surrender. Do so before it is too late."

Battle Unabated

The battle of Jerusalem and operations on other fronts of the Arab armies continued unabated today.

An authoritative source said the Arab powers could not enter into diplomatic involvement which would keep a Jewish state in being. He said no compromise is possible on the question of a Jewish state.

King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan Arab Legion said it ended a 24-hour battle for Latrun, a key communications post on the vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway, with the extermination of 600 Jews.

First Bombing

Hagana, the army of Israel, said unidentified planes gave Jerusalem its first air bombing in history Tuesday afternoon. There was no confirmation from Jerusalem or in Arab capitals.

Carter J. Davidson of the Associated Press said the Jews inside Jerusalem expect an Arab blitz designed to give the Arabs a victory to bolster prestige at home and abroad.

Showers Have Cut Serious Forest Fires

TORONTO, May 26—(CP).—Scattered showers this month have limited the normal number of serious forest fires to one, 10 miles north of Nipigon, the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests reported today.

Firefighters expect to have the 1,000-acre blaze under control shortly. Bulldozers are clearing a fire line.

Present damp conditions to the bush have allowed new growth to develop until it is lessening the fire danger.

UN Scores One Success Expert At Collecting Dues

LAKE SUCCESS, May 26—(AP).—On dues collections the United Nations has become a whopping success.

Member countries are paying their dues with much more unanimity than they show around the conference tables.

Assistant Secretary-General Byron Price and the U.N. treasurer, Noel Monod of France, consider this remarkable, in view of the shortage of United States dollars in the last two years.

This year, the U.N. decided to make it easier on the 58 members. It was decided that one-eighth of the 1948 dues could be paid in Swiss or French francs, or Dutch guilders. The remainder must be paid in dollars.

Swiss francs needed to pay bills in Geneva, where there is a large U.N. office in the old League of Nations palace.

Dutch guilders are helpful to pay bills for the International

Worst Is Still To Come In BC Floods

140 Families Housed In Large Tents As 40 Homes Dynamited

KIMBERLEY, B.C., May 26—(CP).—Flooded Mark Creek, which divides this interior city, still was raging today—its seasonal peak not yet reached—and as workmen resorted to continuous blasting to keep the channel clear, officials of British Columbia's works department expressed the belief floods would become even more widespread if the current hot weather continued.

Cold spring weather resulted in an abnormally small run-off until now from Rocky Mountains, still heavy with snow. Sunshine—normally the boast of B.C.—has turned rivers throughout the province into raging torrents.

Even as government officials predicted the worst was still to come, thousands of workers strove to check the roaring flood waters of the Kootenay, Columbia, Fraser and Skeena rivers.

The dam on Gaspard Creek broke near Clinton, causing $50,000 damage; about 3,000 acres of land are flooded at West Langley and Salmon flats. Nearly every section of the province reported floods. At the request of Mayor C. Swan of Kimberley, where damage is estimated at $750,000 and mounting hourly, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer ordered liquor stores and beer parlors closed, and authorized the swearing-in of special constables from the militia to maintain order in the area.

House, 140 Families

The army, air force and Red Cross sent in 30 huge tents, to house 140 families.

Extensive floods ranged from Revelstoke, near the Alberta border to the Fraser valley. The Red Cross is organizing relief facilities at the interior centres of Penticton, Agassiz and Mission.

Only one fatality has been reported so far. Nick Zehn, four, was drowned in Fourth of July Creek at Grand Forks.

Crews in Kimberley dynamited 40 homes to prevent them from tumbling into Mark Creek and damming it. In the Okanagan, Kootenay and Kettle valleys, rampaging rivers have taken a devastating toll.

A flood on Heffley creek isolated communities in the north Thompson valley, swept away a railway bridge and washed out a long stretch of Canadian National Railway right-of-way. The Fraser river breached dikes in two places.

Aid Arabs Long As Possible

LONDON, May 26—(AP).—Foreign Secretary Bevin said today that Britain's treaty agreement to furnish officers for Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion will end only if it becomes "inconsistent with our obligations to the United Nations."

500 Communist Prisoners Beheaded By Chiang's Army

By TOM MASTERTON

CHINGCHUAN, China, May 26—(AP).—A gruesome story of the massacre of 500 Chinese Communist prisoners, by National troops was told today by Gen. Ma Wen-Ting. Half the prisoners, he said, were beheaded with great broadswords carried by fierce Moslem and Buddhist troops. The others were killed with hand grenades.

Without emotion, the grim-visaged Ma described the mass killing. It was carried out last week at Ninghsien, a village near here.

The prisoners were part of 1,500 taken at Ninghsien where they fled after National troops routed them near Sian.

The general, deputy chief of staff of the National 82nd Division, said an uprising among the prisoners caused the massacre.

"While we were sorting out Communist regulars from conscripted peasants," he said, "the Communists started an uprising. They shouted 'Mao Tse Tung' (Chinese Communist leader's name) and 'up with Communism.' They became unmanageable. We were forced to kill them."

The general offered to take the shallow mass grave at Ninghsien and show me the bodies.

Others in this camp of Moslem and Buddhist Chinese soldiers said the execution started when the Communists started refusing to divulge the name of their commander. They said the 500 were slain before he was identified.

Bill Robinson 71

Lay Cornerstone Of Commons

LONDON, May 26—(CP).—With words and mortar British parliamentarians today reaffirmed faith in the continuation of a democratic liberty and laid the foundation stone of a new Commons chamber.

The foundation stone was laid on the side wall of the new chamber and the main floor will be above it. Prime Minister Attlee noted that in accordance with the decision of the wartime parliament headed by Churchill, the new chamber will have the form of the old with the government and opposition benches facing each other and insufficient seats for all members of parliament.

Health Minister Kelley In Trenton Accident

TRENTON, May 26—(CP).—Health Minister Kelley of Ontario suffered chest and face scratches in a minor automobile accident near here Tuesday night. He was treated at hospital in Belleville, 10 miles east of here, and proceeded to Napanee, where he spoke at a provincial election campaign meeting.

Surprise Pair Looking Restaurant

Say Constable Fired 2 Warning Shots Before Hitting Man

TORONTO, May 26—(CP).—Shot in a police chase early today, Ernest Clark Hopkins, about 35, of Hamilton, died in hospital six hours later.

Police said he was one of two men chased by Constable Robert Edginton after he surprised them at the Parkdale Lunch on west-central Queen street.

Hopkins was hit by the third shot fired by the young policeman who, police said, was losing the foot chase after he had run about three blocks.

"When I caught up to him," said Constable Edginton, "all he said was, 'You got me.'"

The constable said he fired two warning shots before aiming the third shot lower. Hospital attendants said it struck Hopkins in the back, pierced internal organs and came out of the groin. Death was caused by internal hemorrhages.

Find $500

Police said they found almost $200 in cash and four cigarette lighters in Hopkins' possession. The money was identified by Harry Louie, owner of the restaurant, they said.

Later, Detective Inspector Archie McCathie said, police found a loaded revolver, crow bars, coal chisels and other tools in the restaurant.

In Hamilton, police said Hopkins had been living with an aunt since his release about six weeks ago from Burwash Industrial Farm. It was announced that Constable Edginton will continue his regular duties. All information on the shooting will be submitted to the Crown attorney, however. In such cases, the crown attorney decides whether a charge will be laid.

Saw Fence Jump

Constable Edginton said he was patrolling a lane at the rear of the restaurant when he saw two men leap over a fence. As he gave chase, they separated. One, still sought, disappeared among automobiles on a parking lot.

The policeman said he fired two warning shots over the second man's head. He shouted another warning and fired at the suspect's feet, he said. It was this shot which struck Hopkins in the back. Help was called from the nearest police station and the wounded man was taken to hospital.

Constable Edginton, 24, joined the force last November.

Man 44, Dies After Brawl

LONDON, Ont., May 26—(CP).—Lloyd F. Lee, 44, died in hospital today from a double fracture of the skull and a ruptured stomach, Coroner Dr. A. R. Routledge announced at noon.

Police said Lee was injured in a street fight Tuesday. It was indicated a charge would be laid today.

Dr. Fred W. Luney performed an autopsy on the body and reported severe injuries, caused the death.

Lee, a garage employee, was taken to hospital in critical condition following the fight.

Lift Vets' Ceiling June 1

OTTAWA, May 26—(CP).—The ceiling will be lifted June 1 from the earnings of student veterans and their wives, Veterans Minister Gregg announced today. Up to now, grants have been decreased by the amount of any outside earnings totalling more than $75 a month.

"The group who will benefit particularly by this are those veterans whose wives are working in order to assist the veteran, in completing his university career," said Mr. Gregg. "There were very few veterans whose grants were cut as a result of their own earnings."

Police Decide Wrong Man Confesses Attacking Child In York Township

Arrest Man At Crystal Beach But Story Differs From Facts In Case; Doctors Report Girl's Condition Improving

TORONTO, May 26.—(CP).—Walter Winckler, 22, alleged to have "confessed" he attacked eight-year-old Teresa Dowling, was remanded today to June 3 on a charge of creating a public mischief. During the interval he will undergo a mental examination. Police of suburban York township said Tuesday night that after more than two hours' questioning the Toronto youth admitted his "confession" was false.

Winckler was one of the men questioned shortly after the girl's condition continued to improve. From a hospital bed she told her father some of the hazy details of her encounter with a young man who lured her into a field and smashed her head with a heavy stone. Searchers found the girl in the field 17 hours after she disappeared on her way to buy a spell.

Earlier police said they believed the man arrested at Crystal Beach resembled the description of the person thought responsible for the assault on the child.

Expect Smuts' Party Returned By Voters

PRETORIA, May 26 (CP).—Voting was under way today in South Africa's first general election since 1943 and expectations were that the United Party led by Prime Minister Smuts will be returned to office.

Major issue in the election was the attitude towards the United Party's native population. The United Party stands for white supremacy but believes in raising the level of the native population culturally, politically and otherwise. The Nationalist Party, the major opposition group, stands for segregation of whites from natives and for segregation of the three major non-European groups — natives, Indians and colored people in the Cape province.

The franchise covers all persons of European, or white, extraction who are over 21. Under the representation of Natives Act of 1936, certain natives of Cape province are entitled to elect three members to the House of Assembly.

2 Die In Crash

Charge Soviets Kidnap Germans

BERLIN, May 26.—(AP).—W. T. Babcock, United States deputy military commander for Berlin, said Tuesday the Russians seized 200 young men in Oranienburg, outside Berlin, and transported them to Annaberg, in Saxony, where the Russians are reported operating uranium mines.

Babcock made the accusation at a four-power meeting after Col. Alexander Jelissarov, Soviet deputy commander, protested the Western Powers' installation of permanent liaison officers in Berlin's three central police headquarters. All three headquarters are in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

"The Soviet Union expects the officers will be removed until the question can be discussed at the kommandatura (four-power governing body for Berlin)," Jelissarov said.

"If you don't," he added, "we shall know what action to take." The western allies answered that as long as they were in Berlin they shall put liaison officers where they pleased, and the Russians had the same right, an American spokesman said.

Rescued Woman Trapped At Dam

A brush with death by drowning was averted during the holiday week-end as three Toronto men saved a Toronto woman who was being helplessly drawn towards the falls of the Lakefield power dam.

Mrs. Violet Ruttle, 366 Green Road, Toronto, had rented a rowboat and was out alone on the water, rowing on Lake Katchewanooka above the power dam. A guest of an hotel at Lakefield, she had not been warned of the danger near the big drop sluices. The boat came too close and was being drawn towards the brink of the dam. Despite Mrs. Ruttle's frantic rowing, which was watched helplessly by a number from both shores — the boat lost distance.

A small power boat in the area came to the rescue, manned by three men, also guests from Toronto. Police did not learn their identity, but said one was named "Mr. Hall."

According to watchers, the second boat reached the rowboat "just in time." In coming so close to the gates, it was in imminent danger of being sucked over by the powerful pull as well, and was able to make the trip back to safety with difficulty.

All Groups Continue A Slight Recession

TORONTO, May 26.—(CP).—Prices were down in dull trading on the Stock Exchange today as all groups continued Tuesday's slight recession. Industrials, base metals and western oils were down more than 1/2 point on the exchange's noon index while golds also followed the easier trend.

Steels and papers were down fractionally in industrials with leading utilities a little easier. Abitibi was the only paper to gain and Pressed Metals and Montreal Locomotive also edged ahead.

The ratio of losses to gains in base metals was more than 4 to 1 as leading issues lost from 1 to 10 cents.

Junior golds followed seniors in a steady decline on quiet trading as losses more than doubled gains. Wright-Hargreaves dropped 5 cents and Campbell, Central Patricia, Madsen, Pamour and Springer Sturgeon were down.

Bible Society Sets New High

Orville Roseborough was elected president of the Peterborough branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society at the annual meeting on Tuesday evening at the YMCA. The Rev. H. Egerton Young, district secretary, said there was need for 20,000,000 Bibles in languages other than English and to help meet this challenge the society last year subscribed $110,000. G. H. Koper, secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough branch, reported that the receipts from last year's canvass totalled $1,232, the largest sum ever collected locally for the Bible Society in any year to date.

Mr. Young said that the Bible societies of various countries are combining their resources and are striving to rebuild their political and social life. In the Far East, people are awakening to their possibilities, politically, industrially and socially. 200,000,000 people have learned to read in the last quarter century. What these people read now, the ideals and ideas that influence them now during this period of rebuilding will determine the future.

"If the Bible Society can rise to this opportunity by making the word of God available to these millions, it will be doing as much, or perhaps more, towards creating peace and goodwill in the world than all the wealth that will be spent on purely economic recovery."

"The United Bible societies of the world," he continued, "are distributing the Scriptures in 1,000 languages. Their task of translation, publication, and distribution must go on if the Christian church is to survive and go forward in the face of the anti-Christian challenge of today. The one thing that links men and women of all nations and races and creeds is the love of Jesus Christ revealed in the Bible. It is our Christian duty to make it available to everyone in his own language."

Representatives from nearly all Protestant churches in the city were present at the meeting, at which A. E. Watkins presided. Officers, other than president, elected for 1948-49 were: 1st Vice-President, O. M. Steer; 2nd Vice-President, P. M. McCarroll; Secretary-Treasurer, J. P. Huggins; Campaign Secretary, G. H. Koper; Mrs. F. W. K. Harris and Mrs. S. D. Carver were appointed to the executive committee.

Sloppy Set-Up Aids Racketeers

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP).—"Baby export" charges will arise as long as "loose" practices exist in adoption procedures, an official of the Canadian Welfare Council said today.

Commenting on present investigations into an alleged baby black market at Saint John, N.B., Phyllis Burns, secretary of the council's child welfare division, said adoption laws in Canada still left a "fairly wide" variety of adoption practice possible without resort to legal methods.

While Children's Aid Societies and the provincial welfare departments offered a home-selecting service to the public, if the mother wished she could place her child outside these facilities, with no special planning in accordance with recognized child welfare principles.

Oliver Lashes Drew Policy Regarding Tax Agreements

LINDSAY, May 26.—(ENS).—This province should come to an agreement with the Dominion regarding taxation," asserted Hon. Paraghar Oliver, leader of the Liberal Party in Ontario, on Tuesday. He was addressing a Liberal meeting in Lindsay.

Saying he favored better Dominion-Provincial relations, Mr. Oliver pointed out that Ontario would have lost none of its rights under the agreement proposed then, but had the agreement been made and found satisfactory, it could have been thrown out, the speaker said.

"Under the agreement, the Federal government would have borne the expense of the old age pensions. A health scheme would have been introduced and Ontario would have benefited."

Mr. Oliver said it was high time

Ontario had better social services. "Less than 2,000 of the 70,000 old age pensioners in the province received the maximum pension of $40 a month," he said. "The rest receive only $30. We are a wealthy province and could well afford to pay all pensioners $40 a month. Poorer provinces pay pensions greater than those in Ontario."

Continuing, the speaker pointed out that the Liberals had introduced many social services, including mothers' allowances.

"We have been at the forefront in social legislation."

Referring to agricultural problems, he said more attention should be given by the government to rural areas.

"The rural districts are slipping," he observed. "We must rebuild the rural fabric of Ontario in order to sustain the whole provincial structure." Mr. Oliver said Ontario must have a strong agricultural industry, adding that William Newman, Liberal candidate for this riding, was well equipped to deal with farm problems.

Hydro No Issue

Speaking of the Hydro issue, the Liberal leader declared it was not an issue at all.

"All parties were agreeable to the proposed Hydro changeover, but we do take issue in regard to the shortage of power," Mr. Oliver argued that the present government was responsible for the current power shortage. "It was known three years ago that something must be done on the Upper Ottawa River to provide power, but in that time, the Conservatives did nothing," he charged.

The speaker asserted that Hydro in Ontario is dominated by a "Tory triumvirate," and said that political control of Hydro should be removed. "The Liberal Party would have representatives from the Hydro municipalities appointed to the Ontario Hydro Commission, and thus remove the political taint," he said.

"The Liberals mean business when they say they'll take politics out of Hydro. We would put Thomas Hogg back on the Commission. He was fired from the Commission because someone had to be the scapegoat for the power shortage, when he had nothing to do with the shortage."

Mr. Oliver said he was in accord with the idea of building four-lane highways in Ontario where they were needed, but pointed out that they should not be built to serve some areas, to the detriment of other parts of the province. "These super highways cost a lot of money. With that money we could build a great many more miles of secondary roads."

In conclusion Mr. Oliver said: "If the present swing toward Liberalism continues until June

Junior Farmers Plan Full Program For Year

COBOURG, May 26.—(ENS).—Plans for the coming year's activities were discussed at a meeting of the Northumberland County Junior Farmers Association of farmers in Brighton. A committee made up of Jack Butters of Plainville, Helen Davidson of Cobourg, Dorothy Haig and Douglas Deviney of Vernonville is to plan a formal dance for the end of May, to be held in Cobourg. The annual sports day and picnic is to be held on June 30 at Presqu'ile and the committee in charge includes Wesley Down, Alfred Gooding, Jack Dorland and Evelyn Finlay.

August 1 was set as the date for the annual church service, to be held possibly in Campbellford. In September the Canadian National Exhibition may be attended and a local meeting conducted if deemed desirable. For October, consideration was given the possibility of holding a young farmers' test, featuring the judging of livestock, identification of seeds, breeds, fruits, weeds and vegetables at the Ropenath Fair. In November a public speaking contest may be held.

Twelve Girls' Clubs Take Part In Project

COBOURG, May 26.—(ENS).—Northumberland Girls' Home-making Clubs are holding their annual achievement day on Saturday of this week at the town hall in Brighton. Twelve clubs in the county have recently completed the hospitality project, "The Club Girl Entertains." Skits and demonstrations will be presented by the girls. Miss Marion Hart, home economist for Northumberland county will be in charge of the activities.

"We will make decided gains, particularly in Western Ontario," Lower Standards

Mr. Oliver was introduced by William Newman, who attacked the Drew Government's liquor legislation. "In Ontario we are gradually lowering our standards in spiritual things," Mr. Newman said. "We have gone from prohibition to beer rooms, and from there the Drew Government has gone still further. They went beyond the principles of democracy when they put in cocktail bars in five cities in the province. This is an offence, as far as a great majority of the citizens are concerned," he declared. Mr. Newman added he would "fight for sobriety," but said he was not opposed to beer rooms being installed under a local option vote.

"I've never voted in favor of beer, but today it is beyond us. The present fast living is destructive to society."

Mr. Newman, self-titled father of secondary roads in Huron and Victoria, said he would continue to strive toward greater road development in this riding. He said he was in favor of the Hydro changeover, but declared Drew's statement that the changeover would not cost the taxpayers anything was incorrect. Bruce McNevin also spoke, dealing briefly with the history of Liberalism since Confederation.

Issue Special Stamp For Royal Anniversary

LONDON, May 26.—(CP).—A steel-blue portrait of the King and Queen—a £1 ($4) special issue stamp to mark the royal silver wedding—is being bought by collectors and dealers all over Britain.

But 90 per cent. of these stamps, the design of London artist Joan Hassell, 42, will never go through the mails.

"We hope most of the stamps will be bought by American tourists and will be dollar earners," a post-office official said.

For the general public a blue 2½d. (five cents) stamp is being sold at all British post-offices. It is twice the size of the ordinary 2½d. stamp used on letters.

SPINACH: "Is there any easy quick way to wash spinach? Is there any method to make it other than wash-wash?" Wash the spinach in hot, hot water. The sand literally drops out. Shake it and look in a heavy pan without additional water. Sharpen up with lemon juice and mustard. Cooked that way it's keen and tasty.

HOUSEKEEPER: "What are the duties of a private housekeeper? What position would I have in the home?" You would have the administration of the home, the planning of the meals, the supervision of the cleaning. Your position would be one of authority with your own quarters, probably bedroom, bath and sitting room.

SKIRT LENGTHS: "How long will skirts be this fall?" From 10 to 14 inches from the ground, say the fashion folk. They lean heavily on the 10-inch length. Individual taste runs to mid-calf length for grace and convenience.

ALPINE CLOTH: "I bought several yards of maroon colored alpene cloth and made it up into overalls for the children. They made up beautifully but when I washed the first pair today you should have seen the water. Did that dye ever run. How can I set the color in the others (still unwashed)?" Soak them in salt water for an hour. If the salt doesn't set the color, nothing will.

KNITTING: "I have been knitting a man's pullover in a rather fuzzy pattern which is getting me down. I don't get to bed to finish it." Patrons and Baldwin's knitting expert, Mrs. Allen, 1001 Roselawn Ave., Orchard 4681, Mrs. Allen has a stock of good knitters who might take the pullover right off your hands.

American Foreign Policy

The post-war hand of the U.S. in foreign affairs has been lamentably unsteady. Undoubtedly the times have been difficult and the U.S. unused to being the major player in the international chess game. Nevertheless, the vacillation of the U.S. must be viewed with alarm in the face of the other great power's steadiness. Russia's constancy is like a general's whose credo is 'maintenance of the objective'. The trouble in the U.S. is that the State Department and the President do not seem to know what their objective is, or they have conflicting ones.

The U.S. has been a professed supporter of U.N. as the best hope of securing and maintaining world peace, yet the "Truman Doctrine" promulgated nearly two years ago apparently divorced a major part of American foreign policy from U.N. and certainly weakened the Organization. Last November the United States was a chief proponent of the plan to partition Palestine. During the next five months U.N. wrestled with the problems arising out of the partition plan and the United States offered no really decisive support. Then came the reversal of the American stand on the issue. As a result, a special U.N. Assembly convened to discuss the new American proposal to put Palestine under a Trusteeship. In the midst of this, the British gave up the mandate (according to their long-announced intentions) and the Jews proclaimed the new state of Israel. Within an hour President Truman announced that the U.S. was recognizing it as a de facto state. However good and numerous the reasons were for granting this recognition, the fact is that the U.S. had again reversed its stand.

This sort of uncertainty breeds a lack of confidence in the American nation as our chief arbiter in international affairs, and many of the western democratic nations must be looking hopefully to Britain as the desirable focus of their concerted diplomatic activity. Certainly Canada, traditionally a partner in two worlds, must beware of a too strong dependence on her powerful neighbour. Success in the affairs of men requires not only strength but skill and experience.

Special allowances may be made for the American confusion in international politics. It is a country of many peoples, and problems and in reality her domestic concerns are as numerous and important as the affairs of a dozen European nations. Therefore, domestic politics must, more than in England, impinge on foreign policy. Further, the press of events passing through the revolving door of international diplomacy is more headlong than in the heyday of the nineteenth century when Britain was the doorman.

Another and often overlooked fact is this: there is less "diplomacy" than in the old days. Too many problems of great moment are being wrangled over, in public, even in the early stages. The smile or frown on a diplomat's face is enlarged into a major international agreement. A century ago diplomats could wage a war of nerves against other diplomats or make a dozen seeming reversals in policy in order to gain their main point without having their game spoiled by radio blasts and news commentators. Perhaps we need to return to the weighty and confidential—even secret—tested channels of diplomacy, as Mr. Churchill has suggested, so that men versed in the art and fortified by full knowledge can reach agreements without having the apple cart upset by the very public whose interests they are trying to protect.

In Defence Of "Hamlet"

The correspondence columns of few daily newspapers are more important and interesting than those of the London Times. It would seem from the stock jokes that writing letters to the Editor of the Times is the preoccupation of Colonel Blimps, dowager duchesses urging support for their pet charities, and country gentlemen incensed at the wanton destruction of rooks. None the less, the quality of the Letters is unsurpassed in any other paper. The Examiner has yet to receive a letter as brilliant as that which Mr. Alan Dent, film editor of Sir Laurence Olivier's Hamlet wrote to the Times. However we have not seen the film, we have enjoyed the letter. He said:

In the absence of Sir Laurence Olivier in Australia, I feel bound, as text-editor of the film, to answer Mr. Hope-Wallace's letter and your distinguished leading article. I have no doubt in the world that I am expected to say, with the guilty King Claudius: "O my offence is rank, it smells to Heaven!" But, oddly enough, I have no more the inclination to penitence than Claudius had the power to pray. It must be obvious whose youth (in Stevenson's phrase) has been depressed by exceptional aesthetic surroundings, that a reduction of a 4½-hour play to a 2½-hour film means drastic cutting. The text, therefore, was drastically cut. Anyhow, I fail to understand the uproar about cutting Shakespeare to make a film, when almost every stage production is severely cut without public protest.

About minute verbal alterations I am most impenitent of all. To take Mr. Hope-Wallace's example, when Hamlet says: "I'll make a ghost of him that lets me!" how many people are aware that he is using the word in its archaic sense of "hinders"—the exact opposite of the current meaning of the same word? One had to choose at the outset between making the meaning perfectly clear, here and elsewhere, to 20,000,000 cinema-goers, and causing 2,000 Shakespearean experts to wince. I, for one, had no hesitation in choosing the former course, and can discern in the result "no offence" to the world.

The filming of Shakespeare's most noted play is an important event. For that reason, we reprint today two criticisms of the film which has lately had its first showing in London. Mr. Alan Dent's lively defence of it serves to whet our critical appetite. We anticipate the advent of the film to Peterborough with much pleasure.

June At The Polls

There may be many good reasons for choosing June as an election month, but one that must bulk large this year is the schoolboy's reason for preferring to have his examinations in June rather than in, say, September. The schoolboy has holidays ahead of him in June and he wants to get the annoying tests out of the way so that he will not have them hanging over his head all summer. The more confident the boy is of passing, the more eager he is to get at his examinations and have done with the confounded things. Legislators also take summer holidays, and the more confident a government is of winning the elections the more eager it is to get them over early.

On June 7th the Conservative Drew Government goes to the polls. On June 24th, Premier Douglas' C.C.F. government appeals to the electors of Saskatchewan. On June 28th Premier McNair's New Brunswick Liberals make their bid for a vote of confidence. Premier Duplessis of Quebec has announced that his Government will go to the polls this year, but he has not yet decided on June.

The results will be interesting, particularly if there are any upsets. The three major parties—in their Provincial guises—are seeking returns to office: Conservative in Ontario, Liberal in New Brunswick, C.C.F. in Saskatchewan. Since times are generally good in the three provinces, the opponents of the existing governments will have no small job in unseating them. It is an indication of healthy independence of Ottawa in purely provincial matters that provincial elections are not barometers for Federal politics. The by-election in the Federal constituency of Ontario which will be held on June 8th, the day after the Provincial elections, may give some indication of southern Ontario's attitude towards the King Government. The seat was held by the late W. E. N. Sinclair, a Liberal. The Conservative contestant is the Mayor of Oshawa, Frank N. McCallum, brother of Toronto's mayor.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Since knives, forks and spoons in silver plate were relieved of the 25 per cent. tax, and not engagement and wedding rings, we presume that Mr. Abbott feels that love will triumph over taxes but that our table manners might not. Mr. Abbott will prevent us from returning to the barbarity of eating with our fingers.

Though there is something impractical about her logic, the mother whose children must light their firecrackers after dark has an understandable petition. She wants daylight saving time abandoned on the 24th of May and a return for that one day to Standard Time.

America: The Golden Haze

By ALAN MOOREHEAD
(In London Observer)

I THINK a man can talk more freely today in England than he can in America. A Communist, for example, has no more freedom of speech in America than a capitalist has in Russia. This is true, at any rate, of some of the Eastern and Southern States where I have been wandering. Nobody, of course, is going to put the Communist into a concentration camp (though Ellis Island might qualify as one), but life has been made impossible for him—and even for those who are some way this side of Communism.

AND yet the baffling thing is that very few people seem to know what Communism is. In one town a manufacturer will tell you: "Why, if a Communist came in here we'd run him out of town on a rail!" but it develops that he has never met a Communist and would scarcely recognize one if he heard him talk. Fifty miles down the road you fall in with a farmer, and for him a Communist is a Russian, pure and simple, and the real and only enemy is Russia. Then, disconcertingly, a shopkeeper will reveal that a Communist is a Negro-lover, a New Dealer, or one of these labour organizers from the big cities. A Communist, in fact, means anyone in the opposite political camp.

I have been now in a dozen places—little boom towns like Danville in Virginia and Greenville in South Carolina—and they have a bursting vitality which is almost impossible to define. Everything goes up, up and up. But where all this is leading to—where the boom ends—nobody can say, and few want to think about it.

QUITE apart from money, hatreds and prejudices seem to run just as deeply as they do in Europe. The British-nation Zionist of New York, the Roosevelt-hater of Washington, the Negro-hater of the South—these people are so entrenched in their hatreds that their minds are closed. They hate (or fear— which is possibly the same thing) from the heart. But then, overlaying all this, the traveller meets among the people everywhere a natural kindness and simplicity such as you will find scarcely anywhere else on earth.

If one emerges with any coherent impression at all, it is a feeling that the average American, more particularly, the non-urban American, feels at ease when dealing with the human beings he actually meets; he reserves his anger for abstract theory and the abstract politics and personalities which reach him only through the radio and the press. The present, local materialistic world he likes and understands. He is not waiting to live. He lives here and now. It is the future and the abstract and the world outside that he distrusts. He feels there is a Communist lurking somewhere at the end of this golden rainbow.

OUTSIDE politics, the thing that really is peculiar is the way in which the automobile has begun to dominate American life. From the moment of leaving New York, some 1,400 miles away, until I came in sight of the Mississippi at New Orleans, I seem to have been riding on a continuous switchback, a monstrous never-ending scenic railway. For the most part the scenery has consisted of the view of the back of the car in front, and the natural noises of the countryside are the sounds of the motorists behind, blowing their horns with cold and desperate fury. As far as I know this procession continues all day and all night, and it has thrown up a new industry which has no counterpart in Europe.

This is the industry of the gasoline pump and the used car market. This is the civilization of the motorists' snack bar, of the juke box, of coffee and Coca Cola, a world of 10,000 "motels" and tourist camps, of 20,000 neon-lit garages, of 50,000 awful hoardings advertising still more motor cars.

THE technique of motoring is fairly simple—one swerves into a garage and while men leap forward to fill the petrol tank and check the oil, others come rushing with bottles of Coca Cola and such notable dishes as chicken in the rough with a pot of marmalade on the side. The motorist sets the juke box going with a five-cent piece and he eats fast, in time to the music. Then out and on again—onward with the procession through lanes of precisely similar garages and similar advertisements, and, one suspects, identical chickens in the rough. After five days of this the mind ceases to reel; one becomes part of the machine.

THE trick is, of course, to find one's way through to the guiding politics underneath; but when those politics are intensely local, ephemeral and often emotional, and the very terms of reference differ from place to place, one is left simply as one was in the beginning—a goggling tourist.

If you point to the millionaires' homes and the workmen's automobiles and tell me that the South is rich, I will remind you of those appalling farmer's shacks. If you say the South is Democratic and anti-Republican, I can refer you to a number of Southern gentlemen whose hatred for Truman burns with a hard gem-like flame. In the prohibitionist States the drinking is the most formidable. Brutalizing at Russia, most people are craving for peace. One can only retire defeated, at last, to the most obvious and useless cliché of all: this is a melting-pot. And for the moment the heat is still supplied by the dollar.

Baby Sitting: New Mode

What Henry Ford did for automobiles, Maj. J. L. Wood is doing for baby sitting. Maj. Wood served with a tank-destroyer outfit before turning his peacetime abilities to baby sitting—and the same sort of mechanized darning is no doubt evident in both activities.

What he has done is to put baby sitting on a mass basis and run it by remote control. The sitter sits in his own home, surrounded by amplifiers. The gentle sound of babies' breathing, or the less gentle sound of babies' hollering, is transmitted to the amplifiers by sensitive microphones placed near the cribs of the various sitters in their respective

TOO FAST FOR COMFORT

Two Views Of The Film "Hamlet"

The Manchester Guardian

SIR Laurence Olivier has called his film "an essay in 'Hamlet'." Others have called it a compromise between respect for the play and the time-limits of the cinema. Both descriptions are, literally, correct; yet both would be misleading if by "essay" were meant something tentative, and if "compromise" were taken to imply feebleness. For of this essay in compromise the first characteristic is, surely, boldness.

Sir Laurence and Mr. Alan Dent have cut the play of four and a half hours to a film of less than two and a half hours; they have rejected Rosenkrantz and Guildenstern, one of the Gravediggers, a lot of the Players' scene, a couple of the great soliloquies, and a multitude of minor scenes or parts of scenes as well. Sir Laurence, as director, has been bold, too, in presenting, for instance, "O that this too, too solid flesh would melt!" as a reverse in which Hamlet's lips are, for the most part, unmoving; Hamlet meditates and Hamlet's voice, off-screen, speaks the words.

People who will find this shocking are, surely, only those who would not admit that "Hamlet" should be filmed at all. Others will, no doubt, regard the cuts and the tricks with proper suspicion but will judge by their result. The result, to put it briefly, is a film which is much more closely knit and, indeed, much more dramatic than any stage "Hamlet," in a longer version probably ever was or probably ever could be. To say that it is not to argue that on the stage, too, "Hamlet" should be cut with the similar ruthlessness; it is merely a recognition of the fact that this most intractable of materials has been turned into a magnificent film.

Plainly enough, this transformation has not been brought about merely by plentiful cuts and a few tricks. There was nothing like a failure in the whole cast. Jean Simmons gave to Ophelia the sudden deep pathos which Ophelia so seldom quite attains; Eileen Herlie gave both passion and motherliness to Gertrude—and that too is a rare achievement. Felix Aylmer's Polonius was superb—sly in his prattling, dignified in his foolishness.

And what of Hamlet? But the greatest compliment that one can pay to this Prince of Denmark is to say that it is difficult to consider him without, in the same breath, talking about Sir Laurence, the director. All the atmosphere of this Elsinore, with its great gloomy colonnades, its long shadowed vistas, and its swift tenseness of tragedy—all emanated from him. As to his film all but the purists will forgive its occasional lapses for its general, great achievement. The cost, in a word, was not too great.

homes. When sittee number five gets restless, the sitter dashes to his rescue—leaving a deputy, we presume, to check the amplified breathing of the other tiny broadcasters.

What, as someone has said, will they think up next? The question applies equally to the babies and their ingenious elders. For the lone sitter brooding watchfully over his amplifiers, we prelude a solemn thought: Those delighted gurgles from number three are posterity's challenge to man's inventiveness. Take care that they don't turn into screams.—Christian Science Monitor.

MIX UP

An old waiter at the club was giving the new hand a few hints.

"See the fellow who's just come in?" he whispered. "He got a twin brother and they're alike as two peas, only this one's hard on hearing. Watch the fun."

Going to the member's side, he smiled politely and said, in an ordinary voice: "Well, pifence, and what do you wait in the noebag today?"

"I'll have a chop," was the reply. "And by the way, it's my brother who doesn't hear so well."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying: Send thou men, that they may search the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel: of every tribe of their fathers shall ye send a man, every one a ruler among them. . . And Moses sent them to spy out the land of Canaan, and said unto them, Get you up this way southward, and go up into the mountain: and see the land, what it is; and the people that dwell therein, whether they be strong or weak, few or many; and what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad; and what cities they be that they dwell in, tents, or in strong holds. . .

And they returned from searching of the land after forty days. . . And they told him, and said, We came unto the land whither thou sentest us, and surely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it. Nevertheless the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great: and moreover we saw the children of Anak there. . .

And Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it. But the men that went up with him said, We be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we. . .

And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched unto the children of Israel, saying, The land, through which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of a great stature. And there we saw the giants; and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight. Num. 13: 1, 2, 17-19, 25, 27, 28, 30-33.)

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLE

Old Mrs. Miggles managed to get along in the world in spite of her educational deficiencies. One day she was called upon by a lawyer to sign an important document.

"You sign it yourself, sir, and I'll make me mark," said Mrs. Miggles. "Since me eyes gave out I'm not able to write a wurd."

"How do you spell it?" asked the lawyer, his pen poised over the document.

"Spell it whatever way ye please," said Mrs. Miggles. "Since I lost me teeth there's not a wurd I can spell."

let" rather than Hamlet itself. He has, as he points out, packed a four-and-a-half hours' play into a two-and-a-half hours' film. But how loosely packed! And at what a cost to Shakespeare's shuttle of action and our enjoyment! He would have preferred (he tells us), if an actor of sufficient stature could have been found, not to play the part of Hamlet himself, Hotspur and Henry V. being more to his style. For wearing a blond wig he gives the quite silly reason that it would carry more of Hamlet and less of Olivier. It doesn't, of course. After Olivier he chief agent in this production was the camera.

Macbeth, with its mixture of tragedy and melodrama, I still consider by far the most filmable of Shakespeare's plays.

Rural Student Writes Essay On Toronto Trip

SOUTH MONAGHAN, May 26 — (ENS) — Students of two county schools recently travelled by bus to Toronto for a visit to the Zoo and other points of interest. They were from the Brick School and Belleboro School and were accompanied by their teachers, Miss Lorraine Henderson and Mrs. Montgomery and some of the parents of the children.

The following essay about the trip was written by Terry Cruse, student in Grade 5 at the Brick School, S.E. 3, South Monaghan: Our Trip To Toronto

We chartered a bus to go to Toronto to the zoo on Friday May 14. Leaving South Monaghan at 7:30, we stopped to take some of the Belleboro pupils, parents and the teacher, Mrs. Montgomery. There were 45 of us including Rev. Haywood and Mrs. Haywood.

Our first stop was at Oshawa. It was drizzling rain but it did not dampen our spirits or our fun. Time passed quickly as we viewed the beautiful scenery and sang songs. Arriving at the Riverdale Zoo at 10:30, we looked at the birds, animals and all the odd things we had only seen in books and pictured in our minds. We were amused at the actions of the monkey and behaviour of the bears.

Next, we went to the Metropolitan Church on the corner of Queen and Church Sts. We saw many interesting things including the youth worship centre with a beautiful picture of Christ and his followers. On one side of the church were the beautiful stained windows of Jesus and his childhood. On the other side, the window showed the good things Jesus had done throughout His life.

Next we drove to the CBC studio and listened to the "Happy Gang" for half an hour. It was put on by a soap company, and this program included a lot of fun and nonsense. After getting settled in the bus again we drove to High Park and we were able to eat our dinner inside. After finishing our dinner

Clothes Rationing To Be Relaxed Soon

LONDON, May 26 — (AP) — Clothes rationing in Great Britain will soon be relaxed, Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, announced in the Commons yesterday.

Wilson said that on June 7 a new order will permit sales of rationed clothing at "half coupon rate at half price." He said a supplemental issue of coupons will be available tomorrow.

The order, he said, will help stores to clear shelves of excess stocks at summer rates. Wilson also announced a long series of cuts in coupon costs of clothing, but rejected demands for complete abolition of rationing.

"If we gave way to the clamor to abolish rationing," he said, "we would be faced in a few months with a clothing famine."

Sees Brighter Outlook

WASHINGTON, May 26 — (OP) — Frederic Bartlett, United States Commercial Attaché in London, Tuesday told a Congressional committee studying European aid he believes that with United States aid Britain can recover from the war economically "in four or five years." He said British production efforts "are remarkable" and production now is 17 per cent above the 1938 level in volume.

we looked at the different animals. The camel seemed of very great interest as we had studied about it at school. We couldn't disturb this animal.

It was now three o'clock and had stopped raining for a while. We drove to Sunnyside and had a nice time walking around, enjoying the sights. There were only two rides open in the afternoon but they would be at night. We had our share of ice cream and pop.

Leaving for home at six o'clock, we stopped at the Cream of Barley Camp at Bowmanville for our supper. After eating, we went for rides on the swings and merry-go-round. Arriving back at Centerville about 8:30, we were a tired group of children, and adults. I came to the conclusion when getting ready for bed that it was a full day of education and fun.

Bless you Miss B-

Colleges Need More Money

LONDON, May 26 — (CP) — Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, told business representatives of 25 Canadian universities Tuesday that the need for further financial assistance to universities across the Dominion is obvious. "It is almost impossible to make ends meet," he said. Student fees covered only between 45-55 per cent of the cost. The representatives are in session here in hope of finding some way to relieve overwhelming financial burdens. Dr. Hall said more money had to be found so that each university could carry out its essential duties. He listed them as: To undertake as its major responsibility the teaching of students; to advance knowledge through research; to develop better men and women through true education as distinct from mere professional training in some particular field. Smaller classes were needed, he said.

Germans Ask To Fight

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 26 — (AP) — The United States Army newspaper Stars and Stripes said Tuesday that many German army veterans are trying to enlist with the Jewish forces fighting in Palestine. The newspaper said more than 50 former German army men had applied to Jewish representatives in the United States zone but have been turned down.

Moore Keeps Things Moving In Hectic Legion Meet

By DOUGLAS HOW

SASKATOON, May 26 — (CP) — Jack Moore, his hammer and his humor, are riding high at another Canadian Legion convention. The retired St. Vital, Man., railwayman, chairman of National Legion gatherings for better than 20 years, is both the delight and the benevolent ruler of its delegates. He sits on a long platform with other officials, a microphone to his mouth, above the shirt-sleeved, often turbulent sea of delegates from every province and a number of the American States. The delegates sit beneath placards identifying their provincial affiliation. Directly beneath the press table, an ex-general is sitting next to an ex-private. Often runners are squeezing through their ranks distributing the endless stream of resolutions and reports. Wolf Cubs come up with soft drinks. To talk, the delegates struggle forward to one of the seven microphones. They have been told to hold the "mikes" close and speak normally; they invariably hold them at a distance and shout. Their language, their procedure, everything is blunt and unpretentious. An ex-brigadier was told to "dry up." A senator—G. V. White, Liberal from Ontario—was referred to as a senator and a voice immediately piped up, "call him comrade." Jack Moore presides over all this like a father over his dinner table. A Maritimer cried out Monday that seaboard delegates had been shoved into a corner where they couldn't hear. "We intend," he shouted, "to stand up for our Maritime liberties." "You have been doing that," quipped Mr. Moore, "since Confederation."

Legion Grabs A Victory Over Outlaws

Legionnaires pulled out a 14-9 City Softball League win at the Bowl last night under the lights against Comstock's Outlaws—formerly De Laval. A small crowd shivered through a loose tussle and saw the Outlaws kick in with 10 errors to boot away their chance of a victory. Don Beatty pitched fair ball and several of the 14 hits were scratchy as his buddies were off form. Bob Greenlaw also threw steady ball except for one frame and he whiffed eight, getting better support than his mound opponent.

Pagett led the victors with the willow, smacking out a triple and two singles in five. Lewis hit a double. Mackness not only shone in the field but led the belters with a single, double and triple in four. Thompson had three in five and Beatty two for four, one a double. Anderson smacked a homer and Dugan got two hits, one a double. Jaquith and Mackness came up with neat catches.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Wish our fat friend, Bunny Morganson of the Toronto Tely, would get his facts straight when he deals with Peterborough sports. For instance, plugging for a swim display in Toronto, which was held last night, with proceeds for the Ontario Crippled Children's Fund, he remarked in his column a few days back: "Iris Riley and Jean Millard, United States national pair of swimmers, now visiting in Peterborough, have kindly consented to come to Humberside Pool on Tuesday night and put on a special number for this grand cause." We object strenuously to having these girls called USA swimmers, as they represented the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club when they won that US title in Detroit this spring. So there, Bunny!

Senior "B" lacrossers here didn't make the week-end jaunt to Montreal and Quebec after all. The odd OLA failed officially to give the Poles the green light at the last minute, so they washed it out. It's been something of a ball-up since first-timed. The gutted-stick gang had a workout last p.m. and are definitely planning on a game here this Friday night at nine. Nothing further on their grouping or schedule, but they'll stage an exhibition or two until they start playing for keeps. Club looked quite good in their opener against Brampton's "A" bunch last week and they'll have another large and enthusiastic following this semester.

Lasses Start Play

Girls' softball starts its season tonight at seven in the Ashburnham Bowl, weather being right. Ashby's open against Woollens at seven, while Marines meet the CGE-ers under the arch. Umpires are: Quemby at the plate and Wood on bases for the first fray, with Wood at the plate and Akers on the paths for the nightcap. 'Prexy Dot Millard and her executive anticipate a fine season for the femmes, with better games—in this eight-team loop—and bigger crowds, since only silver collections will be taken. We'll be glad to see the colleens swinging into action once more.

Intermediate Poles begin their Lakeshore Baseball League home drive at 6:30 tonight in Riverside, Colborne supplying the opposition this time. They had a tidy tilt Monday in Colborne with Jack Billingsley's bunch pulling out a win. Locals look promising on paper, having some good intermediates and a number of hustling young fellows of junior age—give or take a few months. They hammered the horseshoe hard and fielded well in their first fixture on the holid. Most of these players are the payoff on the three-year-plan begun three seasons back with the re-organization of the City League. They should draw well tonight.

Good, Tight Game

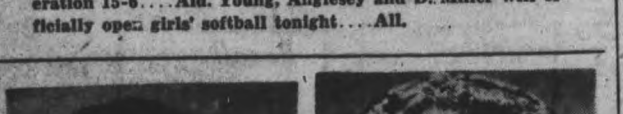

That was a neat men's softball number yesterday gloaming at the Bowl as the R-E Combines blanked K. of C. 3-0. We saw the Rev. Ray Garvey in the stand and wondered if he wasn't wishing to be out there again aiding the Knights toward a championship. At that, they came close as Terry Woods threw a nice five-hit game and they fielded well. But they were up against Bob Strickland and he allowed but three hits, while his buddies also were strong defensively and elicited for three runs in one inning. A power line deflected a long fly—which might have been an out—into a triple. Still, they would have won 2-0. Good ball with Hawkes and Blewett coming through with two hits each and Wade playing a fine game in centre.

Legion won the other tilt 14-9 from Comstock's Outlaws—the new monicker for De Laval. Latter were loose at field and didn't give Don Beatty much backing, while Bob Greenlaw got better support. A fair fray, and exciting for awhile—despite enough boots to start a store—but chill weather sent the small crowd home mostly at an early hour. Mackness starred at field and at bat, and young Pagett led the winners with the wagon-tongue. Umpire Quemby caught several runners off first, and that'll sharpen 'em up. Both these teams carry a lot of younger fellows and they'll improve plenty. We look for quite a scramble down the stretch in this league.

Ye Locos Were Late

In the COBL opener at Oshawa's Alexandria Park on the holiday, more than 1,200 fans turned out. And then the Kingston Locos had to be half an hour late starting. No excuse on a holiday. They came up with five errors while Oshawa Merchants turned in a tight tilt, as each side had 11 safeties. Moose Matthews has Jubenville, Bidgood and Romaniski, who played for Poles last year, on his roster and both Red and Fred had a hit in the 9-4 win for the Motor Citizens. Pat Sheehan, an American now a PT instructor at the Ajax division of the U. of T., pitched for Oshawa while Mu'holland and Conner saw slab service for Kingston. Only fixture this week has the Poles in Oshawa on Saturday.

HITHER AND YAWN: Whipper Watson and Lee Henning headline the pro mat card at the Brock tonight. Soccer schedule is in elsewhere, and ditto with church and industrial schedules. Trojan AC meeting with movies and presentations tonight in the Chamberlain St. SA hall. In our cricket account yesterday, it should have been Sid Jennings, not J. McKissack, who was reported to have put up the fine performance at the wicket. All juvenile lacrossers—16 to 19 years—workout at seven tonight in Miller Bowl. Fergus beat Brampton 15-6 in OLA senior "A" play. Junior "B" and East City juvenile ballsters drill in Riverside at 6:15 tonight and Friday. Southend and East City midgets play at 6:15 p.m. Friday in Riverside. On Saturday, Cobourg plays the Poles' intermediates here. As our junior bees go to Oshawa. In the Bowl tomorrow, it's Legion vs. Knights and Combines vs. Comstock's; umps are: Ranger and Board, with Morin and Phelan. Queen Alex beat Confederation 15-6. Ald. Young, Anglesey and D. Miller will officiate open girls' softball tonight. All.

WHIPPER BILLY WATSON

JOHN KATAN

AT THE BROCK TONIGHT—Whipper Billy Watson will meet Lee Henning in the main bout of tonight's all-star wrestling card at the Brock Arena. It should be a swell tussle. In addition to the classy main bout, John Katan will meet Jim Burnette in the semi-final and Nanjo Singh, new British Empire Champion, will hook up with Dr. Ed. Meeske. Looks like the best card of the season.

Many Upsets Face Golfers

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—(AP).—There's a saying as old as golf that it's "an humblin' game" and just-completed Professional Golfers Association tournament proves it. The field included several former PGA champions, American and British open champions, the leading money-winner of the tournament circuit, and holders of assorted lesser titles. They had good reason to be proud of their golf, but at the end all had been humbled except little Ben Hogan, the guy with an aching back who feels he can no longer stand the grind of playing all the way around the circuit. A notable example, perhaps, was Claude Harmon, who was kidding between the halves of his semi-final match with Sammy Snead. "I'll have a day at my disposal for the open championship at Los Angeles. And for the British open Bobby Sweeney says his valet will meet me at the plane and we'll live in the house he has taken for the week. I'm the Masters champion now and the Masters champion travels in style." Well, Snead carried Harmon to 42 holes that day and Mik Turnesa eliminated him the next afternoon.

Lemon Boosts Cleveland Blanks Washington 4-0

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Writer.

Cleveland Indians are putting the squeeze on the rest of the American League clubs with a "Lemon" — Bob Lemon, a converted infielder-outfielder.

Lemon now is No. 2 pitcher on the Tribe's staff, second only to Bob Feller. In fact, the "squeeze" as Lemon has been appropriately dubbed, has done as much as Feller to put the Indians on top of the loop standings. Each has won five games, but Lemon has lost only two to Feller's three.

Lemon turned in his best performance of the season Tuesday night as he shut out Washington Senators 4-0. He allowed only four hits and fanned 11, a season high.

He helped win his own game with a third-inning double which highlighted a two-run rally. He also contributed to the two-run rally in the fourth with a run-scoring single.

Good Combination

The runner-up Philadelphia Athletics' battery combination of pitcher Bob Savage and catcher Buddy Roser led the A's to a 4-3 victory over the White Sox in a night game in Chicago. Roser's sixth-inning single scored Hank Majeski with the winning run. Savage gained his second relief win with a four-hit performance over the final five innings after replacing started Carl Scheib.

With everybody in the New York line-up hitting safely, the third-place Yankees raked four pitchers for 22 hits to plaster a 16-5 defeat on the fourth-place Tigers in Detroit. Behind this heavy barrage, righthander Vic Raschi coasted to his fourth straight victory.

Tommy Henrich came out of his slump with five hits in as many times at bat for a perfect day. Charley Keller, George Stinewiss and George McQuinn chipped in with three hits apiece.

Assaulting four Boston pitchers for 17 hits, the surprising Browns whipped the Red Sox 9-4 in a night game in St. Louis, to move in a virtual tie with Detroit for fourth place. They trail the Bengals by four percentage points. Whitey Platt, with four hits including a triple and two doubles, led the Brownie attack.

Paul Erickson, making his first start for Philadelphia since being acquired from Chicago Cubs, pitched the Phillies to a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates in a night game in Philadelphia. The tall right-hander gave up only four hits in 6 2-3 innings before he was forced to retire because of a pulled shoulder muscle. Schoolboy Rowe, making his first appearance since he broke his thumb on May 5, held the Pirates to two hits the rest of the way.

Orioles Smash Syracuse 11-7

By The Associated Press

Howie Moss, fence-busting outfielder for Baltimore Orioles, is off to another fine start in his quest for an International League home-run record.

Moss, three-time winner of the circuit's home-run derby, is gunning for the loop record of 63 set by Oriole Joe Hauser in 1933. The howitzer has clouted 13 homers so far in 27 games, and should he maintain his present pace throughout the season, he will wind up with approximately 75.

Moss socked his 12th and 13th round trippers Tuesday night to lead the Orioles to an 11-7 victory over the first-place Syracuse Chiefs.

Lyman Lunde started for the Orioles but left in favor of the veteran Johnny Podgajny in the fifth. Podgajny, although hit hard, went the rest of the way and received credit for his fourth victory.

The loss cut the Chiefs' lead to a single game over Newark Bears. The Bears' scheduled game with the Jersey City Giants was postponed because of rain. The remainder of the clubs were not scheduled.

Wins 7 Championships
TORONTO, May 26.—(CP).—The Lakeshore Swimming Club of Toronto Tuesday night won seven Ontario championships at the Ontario swimming championship and invitation races here.

On a point system, the Lakeshore Club had a total of 113 points, far ahead of the second-place Toronto Mermaids with 20. Kay Miles of Toronto nipped Canadian champion Glenna Mills of Fergus in the 100-yards free-style event for junior girls.

Hollywood Takes Little Action On Television

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, May 26 (AP). —What is Hollywood doing about television?

Television is becoming the prime topic among shot talkers and in the high councils of the film companies.

Much of the studio activity in video is top secret. Here are the policies companies are admitting at present:

Paramount — Years ahead of other studios. Has two stations (Los Angeles, Chicago), owns percentage of three stations in the eastern United States. Has conducted extensive research, including color video and rapid filming of telecasts for delayed network telecasting. Permits own stars on television (on Paramount stations, of course). Big plans for theatre television.

M-G-M — No definite policy; studying the new medium. Owns television rights to personalities and story material, but hasn't released either for video.

U-I — Releasing some 16 mm. short films through subsidiary, United World. Requests stars to stay off television now. "Since it doesn't do them justice." Made a special trailer and found good results. Otherwise, awaiting developments.

R-K-O — There has been talk that new head man Howard Hughes will make television films, but nothing has been announced.

Warners — Some activity in "scientific stage," but studio is hush-hush about it. Applied for a station in Chicago. Participated with 20th-Fox and RCA in theatre television experiment.

20th Century-Fox — Has some plans for stations. Used video to advertise "Iron Curtain." Does not permit stars on television except in news reels.

Columbia and Republic — Watching and waiting.

Great Iron Game Wins Hogan PGA Tourney

ST. LOUIS, May 26 — (AP)—Stone-faced Ben Hogan, the great little pressure player from Hershey, Pa., can thank a great iron game for his second Professional Golfers' Association championship and a $2,500 boost to the family bankroll.

Hogan beat veteran Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y., 7 and 6 Tuesday in the finals of the 30th PGA tournament, mainly because he was complete master of his wedge and 8-iron.

The prize money vaulted Hogan's tournament earnings for this year to $15,897.50 for 48 rounds of play, second only in dollars and cents to Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who has picked up $14,764.99 in 10 more rounds.

Turnesa, one of three brothers who have lost in the finals of the PGA tournaments, simply didn't have the strokes to match sub-par shooting of the Texas-born Hogan.

With conceded putts, Ben travelled the seven days of golfing over the short and hilly 6,467-yard Norwood Hills Country Club course in 35 under par for the 213 holes. That included two rounds of qualifying play.

Hogan was nine strokes under par Tuesday when the match ended. He completed the morning round in 33-35-45, six under regulation figures. Hogan went out in 34 in the afternoon, one under, and closed the match with birdies on the 29th and 30th holes.

Turnesa went the distance in 33-37-70 in the morning and was out in 34 after lunch. He had some putts conceded.

Referee Walker tried to break it up and was caught in the barrage of flying gloves. Buxton got the decision.

Turnesa, who went to the quarter-finals in the 1945 PGA and who won $1,500 as runner-up yesterday, had the most spectacular shot of the week. His eighth-iron carried 150 yards or more into the cup on No. 16 for an eagle two.

DP Workers Good Hydro Supt. Says

PEMBROKE, May 26 — (CP)—When it comes to work, displaced persons have gained a construction official's approval.

He is G. A. Kerr, construction superintendent of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power project at Des Joachims, about 45 miles north-west of here.

Tuesday he told Pembroke-Kiwans: "From the displaced persons we have working on the project, we are getting more value for each expended dollar in labor than we are getting from Canadians."

Of the 1,800 persons employed at Des Joachims, "one of the major hydro engineering projects of the world," Mr. Kerr said that 340 were displaced persons.

Many of them were university graduates and professional men now working as day laborers. Brought to Des Joachims because of insufficient labor in the local areas, the displaced persons in the majority of cases have done "a swell job," the construction chief said.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

By the overwhelming score of 187-113 the Vice-President's boys took the first round in the annual President Vice-president competition on Tuesday night. So completely did the Vice-President dominate the play that only one rink, that of Geo. Gimblett, turned in a win for the President.

We have seen many of these competitions but don't ever remember one as one-sided. However, tonight is another night and maybe things will change — who knows?

It was a good thing that the games were limited to 15 ends instead of the regular 18 ends.

We have been asked by the ladies' games committee to make this announcement — On Thursday afternoon they will hold a local tournament. Draw from the board at 2:00 o'clock, sharp. No fee. A cordial invitation is extended to all the ladies of the club.

Jolliffe Charges Drew Scrapped Conservative 22-Point Program

TORONTO, May 26 — (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, Tuesday night accused Premier Drew of joining with Quebec's Premier Duplessis to "break off diplomatic relations with the Federal government."

He said in an election campaign speech at Peterborough that the reason Mr. Drew gave for declining to sign a taxation agreement with Ottawa was that it would entail surrender of provincial rights.

In other campaign speeches Tuesday, CCF leader E. B. Jolliffe at Mount Dennis, near Toronto, attacked Premier Drew's record in carrying out the Progressive Conservative party's 22 points of the 1943 campaign and Premier Drew in Toronto struck out at the Labor-Progressive party's pledged support for the CCF.

Mr. Oliver denied what he said were published statements that he was taking a long-range view of the election campaign and did not expect to win until the next Ontario contest.

"The Liberal party is fighting to win and fighting hard," he asserted. But he hinted that in the event of defeat he may quit politics for his 500-acre cattle farm near Owen Sound.

Scrap 22 Points

Mr. Jolliffe said at the Progressive Conservative party's 22 points had been scrapped. Now the premier was touring the province and "handing out a brand new set of election promises."

"In 1943 Mr. Drew promised to create an Ontario housing commission to wipe out the slums. The slums still are there—but where is the housing commission?"

Mr. Jolliffe pledged that if the CCF is elected June 7 it will raise the basic old age pension rate to $40 a month from $30. Then it will urge the Federal government to take over entire operation of the pension scheme and raise the basic old age pension for all at 65 years without a means test.

Premier Drew, in a speech broadcast from a Progressive Conservative luncheon here, said an almost simultaneous walkout by Labor-Progressive party and CCF members from a Welland political gathering Monday night indicated "a peculiar association of ideas and demonstrated that we have the threat of Communism right here now."

Reject Red Support

"No matter whether we approve of CCF doctrines, everyone knows where the Communist vote will go. The way to make sure the Communist vote is ineffective is to cast your ballot against any member receiving Communist support in this election. The Communists are seeking to gain power by the use of the Socialists as has been done in other countries."

Mr. Drew said a statement by Mr. Oliver that Dr. Thomas Hogg would be re-appointed Ontario Hydro chairman if the Liberals were returned to power was a reason for not voting Liberal.

He said Mr. Oliver would bring

Cream Of Crop In Montreal For Boxing Trial

MONTREAL, May 26 (CP). —The cream of Canada's amateur mittmen are bouncing into town off every train with their sights trained on the Olympic boxing trials Thursday and Friday and a boat trip to England for the Games in London.

The Dominion's top battlers will wind up training to-day ready to trade punches in a two-night stand opening Thursday at the Grenadier Guards Armory and moving into the Forum ring Friday night. About 65 boxers from coast to coast have entered the trials.

Heading the list of 17 battlers from Ontario is provincial fly-weight champion Joey Brunette, who was adjudged the outstanding boxer of the regional trials there.

Although keen competition is promised in all weight divisions, the welterweights should provide the most fireworks. This division abounds with star-studded performers headed by Toronto's Gus Rubicini, Billy Goulding of Oshawa, and a pair of hard-hitting Montrealers, Mario Massaro, and Cliff (Red) Blackburn.

Massaro, a protégé of Canadian professional welterweight king Johnny Greco, recently polished off Blackburn in a furious battle to win the Quebec Golden Gloves crown and is rated favorite to gain a spot on the Olympic squad.

Other stars of the Ontario contingent are Mickey Kavanaugh, a lightweight from New Waterford, NS, now fighting out of Toronto, featherweight Billy Graham of Peterborough, a former intercollegiate heavyweight champion in the Maritimes.

Leading lights in the light heavyweight class are Jerry Jamel of Vancouver, Ed Zastre of Winnipeg who dropped a decision in the Western regional trials, and Montreal's Mike Sobie.

The annual opening of the club was held last Saturday afternoon. It was enthusiastically attended by 80 golfers, who unfortunately had to limit their competitive play to nine holes, due to the rain. However, the following golfers were declared winners on that basis:

2nd flight (handicaps 10 to 20)—1st low gross, J. Condon; 2nd low gross, G. Punsam; 1st low net, J. Maine, and 2nd low net, C. Crowe (tie).

3rd flight (handicaps 21 to 32)—1st low net, Don Lamont; 2nd low net, L. Calladine; 3rd low net, E. Hanbridge, and 4th low net, F. Gray (tie).

Hidden hole (special prize donated by G. Sheridan)—Won by L. Collins, who appreciated it very much, I am sure.

Don't forget to get your names up on the entry lists for the various club competitions. Right soon, too.

back a man who has resigned due to ill health "after being unable to carry out his job." He would dismiss from office Robert Saunders who was "eminently qualified for the task and is doing a real job as Hydro chairman."

OLYMPIC HOPE—A Swedish Olympic hope is Anna Larsson, shown capturing a cross-country run in Stockholm, Sweden. Miss Larsson, who holds the world's record for 800 meter with 2:12.8, will compete in that event in the forthcoming London Olympics.

in Russia after World War I. The plaque was sent to Mrs. Keyserling by her father-in-law, Count Archibald Keyserling, former aide to Viscount Alexander and former Minister of Marine in Latvia, for presentation to the Governor-General in Ottawa shortly.

Radio System Proves Worth Stringer Tells Police

"The new radio communications system in the province has already proved its worth in the apprehension of criminals," Ontario Commissioner of Police William H. Stringer, OBE, said Tuesday night in an address here. Guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Kawartha District Police Association, the Commissioner, who outlined briefly the setup of the new radio stations-and-cars system, stressed the value of scientific methods of identification of individuals and firearms in the detection of criminals.

More than 100 members of the District Association, with their wives and guests from the area, attended the banquet.

Commissioner Stringer explained that the laws permit the fingerprinting of those charged and those found guilty of indictable offences, as well as certain other statutes. With modern methods of fingerprint classification, he said that the system is "infallible" in detecting true identification of individuals. There are no two prints alike, he said, and fingerprints do not change with age and cannot be changed.

In graphic manner, the Commissioner described several leading cases in Ontario which he had investigated and in which the fingerprinting system had played an important part in trailing the criminals across Canada and the United States.

He also mentioned the importance of firearm identification. This was possible, he explained, as no two gun barrels are exactly alike, and therefore leave identifying marks or "signatures" on the bullets fired from them. He illustrated the value of this again with reference to a number of his own cases, in which murderers had been caught and had been convicted on expert evidence regarding shells fired from the death weapons.

He told the police officers of the audience the importance of some knowledge of these types of investigation and identification, but was clear in his emphasis that the actual evidence on such matters must be presented in court by expert witnesses.

Commissioner Stringer described briefly the scientific criminal investigation laboratories of the provincial government, whose services are available to all Ontario police forces. Close co-operation is also maintained with the laboratories of the RCMP at Ottawa, he said.

Scientific means of detection such as these are becoming more and more important in crime prevention. Much of the results are due to the co-operation of all branches of skilled science.

Dealing with the installation of the new radio equipment of the Ontario Provincial Police in the southern part of the province, he said that it had been made essential because of modern crime methods. Fast cars and good roads can carry the criminals fast and far and speedy contact be-speaker at the banquet; Inspector E. V. McNeill, commanding officer of No. 8 District Headquarters, Ontario Provincial Police; Lakefield Police Chief Garnet Samis, secretary of the KDPA, whose work in the association was praised by officers of the Police Association of Ontario at the banquet.

tween the mobile units of the force and the district centres is necessary. In connection with the new installations, he mentioned the major part of its production handled at the Peterborough works of the CGE.

There will be 300 mobile units in the province eventually, he said, and the system will be extended to the more densely populated areas of Northern Ontario.

"There are five districts in operation with this equipment to date—and it has already proved its great value. We are proud of it. In fact, we think it is the best in the world."

Referring to the Police Act of 1946, the speaker said that it defined the responsibilities of the provincial police and the municipalities in their policing. There are at present 56 Ontario municipalities being policed by the OPP under contract, he said. He praised the provisions of the Act which regulated police requirements, working conditions, arbitration, discipline and other internal matters.

Commissioner Stringer was introduced by Inspector E. V. McNeill, commanding No. 8 District Headquarters, Ontario Provincial Police, at Peterborough. Thanks of the banquet were expressed by Peterborough Chief of Police John Thompson.

Arthur Webster, Forest Hill village, president of the Police Association of Ontario, also spoke briefly. He paid tribute to the new municipal police training schools being set up in the province. Adding his praise to the recent Police Act, he said it made possible "a fuller understanding" between the provincial police and the municipal police forces, meaning the establishment of efforts which brought about a "united front in dealing with criminal activities."

John Cavanaugh, secretary of the PAO, also spoke briefly.

Chairman of the meeting was John Morrow, Peterborough, president of the Kawartha District Police Association.

Mrs. Stringer was presented with a bouquet of roses by Mrs. Garnet Samis, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the KDPA. Guests of the Association were from Peterborough, Lindsay, Campbellford, Lakefield, Hawke and other district points.

Increased Output And Self-Denial Urged By Manufacturer's Head

TORONTO, May 26 —(CP)—Danger of inflation and the menace of Communism both present a challenge to Canadians, R. C. Berkshaw, Toronto, president of the Canadian Manufacturer's Association, told the opening session of the Association's annual meeting here today.

More than 2,000 manufacturers from all parts of Canada are attending the three-day general conference.

With the cost of living in Canada more than 50 per cent higher than it was before the war, Canadians are learning by present experience what inflation can do in creating artificial values and curtailing the purchasing power of the dollar, the president said.

Definite inflation as a result of excessive spending in relation to the supply of goods and services, Mr. Berkshaw said that "the basic solution for inflation lies, first, in the exercise of self-denial in the purchase of scarce commodities on the part of the people at large, and in the utilization of all measures to increase and maintain the supply of civilian goods and services."

Co-operation between producer, worker and consumer is essential if we are to hold the rising tide of high prices, Mr. Berkshaw continued.

"While management intensifies its effort to develop new products, to find new markets, to provide extended manufacturing facilities, to maintain the necessary flow of raw materials, to finance its wider operations, to provide further opportunities for employment and to develop new and improved standards of working conditions, labor can help in the battle against inflation by avoiding interruptions to the productive process, by reducing absenteeism to a minimum and by applying the principle of a fair day's work for a fair day's pay in every branch of labor endeavor.

Asks Co-operation

"Remembering, as I do, what did happen here less than 20 years ago, I am calling for a close meshing of co-operative relationship between all who are engaged in the business of production, to the end that a possibility may not become an actuality of danger to the maintenance of that prosperity which we currently enjoy."

"One of the chief objectives of Canadian industry should be the maintenance of a high standard of living for all people," Mr. Berkshaw said. "The attainment of such an achievement depends primarily upon the maintenance of a high level of production, which can only be secured through constant and close co-operation between management and labor."

The Association believes that "such co-operation implies an obligation on the part of the employers and employees alike, that both should observe faithfully the provisions of every agreement made for them or on their behalf, and should settle differences by negotiation in good faith and without interruption of productive operations."

Referring to Communism, Mr. Berkshaw said: It would be foolish indeed to underestimate this Communist threat which has for its object the destruction of our hard-won freedom, the wrecking of the standard of life which we now enjoy and the denial of the right of free men to engage in free endeavor.

"In their planned attempt to destroy the free institutions of our country, these apostles of revolution seek every opportunity and occasion to cripple Canadian industry by slowing up production," he stated. Infiltration of trained agents to stir up trouble and discontent in the ranks of labor is one of the chief objectives of the Communist master-plan, and "Communist agents," many of them of alien origin, have become leaders in the local organizations of certain trade unions.

Debt To Free Enterprise

"If Canadians generally could be made to realize how much they owe to free enterprise, and what it has yet to contribute to our national progress, there would not be many people who would accept the doctrines of Communism."

S. Casha Boyd Dies At Marmora

MARMORA, May 26 —(ENS)—The funeral of the late S. Casha Boyd took place on Monday afternoon under auspices of Marmora A.F. & A.M. 222 of which he had been a member for many years.

The cortege left his late residence on Forsyth Street for service at St. Paul's Church at 2:30 p.m., which was conducted by the rector, Bro. Rev. J. M. Brownlie. Burial was made in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

Mr. Boyd, who was in his 61st year, was only ill a short while and news of his death came as a shock to his many friends. He was the son of the late Hugh and Augusta Boyd and was born in Marmora where he spent his life.

For some years he had been a traveller for the Thompson-Heyland Lumber Company. His business trips took him over a large area of Ontario and Quebec. He was a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church. Fraternally he was a member of Marmora A.F. & A.M. 222 and also a member of the Shrine. He was also a past member of the Orange Order, occupying the chair of Marmora LOL 319 in 1914.

In politics he was a Conservative. He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Bedore, and one sister, Mrs. Clara Smith, also resident in Marmora.

4 Reported Missing

BUTTE, Mont., May 26 —(AP)—Four persons were missing Monday night as Pacific northwest floods swept across highways, railroad tracks, farms and some towns in Idaho, Montana and Washington. The Oregon coast also was beginning to feel the effect of torrents pouring into the Columbia River from tributaries far upstream.

Ask Philip To Act

BROCKVILLE, May 26 —(CP)—The Royal Canadian Regiment requested Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, to accept the regiment's honorary command as colonel-in-chief, it was learned today. The unit originally asked for the appointment of Princess Elizabeth in 1942, but was informed by the British Army that the request was too low on a lengthy list to be granted.

Rev. H. G. Watts Speaks At Marmora

MARMORA, May 26 —(ENS)—The festival of the Holy Trinity was observed at St. Paul's with Matins and Evensong. At the former service Rev. H. G. Watts, D.D., Field Secretary of the MSC, read the lessons and preached on the text, "Not by might, nor by power but by My spirit saith the Lord." The preacher mentioned that the times in which Zachariah lived were somewhat like our own in that they were troubled and events were happening that were hard to understand and people in a large measure including even the prophet himself were sleeping on their feet.

Dr. Watts dwelt upon the fact

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

AN ABSURD INJUNCTION ONE of the worst bits of advice ever put into bridge books—and most of them contain it—tells a player that he usually should pass his partner's opening bid unless his hand contains "a trick and a half or better" in high cards. Experience has shown every man and woman among the top ranking players—without one solitary exception—that suit-lengths are as important in determining whether to bid or not to bid, and often more so. A sound measure is to have a minimum of about "four playing tricks" of any kind. A seven-card suit in an honorless hand, or a six-card suit with intermediate worth about a trick, gives you that much.

When East heard his sound partner's opening bid on this deal, he did some careful counting. Not counting of honors as any book can see that his hand has nothing like the "one and a half" unsoundly prescribed by teachers who don't practice what they preach. At the best his hand, with its two queen-jacks, had about "a half-plus" as the cockeyed wooden high-card trick tables list them.

But East counted up the more important entity of total playing tricks of all kinds. At the bottom of his club suit he could note three such tricks for the small cards. And his two queen-jacks, when opposite an opening bid—therefore likely to have some kind of an honor opposite one or both—should be worth at least a trick. So he made the right bid of 2-Clubs. West, with his bunch of good stuff, properly leaped into his game then, at No Trumps.

Against the worst possible lead of a spade, West made game easily, not even risking the diamond finesse which would have given him an extra. He scored two in spades, five in clubs and the two red aces.

Hospital Wing To Cost St. Joseph's $355,000; Bylaw Gets Second Reading

Two readings were given to by-laws authorizing financial assistance toward the construction of a 52-bed enlargement of St. Joseph's Hospital in a special session of the council on Tuesday night. One by-law embodied an agreement between the city and the Sisters of St. Joseph setting forth the terms on which the municipal grant is to be given. The other provided the authority for the issuing of non-interest-bearing debentures as the form in which the council is making this contribution.

Third reading of the by-laws was suspended until they have been submitted to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval. City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C., reported that two members of the Board had recently expressed willingness of assent to the plan of issuing debentures which bear no interest.

The Sisters of St. Joseph propose to expend $355,000 as the estimated cost of the new wing. This project was explained to the council last year, and was accepted in its condition that the municipality pay the interest charges on the outlay for a period of 20 years. Mayor Owens said it was the intention of the Sisters to begin the work as soon as the financing details were complete.

Substantially there is no difference of effect between the original plan of assistance and the present method of issuing debentures.

Explanation was given in discussion last night when the debentures are issued they will be delivered to the Sisters of St. Joseph. A debenture is a promissory note. The council thereby gives to the Sisters notes payable annually for the amount of interest which, as previously reported, begins around $10,000 and is scaled downward to a comparatively small sum. Their total for the 20 years is $144,288.

Must Finish Work

Mr. Huycke said he recently went to Toronto, accompanied by Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., and Mr. John R. Corkery, K.C., representing the hospital, to submit the debenture plan to the Ontario Municipal Board. Its unusual feature was the fact that the debentures are not to bear interest, and are not to be sold to the public. The debentures are not to be delivered to the hospital authorities until the work has been finished, and until the council has been shown that no liens are outstanding against the buildings and its materials.

Mr. Huycke said that the annual payments were the same as originally contemplated. Procedure was first a meeting of the finance committee with Ald. M. J. Swanston in the chair, during which a motion by Ald. Herbert Young, seconded by Mayor Owens, recommended to the council the issuance of the debentures. Then in council, the two by-laws were considered, and were given first and second reading.

In the second reading of the by-law providing for the council's acceptance of the agreement attaching to the issuance of the debentures, Ald. Adams Sands pointed out: "There is nothing in the agreement which says the Sisters couldn't sell the debentures at any time in the 20 years. I think there should be something in the agreement to take care of that."

Sands Objects

"We have been assured by the Sisters that the debentures are not to be sold," Mayor Owens said. Ald. Sands: "The intention of the moment is one thing, but what might take place years from now is another."

Ald. Swanston: "Let's put it in."

Ald. Sands: "As far as I'm concerned, the council is the one who is doing the favor."

Ald. Douglas Miller: "I agree with Ald. Sands. We are protecting the interest of the Sisters, but we should also be careful to protect the interest of the municipality."

Mr. Huycke said the matter was immaterial from the point of view of the form of the debentures. Municipal Board members had indicated their willingness to pass either kind.

Mr. Huycke also mentioned a legal technicality as to the right of the council to restrict sale.

Ald. Sands suggested that if there was to be possibility of sale, the debentures should be interest-bearing.

Mr. Huycke said that when he was considering the terms of agreement and forms of by-law he telephone City Treasurer Couper in regard to getting "the interest-bearing schedule in shape," but it was found to be difficult. "For that reason only the non-interest-bearing by-law is here."

Mr. Huycke also said that if a non-sale clause was written into the by-law, it would not stand up if by any chance it ever went to court. "If you want a clause of that kind, don't put it in the debenture by-law; put it in the agreement."

Ald. Sands moved, seconded by Ald. D. Miller, that a clause be inserted in the agreement declaring that the debentures were not to be sold by the Sisters.

A major factor in the discussion about the possibility of sale was that non-interest-bearing debentures would bring such a low price that it would reflect adversely on the credit of the city and its strong financial position.

A majority of the committee of the whole with Ald. Gordon Armstrong in the chair, voted for the Sands-D. Miller motion.

Finds Technicality

Ald. Sands put his finger on another technicality in the text of the second by-law. Following the common and prescribed form of preamble it affirmed that "whereas the council intends to borrow $144,288, etc."

"We are not borrowing anything," Ald. Sands said. "According to those words somebody

Car Hits Bicycle Girl In Hospital

A teen-age girl is in hospital today following an accident Tuesday night in which she was dragged on her bicycle more than 70 feet under a car. Betty Schaeffer, 17, of 124 Albertus Ave., has a cut leg and thigh, bruises and shock from the accident, about 7.15 p.m. at the corner of Princess and George Sts.

A charge of careless driving has been laid against John W. Moore, 487 Thompson Ave. Moore, represented by W. J. Fair pleaded guilty to the charge in police court today and was remanded until June 1. Bail was set at $200.

PC Victor McConnell investigated the accident.

Police Officer To Get Transfer

RECOVER STOLEN CAR

Ten hours after it was reported stolen at Apsley, a 1940 car was recovered at the Hydro camp near there. The car, owned by Henry R. Storrington of Apsley, was taken from Apsley about 9 p.m. Tuesday and was recovered by seven o'clock this morning by Provincial Constable Bert Howden of Apsley, who is investigating.

Council Frowns On Carnival; Had No Permit

"It would cost a father with several children a small fortune," said Ald. Gordon Armstrong in expressing his opinion of the amusement charges of the carnival show at Morrow Park.

Merry-go-round, 25 cents, one trip; ferris wheel, ditto, so it was said, and the roundabout was no longer in time than the rides of other generations at a nickel the wheel.

More than that, the show was at the Exhibition Park over the holiday without permission of the council and also without paying any fee to set up and operate at the swollen scale. It transpired at the meeting of the Board of Works Tuesday night that the show was brought here by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for their jamboree, that they were given assurance that their coming had been arranged for, and the show people in good faith set up their games and rides.

No official reference was made to the charges. There was reactive squirming to the high cost of amusement of small children who have no sense of the value of money, but who have strong desires for merry-go-rounding.

The position of the council was that since 1948, as a result of unpleasant experience, carnival shows and so-called midway had been excluded from city property. Floyd Curtis as chairman of the parks committee at that time had raised the bar against such affairs, and the council supported him.

City Clerk Outram explained that local regulations required permission or license plus payment of fees for various amusement devices at so much a day. It was reported that the manager of the carnival show had correspondence telling him that the way had been opened for his coming to Peterborough, but no permit was obtained nor had the council been getting any revenue from the show.

A motion by Ald. Swanston, seconded by Ald. Armstrong, instructed City Clerk Outram to have the necessary fees collected. Another resolution directed that letters be written to service clubs, exhibition board and others reminding them of the council's regulations applying to the carnival show type of entertainment.

Driver Of Coupe Sought By Police

A car described only as "an old coupe," struck down a woman early this morning and left the scene without stopping. Mrs. Barbara Robinson, 392 Brock St., was hit about 1:30 a.m. at the corner of Brock and Park Sts. She is suffering from a cut leg, bruises and possible fracture as it is believed the car wheel went over her leg.

The hit-run victim was walking on the side of Park St. when the accident happened. After hitting her the car is reported to have continued on across the Brock St. sidewalk and then down that street.

PC C. J. McGillen is investigating.

WOMAN LOCKED OUT

When Mrs. H. Doig, 343½ George St. found that she was locked out of her apartment last night, she called the Fire Department. A ladder was put up to the upper storey window and an entrance was made in this manner. Earlier in the day a chimney fire was reported at the residence of M. Reid, 64 Ayler St.

Labor Council To Invite 3 Candidates

At a meeting of the Allied Labor Council on Tuesday evening a motion was passed that it sponsor a rally and invite the candidates of the three political parties, in order to get their views on labor and labor conditions.

"The Allied Labor Council," said William Cambers, "would be rendering a great public service in getting the three candidates together on the same platform."

He then went on to give his opinion on the position of the Allied Labor Council and politics. "On the question of politics," he said, "to act like ostriches is foolish. Whether we like it or not, we have to act in the political field on many matters whatever government is in power. It is very foolish for any labor body to assume it can ignore politics." Mr. Cambers said that he did not suggest participation in party politics, but that action had to be taken from time to time on questions, such as housing and labor legislation, in which politics were involved.

A committee was appointed to handle the affairs and details of the rally.

After hearing a report from Mr. Cambers on the police warning given for using a sound truck outside the CGE gates, a motion was passed that the Allied Labor Council press that unions be allowed to operate sound equipment within the restrictions of the bylaw.

Charles Harvey presided at the meeting.

Order Truckers Use Tarpaulins Driving In City

"I went over the road myself, and it wasn't very tidy, but the road itself was in bad shape, and it is hardly to be wondered that some of the refuse was dumped in the ditches."

That was understatement by Ald. Hurrell Dadds in regard to recent complaint of Reeve M. H. Johnson of North Monaghan against scattering scrap paper and metals, odds and ends of wood, tin cans and so on, along the route of two roads to the city's dump in Monaghan.

The board of works last night expressed its wish to co-operate as fully as possible with the township, but rural criticism, it appears, it weakened by disparage of the roads.

"We ask them to fix up the roads, or they can have us do it and we could charge it back to them," said Mayor Owens. His motion was seconded by Ald. Swanston.

The city pays $200 a year for use of the dump, but a large part of traffic in that direction is from the city and back again. Roy Thompson of the sanitary department reported to the board that efforts were made to keep the road south from the Lansdowne St. Hill clear of refuse, but the surface had been in bad condition, and probably some of the truck drivers dumped their loads there instead of going on to the rented place. He also suggested that trucks should be covered to prevent loose material blowing off with the wind.

The council is going to appeal to the Police Commission for their co-operation in enforcing the bylaw which requires use of tarpaulins. Other means will be taken to compel carters and truck drivers to keep the roads clear of ugly collections of rubbish.

Ald. Dadds said the enforcement should begin right in the city. Too often loads of light industrial debris were driven at speeds that blew nuisance material on to the south end roads. That same scattering continued into the township.

Lindsay Council Has Stormy Session

Town Engineer Fired; Dep.-Reeve Tenders Resignation

LINDSAY, May 26—(ENS)—The people of Lindsay may soon be faced with a municipal election, as the result of a stormy council session Tuesday night when Town Engineer C. E. Cobb was officially dismissed and Deputy-Reeve J. M. Nesbitt announced his intention to resign from council, in protest. Mr. Nesbitt declared he would resign at the next regular meeting of council. Town Clerk W. R. Alley says Nesbitt's resignation will mean an election will have to be held to fill the vacancy in council, 15 days after the official resignation.

When Town Engineer Cobb was given, as Reeve H. H. McFadden remarked "the gracious opportunity of resigning his office," the engineer replied, "No gentlemen, you have given me no just cause to resign and I am not resigning. To do so would be to admit that I have been wrong."

The motion for the engineer's dismissal was sponsored by Alds. Lloyd Burrows and Vincent Cote, following a motion by Ald. C. E. Ferguson, (for which he could not obtain a seconder) that the action a previous meeting dismissing Mr. Cobb be rescinded. The motion for dismissal carried. Supports Engineer

In the next breath, Deputy-Reeve Nesbitt, chairman of the Board of Works said, "I think you are making a mistake. I am 100 per cent behind the engineer, and I give notice of motion that I am resigning."

Reeve McFadden opened the fireworks by mentioning a number of matters that he claimed the engineer had failed to give attention to, but which Chairman Nesbitt characterized as "trivial," whereupon the reeve retorted that the chairman was out of order, after having asked for council's opinion.

Mayor Charles Lamb severely criticized the engineer. "We don't want a man spending his time in the office making blue prints, when there is lots of work to be done outside," declared the mayor. "Mr. Nesbitt is a railway man and out of town a lot. When people are in trouble they call me and other councillors. I am not one bit pleased with the work of the engineer. On Ardmore Ave. and Churchill Crescent he is building a gutter down the center of the street. Who ever heard of such a thing? We asked for his resignation before and he refused. We don't want a man drawing blueprints for 1950 and '52. We want a practical engineer."

"You certainly passed out the criticism, but I don't think it is justified," returned Mr. Cobb.

"For two years Lindsay has had growing pains and council doesn't seem to know what it's all about. You've got to have plans. 73 per cent of the sidewalks here are merely streambeds for water to flow down and I never saw a town before where people have to walk in the middle of the streets half the time. That was poor planning. This council has fallen down very badly. You are not looking to the future of the town. No matter who your engineer is, it takes time to plan. If you don't back up your engineer, you won't get very far. If I criticize myself at all, it is to say that I tried to do too much. I have kept my costs low and saved your money."

Treasury Makes Communist Purge Rules

LONDON, May 26 (AP).—The Treasury has laid down the formal rules for Britain's purge of Communist and Fascist civil service workers from Government security jobs.

A worker with a confidential assignment will be removed if he is a member of the Communist party or a Fascist organization, or associated either "in such a way as to raise legitimate doubts about his reliability."

The Cabinet member who heads the department will be the final judge.

A worker who is removed from a secret job will have the right of transfer to a non-secret branch in his own or another department. However, if he is engaged in such work that no non-secret jobs are available, he must resign or be discharged.

If a worker is separated from the payroll by either resignation or dismissal he loses all pension rights.

The Treasury summary of the regulations said the procedure will be as follows:

The Minister involved will consider evidence against a worker in his department and decide whether there is a prima facie case. If in his judgment there is, he will so advise the civil servant and give him particulars.

Will Be Replaced

If the civil service workers accept the evidence, he will be replaced in his job. If he does not, he may go before a board of three advisers to the Minister whose only function is to advise the Minister on questions of fact. Meanwhile, the worker will go on special leave with pay.

The worker may call in witnesses, but will not be permitted representation by a lawyer or any other third party before the board of advisers. Neither will any third party be permitted to accompany him to the hearing.

The three advisers will report to the Minister. If the Minister decides to uphold his own ruling of a prima facie case, he will give the worker an opportunity to defend himself before taking final action.

British Sun-Seekers Enjoy Lord's Cricket Grounds

B. MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, May 26 (CP). — Sunny Summer days are scarce in London — and nowhere are they seized upon more eagerly.

Kew Gardens, Hampstead Heath and the city's multifarious parks become jammed with strollers and those who just prefer to sprawl in the sunshine. And there is no more popular resort for the sun-seeker than stately Lord's cricket ground.

Here, in the residential area of St. John's Wood, an impoverished Yorkshire gentleman named Thomas Lord built the headquarters of the national game early in the 19th century. Ever since it has been the meeting place and "home ground" of the Marylebone Cricket Club, arbiters of the rules of cricket.

Less beautiful than many of England's famous cricket-fields, Lord's, with its immaculate turf and trim white boundary-rails, has an air of dignity all its own.

Soporific Suntrap

Its covered stands on each side with bleachers at one end and a red-brick pavilion at the other form a wind-break and convert the field into a suntrap. In the sheltered sunshine the watchers lounge about or lean back contentedly on their cushions, paying as often as not, merely cursory attention to the game.

Cricket, after some veteran spectators, isn't a game that needs close attention. If "anything happens"—if, for example, a batsman completes his century or a bowler delivers a maiden over—the polite patter of applause from those who happened to notice it will apprise the others in plenty of time.

Apart from the chance to soak up sunshine, Lord's has another strong attraction on a hot afternoon. Throughout London, public houses are closed between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. The Lord's tavern stays open.

Tankards In Hand

From the steps of this oasis, tankard in hand, the experts can see as much of the field as they care to while regaling one another with reminiscences.

High on the stand across the field stands a figure of Father Time looking down on the scene. At the boundary rails dozes the "Lord's Cat"—descendant of a long line of feline mascots of the ground. When the sun shines on Lord's, all's right with the world.

Canadian Trade Takes Spotlight

By The Canadian Press

Canadian industry and trade will hold the limelight for the next fortnight.

First, the annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association starts today for three days of sessions, with some 2,000 delegates present from all parts of Canada.

The dates for this meeting in Toronto were arranged to immediately precede the opening there of the Canadian International Trade Fair, at which Canada will show her goods to the world and in return look at what other countries have to offer.

Thousands of buyers will be present and already hotels are filling up with arrivals from overseas.

The Fair gets under way with a public showing May 26. After that for two weeks only buyers and sellers will be present, except for two further public showings June 5 and 12. Meanwhile, across the country, Canada will observe a world trade week May 30 to June 5 to impress upon Canadians the degree to which their well-being depends upon world commerce.

Urges Britain Forgive Army Deserters

LONDON, May 26 — (CP). — The Evening Standard, in an editorial Tuesday urged the government to follow Canada's example by granting an amnesty to war-time deserters.

The editorial said police believe some 60 per cent of the current crimes in Britain's current wave are due to the activities of about 20,000 deserters "on the run."

"The majority of these men are far from being thugs or ruffians," the paper said. "They are men who could not stand the conditions of service life or who, when the fighting was done, had no tie strong enough to hold them from the temptation of civvy street."

"Clearly, we cannot continue for ever to harbour a shadow army of 'illegals,'" the Standard said, pointing out that Canada had granted an amnesty in 1946.

Hear Appeal Of Indian In Murder Case

TORONTO, May 26 — (CP). —

Talk by a man while asleep should not be admitted as evidence, defence counsel argued Tuesday before the Ontario Appeal Court in the appeal against the death sentence facing Maynard Jonathan, 17-year-old Brantford Indian.

Argument for Jonathan, sentenced to be hanged June 22, was made by Norman E. Lickers, Indian barrister from Brantford, who conducted the youth's defence at his trial last month. Jonathan was convicted by a Supreme Court jury for the murder of Isaac J. Hill, 77-year-old Indian trapper.

Mr. Lickers said that Jonathan's brother-in-law testified at the trial he heard Jonathan mumble in his sleep: "Isaac Hill, he will never do that again."

"In view of the fact the man was asleep and unconscious at the time," said Mr. Lickers, "what he said then should not be admissible as evidence."

"Why not—if he's talking in his sleep?" asked Chief Justice R. S. Robertson.

"It is not a voluntary statement," said Mr. Lickers.

The Chief Justice: "There's no law against a man who committed murder confessing to all his relatives, if he wishes."

Judgment was reserved.

Oliver Confident Liberals Will Form Next Government Supports Charles H. Elliott

"I'm confident that the next government in power in Ontario will be Liberal," said Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver addressing approximately 700 persons in PCVS auditorium on Tuesday night. He urged support of the local party candidate, Charles H. Elliott, and tore into his Conservative adversary saying, "We can still have strong government in power without strongarm George."

Mr. Oliver denied statements that he was more interested in future elections than the one on June 7, saying, "We're in this fight to win. I'm not interested in being leader of the opposition. I have a nice farm back in Gray County and if I can't win this time then that farm has an interesting look."

Whether this meant that Mr. Oliver would definitely resign as provincial Liberal leader if he were defeated at the forthcoming election was still being debated as the audience walked home from the rally.

The opposition leader singled out two main issues for his blast at the Drew administration: Dominion-provincial relations, and Hydro.

He said that after repeated efforts to work out satisfactory tax arrangements with the provinces, the Dominion government decided to deal with them individually and signed agreements with seven of the nine. He denied the Drew claim that "we would be signing away some of our provincial rights," pointing out that the agreement was of a temporary nature.

A Time Limit

After three years we could continue the agreement or walk out. Any agreement which can be terminated after a time limit can't be called an agreement putting our provincial rights in jeopardy."

Quebec and Ontario refused he said because "the political complexion of these two provinces is politically opposed to the government at Ottawa." He quoted Mr. Duplessis as saying he would always be opposed to Ottawa, no matter what government was there.

He described Mr. Drew as always looking for ammunition with which to lambaste the Federal government. The Conservative leader's personal charges such as "Mackenzie King piles falsehood upon falsehood," and "Howe's 'word cannot be relied upon,'" were cited by Mr. Oliver as indications that the Ontario premier opposes the Dominion government because of personal dislike.

"What draws these two men — Duplessis the super-nationalist and Drew the super-imperialist — together," he asked. And he said that he believed it was an opposition "based not on ethics or provincial rights but on opposing at every turn, and seeking to injure in some way, the Dominion government in Ottawa. It is time we in Ontario got off our high horse and stopped playing politics."

There is no real barrier between ourselves and Ottawa, he said. "We sit sulking in our corner without trying to reach an agreement. It is better to have tried and failed than not to have tried at all."

If the Liberals won the election he pledged they would immediately "move as a government to heal the rupture between Dominion and the province affecting matters of social legislation, health insurance and all the rest."

Mr. Oliver denied that he would conclude any kind of agreement with Ottawa. "Drew says I will kowtow to Ottawa. But I'm not in the habit of bowing down to any individual or any collection of individuals. We should offer the hand of co-operation to Ottawa, and I believe it would be accepted and a satisfactory solution would result."

A Liberal government would eliminate the means test for old people over 70 years of age and the cost would be borne by the Dominion. For people between ages of 65-70 the Dominion would pay half the pension. When the Health Insurance scheme was brought in this would "make Canada on a par with any country in the world."

"In this great, rich Ontario we only pay $30 as the basic old age pension. We should be thoroughly ashamed of ourselves; no group of people can keep body and soul together on that sum." He also criticized the Drew government for not allocating the extra $10 for needy cases more widely.

Pensions Up to $40

"We will pay each old age pensioner a basic pension of $40," he said. He recalled that Drew bitterly opposed the family allowance bill when it was first introduced, and described this as "typical of the Tory mentality." And he contended that the Liberals had always been in the forefront of any great social reform that had to do with the advancement of the masses of the people.

"To me, my friends, it is the hallmark of good government for any government to lay claim to leadership in the field of social legislation."

The opposition leader then charged Drew with involving Hydro in politics, and said this was the first time that this had happened. "It was always Sir Adam Beck's fear that the Hydro would be dragged into a political campaign. And yet the prime minister points out that this is the main issue in the election."

Changing of the 25-cent area to 40 cents, and the expansion program involving an expenditure of $400,000,000, were said to be the reasons for calling an election. Then he pointed out that there was "no disagreement between Grits and Tories on these two points."

The future of this province is bound up with the ability to produce cheaply with an abundance of electric power, he said. And he added that the Liberal party has as much faith in the future of the province as Mr. Drew and his cohorts ever had.

He predicted that part of the cost of conversion would be paid for out of the hydro reserve, and thus he said that it would not be true that hydro municipalities would pay nothing for this operation.

"Instead of getting the money back it will be used to carry on conversion," he said.

Caused Power Shortage

"If the Drew government in 1946 had developed the power project on the upper Ottawa river, there would have been no power shortage. The present government knew when it came into power in 1946 that it was nip and tuck whether there would be a power shortage. It sat in the chair for three more years and did nothing. Now the project won't be finished till 1961."

"Tommy" Hogg was made the scapegoat to save the government's hide in the face of public opinion in Ontario," he charged that the Hydro Commission was now a Conservative triumvirate.

Stauders was selected as the man to succeed Drew when Drew succeeded Bracken," he jibed.

"The Liberal party will ask the hydro municipalities to seek a man of their own choosing and put him in — a man in whom the municipalities have confidence."

PHONE CALL SAVED THEIR LIVES

—All but the woman in this picture would have been dead from asphyxiation in Montreal had it not been for a chance phone call. But the experience of being gassed, then re-

He also said he would ask Mr. Hogg to re-assume the position of Hydro chairman if the party was elected.

Mr. Oliver concluded by attacking the "Santa Claus" methods of the present government. He said grants were being distributed in an effort to win votes. Royal commissions had cost the province $500,000, he claimed.

"It's not the grants I'm opposed to, it's the timing," he explained.

Mr. Oliver was introduced by Vernon Campbell and thanked by Arthur H. Lewis, president of the local Liberal Association. As soon as he finished his address, he shook hands with a number of his supporters and left immediately to speak to another meeting of Liberals in Port Hope.

Wants New Road

Charles Elliott then spoke briefly to the large audience and pledged to work for the erection of a highway from Peterborough to Haliburton. By cutting the distance an estimated 44 miles he said that lumbermen, merchants and those engaged in tourist trade would all benefit.

He said he conceived it his duty to work first for his own constituents and riding, and next to study "those things having province-wide effect."

On the subject of Dominion-Provincial relations, he said: "I can't understand why Premier Drew wouldn't allow the people of Ontario to share in the benefits of health insurance."

He paid tribute to Mr. Oliver as a leader, and said if elected ability in the cause of his constituents.

Mrs. Ruth E. Houck, vice-president of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, then gave a short address.

"The Liberal Party is the only one that has a good live, running party in every part of Canada."

"One of the things we should be most proud of is the importance of being a united Canada," she said. And added, "we want a new deal for Ontario among the provinces of the Dominion."

Mrs. Houck was introduced and thanked by Mrs. C. M. Scott. When she had finished her address she was presented with a floral tribute of red roses by Ann Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gordon.

Mr. Elliott was introduced by Dr. D. W. Munro and thanked by the chairman.

Executive members seated on the platform were Mrs. C. R. Banks, Mrs. C. M. Scott, Mrs. John Dewar, Mrs. John Dugan, Mrs. Wallace Shearer, Mrs. Charles Elliott, Jack Davidson, Havelock, Mel McIntyre, Howard Doolittle, Alex Elliott, Dr. D. W. Munro and Vernon Campbell, and Arthur H. Lewis, chairman.

Teachers Get Raise, Worse Off

TORONTO, May 26 (CP)—Despite salary increases, teachers in Canadian city schools are relatively worse off than in 1939, it was stated in a report issued today by the Canadian Education Association.

The report shows current salaries of male and female teachers and of principals of elementary and secondary schools in 38 large Canadian cities have been increased from the 1939 standard, but the rising cost of living has more than offset the increased grants in most cases.

Since 1939, the minimum salaries for women teachers has risen from seven per cent to 150 per cent in some cases, although the average salary boost is between 20-40 per cent. In a few of the smaller cities, minimum salaries have remained at the same level for the last nine years. Maximum salary increases ranged from 10 to 140 per cent with the average between 30 and 60 per cent.

Men Teachers

Minimum salaries for male teachers show a jump of from three to 110 per cent, or up to 50 per cent in the majority of cases. Increases in maximum salaries range from seven to 135 per cent with a 25-50 per cent average.

Principals have received increases since 1939 were between 20 and 30 per cent.

"With the latest cost-of-living index reported as 151.6 at April 1, only those salary categories which show increases of more than 50 per cent over 1939 could be considered as an improvement on the 1939 basic rate," the report said.

Will Receive Apology

LONDON, May 26 — (Reuters). — Maj. Roy Farran, acquitted last year on a charge of murdering a Jew in Palestine, is to receive an apology and cash payment from a London newspaper, which alleged he had joined the Arab Legion to fight the Jews. Cardwell-Hubbeard
MILLBROOK, May 26 (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hubbeard, Zion Line, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, when their second daughter, Marian Elzaida, became the bride of Kenneth Carlton Cardwell, Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cardwell, Westwood. The ceremony took place on the lawn, under an arch decorated with spring blossoms, and was performed by Rev. Walter Patterson in the presence of more than 30 guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in a floor-length dress of white figured satin, with sequin and net trimming, made with fitted bodice, short sleeves, and full gathered skirt. Her long veil of silk illusion was held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of red roses tied with a cascade of white satin baby ribbon. Attending the bride was the groom's sister, Mrs. Albert Page, Peterborough, who wore a floor-length dress of pink net over matching satin, a band of pink roses in her hair with matching short veil, and carried a nosegay of sweet peas and snapdragons. Mr. Page was groomsmen for his brother-in-law.

Mrs. Lawrence Winslow played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, sang "O Promise Me" her husband accompanying.

For the reception, Mrs. Hubbeard wore a silk jersey dress with black shirt and figured top, with grey hat, black accessories, and corsage of rose pink carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Cardwell, wore a grey striped suit, with matching hat, black accessories, and corsage of carnations. The buffet luncheon was on the lawn. Those serving the guests were Mrs. John Elgar, Mrs. Albert Olan, and Miss Audrey Armstrong. Later Mr. and Mrs. Cardwell left by motor on their wedding trip to points in western Ontario, the bride travelling in an Alice blue suit, with grey shortie coat, red shoes and accessories. They will reside in Peterborough.

Louise Anthony Is Bride Of Michael Caravaggio

The marriage of Louise Virginia Anthony and Michael Caravaggio was solemnized in Immaculate Conception Church on Monday, May 24, by Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Sullivan. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anthony, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caravaggio. During the signing of the register, Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "On This Day" and was accompanied by Mrs. C. O'Donnell who played traditional wedding music. Bouquets of tulips and lily of the valley were on the altar table.

The bridal gown was in Mandarin style of white slipper satin. The fitted bodice with Peter Pan collar was buttoned down the front, and had long sleeves, coming to points over her hands. The bouffant skirt had a bustle back which fell into a long graceful train. Her veil of bridal tulle was caught to a tiara of pearls and she carried white carnations and sweet peas. Mr. Anthony gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Joseph DeNoble, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Caravaggio, sister of the groom, attended the bride. Mrs. DeNoble was gown in orchid brocade satin fashioned with sweet heart neckline and cap sleeves and bouffant skirt. She wore a large picture hat and slippers of light grey and carried pink carnations and roses. Miss Caravaggio's frock was of lime bengaline taffeta made with portrait neckline and puff sleeves and her headpiece and slippers were in a matching shade. Her bouquet was of yellow roses with violet sweet peas.

Mr. Frank Anthony was the groomsmen. Ushers were Paul Caravaggio and Joseph DeNoble. Receiving the guests afterward at her home, Mrs. Anthony was wearing a navy flowered gown with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Caravaggio assisted her, and was gown in grey crepe with matching hat and black accessories and wore pink carnations at her shoulder.

The bride and groom left later on a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo. Mrs. Caravaggio was wearing powder blue embroidered sheer dress with accordion pleated skirt. Her three-quarter length coat was a matching blue and she had grey accessories and mink furs. They will take up residence on Charlotte St. when they return.

Girls belonging to the YWCA at Port of Spain and San Fernando are finding that it means a great deal to them to belong to a worldwide organization. They are anxious to know what it is like in other places and it is particularly beneficial to those who come to our country for higher education. There is a suspicion of outsiders brought about by unhappy situations that is overcome through the Y. Those who come to Canada comment particularly on women who do their own housework, because in Trinidad every woman who has barely enough money employs servants. This was a point Miss Haslam had to make clear when she took the girls camping, and sleeping in the open was previously unheard of. Every aspect of their camp life was watched intently, especially the beach services, but the natives liked what they saw. After several camps, club work was started and the boys have been drawn into some of these groups because there is no organization for them.

In conclusion, Miss Haslam said she believed the Y in Trinidad has gained sufficient headway to remain an active organization and it is expected a native girl will take over the secretariatship when she completes her education in several years. She expects they will branch out considerably in gymnasium and club work and that the residence which now accommodates only a half dozen will be enlarged.

Roxie Hughey Bride of
Douglas A. Baker

Spring flowers and fern formed a background at the altar of George St. United Church for the wedding on Saturday of Roxie Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hughey, Peterborough, to Douglas Albert Baker, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker, Norwood. The Rev. Dr. James Semple performed the ceremony and Mr. Charles Allen played the wedding music. Before the bride entered the church, Mrs. James Goldie sang "Through the Years" and during the signing of the register, "Because."

Ivory satin made on princess lines with a tunic effect flowing into a graceful train was the bride's choice for her wedding gown. Her veil of fine white net was caught to a Queen Anne headpiece set with seed pearls and she carried white lillies with sweet peas. Mr. Hughey gave his daughter in marriage.

Matron of honor was Mrs. R. Johnston, and Miss Doris Blodgett was bridesmaid. They wore matching gowns of nylon over taffeta in pink and blue, with matching headpieces and lace mittens, and their bouquets were of carnations and sweet peas. The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Charles Baker. Ushers were Allan McConnell and Richard Baker.

For the reception at her home, Mrs. Hughey chose a gown of Queen's blue crepe, a hat of black straw and wore a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Baker, who also received, wore a two-piece dress of grey crepe with matching felt hat and her corsage was of Talisman roses.

The bride and groom left later on an excursion motor trip through United States. For travelling the bride chose a two-piece grey ensemble with matching hat and accessories of black.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Baker will live at 605 Rubidge St., Peterborough.

McNamara-Kelly Wedding Held May 24

St. Peter's Cathedral was the setting for a Victoria Day wedding when Rosalie Florence Kelly and Joseph James McNamara exchanged nuptial vows, with the Rev. P. P. Butler officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelly, Indian River, and the groom is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David McNamara, Kilmount. Mrs. McNamara played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing white slipper satin fashioned with high neckline, finger tip sleeves and full skirt with slight train, and trimmed with inserts of lace. She wore an embroidered veil caught with orange blossoms and carried red roses. Attendants were her sister, Mrs. Mary Freeman, as matron of honor, and her niece, Joan Freeman, and the groom's niece, Sonya McNamara, as flower girls. The former was gown in powder blue silk jersey and wore matching mittens and a headpiece of blue flowers. Pink and yellow nylon taffeta fashioned similar frocks for the flower girls and bonnets to match. Each carried a Colonial bouquet of carnations and sweet peas.

The groomsmen was Mr. Brian Freeman, Dennis Doherty, nephew of the groom, and Gerald Kelly, brother of the bride, ushers.

The reception was held at Club Aragon where the bride's mother received wearing grey silk jersey with black accessories. She was assisted by the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. David McNamara, who wore rose crepe and black accessories. Each had a corsage of roses.

For travelling to Toronto, Niagara and other points, the bride changed to a blue gabardine suit with black accessories and her corsage was of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. McNamara will live at 906 High St., Peterborough.

Wives Deserve Diversion Too Often Husbands Forget

DEAR MISS DIX: I am one of the innumerable young mothers with children who have to spend every day and night in the home with the kids, while our husbands dilly-dally around from place to place. Don't you think it only fair that husbands should stay, at least, two nights a week at home in order to talk over the problems concerning their families?

We would like to go out once in a while, too, and have a little entertainment, but our husbands always have some engagement that they can't possibly break. We wouldn't mind staying at home so much, but we get lonesome with nobody to talk to, because, no matter how much you love your little children, they are not exciting company.

We love our husbands dearly, but we would like to see new faces now and then and know what's going on outside of the four walls of our homes. Can you suggest any way that we can compromise and get our husbands to give us a break?

BRESIDA

ANSWER: I get hundreds of letters like this from wives whose husbands feel that they have done their full duty to their wives by paying the bills. They put on their hats for soon as they have had their dinner and go forth to enjoy themselves and leave their wives to be nothing but baby-sitters. They never talk to them. They never show any interest in them. They never take them to places of amusement, or do anything to make life happy and contented for them.

Men Are Thoughtless

One wonders what made these men marry at all if they had no taste for domesticity. You can understand very easily why a man who has worked hard all day does want some relaxation and to see fresh faces and do interesting things, but Friend Wife has the same desires. She, too, is young and would like to go out and have a good time now and then. But she doesn't get to do it. It is a pitiful thing that a good man is so often a bad husband.

My suggestion to you would be to tell your husband that you are going to have a certain night off every week, and that he will have to stay at home and take care of the children. And stick by your resolution. Probably he doesn't realize himself how selfish he is being.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy 20 years old and think I am in love with a woman 13 years my senior. She has been married twice. What would be the chances of a happy life with a woman that is much older than myself? Am I really old enough to be married to anyone.

TROUBLED

ANSWER: You are certainly looking for trouble when you marry a woman 13 years older than you are and who has already been married twice. She will feel as if she is taking a child to rear, and she will boss the life out of you.

Don't be foolish enough to marry a woman with whom you could have nothing in common and who will cut you off from all companionship of your own age, for the other kids certainly wouldn't want to be always dragging Grandma around with them. At 20 I think you are too young to marry anybody, so wait until you have had some experience of life and have a way to support a wife before you take the fatal step.

a girl invites her Boy Friend to her home for dinner, should he not bring her mother a little present, since she is going to all the trouble of cooking? I have been surprised at how very few boys remember this little courtesy. Mother says that they are just kids and they don't think about it.

What is your view?

JUST WONDERING
ANSWER: An invitation to dinner is just a voluntary gesture of hospitality and it doesn't compel the guest to make his hostess a present. It is all a matter of taste and custom.

Inasmuch as the guests in this case are poor boys, it would work quite a hardship on them if they had to bring along a present that would cost more than they could afford.

Stewart-Slater Nuptials Held

Lakefield Presbyterian Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday when Hazel Victoria Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Slater, Lakefield Highway, was united in marriage to Clinton Austin Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stewart, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. Sharpe. Miss Jean Clarke sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered the church and "Because" during the signing of the register. She was accompanied by Mrs. Peel, who played the wedding music.

The bride wore a gown of white bridal satin with yoke of nylon net trimmed with rhinestones and covered buttons trimmed the long pointed sleeves. The full skirt formed a slight train and she wore a shoulder veil which fell in soft folds from a coronet of orange blossoms. Her flowers were a cascade of American Beauty roses. She was given in marriage by her father. Miss Bernice Slater was her sister's bridesmaid, frocked in ice blue nylon with tiers decorated the front which fell into a bustle effect at the back, and the full skirt was bordered with a flounce. She wore a coronet of blue flowers and carried a nosegay of pink roses with sweet peas. Miss Betty Slater was flower girl, and wore pink nylon, fashion similarly, and carried a nosegay of pink roses with lavender sweet peas. The groom was attended by Mr. Ralph Beavis. Ushers were Neil Stanley and Reginald Stewart. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where

Mrs. Slater received, wearing a gown of fuchsia crepe with black accessories. Mrs. Stewart assisted her, and was gowned in rose printed silk with hat of white and black straw and black accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas. A buffet luncheon was served to about 60 guests by eight girl friends of the bride. For her wedding trip to Ottawa and Montreal, the bride chose a grey gabardine suit, black and pink hat and black accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside on Antrim St., Peterborough.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY—Dowager Queen Mary is celebrating her 81st birthday today. She will have luncheon with the King and Queen in Buckingham Palace to mark the occasion. The Queen-Mother is reported to be in excellent health.

Queen Mother Reaches 81 Reported In Good Health

LONDON, May 26.—(CP).—Queen Mother Mary reached 81 today in good health.

She received the congratulations of her house staff shortly after breakfast and then read hundreds of messages wishing her well.

She plans a balcony appearance at Buckingham Palace late in the day, and although she has made no arrangements for it, no one would be surprised to see her in a theatre tonight, since there is no more ardent fan in London.

Guns boomed out royal salutes in London, at sea and abroad in her honor. Birthday gifts included a bunch of wildflowers from the school children of suburban Badminton, where the Queen Mother spent the war years.

Those near her described her health as excellent.

Flags flew over Government offices and public buildings. No formal celebrations were planned, but the King and Queen Elizabeth arranged a family luncheon party for 26 guests at Buckingham Palace.

In the afternoon, members of the Swiss Folklore Society were to go to the palace to give an open-air performance for the royal party in the garden.

Queen Mary, who maintains an unflagging interest in all the public organizations with which she has been so long associated, showed it recently by walking for three hours around the British Industries Fair.

Ease Death Duties

TORONTO, May 26.—(CP).—Provincial treasurer Frost Tuesday announced that all bequests and legacies from Ontario estates to any religious organization in Canada will be exempt from succession duties. Formerly the exemption applied on such bequests and legacies only when they went to a religious organization operating in the province.

Block Track 27 Mins.

TORONTO, May 26.—(CP).—The Canadian Pacific Railway and two employees Tuesday were fined a total of $70 in magistrate's court in suburban Islington for blocking a level crossing 27 minutes. The engineer and conductor were fined $10 each and the rail company $20 and costs. A cab driver and two street-car workers complained of being delayed.

Selling Essence Retail Trade Sales Ad Told

Speaking last night to 90 members and guests of the Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club at a banquet at Club Aragon, C. W. Wright said related selling is the essence of the modern retail trade, and for this, the buyer must be caught in a buying mood.

"But the salesman should be more interested in the buyer's problem than in the immediate sale he hopes to make," he went on. "The salesman must remember that the buyer came in with some definite purpose in mind."

Mr. Wright stressed four points in his analysis of the needs of retail trade. First, the salesman must be taught to sell; second, he must know his product; third, he must use initiative, originality, and enterprise; and fourth, the salesman must keep in mind the idea of related selling.

"The worst salesman is one who does not know his product," said Mr. Wright. "And a salesman cannot be taught to sell unless he knows his product."

Four types of salesmen were humorously illustrated by Mr. Wright: the tired type, who won't even meet the customer halfway; the storekeeper, who refuses to break up a neat display merely to sell the goods; the high pressure salesman who loves the ring of the cash register; and the merchant adviser, who is often too frank about the merchandise.

"Merchants must be taught the value of effective salesmanship, and that this ability can be taught to their salesmen. Too many say experience is the only teacher, and too many think it is too expensive; only a few admit it can be done, and ask to see the result," Mr. Wright continued.

Recently, club membership was expanded to 15, and 44 new members were introduced at the banquet by president Ted Weir. Incoming president, Paige Rowell and other committee chairmen reported on the success of the club during the past year. A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Bill Nash.

Summer Election?

MONTREAL, May 26.—(CP).—Rumors that the long-awaited Quebec provincial elections may be called late in July or early in August were given some weight today when it was learned that holidays for provincial police have been cancelled after July 19. This has been taken as an indication that the elections may take place on July 26 or August 4 as police are usually busy with the election rallies for a period of about two weeks. These dates have long been rumored as Premier Duplessis' choice.

PREMIER OF ISRAEL—Premier of the new state of Israel, David Ben-Gurion, is shown as he addressed a meeting in Tel Aviv. He is standing in front of a portrait of Theodore Herzl, honored as the founder of Zionism.

ISRAEL OFFICIAL—Arriving in New York from embattled Jerusalem is Mrs. Golda Myerson, a member of the provisional council of the new state of Israel. She is confident that there will be an "early" end to the conflict in the Holy Land, and that the boundaries of Israel will be those proposed under the United Nations partition plan.

Legion Adopts New Policy On Immigration

By DOUGLAS HOWE

SASKATOON, May 26.—(CP).—Defence policy, in which they as ex-servicemen have a personal interest, may spark vigorous debate when recommendations on it come before delegates attending the national convention of the Canadian Legion here.

So far the convention has dealt with resolutions without prolonged debate. But today the vexatious question of housing is on the agenda, with a committee expected to report that the housing shortage, in view of Legion branches generally, has not shown substantial improvement.

Delegates Tuesday voted down a motion against the appointment of an official at $5,000 or $6,000 a year to give national direction to the sale of poppies on Nov. 11. Some speakers argued the money would be better spent if given to the provinces for promotional work.

The Legion adopted a new policy on immigration when delegates vociferously approved a committee recommendation "for the entry of considerable numbers," particularly Britons, and for Canada to accept her "fair share" of displaced persons.

Veterans Taken Care Of
The tenor of about 75 resolutions indicated, said Committee Chairman Philip S. Fisher of Montreal, that veterans have been re-established to the point "where it may now be considered in the national interest that immigration should be contemplated on a larger scale."

Among others, the convention approved resolutions asking that: Student veterans' allowances be increased $10 a month for single and married men, making them $70 and $100 respectively.

Veterans be given employment preference generally.

Widows or dependents of war-dead be given their re-establishment credits; children of war-dead or totally disabled be entitled to educational benefits.

Hold Up Store
OSTRANDER, Ont., May 26.—(CP).—Two bandits, one armed, held up a general store Tuesday in this Oxford county village 12 miles southeast of Ingersoll and escaped with $40. The proprietor, C. H. Kennedy, said a third man was at the wheel of a waiting automobile, licence 4-E-170.

Urge Full Control

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(AP).—The heads of 20 railroad unions demanded Tuesday night that the United States government take "full" control of the railroads and keep them permanently if necessary. The government now is in temporary control of the railroads. President Truman seized them May 10 to avert a strike.

Japanese Striving For Democracy Bay Of Quinte Conference Told

SMITHS FALLS, May 26 (CP).—Japanese are endeavoring to turn their country into a democratic nation, Rev. D. H. Gallagher of Toronto, recently returned from a world tour of United Church missions, told the United Church Bay of Quinte Conference Tuesday night.

One of three speakers addressing more than 350 clergy and laymen from Almonte to Whitby assembled in the 102-year-old Trinity United Church here, Mr. Gallagher said the Japanese realize they have been beaten.

In his address to the 24th session of the Conference, Mr. Gallagher touched on conditions in India, China, Japan, Korea, Africa and Trinidad.

"There is no such thing as isolation now," he said. "We are all crowded together and must learn to live together."

Of Korea he said "the great Christian church of 60,000 puts us to shame." In India Mr. Gallagher had visited with the late Mahatma Gandhi. India was a land of extreme wealth and extreme poverty. There was a great lack of modern equipment. In China there was restlessness and uncertainty.

Other Speakers

Other speakers included Rev. J. R. Leng of Toronto, assistant secretary of the board of home missions, and Rev. Dr. J. J. Stamm of Rotterdam, Holland.

Mr. Leng said there was a great lack of ministers in Canadian United Churches. Figures at the end of March showed 114 vacant mission fields with 28 receiving week-end supply and 65 served by laymen. He said: "We need 232 men for our work. . . . This year only 54 men and women are graduating from theological colleges."

An active leader in the Dutch underground during the war, Dr. Stamm said he had been visiting Dutch immigrants since his arrival in Canada a month ago. He is representing the Netherlands Reformed Church in Canada and is seeking help for the migration of 17,000 persons from Holland to Canada.

More than 350 clergy and laymen from Almonte to Whitby have assembled for the 24th session of the conference, continuing for four days until Friday. Delegates gathered in the 102-year-old Trinity United Church here. Every available room and corner was occupied as 16 different committees dealt with Christian education, evangelism, social service, home missions and world relations. It even became necessary for one of the committees, the settlement group, to meet in the Baptist church nearby.

Presbyteries represented at the conference include Belleville, Cobourg, Kingston, Lindsay, Oshawa, Peterborough and Renfrew. It was the third time that Trinity church at Smiths Falls, celebrating this year its 102nd anniversary, was chosen scene of the conference.

Conference communion service in the afternoon was conducted by the president, Rev. Charles D. McLellan of Nanapan, assisted by the secretary, Rev. H. C. Wolfrum of Almonte.

Memorial Service
Rev. McLellan also was in charge of a memorial service for 10 ministers who died since the last conference. A prayer of thanksgiving and remembrance was offered by Rev. E. W. Rowland of Peterborough.

Names of ministers honored at the service are: Rev. F. H. McIntosh, Lindsay; Rev. J. B. Watts, professor at Queen's University, Picton; Rev. Andrew McLachlan, Belleville; Rev. C. W. Barrett, Brighton; Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, Oshawa; Rev. A. D. Cornett, Oshawa; Rev. J. W. Bunner, Bowmanville; Rev. James Ratnay, Eganville and Rev. James E. Beckel, Kingston.

At the conference organization meeting today a new president will be named and nominations made to general council. Four candidates for ordination Wednesday night to the Christian ministry are: Morley G. Clarke of Trenton, Thomas E. Hunko of Newcastle, James C. Kellogg of Farham and Robert M. Thompson of Oshawa.

Many Festival Contestants Give Concert At Harwood

HARWOOD, May 26 (ENS)—A musical concert was presented in Bethesda United Church, Harwood. The concert was sponsored by the Bethesda church choir and the proceeds were for renovating the church building. The platform was banked with wild blossoms, lilacs, and red tulips. Many of the performers sang the songs they will sing next week in the Northumberland Musical Festival at Cobourg. Among them was the mixed quartette, "The Bells of St. Mary's," sung by Mrs. Garnet Isaac, Miss Dorothy Leach, Glen Hogg and Kenneth Symons. The tenor solo, "Passing By," was sung by John Leach. The ladies' duet, "On Wings of Song," was sung by Mrs. Garnet Isaac and Miss Dorothy Leach. Ken Symons, gold medalist in the bass solo competition last year, is entering the baritone solo this year and sang "Glorious Devan." Several classes are being entered in the festival by members of the Gore's Landing-Plainville school. The school sang "The Song of the Gondoliers," and was conducted by Mrs. George Campbell, music teacher. The following girls, nine years and under sang "Spring," Jean Herriot, Pamela Harris, June Lander, Anne Pomeroy, Lois Harris. Girls, nine to

Legion Auxiliary Welcome Mrs. Waller

APSLEY, May 26 (ENS)—At the regular meeting of Women's Auxiliary, Legion Branch No. 381, the Zone representative, Mrs. Waller of Cobourg was visitor. This was her first official visit here and she was accompanied by four members of Cobourg Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. Parrington of Peterborough Branch Auxiliary was also present.

Mrs. Waller spoke on new by-laws and the convention which is to be held at Sault Ste. Marie this fall. Report was read on boxes of food sent to Britain and a large quantity of food was donated in preparation for packing more boxes.

Many beautiful articles were brought in by members for bazaar to be held at the field day in July. Two beautiful crocheted pieces, crocheted by a woman over 80 years of age, deserve special mention. Cobourg Branch donated an article to be raffled. Mary Ellen Caverly, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rae Caverly drew Mrs. Chas. Smith's ticket.

At the conclusion of the business the member of Canadian Legion No. 387 who had been in session in another room in the Hall joined the ladies. During the preparation of lunch, community singing was enjoyed, with Mrs. Percy Thompson of Mount Julian at the piano.

Do You Suffer FROM A "Weak" Back?

Does sitting in a draft or in a damp, chilly room sometimes bring on an aching back? Many people say they get "cold" in the back—or in the kidneys—so easily. At such times it's good to know about the quick relief of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Remember, both kidneys and liver must filter out impurities from your bloodstream. So if you feel tired, worn-out, headachy—with painful joints and aching back—look to both your kidneys and liver. That's why Canadians have been relying on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for over half a century. Give your system a chance to work properly. Always keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills handy—especially during damp chilly weather. The name "Dr. Chase" is your assurance.

Prompt Action Smothers Flaming Gas

MILLBROOK, May 26 (ENS)—Another fire scare of brief duration took place on King St. Saturday evening, soon after 9 o'clock, when some one lit a cigarette and threw the lighted match on the ground in front of Chapman's service station, igniting some gas spilled at that point where a car had just been serviced. The car was promptly driven off when the gas flared up, and the use of a fire extinguisher, which Laveren Gibson hastily brought from the store, soon put out the flaming blaze.

The vicinity of the gas tanks, and many cars in the neighborhood, made the fire hazard a dangerous one.

Present Blanket To Dora Ketchen

HAVELOCK, May 26 (ENS)—The home of Mrs. George Kennedy was the scene of a delightful surprise party on Saturday evening when the members of the Young Women's Association of Knox Presbyterian Church assembled to honor one of their members, Miss Dora Ketchen, whose marriage is an interesting event in June.

The bride-to-be was presented with a beautiful wool Kenwood blanket by the president of the association, Mrs. Grenville Rutherford. A beautiful bride's book made by Mrs. Fred Bennett contained the presentation address which was read by her.

A contest in trimming a hat for the bride's trousseau resulted in Misses Essie McQuigge, Isabel tied for first honors. Mrs. B. Mathison and Mrs. F. Bennett beat Curtis and Mrs. R. Sayers tied in a contest for writing a five-word telegram to the guest of honor. Mrs. H. McNeely and Mrs. G. Rutherford were the winners in a drawing contest.

Lunch was served from a table centred with a prettily decorated bride's cake which was flanked by pink candles in silver holders. Those present were: Mrs. Grenville Rutherford, Mrs. Fred McQuigge, Mrs. Fred Bennett, Mrs. Bruce Curtis, Mrs. J. W. Ketchen, Miss A. Gillies, Mrs. D. Scott, Miss Cleo Copp, Miss Eleanor Griffith, Mrs. R. Sayers, Mrs. T. Watson, Mrs. G. Kennedy, Mrs. T. Green, Mrs. H. McNeely, Miss Isabel Mathison.

ROAD BLOCK BARS ROAD IN JAFFA—As the new Jewish state of Israel resists the encroachments of hostile Arabs, territory now in the possession of the Israelites is protected by barricades and road blocks, such as this one erected on the main road leading from Jaffa, ancient Holy Land city next to Tel Aviv.

Ask Restricted Grand Bend Area Declared Invalid

TORONTO, May 26 (CP)—Racial discrimination which would prohibit the purchase or use of property by certain racial groups was attacked as illegal in an action Saturday in weekly court before Mr. Justice Walter Schroeder. The case concerned property in the summer resort area at Grand Bend on Lake Huron, sold with the stipulation that it could not be rented to be used, occupied or sold to people of "Jewish, Hebrew, Semitic, Negro or colored race and blood." The deed restricted the property's use to "persons of white or Caucasian races."

Mr. Justice Schroeder reserved his decision. "This is a problem of far-reaching importance," he said. "It is not only this Lake Huron summer colony that is involved but property all over the country. I want to give it study and consideration."

The case arose over property which Mrs. Annie Noble sold to Bernard Wolf, of London. The land was part of an area which had been under restriction since 1932. Acting for Mrs. Noble, J. R. Cartwright asked that the restrictive clause in the deed be declared invalid. The motion was opposed by K. G. Morden, representing members of the Beach of Pines Protective Association and 35 property owners.

Mr. Cartwright asked that the restrictive clause in the sale covenant be declared invalid on three grounds, chief of which was that it offended public policy. He maintained that the clause was unenforceable because there was no way of making certain who fell into the restricted classes.

Arabs Pressing Attack Against Sagging Line; Jews Gain In Galilee

CAIRO, May 27.—(AP)—The Jewish army said today it wiped out an Egyptian advance position northeast of Gaza, on the coastal plain south of Jewish-held territory.

At Jerusalem, Arab Legionnaires and Egyptians attacked in the new city. King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan visited the old walled city and was hailed by Arabs as "King of Jerusalem."

A Hagana unit struck at Beit Hanoun, four miles northeast of Gaza in Arab territory, killed 30 Egyptians and seized or destroyed three heavy guns of the Egyptian artillery, the Israeli communiqué said.

The communiqué said Jewish planes Wednesday night lashed at Arab positions in the Ramallah sector, northwest of Jerusalem, and at positions around the Holy City itself. Other planes attacked Arab concentrations and artillery emplacements near Kfar Biddu, along the Tel Aviv-Jerusalem road, from which shelling had been directed at a Jewish settlement.

New Attack
Arab forces pined by Egyptians and including Arab Legionnaires and irregulars mounted an attack from the outskirts of bloody Ramat Rehel, between Bethlehem and Jerusalem, against Jewish positions in the new city of Jerusalem, Arab officials in Cairo said.

Inside the old city, where Arab Legionnaires continued to blast away at a thin remaining line of Hagana machinegun posts along the south wall, King Abdullah prayed at the Holy Sepulchre Church, Calvary and the Mosque of Omar, three of the holiest shrines of Christendom and Islam.

In the north, the Jewish Communiqué said, Hagana troops counter-attacked the Arabs near Gesher, south of the Sea of Galilee, and occupied a key point.

Clear Galilee

A dispatch from Tel Aviv said that the Israelis, in "Operation Broom" have swept exposed northern Galilee clear of Arabs, beating back Syrian and Lebanese attacks.

$10,000 Wife Gets Fair List Of Takers

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y., May 27.—(AP)—An attractive chat check girl who announced she would marry the man who would ante up $10,000 cash and support her and her two children had a sizeable list of takers today.

The 28-year-old divorcee, Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, got 14 quick telephone replies Wednesday after her offer appeared in the Hempstead Newsday.

APPLE BLOSSOM TIME — Although orchardists claim that blossoming is about three weeks late this Spring, there are some varieties at their best now and Merle Moncrief, left, and Maxine Grant, both of Peterborough, were intrigued by the sight of billowing blossoms in Norman Moncrief's orchard on the Water Trough Hill. They braved hundreds of bees that buzzed around the flowers to get a good close look at a flowering branch.

Veteran Bush Pilot Killed In River Crash

TORONTO, May 27 (CP)—W. H. (Jimmy) Westaway, veteran bush pilot, was killed today when his Ontario air service plane crashed on a lake off on the Severn river, just north of Orillia.

Westaway, who has been with the provincial air service for most of the 25 years it has been in existence, was trapped in his plane and drowned.

A forest ranger named Taylor was injured and another ranger, whose name was not known immediately here, was not hurt.

In Two Wars

A short, quiet man, Westaway was a veteran of the first world war. He saw flying service in the Middle East in the early '20s. In the second world war he served again with distinction.

With the air service, he served for years at Oba Lake, a summer forest fighting base some 160 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA — A $20,000,000 housing program to accommodate more than 2,000 armed services members and ease the civilian housing shortage was announced today by Defence Minister Claxton. The minister said the program this year calls for completion of 2,350 new houses and that of this number, 1,179 were under construction at April 1. "The program will be a direct contribution to relief of housing shortages in civilian communities," and army statement said. "In moving into service married quarters, service families will make housing available for civilian families."

US Atomic Expert Lauds McNaughton's Leadership

KINGSTON, May 27.—(CP)—Frederic S. Soborn, United States atomic energy adviser, said today that Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada has given the leadership in international control efforts of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

Warm co-operation of the majority of countries on the 11-member commission was the prime basis of what work has been accomplished, Soborn said in an address at the National Defence College.

Soborn, deputy American representative of the Atomic Energy Commission, said commission delegates have concluded that "agreement for effective prohibition and control will not be reached until there is a complete re-orientation of Soviet thinking."

Wets Demand A Recount In Campbellford Election

CAMPBELLFORD, May 27.—(Staff). — With 132 rejected ballots, and a narrow margin separating them from victory, the wet forces in Campbellford will demand a recount in the liquor and beer plebiscite held in the town on Wednesday, W.

A. Hogle, wets' campaign manager, said. The vote was held to decide whether both or either a brewer's warehouse and a liquor store would be set up in the village. The wet forces require a 60 per cent majority to make any change.

Campbellford has been dry since 1908, and only once in those 40 years was the strict threatened. The vote at that time kept the municipality dry.

There are 2,124 names on the voters' list, and election officials estimate that of that number 1,937 exercised the franchise.

The voters had these choices. They could vote for or against liquor, or for or against beer. The totals as released by John McGregor, town clerk, and returning officer, is as follows: For liquor, 1,078; against liquor, 727. For beer, 1,079; against beer, 720.

In the liquor question by adding the two totals the figure of 1,805 is obtained. To secure a majority, the wets had to obtain 60 per cent of that total. Sixty per cent of 1,805 or 1,083, which means the wets lack five votes.

Similarly in the beer vote, the total was 1,799. Sixty per cent of that is 1,079.4, which means that one vote more is needed for a decision in favor of the wets.

The voting by wards was as follows:

	Liquor	Beer
For Against	For Against	For Against
Ward One	325 178	325 178
Ward Two	248 151	243 149
Ward Three	273 230	277 227
Ward Four	232 168	234 169
Totals	1078 727	1079 720

The recount if held will have to be done in front of a judge appointed by provincial authorities, and with both sides having

Deny Welfare Heads Threatened In Probe

EDMONTON, May 27.—(CP)—Intimidations that Alberta "threatened" welfare officials who volunteered information to the 1947 Whitson survey were denied Wednesday by Welfare Superintendent Charles B. Hill.

Mr. Hill, testifying for the seventh successive day before a royal commission, was being cross-examined about a letter his department sent to provincial and municipal welfare workers early in 1947.

Chief Justice Howson already has indicated he considers certain allegations so far unsubstantiated and the province "maligned."

The allegedly "threatening letter" told welfare workers throughout the province of the I.O.D.E.'s plan; that the survey "was not at the province's request" and referred them to article 69 of the Child Welfare Act relating to confidential information. Still penalties were provided for violations.

Fire Bullet At Manager Blocking Way

Two Thugs Escape In Stolen Car After Looting Vault

THEDFORD May 27.—(CP)—Two armed thugs escaped with about $3,400 from the local branch of Canadian Bank of Commerce today after firing a shot at bank manager W. G. Moorhead.

The pair escaped toward Parkhill in a stolen automobile they had parked in a laneway between the bank and a store next door. Police broadcast the marker number throughout western Ontario as 426-A1.

Mr. Moorhead said the thugs had parked their car in the laneway a few minutes before they entered the bank.

As the bandits rushed into the branch, they ordered Mr. Moorhead, his staff of two girls—Kathleen Brown and Anna Borthwick—and a customer Ernest Punkett of Ottawa, to raise their hands.

"One of them said 'Come on, this is it,' Mr. Moorhead related. 'No,' the manager said. He replied and shut the door in their faces. It was then the shot was fired and the four persons were ordered to lie on the floor."

Forced To Roll Over

Mr. Moorhead said he tried to get a good description of the hold-up men but one of the pair noticed him watching and forced him to roll over on his stomach.

The vault door was shut and one of the thugs—short, with a light moustache—ordered the manager to "open up."

"I opened the outer door," Mr. Moorhead said. "I thought I might get away with that but they made me open an inside door. Just what they got there I haven't had time to investigate."

He said he had not touched the vault as he was waiting for police to arrive.

The short bandit had his overcoat pulled up around his face while his accomplice, about five foot nine, wore a mask.

As soon as the money was scooped from the teller's cage and vault, the quartet on the floor were ordered into the vault and locked in. A couple of minutes later, Chris Henderson, village secretary treasurer, let them out.

"The manager said the pair 'knew what they were going to' and 'seemed to me like professionals.'"

Minutes after the alarm was broadcast, Provincial Police laid down a series of road blocks in the district in an attempt to stop the holdup car. The car had a short radio aerial on the left side. The license plate was reported stolen in Toronto.

Escapes Reds Estonian Drowns

TORONTO, May 27.—(CP)—Twenty-year-old Oswald Kaljulaid, one of the 23 Estonians who recently crossed the Atlantic ocean to seek freedom in North America, was drowned late Wednesday night in an attempt to save his girl companion after their rowboat upset in the west-end of Lake Huron.

The girl—Ollie Korz—was saved by Bob Whiting and Sidney Rogers.

When police tried to place the story together all the youthful domestic could say was: "He's gone, he's gone."

The men "passed to the scene upon hearing the girl's cries for help and managed to get her into the rowboat which righted itself after capsizing. Whiting dived several times but was unable to locate Kaljulaid. Lifesavers later recovered the body in eight feet of water."

The party of Estonians, of which Kaljulaid was a member, fled persecution in their native land and risked a 75-day sea voyage in a small boat in an effort to find peace and freedom in North America. They reached the United States but found legal barriers preventing them from entering that country. After they were detained at Ellis Island six weeks, arrangements were made for their entry into Canada.

3 Killed In Washout

LUNDBRECK, Alta., May 27.—(CP)—Three members of a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train crew were killed near here Wednesday night when the engine and seven cars crashed into Rock Creek where a bridge had been washed out by floods. Lundbreck is about 80 miles west of Lethbridge. The three killed were Engineer W. M. Donnett, Fireman Edward Lewis James and head-end Trainman G. H. Cripps. The creek rose suddenly on Wednesday night, swollen by melting-snow waters. The freight crew had no warning of the washout. The engine ploughed into the swollen stream and seven cars piled on top of it.

Whitby Doctor Overcharges, Judge Decides

WHITBY, May 27.—(CP)—Mr. Justice G. A. Gale in Supreme Court Wednesday ordered Dr. John A. McArthur of nearby Blackstock to repay $150.75 to the estate of Willam Leonard of Port Perry. The doctor "grossly overcharged" Mr. Leonard, his patient, Mr. Justice Gale said.

Dr. McArthur, who had treated Mr. Leonard for a period of close to eight months, had submitted a bill for nearly $2,000, of which Mr. Leonard had paid $1,000. Following his death, executors of Mr. Leonard's will launched the action, claiming that the total bill was excessive and asking that a reasonable figure be set by the court.

Dr. McArthur replied with a counter claim for the balance of the bill. The counter claim was dismissed.

"This is a most distressing case," His Lordship said in giving judgment. "It is one which caused me a great deal of anxious concern. I am bound to pay due respect to those who are members of a sister profession."

"It is most distressing to have to give judgment in such a way as to reveal a member of the medical profession demeaning himself for avarice. I cannot describe Dr. McArthur's conduct in any other way. He came to the conclusion that he was fortunate to have a patient against whom he could render an account which need not be fair nor reasonable."

Tried Threats

Reviewing the evidence, Mr. Justice Gale noted that Dr. McArthur had charged Mr. Leonard $150 for treatment for a broken hip. Medical evidence made him believe, the judge said, that Mr. Leonard's hip had not been broken and he disallowed the charge.

Evidence showed, he continued, that when Mr. Leonard decided he no longer wanted to retain Dr. McArthur's services, the doctor had approached a nurse at whose house the patient was staying, and suggested to her that she tell Leonard that she would not keep him to stay on if he did not keep Dr. McArthur's service. He said he was accepting the nurse's evidence that Dr. McArthur "was prepared to sink to such a level."

Hundreds Of Children Help To Sandbag Lines Against Roaring Floods

Nachako River Catches Hundreds Off Guard Fleeing From Other Areas; Damage Reaches Millions, No Relief Yet

VANCOUVER, May 27.—(CP)—Most of British Columbia today was fighting a desperate, losing battle against the worst flood in more than 50 years. The "battle area" extends from Prince Rupert on the coast, 500 miles north, to Prince George, 350 miles northeast of here in north-central BC, and east to the Alberta border.

The Nachako River in the north Wednesday night unleashed a raging torrent which caught hundreds of persons off guard. They poured into Prince George, wading through water and carrying their belongings in suitcases.

Service club officials today dispatched boats to nearby beleaguered areas to evacuate those cut off by the rampant tributary of the Fraser. As flood victims crowded the town of 2,000, the Nachako followed on their heels.

To the south, the rampaging Fraser burst the dykes at Agassiz, 73 miles east of here, and early today the valley town was under water.

Hundreds of school children late Wednesday night worked with weary men in a futile attempt to sandbag a line of defence.

About 100 families were being evacuated early today. Power cables were washed out. More than 1,000 acres of fertile farmlands were inundated.

No Improvement
At Kimberley, where damage already totals $1,000,000, the tumultuous Mark Creek had not abated. Dynamiting was still continuing as workers tried to divert the creek. About 550 persons were made homeless when it changed its course and roared through the city's centre.

At Prince Rupert, the Skeena still was rising. Seven railway washouts were reported. About 1,000 feet of track was washed out at Salvo, 58 miles east. The neighboring town of Terrace was isolated by rail and highway.

Terrace residents and those from Reno, Utah and Pacific were being evacuated.

Steadily rising waters of the Okanagan River threaten to flood the valuable fruit lands of the Okanagan Valley.

There appeared no early prospect of relief. Government engineers warned that continued high temperatures would have disastrous results. Much of the mountain snow had not yet melted.

Warns US Quislings

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Paul Griffith, an American Legion leader, told senators today that "100,000 trained and seasoned Quislings of the Communist front" now threaten the United States. Griffith, past national Legion commander, made the statement before a Senate committee. He asked speedy senate approval of the house-passed Mundt-Nixon bill to curb Communists. It would require registration of Communist organizations, and Communist front groups.

The informant said the foreign office is ready to have the 37 British officers serving with the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion withdrawn when Bevin gives the word. The source said it can be assumed that, if the Security Council rules the Arab states are defying the cease-fire order, Britain would take swift action to set her own policy in line with the U.N.

Discover Man's Body In Burned Truck

TORONTO, May 27.—(CP)—The body of a man found today in the blackened shell of a truck destroyed by fire in a garage was identified as John Thomas Ford, 70, an old-age pensioner. Identification was taken from a laundry tag.

Police said the man apparently broke into the garage and went to sleep in the truck. It is believed he inadvertently started the fire when he lit a cigarette.

The body was located by the truck owner's wife, Mrs. Edward Ford. She said the fire had been extinguished and firemen had left the scene.

Everything From Canoes To Barges In Use To Move Residents, Stock To The Pas; So Far Unable To Repair Break In River Bank

WINNIPEG, May 27.—(CP).—Boats now are the only means of communication and transportation in the flooded Carrot River valley 450 miles northwest of here—and everything from canoes to barges is being used to bring residents and stock into The Pas. Much grain remains to be salvaged from the area inundated by three rampaging rivers—the Saskatchewan, the Carrot and The Pas. Evacuation has made good progress.

Ontario Plans To Attend Health Parley

TORONTO, May 27.—(CP).—The Ontario government will be represented at a conference in Ottawa June 7-8 called by the Federal government to lay the groundwork for the $300,000-a-year Dominion health program, Premier Drew announced Wednesday night.

In an Ontario election campaign speech in suburban East York, he said the conference was "one for which we have been asking for 4½ years."

Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal Leader, told a meeting at Kapuskasing that a program of road development should be undertaken at once in Northern Ontario.

Concerning the health services conference, Mr. Drew said: "True, it is not on as wide a basis as we would have liked, but we will be there. The fact that Health Minister Martin has called this meeting shows that the Dominion government recognizes that the Dominion-Provincial conference in 1945 was not satisfactory."

"They now have adopted most of the proposals we put forward in 1945. Those they have not included will be put forward by this government at the meeting."

Earlier Mr. Drew said Mr. Oliver stated in Peterborough that the Liberals, if elected June 7, would not carry out the program put forward by the government. Instead the Liberals would change southern Ontario power from 25 cycles to 60 cycles under a plan suggested by Dr. Thomas Hogg, former Hydro chairman.

Mr. Drew said Dr. Hogg's program would place an additional charge on each municipality where frequency is being changed and on persons who have equipment to be changed.

Mr. Oliver charged the Drew government with paying too much attention to building four-lane highways while neglecting secondary roads. He said lack of planning was evident in the building of north county roads, with "a wee bit done here this year and a wee bit there next year."

Not Original

In his speech in support of Joseph Habel, Liberal candidate in Cochrane North, he said extension of Hydro-Electric power from Smooth Rock Falls to Kapuskasing, to be undertaken this summer, did not originate with the Drew government.

"Your Liberal member, Mr. Habel, arranged for the signing of these contracts as far back as 1938 and the war intervened."

Combining a comment on northern roads with a reference to his charge in Ottawa that Premier Drew used a Hydro Commission plane on his Northern Ontario tour, Mr. Oliver said:

"I took the precaution of coming north by Trans-Canada Air Lines. And I didn't come by a Hydro Commission plane either."

ness invasion drives in counter-thrusts across the frontiers. The dispatch said the Jews now occupy western Galilee, which the United Nations partition plan mapped out as Arab territory.

The war raged on inside the old and new cities and elsewhere in the Holy Land, echoing the failure of the United Nations to bring about a truce.

Referring to the Arab rejection of an unconditional truce, Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, Secretary-General of the Arab league, told reporters here that "to stop fighting now does not mean peace but just a postponement of the war for a short period, after which fighting will be more terrible and battles more destructive than now."

"We could have taken Jerusalem earlier," he said, "but we did not want to sacrifice more men when we are sure of the ultimate result following complete encirclement of the Jews in Jerusalem."

Hill Strong Action
Arab rejection of the United Nations cease-fire plea aroused grave concern among its delegates. One anonymous spokesman for a big-power delegation predicted the U.N. Security Council would take strong action. He said the organization had gone too far in its efforts to bring peace to the Holy Land to back down now.

Strong action might include diplomatic and economic sanctions and even the sending of an international force to Palestine. The United States State Department has already sent about two dozen Skyraider transport

Cocktail Bar Vote Asked Of Candidates

G. A. Brethen, president of the Peterborough County Temperance Union said today that letters had gone out to the three candidates already nominated for the riding of Peterborough in the election of June 7. The three men are being asked to declare their stand on the establishing cocktail bars at communities of under 50,000 without a vote of the people and an early reply is asked of each.

The letter sent out is as follows: "While there are other important issues, many Ontario voters are deeply concerned with the enormous increase in government sale of liquor. A question that is apparently disturbing the minds of many local people, at this time, is the possibility that following the current election cocktail bars and drinking by the glass may be forced upon Peterborough and other smaller cities without the option of a vote, as was done to five larger Ontario cities, some time ago."

"As this question has not been raised by any of the nominees in the present local campaign, to clarify the issue in the minds of the voters, I have been requested to ask you as a candidate in the electoral district of Peterborough to declare your position by answering the following question."

"Will you, if elected, vote against any proposed enabling legislation introduced in the Legislature of Ontario, that would extend the operation of cocktail bars and lounges to Peterborough or any centre under 50,000 in population without first submitting the decision of such question to the voters of the municipality concerned?"

Dive-Bombing Attack
Inside Palestine the battle for the old walled city of Jerusalem and the highway leading west to Tel Aviv held major attention. Tel Aviv was subjected to a dive-bombing attack Wednesday night.

Officers of the Trans-Jordan Legion pressing the attack in the old walled city of Jerusalem said Jewish fighters were still holding out in Hurva Synagogue, but claimed surrender is imminent.

The Jews held only 280 square yards of rubble-strewn ground. Legion leaders said, Arab dynamite squads blasted buildings surrounding the synagogue while artillery units pumped shells into the house of worship, turned into a fortress.

The Arabs said a new request by the Jewish Agency for a truce to remove about 300 Jewish women and children from the old city was refused.

800 Casualties
An Arab Legion communiqué revised upward to 800 the number of Jews claimed killed in the battle at Latrun west of Jerusalem, and said the Jews suffered a "crushing defeat" in fighting that extended over Latrun, Beit Jiz and Khulda settlements.

Khulda is about five miles west of Latrun, a key point on the highway which the Jews must use in efforts to bring supplies from Tel Aviv to the 90,000 Jews inside the Holy City.

An Egyptian defence ministry communiqué said that two Jews arrested near Gaza had confessed to throwing typhoid and dysentery germs into the water supply of Egyptian troops there.

Six Powers Agree On Germany

US Makes Concessions So France Agrees To Modify Conditions

LONDON, May 27.—(AP).—A six-power deadlock over western Germany's future was broken today; negotiations appeared headed for full agreement on setting up a provisional German government.

Diplomatic officials said the break, in an economic impasse, came Wednesday night when the delegates concurred on broad powers for an international control board over the mineral resources of the Ruhr.

The deadlock caused by French objection to the plan for reshaping western Germany's future, had threatened to cause failure of the talks involving the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Informants said France agreed to the Ruhr international authority for control over allocations of iron ore, coal and coke after the United States made concessions on French demands that safeguards be set up against the possibility that expanded German production might be used as a war potential.

Agreement was reached after Foreign Secretary Bevin intervened. Bevin conferred Tuesday with United States Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas, chief of the American delegation, and Rene Massigli, French ambassador and head of the French delegation.

Bevin was reported to have advised the American and French delegates to compromise, on the ground that the deadlock might jeopardize both the European recovery program and the future of the western European alliance among Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The French are expected to withdraw their objection to the creation of a provisional German government starting with a constituent assembly on or about Sept. 1.

He was arrested in connection with an attempted drug store burglary.

Cobourg People Demand Restricted Area

COBOURG, May 27. (ENS).—A petition from residents of George Street asking that the street be declared a residential area was presented at Wednesday night's meeting of council. L. E. Taylor, on behalf of the petitioners, told council that a building permit had been granted to a man on that street to build a garage. He was also to have built a house but was now constructing a lean-to on the garage and was apparently going to live in it.

Councillor George Galbraith commented that people on the street wanted to stop a "half-baked building" going up. The difficulty was that there was no building bylaw. Mayor Joe Smith said that the lengthy building bylaw had not been finished but that he and the town engineer would look into the matter about which the petitioners were complaining.

Council passed two bylaws providing retirement allowances for Frank Markey and James Campbell, town employees. Permission was granted to Dr. W. E. Wilkins to move some building material from Division street to Swayne. The town engineer explained that Dr. Wilkins had been granted authority to build a one-storey building of solid cement block walls. Councillor Harvey Brent observed that the town council could not stop Dr. Wilkins from moving the building materials but there would be some kind of control over the type of building.

A letter from the Collegiate Board enclosed a resolution which expressed the board's willingness to discuss the high school area plan with the municipalities interested. Council felt that it should have a representative at any such discussion.

Permission was granted for erection of the new theatre marquee, subject to compliance with the town by-law. An interim report on negotiations between the Board of Transport Commissioners and the CNR and CPR relative to protection at the Ontario St. crossing, was received and filed.

Truman Lauds Loyalty; Virden To Stay

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP).—John Virden, his loyalty doubly stamped with approval, decided today to stay on in his high Department of Commerce job.

His daughter, Euphemia, with whom he broke because she took agency, stayed on likewise in her job with Tass, Russian news job, transmitting news dictated to her by Tass reporters.

Virden resigned last Friday after Representative Fred Crawford (Rep., Mich.) had called attention to his daughter's employment. Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer asked him not to quit, and President Truman assured him in an unusual letter Tuesday that "my faith in your loyalty is unshaken."

The presidential letter apparently prevailed upon Virden. Today Sawyer issued a statement saying:

"I am pleased to say that Mr. John C. Virden has withdrawn his letter of resignation and will continue to carry on the work of the office of industry co-operation as he has in the past."

This office guides the work of voluntary agencies by industry to direct steel and other scarce material to essential uses. When a reporter asked his 22-year-old daughter today about her father's decision to withdraw his resignation, she seemed cheerful, but would only say "No statement."

Virden, in offering his resignation, said he wanted to spare Sawyer "the embarrassment that this is likely to cause you."

Virden wrote sorrowfully: "My daughter, though a girl of high ideals, is only 22 and in my judgment is simply being exploited. It happens that I have been almost violently anti-atheist-Marxist, so much so that it is truly ironical for a member of my family to be interested in the Marxist type of philosophy."

Miss Virden joined Tass as a teletypist last January.

year life of the institution, an honorary degree was conferred during convocation exercises. The recipient was Frank Palmer, director of the horticultural experimental station at Vineland, who was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Record Number At Annual Music Festival

COBOURG, May 27. (ENS).—Annual Northumberland County Music Festival opened yesterday morning for a four-day and night run with the largest number of entries in the history of the festival. Eight hundred and ten entries will be heard during the festival and the prize winners will be heard in a special concert on Saturday night. Some idea of the entry list can be gained from the fact that in the girl's vocal solo, 13 years and under, there are 96 entries. In the boy's vocal solo, under nine years, there are over 50 competitors. In another boy's vocal solo class there are 71 entries. Following are the results of yesterday:

Class 1, piano solo, 10 years and under—1st, Donald Harris of Coldsprings, 82 per cent; 2nd, Harriet Houlihan of Codsington, 81 per cent; and Marlene Wartman of Warkworth, 79 per cent.

Class 47, cornet solo, open—Sidney Merry, Cobourg, 79 per cent; William Cowin, Cobourg, 77 per cent.

ham, 82 per cent; Edward Thompson of Warkworth, 81 per cent; and Oliver Kaiser of Colborne, 80 per cent.

Jacqueline Potter, Warkworth, 80 per cent; Jack Carlton and Victor Emery, Cobourg, 79 per cent.

225 Acres Burned In Northern Area

THESSALON, May 27. (CP).—A forest fire in the Mississauga district, 35 miles northeast of here, has spread over some 225 acres, it was reported today.

An estimated 150 men are battling the blaze. Aircraft of the Ontario government air service are being used to rush more men and equipment to the scene. A smaller fire at Franz, 150 miles northwest of here, was reported under control.

The biggest northern Ontario blaze—in an unnamed township east of Lake Helen in the Nipgon area—has spread over 4,000 acres.

Suspect Arson

TORONTO, May 27. (CP).—Police said they are investigating the possibility of arson in a fire which damaged a grocery store on east-end Kingston road early today and forced several families to evacuate second-storey apartments. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

The National Attack Against Mental And Venereal Diseases

Two of the scourges of humanity and not least of Canadians, are mental illness and venereal diseases. We do not link them together because the one is necessarily related to the other, but because they are the two greatest single diseases afflicting Canadians. They are the greatest single immediate threats to a healthy future for Canada.

In 1945, the last year for which we have accurate figures, there were 64,016 patients in our mental institutions (one-third of them in Ontario), or in terms of hospital accommodation, between one-third and one-half the available beds were occupied by the mentally ill. There were uncounted, unknown thousands of mentally diseased people (including the sexually perverted) for whom there was no accommodation, no adequate facilities or methods of treatment, and in some cases, no means of diagnosis or detection until a crime had been committed, a suicide's body found or a family's unhappiness bared in court. Canadians must therefore hail with relief the specific parts of the great National Health Plan announced on May 14th by the Prime Minister which provide for the study and treatment of mental illness. Federal grants to the provinces to combat and prevent mental ill-health will start at four million dollars a year and rise over a period of years to a maximum of seven millions. The program is not confined to direct treatment and care of known sufferers (as, for instance, through the additional grants for the construction of hospitals). The plans provide for research into the causes and cure of mental diseases, and for social investigation into the best methods of coping with the whole situation.

The other great affliction is venereal diseases. In 1945 there were 15,279 known cases of syphilis and 25,237 of gonorrhoea in Canada. Again, about one-third of them were in Ontario. The total of known venereal disease cases was 40,528. That is a shocking state of national health. The next highest communicable disease was chickenpox — 31,000 cases. Even if V.D. were as innocuous as chickenpox a determined effort should be made to reduce its incidence. But unlike chickenpox, the pox and gonorrhoea are vicious — they can not only maim the sufferer but also his unborn children. And unlike chickenpox, the cases are not readily or fully detected. In addition to the thousands of cases known there are thousands unknown. However, unlike chickenpox, V.D. can be virtually wiped out. This has been demonstrated in the Scandinavian countries. What they can do, Canada can do. The problem must be tackled on a national scale, and it now will be. To assist the provinces, Federal grants of half a million dollars a year will be given to intensify the present efforts to control this scourge.

The National Health Program is of vast importance to the present health and future well-being of this country. Not the least significant phases of it are the planned direct attacks against our two great social ills—mental and venereal diseases.

The Spectre Of Hunger

The world population has increased by 150,000,000 since 1938. Since then war has devastated fruitful soil, laid waste vineyards and orchards and barns, taken men from the land and put them into uniform or armament factories, disrupted the channels of trade whereby nations in need of food traded the products of their factory for them and made even the fertilizers and seeds difficult to procure.

It is this post-war world which has to feed the extra 150,000,000 people — and a world sorely divided into at least two camps: one division in Europe alone is hindering the production and proper distribution of food—for not only are there too many men under unproductive arms, but the industrial non-communist west cannot get the food supplies it used to depend on from the primarily agrarian — and now communist-controlled east.

Sir John Boyd Orr, retiring Director-General of the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations has given the grim warning that disaster lies ahead unless the nations of the world take aggressive and resourceful and concerted action. Miracles of good weather all over the world and half-measures of relief will not save the tens of thousands who seem destined to starve next winter.

There must be less attention paid to armaments and more to the growing of food. Nations with good stocks of food must send to the others not only their surplus but some of what they consider essential to their own comfortable diet. There must be an over-all plan. One seemed to be in the process of formulation until last October 28th, when the American State Department defeated the Department of Agriculture and told the food commission that the U.S. had decided not to support the World Food Board or any other similar body.

The State Department does not believe that Sir John is right when he says that "a full stomach is the answer to Communism". It may soon have to believe his statement that the human race is "rumbling on to destruction".

Report Of The Board Of Censors Of Motion Pictures

Ontario, like other provinces, has a board of censors to pre-view movies to see if they are fit for the public, to approve or disapprove the advertising posters which the industry exhibits on billboards and at the entrances to the movie houses, and generally to keep a paternal eye on what goes on in and about the movies. It is apparent from the annual report published last week that the gentlemen who do the work have found little to condemn and that they have not been morally injured by what they saw. This is a pretty point. If ordinary persons like censors can spend their lives looking at things which might possibly not be good for people's morals, and yet not end up in jail as criminals or asylums as mad men, are they not proving that their job is unnecessary? What they can take, others should be able to take.

The report shows, too, that the censors are like most other mortals (especially businessmen and bureaucrats) in not being able to handle the English language with felicity. We find such heavy phrases as "the advent of new techniques in the field of Motion Pictures". The "field" they are reporting on is television, which they think, may affect the industry. Another new "field" more nearly justifies the use of the word—the Drive-in Theatres, of which there are five in operation in the Province and nine more being planned.

We read that "the safety, comfort and health, moral and physical, of the audience is the responsibility of the Branch". Well, we are glad that the Branch views its job so seriously. We presume that henceforth instead of the call "Is there a doctor in the house?" we shall hear "Is there a censor in the house?" The Drive-in Theatres are, by the way, being located carefully: "The location of such theatres is planned to eliminate highway obstruction". Does this mean that the Ontario government will abandon the construction of four-lane highways and build instead Drive-in Theatres which will "eliminate highway obstruction"?

We were interested in knowing that only 13 per cent. of the films submitted to the censors were regarded as unsuitable for children. These were released for general distribution with the proviso that the movie houses advertise them as "Adult Entertainment". This distinction, an innovation in 1946, must give some children a feeling of expectancy when they go to see them. Only one film was licensed for adult entertainment only. We often wonder which is the less harmful to children—a movie full of murder, blood and shocking noise or a more quiet one in which there happens to be a semi-seductive scene which young children do not understand and older ones find boring and old-fashioned.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Never trust a man who speaks well of everybody—you cannot run the risk of what he is thinking.

We have complained on this page about the lack of colour in the present election campaign. An item in the Sunday Express (London) shows how politics have fallen on dead days. The Express records the death of a 75-year-old Tory canvasser who once painted his mare blue. What local Conservative has sufficient conviction to paint even his car blue? For that matter, what C.C.F. has painted his pink?

The Examiner's London Letter

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

THIS past week-end (16-17 May) was Whitsun, the first big holiday week-end of the summer, something like our 24th of May, which, incidentally, is not observed as a holiday here. The date is determined by Easter, Whitsunday being the seventh Sunday following Good Friday. The Monday following is traditionally a holiday, so a long week-end is available in the pleasant weather of early summer.

The week-end tourists were blessed with bright sunny days from the Friday to Tuesday, and with temperatures in the seventies. Vast crowds swarmed out of the city, and a BBC commentator, on a London survey, declared there was scarcely a person to be found in the business districts on the Monday. Queues stood for three hours and more to get on the river excursion steamers plying the Thames, and Hyde Park was so crowded it was difficult to find a space. The basic gasoline ration for pleasure driving has been partly restored, but only as of June 1st, so private motor cars were scarce. The buses and bicycles provided plenty of business for the highways however. The streams of cyclists on the main roads out of London would have to have been seen to be believed. In a country where the cyclists are numbered in their millions, good weather draws them out like honey does bees.

AND speaking of insects, one of the greatest joys of visiting the British countryside is the lack of annoying insect life, even in the early summer season. Black flies and mosquitoes are non-existent, and even the common house fly adopts a tolerant easy British attitude of live and let live, and picnics can be conducted in peace with the minimum of interference from the insect life of the neighbourhood. One can only pity the unsuspecting British war bride going out in the Canadian countryside for the first time, in the innocent expectation of an English-like picnic in the spring. Between smudge-pots and green insect repellents, she must be sadly disillusioned. Window screens are virtually unknown in Britain, and even the North American visitor scarcely misses them.

But to get back to Whitsun, speaking from bitter experience, the crowds were rather overpowering to the Canadian temperament, which demands a lake peep family as the ideal density of population. We went to Windsor on the Monday, a short hour's run from Waterloo station. The crowds at the Castle resembled those of George St. at noon on a summer Saturday. Milling masses filled every part of the Castle open to the public, and Windsor Great Park was filled with picnickers, sun bathers, and those just anxious to take the load off their feet. A thousand screaming children completed the scene. Both coming and going we had to stand up in packed trains. The only possible prayer in these circumstances is: may we be spared many such holidays. Some good old-fashioned Canadian solitude is what we desire now. Few Canadians ever stop to realize how lucky we are in our wonderful open country, lucky as few people are in this world.

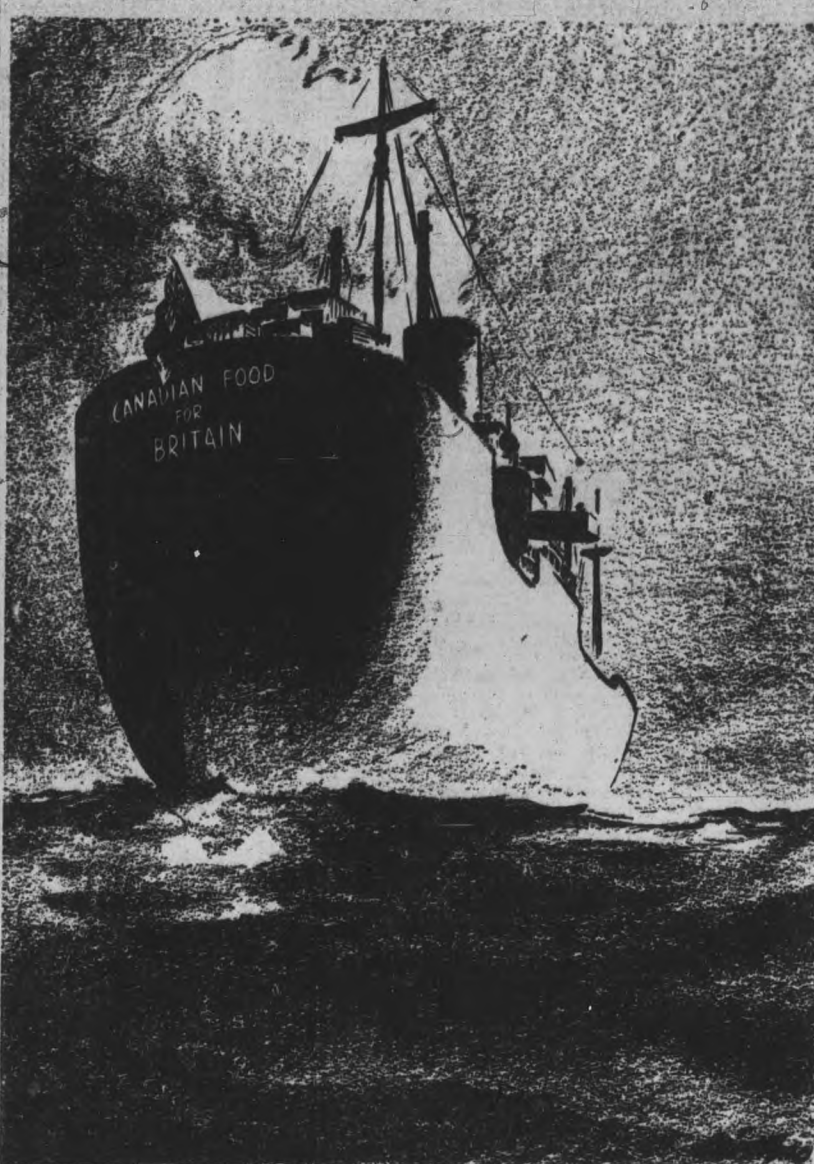

THE political event of the week is of course the annual Labour Party Conference at Scarborough. This will no doubt be fully reported in all the Canadian papers. The only definite forecast that local observers have to make so far is "no general election until the end of the legal life of the present Parliament in 1950".

This sort of forecast is risky however, as any number of situations can arise that may well decide Prime Minister Attlee to appeal to the country for support. The two big possibilities of such an appeal are firstly the reformation of the House of Lords, and secondly, the nationalization of the steel industry. This last case is by far the most controversial of any of the nationalization schemes on the agenda of the Labour Party. Unlike the coal industry, long recognized as a sick and ailing member of the industrial community, and the railways, which had steadily lost money for many years, the steel industry is working at top speed, and breaking all records for production. Further, the purists ask just what is the steel industry? What would be the limits of such nationalization? Would it be only the blast furnace converters, or would you include the rolling mills, the foundries, the tubing and plate mills? What about the coking industry, vital to steel production? It is a very complex question, and there is disagreement even in the Labour Party itself as to the best method of tackling the problem. One Labour M.P. was recently expelled from the Party for publicly opposing the steel nationalization programme, but as the representative of a steel riding, and a recognized expert on the industry, his opinion cannot be entirely disregarded within Party circles, in spite of the official action. His position, briefly stated, is that steel is vital to the economic recovery of Britain, and since the steel industry is doing such a good job, anything that might slow it up is madness. He further states that there is nothing in the record of the industries nationalized so far to indicate that operations would be any more efficiently operated than they are. There are many people in these islands to agree with him.

THREE railway accidents occurred on Tuesday, and the suggested reason for them seems strange to Canadian ears, as well as providing an interesting commentary on the usual temperatures of this country. Remarkably fine weather has been general for the past week, and on Tuesday temperatures were in the eighties in some parts of the country. It is suggested that the high temperatures (1) caused the rails to buckle, derailing the trains with some loss of life. Visitors to this country often remark on the smoothness of the trains and roadbed, and if this suggestion is correct, it would seem to would undoubtedly give a smoother ride. But three accidents in one day of moderate heat is a high price to pay.

OUR COMMON INTEREST, OUR COMMON WEALTH

Let's Look At The Record

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE succinct statement on the actual status of the issues listed by Premier Stalin as subjects that might be profitably discussed by the United States and the Soviet Union is the State Department's most effective answer so far to Moscow's "peace" campaign. The propaganda war which Moscow has launched in the name of peace is notable on two counts; first, because it is directed only at this country, and carries the insinuation that the Big Two are the sole arbiters of the world's destiny and that Russia is striving for harmony; second, because it is an adroit attempt to cloud the record of the past three years and shift the responsibility for today's dangerous statements and tensions from the Soviet Government to our Government.

The State Department comes back with a simple and telling answer: Let's look at the record. The record shows that every one of the questions raised by Mr. Stalin has already been discussed—unprofitably and ad finitum. It shows why each issue is not settled and who is to blame for the delay or failure to agree.

After 220 meetings and two years of debate, for instance, fourteen of the seventeen nations were in accord on a plan to control atomic energy, but the dissent of Russia and two of her satellites makes any control impossible. In two full-dress conferences the Soviet delegation blocked every suggestion for a serious consideration of a German settlement. Negotiations for a Japanese treaty are held in suspense by a conflict of views between Russia and China on the constitution of the peace conference. As to the evacuation of troops, the United States long ago withdrew from China all but a small guard, less than 6,000 troops in all, remaining at the request of the Chinese Government; in Korea the Russians refuse to collaborate in any way with the United Nations plan for free elections followed by withdrawal. Mr. Stalin conveniently forgets to mention Austria, or the Soviet troops kept in Rumania and Bulgaria to "guard communications" until that endlessly debated treaty is concluded.

Most of the other subjects the Soviet leader proposes for discussion—reduction of armaments, military bases, restrictions on international trade, human rights, etc.—are governed or under consideration by the United Nations, and it is difficult to see, as the State Department observes, how they could be advanced or more adequately debated in any other forum.

Tempus Fugit

Time passes quickly in Ontario politics.

Only three men, two of them cabinet ministers, who ever sat in the Legislature as supporters of the Ferguson and Henry governments are candidates for the election on June 7. They are Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. George H. Chalmers, Hydro Commissioner, and Mr. Thomas Murphy, Toronto Beaches.

Defeat of Mr. A. H. (Holly) Acres, he of the booming voice which often as not left sentences unfinished, for renomination as Conservative candidate in Carleton takes away from the Legislature its second oldest member, in point of continuous service. Only Mr. Harry C. Nixon who came to the House in 1919 has a longer record than Mr. Acres.

A young war veteran, a school principal, defeated Mr. Acres for the Carleton nomination. Carleton is regarded as a safe Conservative seat.

Mr. Acres in the House often talked against his party, in opposition or on the government benches, but he never voted against it. It is perhaps just that Carleton Conservatives thought that 25 years was long enough for any one man to represent the riding at Toronto.—Windsor Star

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron: and the whole congregation said unto them, Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt: or would God we had died in this wilderness! And wherefore hath the Lord brought us unto this land, to fall by the sword, that our wives and our children should be a prey? were it not better for us to return into Egypt?

And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, which were of them that searched the land, rent their clothes: and they spake unto all the company of the children of Israel, saying, The land, which we passed through to search it, is an exceeding good land. If the Lord delight in us, then we will bring us into this land, and give it us; a land which floweth with milk and honey. Only rebel not ye against the Lord: for they are bread for us: their defence is departed from them, and the Lord is with us: fear them not.

And the Lord spake unto Moses and unto Aaron, saying, How long shall I bear with this evil congregation, which murmur against me? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Israel, which they murmur against me. Say unto them, As truly as I live, saith the Lord, as ye have spoken in mine ears, so will I do to you.

Doubtless ye shall not come into the land, concerning which I sware to make you dwell therein, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun. But your little ones, which ye said should be a prey, them will I bring in, and they shall know the land which ye have despised. (Num. 14: 2, 3, 6-9, 26-28, 30, 31.)

For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. (I Sam. 15: 23.)

Letter To The Editor

JACKSON PARK CREEK POLLUTION

Sir: When spring comes, the clean-up bug bites everyone. Lawns, gardens and streets look lovely but there is one eyesore that is being neglected. This is the Jackson Park creek.

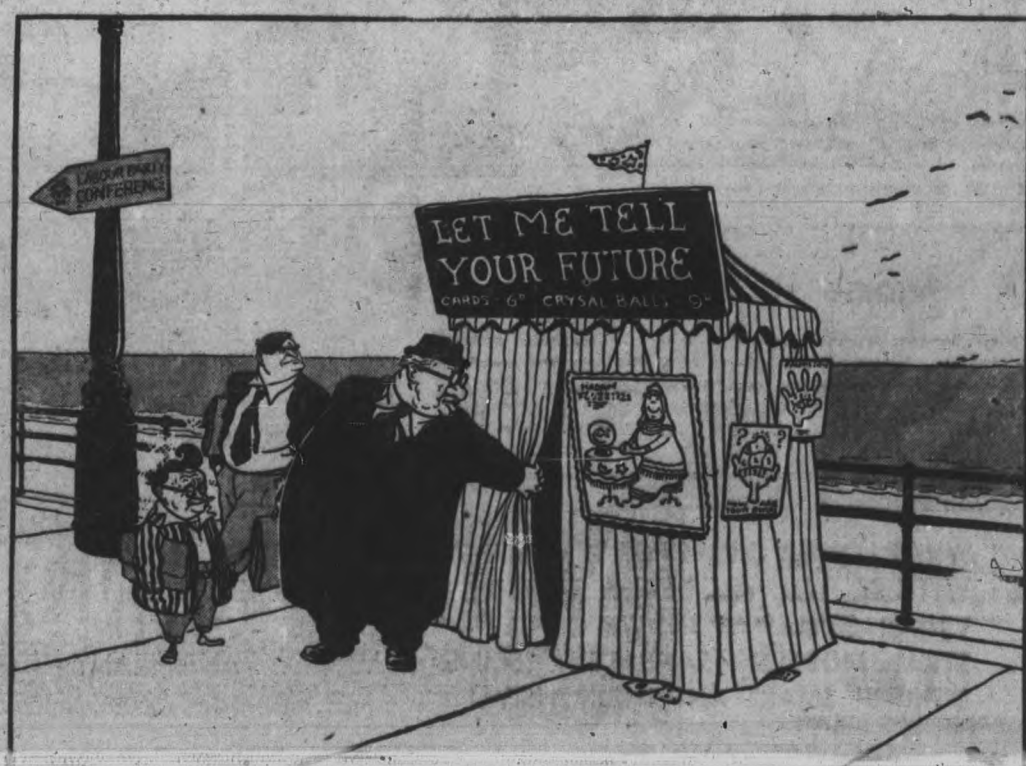

Householders, shop and store owners and industries all do their part in making this lovely stream an open sewer. We have a first class garbage collection system, and there is absolutely no justification for this wholesale pollution.

Perhaps the Junior Chamber of Commerce would team up with the Sanitary Inspector and the police force to halt this pollution, then either allocate funds, or organize a community bee to clean a portion of the creek. A few small dams and a little restocking and there would be fine trout fishing in the heart of the city.

Yours truly,

A SCRUBBER.

Ashby's, Marines Winners
As Lasses' League Starts

Ashby's swamped Woolens 21-1 while Marines coasted to a 12-1 victory over the Electric in the first game of the 1948 campaign. In the official opening ceremony Alderman Douglas Miller batted, while Ald. Anglesy pitched and Ald. Young caught. In the twilight tussle, Ashby's pounded out 21 hits and played errorless ball—besides running the bases in their usual breezy manner—to roll up the count. They had two-hit pitching from Doris McFadden, who fanned eight in a swell five-frame slab showing. Woolens gave their pitcher poor backing with eight miscues and only four opponents whiffed. B. Reid went in for the sixth for Ashby's and gave up just two hits as she fanned nine. M. Lang and E. Humphries looked best for the losers, as J. Dunk and D. Manley shone for the victors. Homers were hit by P. Killen, C. Callan and C. Ferguson. E. Jacynth had two hits for Woolens and D. Manley five for Ashby's. The teams:

Ashby's—E. McFadden, 2b; J. Reynolds, c; D. Manley, ss; M. Freeman, cf; G. Dracup, lf; D. Callan, rf; E. Simmons, 3b; J. Dunk, 1b; D. McFadden, p; E. Killen, 1b; B. Reid, p.

SECOND GAME

The Outboard Marines combed out 18 hits in fashioning their 12-1 win over CGE, and they had but one error against nine for the Electric. Eleanor Whittaker allowed five hits in over five frames she worked, fanning three, and M. Connelly gave up but three the rest of the route as she struck out two. M. Perrin pitched good ball for the losers but had poor support and at times she was tagged hard, too. M. Cheel and M. Downer each had four hits for the winners, as E. Whittaker hit a homer, a double and single. G. Atkins and T. DeCarlo had two bingles apiece for CGE. A. Collins and I. Stewart went best for them defensively and it was A. LaPointe and M. Cheel in the field for Marines.

The teams:

Marines—A. LaPointe, 2b; V. Mitchell, 3b; B. Larmer, c; M. Behan, ss; E. Whittaker, p; M. Hill, 1b; M. Downer, lf; M. Cheel, rf; E. Smith, cf; M. Connelly, p.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Down in Montreal today and tomorrow, Frank Doherty has his big chance to catch a boxing berth on the Canadian Olympic team. The mitt finals are being held those two days and the local heavy-weight qualified for the finals by winning the Central Ontario branch of the AAU of C several weeks ago. Ron Menzies, his manager, tells us Doherty is in good shape after stiff training with Vic Bagnato in Toronto. The Peterborough Lions Club are sponsoring Frank now and he will fight under their banner. Lots of luck, fellow; we hope you make the Olympics.

In men's softball this p.m. at the Bowl d'Ashburnham, 17'll be Legionnaires vs. the Knights at seven sharp, followed right away by the B-E Combines and Comstock's Outlaws. Ranger and Board umpire the initial encounter with Morin and Phelan handling the next. Frexy Pat Calladine will probably announce the four regular umpires toward the end of next week. Several rain-out games cut in on these un-predictable tryouts. Games tonight should be real interesting, if the weather is okay, and Knights—who have come awfully close several times—may crack their losing streak against Legion. Second one will be a ball game, too. On June 1, it's Comstock's vs. Knights and Legion vs. Combines.

The Guttled-Stick'Guys

Senior "B" lacrosse Petes play at nine Friday eve in Miller Bowl, and Scarboro Grads are their opposition. They are filling in for a few weeks with exhibitions as they await slow OLA action on groupings. The gutted-stick guys always dish up dandy entertainment, and the Petes look plenty potent this semester, even stronger than they were last season when they won the provincial crown. Such newcomers as Bun Hill, Smith, Gordon, J. J. Hill, Foote, Renwick and Bush, added to the local aces, makes the Petes the team to beat for the title this year, we'd say.

Let's see the baseball setup for the week-end as it concerns Peterborough players. A midget melee at 6.15 p.m. on the morrow at Riverside betwixt the southenders and East City. Two a.m. tills there Saturday, westend pee-wees against southenders at 10, followed by East City pee-wees and Crawford's Grove, seven-inning jousts. Junior Bees are off to Oshawa that day. So are the senior Petes for a COBL fixture. And Cobourg plays the intermediate Petes in Riverside Park this Saturday aft, probably at three bells. Cobourg edged Port Hope 6-5 in their opener and it should be a tidy tussle here between these good intermediate clubs.

Three Dead Pigeons, Eh?

It sort of looked like our intermediate Petes were going to be over-hauled here last night until they ripped off a fine triple play in the ninth to cut off a Colborne threat. It ended up 12-9 for the Billingsley crew in a wide-open game. You saw everything in it, that triple play—short to second to first to home—being something ball fans rarely see. Colborne used one hurler three different times and had a grand change of players' positions at the end of almost every set, like a square dance. Locals fielded well—Guerin had a honey of a pickup at first and that triple play was one for the book—besides hitting hard. Bill Sullivan, in his mound debut, showed plenty. Baz Murphy finished it up. Pagett hit three for three.

Ald. Anglesy, Miller and Young officially opened the girls' softball season yesterday gloaming at the Bowl before a good-sized gathering of fans. The hustling young Ashby's rolled through Woolens for a 21-1 victory in the first fixture, and then Marines took the measure of CGE 13-1 in the nightcap. E. Whittaker and M. Connelly pitched nice ball for the Watkins' crew, while D. McFadden and B. Reid were quite hot on the Ashby hilltop. Both winning clubs fielded smartly, while the losers looked like those rained-out practices hurt plenty. They'll improve, of course. Games at the Bowl tomorrow night are: Lock Co. vs. Lindsay Lassies, and Lakefield vs. West-clo.

Among Merry Matmen

Nick Viehlairelli, local wrestler, was burned like a cinder when he didn't get a bout here last p.m. But they couldn't get him an opponent. However, Nick has been promised one for next week, a Mexican from Detroit named Juan Lopez. There won't be more than one or two more pro mat cards here this season, we expect, as warmer weather arrives. A good program last e'en with the Whipper taking Henning in two straight but not without plenty of action and some stiff opposition from the big guy. He is about 28 years old and pumps the beam at 248, besides being fast for a big fellow. But the Whip is fast, too, and smart. Meske and Singh went to a lively semi-final draw, and Katan took Burnett handily in the prelim.

GRAB-BAG: CGE blanked Lindsay 8-0 in soccer here last eve; the CGE-Legion game for Saturday has been moved to Friday at 8.30, and O'Halloran's to Lindsay Saturday. City Baseball League executive meets at 8.30 in the "Y" Friday night. Junior Bees and east juveniles drill at 6.15 tomorrow in the K. Westend midgets have a workout tonight at 6.15 in Morrow Park. And the intermediate Petes practice down there at 6.15 on the morrow. Senior church softball tills tonight: George St. vs. Knox at KE school and Murray St. vs. SA at Oval; in bantam, George St. vs. St. Paul's at FW and All Saints vs. St. George's at Central; coaches phone 9033 after games. Prince of Wales won a junior school fray from King Edward 24-15. Lindsay Brimons beat Omamee 14-10. Ab Blondin is out of luck after finishing fourth in his class of 10 in the Olympic weight-lifting trials in Montreal. Signing off.

70 Amateur Grapplers
Compete In Wrestling

TORONTO, May 27 (CP).—Some 70 amateur grapplers from all parts of Canada are expected to compete in the 1948 Olympic wrestling trials here Friday and Saturday.

The trials are the first held in Toronto since 1932. It is expected that only four or five of the winners will be good enough for international competition. Canadian wrestlers are generally unfamiliar with the "rolling fall" used in Olympic contests. Preliminaries will be held Friday night, semi-finals and finals Saturday. Classes range from 114 pounds to heavyweight.

Longden Scores Triple

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 27 (AP).—The "Bet-on-Johnny-Longden Club" is adding new members daily. The top-ranking jockey, formerly of Taber, Alta., scored a triple Wednesday to boost his total of winners in seven days of racing at Hollywood Park to 20. He won on Brenton Light

Ab Blondin Fourth
In Weight-Lifting

Ab Blondin placed fourth in the Olympic weight-lifting trials at Montreal recently in a class of 10 lightweights, including an entry from New Jersey. His 605 total lift was too low to qualify him for a berth. John Stewart's fine hoist of 785 pounds giving the Verdun champion the trip to England.

Blondin, who went from here to Montreal with Cliff McInroy, Joe McGuire and Harry O'Rourke, said his showing was very disappointing, being well below previous efforts by him. He blamed it partly on the fact that he was two pounds over the lightweight limit and had to sweat this weight off before competing—thus weakening himself—and partly on the fact they travelled all night and he had no sleep.

and Air Express. It would have been 21 but Longden was photographed out of a winner in the seventh race when Alibi Kate nosed out Sunfair, an 11-1 shot with Johnny aboard.

Watson Takes Main Bout
Over Henning On Mat Card

Whipper Bill Watson demonstrated his class when he took two straight falls from large Lee Henning in the main bout at the Brock Arena last evening. A fair-sized crowd saw a lively card with Meske and Singh going to a semi-final draw while Katan won the prelim handily from Burnett. An opponent wasn't available for Nick Viehlairelli this week but one was promised for him next Wednesday.

The Whip, 220 pounds, won the first fall of the main tussle in 14 minutes against Henning, scaling 248, when he beat the count back into the ring after both were out. Lee tried to get back but was booted out again by Watson. They had both mixed outside the hemp and each in turn jerked the other back as the tried to climb in, but Watson finally made it. Lee had roughed him plenty earlier with hair-pulling, strangles and clouts to the jaw as Referee Ernie Powers missed a lot. Finally the Whipper came back and chased him out once and then nearly had him with the whip hold, finally throwing Lee out again but being pulled along with him. It was a hot go and the fans were pulling for Watson.

BOWLING
By HERB MARTIN

In the second round of the annual President - Vice President competition, played Wednesday night, the President's side did a little better than on Tuesday night—but no where near enough to overcome the loss of the previous night. It just seemed as if Billy's hired help could not get going. However it is only the beginning of the season and as this competition is known as the "feeler" it has served its purpose. The total score for the two nights was:

President 222.
Vice President 307.
Tomorrow night we begun the week-end tournaments. It will be for men's rinks. The draw is to be made from the board at 7.30 o'clock. The fee the same as before, 25c. All bowlers are welcome. Phone your name in early and don't forget if you are late and left off the draw, blame yourself. Be on time.

We expect to have complete details, in a day or two regarding the men's rink tournament on Wednesday, June 3.

Prince Of Wales Wins

Prince of Wales won a junior School Softball League game 24-18 from King Edward on the former's grounds. It was a heavy-hitting affair and loose defensively. The victors got six runs in the second, four in the fourth, 11 in the fifth and three more in the sixth. King Edward counted one in the second, five next time up, four in the fourth, two in the fifth and three in the seventh. The teams:

King Edward: Crowe, Turner, Friddle, Moffatt, Downer, Pagett, Corbett, Flint, Rose.
Prince of Wales: Williams, Carleton, Crossley, Kennedy, Mongraw, Goodson, Evans, Pearson, Robertson, Dunn, Carveth, Moffatt.

Umpires, J. Barnard and B. Elliott.

peated warnings from the referee for illegal tactics.
The 244-pound John Katan beat Jim Burnett, 234, without too much trouble in the prelim, taking 18 minutes before Jim conceded the fall with a tough chinlock clamped on him. Though the fans hated the veteran Katan and his rough tactics, John dominated the match after a short spurt by Burnett, who was made to order for John's illegal style. He had someone made to order for him and he made the most of it in a scrap that was only 50-50.

Giants Break Out Of Slump Outslug Cards In 10-7 Bout

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Life in the Polo Grounds is just a series of nightmares for Manager Eddie Dyer of St. Louis Cards. Last year his favored Red Bids flattered and played dead when they hit New York. It looks like more of the same in 1948.

His National League leaders were rolling along Wednesday night behind a nice 7-2 lead with Howie Pollet, the unbeaten star of both leagues, doing the pitching.

Then the Giants started to break out of their hitting slump. They hit and hit and hit some more. Before the eighth inning was over, eight runs had crossed the plate and the 7-2 lead had changed to a 10-7 deficit.

Bobby Thomson doubled and singled for two hits in the big inning as the Giants chased Pollet, George Munger and Gerry Staley before coasting to a halt for Ken Burkhart. Pollet escaped his first defeat because Dyer called in Munger at the first sign of serious trouble. Munger was felled for his second loss.

In the early inning Erv Dusak hit a homer and Stan Musial exploded his eighth and ninth.

Blow Another Brooklyn Dodgers blew another Wednesday night to plunge into the National League cellar again as the result of their 4-1 loss to Chicago and Cincinnati's 8-5 victory over Boston.

Willard Ramsdell, the knuckle ball pitcher just recalled from Mobile, was nicked for homers by Bill Nicholson and Hal Jeffcoat in the Dodger defeat. Johnny Schmitz earned the Brooks with six well-scattered hits.

Hank Sauer's 10th homer helped Cincinnati sneak out of last place. The Reds routed Warren Spahn, Boston's southpaw ace, to come from behind. Herman Wehmeier, who pitched five innings, was credited with his second straight. Once again the American League race is all snarled up in percentages. Cleveland, actually trailing Philadelphia by half a game in a strict application of the win and lost principle, still holds first place by two percentage points. It's the same old story of a difference in games played.

Cleveland was shut out Wednesday for the first time this season but it took two pitchers to do it—Sid Hudson and Tom Ferrick. Hudson allowed only one hit in the first seven innings but was replaced in the eighth when the Tribe loaded the bases on two singles and a walk after two were out.

The Indians collected only three hits in bowing to Washington, 2-0, for Gene Gerrden's first setback after three straight victories.

Philadelphia combed Chicago White Sox 7-1 behind Joe Coleman's five-hit pitching. It was the fourth straight victory for the rebounding A's who broke loose with five runs in the seventh inning.

Detroit "walked" to a 7-3 nod over New York Yankees when Yankee pitchers passed 10 men. Although touched for 12 hits, Dizzy Trout took the decision from Spec Shea.

It took a double error in the 10th by catcher Les Moss to enable Boston's Red Sox to down St. Louis Browns 5-3. Sam Melece doubled in the tenth and scored when Moss, fielding Dom DiMaggio's sacrifice, fumbled the ball and then threw wildly past first base.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Results of a survey showed in New York Wednesday that sports writers who saw the first Joe Louis-Joe Walcott fight believe the Jersey veteran has a better chance to reverse the verdict than their brethren who weren't present.

In both cases Louis is favored to retain his title when the two negro battlers meet again in Yankee Stadium, June 23. But close to one-third of the writers—who saw the first bout figure Jersey Joe will lift the crown.

The overall voting in an Associated Press poll showed 230 writers lining up behind the champion and only 53 stringing along with Walcott.

Larry Barton, formerly of Oakland and Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League, signed Wednesday with the Buffalo Bisons of the International League. General Manager Paul Richards said in Toronto that the 34-year-old first baseman, signed as a free agent and will join the Bisons in Montreal this week-end.

The Professional Golfers' Association executive committee has definitely rejected the idea of a czar for tournament golf. It was announced in St. Louis Wednesday. At the same time the committee sanctioned participation of tournament chairman George Snelter of Ogden, Utah, in tournaments at his own discretion.

The touring Liverpool soccer club Wednesday night swamped New England All-Stars 6-0 in Fall River, Mass., for its fourth successive victory in its tour of United States and Canada. Al Stubbins and Billy Fagan scored two goals each for the English club.

It was announced in London Wednesday that Britain has selected pretty Kay Stammers Menzies as playing captain of the British Wightman cup tennis team which will meet the United States women's squad at Wimbledon, June 11 and 12.

The Addison stable's five-year-old Sir Harry beat a good field of four-year olds and up Wednesday in Toronto in winning the inaugural purse, carrying $1,500 added, feature of the opening day's card of the seven-day Thorndike race track meeting.

Song Writer Still Prefers Nature To Fame

By BOB THOMAS.

Caught in the whirl of a cynical and commercial Hollywood, Eden Ahbez is still living by the tenets of his sensational song, "Nature Boy."

The plaintive tune jumped to the top of the "Hit Parade" and is being poured forth from every juke box and disc show. Comedians, cranks, agents and fans are clamoring around its composer, a 35-year-old ex-fruit picker. He somehow remains serene.

Attired in his usual sandals, work pants, sweat shirt and overcoat, Ahbez (rhymes with hobbies) was found in the NBC studios. I suggested "Nature Boy" had brought many changes to his life.

"Not at all," he answered in his soft voice. "I have to meet certain business obligations. But action is on the surface; at the centre is the spirit."

"My life is still devoted to the contemplation of nature and its wonders. This success gives me more opportunity to further that end. I hope to spread out to other mediums, perhaps to the screen."

Still in Back Yard Brooklyn-born of Jewish-Scottish-English parents, vegetarian Ahbez continues to live in a Los Angeles back yard. Besides his bicycle he now has a jeep, a gift from his publisher. What has he done with the proceeds of the song?

"I haven't seen any yet," he said. He owns 75 per cent of the rights and his profits should be more than $20,000 before taxes. Money seems not to concern him. "An agent offered me $3,000 a week to appear in night clubs," he said, "but I turned it down. That's not the way I want to follow the 'Nature Boy' idea."

The composer's wife expects a baby in October, but they don't plan to alter their way of living. "A child can grow up in a nursery or a forest," he remarked. "It is not that we want the children to grow like us; we want to grow like the child."

Ahbez is leaving for New York where he will meet for the first time his song's popularizer, King Cole. Where will he stay?

"Perhaps Central Park," he said.

Capsule Review "Summer Holiday" is an apt title for MGM's latest musical trip to nostalgia. This pleasant rehash of "Ah Wilderness" offers the easy talents of Mickey Rooney, Walter Huston, Gloria Dehaven and Frank Morgan. It's ideal for the summer trade, but not likely to live much longer than that.

Says Williams Good Fielder

ST. LOUIS, May 27.—(AP).—Baseball fans usually think of Ted Williams as a guy who isn't interested in anything but hitting during a ball game, that is... but you can take it from an admiring team-mate, Bob Ferriss, that Ted's fielding ability has been underrated. "Ted has made himself a lot better fielder than he is given credit for being," says Ferriss. "And don't overlook his throwing. Why, in Chicago he made a throw from deep left that was as good as any I ever saw."

Ferriss and Warner Ferriss, who hasn't been burning up the league on the pitching mound this spring, still maintains that there's no particular hitter who treats him like a "cousin." "Of course, there's a fellow named Joe DiMaggio," Boe adds, with a smile, "he hits pretty good."

Golf Gathering The best-ball card for the recent Professional Golfers' Association tournament was 22-23-45, consisting of nine deuces and nine threes. Think of what you could do with that in a poker game... Passing through New York en route to the British amateur championship, Frank Stranahan called Freddie Corcoran to ask how he could get along better with British newspaper men. "Freddie told him: 'Treat your caddy right and don't say anything'.... That's pretty hard to do, Corcoran admitted, if you get a caddy like one who once laid down Francis Ouimet's bag and stalked off the course because Ouimet disagreed with him on what club to use."

Hockey Referees 'Cool Off' During Summer

By AL VICKERY

BRANDON, Man., May 27. — (CP).—While most people perspire during the hot summer months, one tupe takes to cooling off these days.

He's the hockey referee whose ears burned all winter long as coaches, players, spectators and sports columnists bellowed loudly at his many difficult decisions.

Brandon-born Jimmy Creighton probably knows how to shoulder abuse better than most—he's an alderman of two years' standing.

Jimmy, now 41, learned his early hockey on the river, playing scrub hockey where it was every man for himself.

When he became over-age for junior competition, Creighton hooked up with Yorkton Terriers, then Melville Millionaires, finally went back to Brandon seniors. In all these years, he failed to catch on with a championship club.

A Hard Job

Creighton handled junior clubs at Brandon and Portage La Prairie, Man., before turning referee. But take it from him: "It takes longer to learn refereeing than it does to learn to play hockey." "Reading the CAHA manual once is not good enough," says Jimmy.

If coaches made a study of the rules, then held classes for the players at which the rules were explained, we officials wouldn't have to put up with such small-time arguments.

But the wiry ex-pro believes no referee is perfect. And most could stand "brushing up on the rules."

Mike Rodden, well-known eastern sports writer and referee, once said of Creighton that players of Jimmy's type made it easy for a referee to handle a game.

Creighton also feels that the practice today of shooting the puck into corners and chasing in after it is tougher on the refs than in the "good old stick-handling days."

Syracuse Falls Before Bears In 6-3 Lacing

By The Associated Press

Young L. Porterfield, the hottest pitcher in the International League, hurled his Newark Bears to within 13 percentage points of the league-leading Syracuse Chiefs Wednesday night by beating them 6-3.

It was the seventh straight victory for Porterfield, New York Yankee southpaw farmhand, against no defeats.

Going into the top half of the ninth tied 3-3, the Bears reached Syracuse's Jim Wallace for three runs on three singles, a double, a boot and a walk.

In other International games Wednesday night, Jersey City outslugged Baltimore 14-8; Rochester went 10 innings to beat Montreal 3-2 and Buffalo bowled

He dropped in to see Jacobs before leaving for his Pompton Lakes training camp to prepare for the defence of his title against Jersey Joe Walcott on June 23. The heavyweight champ looked in excellent condition. Jacobs is back at the helm of the sporting club to give the coming title match the master-handling it deserves.

over the tail-end Toronto Maple Leafs, 8-4.

Jack Hachman was the big gun for Jersey City, bating two homers and driving in five runs for the defending champions. Also hitting for the circuit were Bobby Wilson, Ed Levy and Howie Moss. It was No. 14 for Moss.

Hank Behrman was the victim as Montreal fell before Rochester in overtime: He took a 2-0 lead into the ninth, but Vern Benson's homer with one aboard knotted it. In the 10th relief hurler Ken Johnson opened with a double and won his own game by scoring on a sacrifice and Bob Morgan's error at short on Hal Rice's drive.

Buffalo overcame an early Toronto lead with a three-run fifth as the Bisons reached pitcher Jim Konstanty for three hits and two walks. Anse Moore made victory certain in the eighth with a two-run homer.

Petes Reel Off Triple Play To Get Victory

The intermediate Petes made it two straight over Colborne in a Lakeshore Baseball League fixture here Wednesday night when they pulled out a 12-9 win. A triple play by the locals cut off a Colborne threat in the ninth when, with two aboard, Pagett took a hot grounder and pegged to second for an out, with Crowe throwing to first for a double play and Crary flinging to Girard at the plate for the third out. It was a wide-open game with lots of hits and some costly errors, each side changing pitchers. Colborne had one hurler twice recalled to the mound.

The Petes blasted across eight runs in a big fourth on solid hitting, with several miscues, while the visitors came back to shove home five in their seventh. Sullivan pitched fine ball till then in his initial mound start, and Murphy finished it up. Hall was on the slab three different times for Colborne. Pagett led the locals at bat with three for three and he drove in four runs. Turpin got two for two for Colborne. The triple play was the fielding feature.

Electrics Take 6-0 Soccer Win Over Lindsay

Canadian General defeated Lindsay in a league soccer game on Wednesday evening 6-0 in King Edward Park. Hamilton, Lindsay goalie, was spectacular in goal with his diving for the ball or intercepting at the logical moment to save. He played with Al-dreionians, and Armada in the Scottish First Division and intends returning back home again next month. The visitors—were without the services of four of their regular players.

The spin of the coin fell in favour of the visitors. Early exchanges revealed a superior brand of the code with the forwards dominating the situation. After 10 minutes of play, Hamilton of Lindsay had to admit defeat as the ball was deflected into the rigging from Strong's shot. Over-anxiousness to score spoiled many openings presented Lindsay. With five minutes before the interval, McPhat and Cotton made the count read 3-0.

On resuming, Lindsay opened up with a steady pressure that brought out the defensive tactics of McCann and Murruff at full back. W. Wilson at center-half, intercepted many dangerous raids to keep feeding his forwards and that brought success when Strong scored on an offside ruling that Lindsay claimed. This was followed by Cotton and Strong making the count read 6-0.

Lindsay—J. Hamilton, goal; V. Barbee and L. Willis, full backs; R. A. Cox, H. Taylor and N. Crawford, half backs; T. Nye, R. Hammond, L. Appleton, N. Thomas and E. Moir, forwards.

C.G.E.—J. Greenhorn, goal; S. McCann and S. Murruff, half backs; H. Steel, W. Wilson and A. Wilson, half backs; R. Strong, J.

Nimmo, E. Cotton, R. Weddall, and T. McPhate, forwards. Referee—W. Harris; linesmen—G. Downer and J. Adams.

Alleged Ghandi Slayers Tried June 14

NEW DELHI, May 27 (AP).—Nine men were formally accused in special court today of assassinating Mohandas K. Gandhi last Jan. 30. They are scheduled to go to trial June 14.

The defendants charged among themselves as a black-robed judge accepted a police charge sheet accusing them of murder, conspiracy to murder and violations of the Arms and Explosives Act. All these offences are punishable by hanging.

The charge sheet linked up the assassination and a bomb explosion at Gandhi's prayer grounds prior to that as one conspiracy to kill Gandhi.

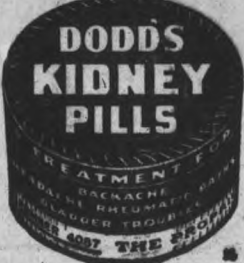

N. V. Godse, who was seized allegedly with a smoking pistol in his hand when Gandhi was shot down, asked along with five co-defendants, that the court provide defence counsel. Two other defendants, D. R. Badge and Madan Lal, said they did not want counsel, but would speak for themselves. Lal is accused of planting the bomb which exploded outside Gandhi's prayer meeting 10 days before the assassination. The ninth defendant, V. D. Savarkar, already had counsel when he appeared in court today.

The court recessed the arraignment to June 3, at which time the court will accredit defence counsel.

The entire proceedings today took less than two hours. The defendants asked two months to prepare their case. The court granted them slightly more than two weeks.

Discover Remains Of Stone Age Life On South African Farms

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, May 27 (CP)—Major discoveries, counted among the most important in the world, have been made by Prof. V. van Riet Lowe, director of the Archaeological Survey of the Union of South Africa.

On two farms in the southern Orange Free States and northern Cape, sites have been found of stone age factories where prehistoric man made his primitive tools. More evidence has been found of different aspects of early man's life and for the first time a comprehensive picture of this life has been obtained.

Prof. van Riet Lowe said the discoveries have indicated that the area southwest of Bloemfontein contains the most valuable collection of stone age relics in existence.

"Factory Site"

At "Rietvlei" farm near Steynsburg in the northern Cape, evidence was found which enabled the professor to work out a full picture of prehistoric civilization. The one factory site where man made their crude stone implements was located on a plateau near a mountain on this farm. Here they sat and fashioned the stones in the shade of a nearby rocky cliff.

A few yards away in the mountain itself definite traces were found of the mines from which they obtained the "raw" stones. To complete the picture, a number of rock shelters were also discovered of the type used by early man.

"It is of chief importance to study prehistoric man in his natural environment," said Prof. van Riet Lowe. "For this reason the discoveries were invaluable as a means of finding out more about man's ancestors. It has been known for some time that this part of Africa had a high rainfall several hundred years ago. Living conditions here were very comfortable for primitive man."

The valleys of the Riet River and middle Orange River, and in northern Cape district contained more traces of prehistoric man than any other part of the world, he said. The sequence of deposits in different strata in this area embraced man's history over a period of 200,000 to 300,000 years.

Near Fauresmith, in Orange Free State, two small cuttings revealed there were literally hundreds of thousands of stone implements in the area. A detailed study of the implements will be made at the University of the Witwatersrand.

Professor van Riet Lowe said he thought that it now would be possible to send collections of these prehistoric tools to institutions throughout the world.

Million Years Ago
South Africa had been occupied as long as any area where primitive man was known to exist, he said. While the recent discoveries were the biggest and most valuable ever made, other parts of the Union had even earlier traces of stone age inhabitants, particularly along portions of the Vaal River bed. It was probable that man originated in equatorial Africa a million or more years ago.

It was certain, he said, that there was no time in South Africa's history, from the arrival of the first man onwards when it had not been inhabited by humans. The findings on the two farms were ever further proof of this.

Status Unchanged Of U.S. Air Bases
OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP) — An external affairs spokesman today said if Newfoundland joined the Canadian confederacy, the status of the United States bases in Newfoundland territory would not be changed as a result of the union.

He said a wrong inference had been drawn in Newfoundland from External Affairs Minister St. Laurent's remarks in the Commons last week. The minister had been asked what the status of the air bases would be in case Newfoundland joins Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent had replied that the U.S. held a 99-year lease on the bases under a treaty between the United Kingdom and the United States. Canada would be bound by the terms of that treaty once Newfoundland came in. Any change in its provisions would have to be with the consent of the U.S.

The minister had never intended to infer that Canada planned to ask for changes, the spokesman said. It had not been considered.

Reserve Verdict In Liquor Case

Judgment was reserved to June 1 on a charged heard in court today against Michael Minnicola, 436 Driscoll Terrace, charged with illegally selling liquor. The accused, represented by W. J. A. Fair, pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Only witness called was PC Leo Murphy of the city police force. He testified that, on the night of April 24, after midnight that he had been parked in front of the hotel where the accused works. He told of a conversation he overheard between Minnicola and Thomas Forsythe, a juvenile. The constable said that Forsythe asked to buy a bottle of liquor and that the accused had replied that he had a bottle at his home which he would sell for $7. The witness said he watched an exchange of what he believed to be money. PC Murphy said that, following this exchange, the two had hired a taxi and driven to the accused's home, where the policeman followed them in his car. He said that he saw Minnicola enter his home and return with a bottle. The witness, at the time the accused was getting in the taxi, took over the bottle and brought the two and the taxi driver to the police station.

Defence counsel Fair, who called no evidence, argued that it had not been proved that an actual sale had taken place and that no delivery had been made at the time the officer took the bottle of liquor from the accused.

Allow US Tourists Take Back $400 Goods

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(CP)—United States tourist dollars may pour into Canada's tills this season in larger volume because of a new law that permits travellers abroad to bring home, $400 worth of goods duty free.

For 50 years United States citizens have been permitted to bring home from their travel in foreign countries goods to the value of $100 without paying duty.

President Truman has signed a bill which adds $300 to the exemption with certain restrictions.

There is no restriction on the long-standing $100 exemption which may be exercised as often as once a month.

The new concession permits the United States traveller abroad an additional $300 exemption which may be used only twice in a year and does not cover liquor or tobacco.

Also the traveller must remain out of the country 12 days to be eligible.

At Ottawa, one high official said "it not only will mean that tourists can stay in Canada for a longer period, but it will add thousands more of much-needed United States dollars to the tourist industry."

Great Progress In T.B. Battle

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP).—A "remarkable" advance in the eradication of tuberculosis in Canada today was reported by Dr. G. J. Wherrett, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association.

In a report prepared for presentation to the 48th annual meeting of the Association opening here tomorrow, Dr. Wherrett said "the eradication of tuberculosis... when measured in decades is most remarkable."

Causing a death rate of 200 per 100,000 in 1900, TB was responsible for only 47.2 deaths per 100,000 in 1946. The rate varied in the provinces from 17.5 in Saskatchewan to 70.4 in Quebec.

For Canadian Indians, the TB death rate was "almost fantastic," said Dr. Wherrett. In 1937 it was 680.1 per 100,000. It had dropped somewhat in 1946 when it was 56.4 for the same number of persons.

Special progress was being made in Quebec, the association president reported. During the last 10 years the mortality rate in Quebec had dropped 32 per cent.

Dr. Wherrett said he expected the 1947 Christmas seal returns to total $1,400,000, an increase of 14.7 per cent. over the previous year.

Hagana Official Denies Beurling Mercenary

MONTREAL, May 27.—(CP).—Far from being mercenary, George (Buzz) Beurling was willing to fly for Israel for "ridiculously" small pay, a representative of Hagana, the Jewish army organization, said today.

Beurling, 26-year-old Verdun-born pilot who was the leading Canadian fighter ace during the Second World War, was killed last week in a plane crash while flying to Palestine to fight for the newly formed Jewish state against the Arabs.

The Hagana representative said that reports that Beurling was being paid $1,000 a month by the Israeli government were "utterly false." Actually, he said, Beurling contracted to fly for only $200 a month.

(Beurling, before he left Canada, had been quoted in press interviews and magazine articles as saying he would fly for the highest bidder and was interested only in the actual pleasure of combat flying and in the monetary return).

Blackwell Claims Responsibility

TORONTO, May 27.—(CP).—Attorney-General Blackwell said Wednesday night he assumed full responsibility for Ontario's liquor legislation which introduced cocktail lounges to the province's large cities.

"It was drafted in my department and I want you to say being paid $1.00 a month by the whether I was right or wrong," he said in an election campaign speech in his home riding of Toronto-Eglinton.

He said that aside from the provisions for sale of liquor by the glass and those respecting banquet permits, there was no change in principle from the old Act. He asserted it had improved control measures, stopped trafficking in licenses by the imposition of a transfer fee and prevented the pushing of any particular brands of beer in beverage rooms.

"It has checked the sale of beer in beverage rooms and diverted consumption to homes, where the greatest increase has occurred."

Main speaker for the rally was Rev. C. Stanley Cooke of Watertown N. Y.

Reason: They are not glamorous enough.

When the council was informed that a film would be shown here about rehousing miners he declared films and broadcasts made their women "dowdy and uncouth." He thought they were an insult.

PLANES FOR PALESTINE — In an abandoned airport near Rome, Italian police recently caught three aircraft arriving by night—with faked papers. The planes were Norseman aircraft used during the war to transport wounded and now earmarked to be light bombers for the Jewish air force. They had travelled from the U.S. to Canada, and then to England, France and Italy, and the pilots were all Canadians, former RAF pilots. It has been learned that 30 other planes are awaiting transfer by this same route. In view of difficulties in Rome, Jewish agency representatives plan to shift the centre of Italian operations to South Italy's Bari or Brindisi airports. Using a Cub aircraft, an expert pilot-photographer cruised over the abandoned airport and took pictures of the Jewish aircraft refueling. Later, he landed, under the guise of a sportsman-pilot, and took close-up pictures of the aircraft and crews. In this picture, some of the Jewish "light bombers" can be seen lined up on the airfield.

Lack Of Ministers Real Problem Bay Of Quinte Conference Finds

SMITHS FALLS, May 27.—(CP).—Lack of candidates for the United Church ministry in Canada and methods to gain response from young people occupied discussion Wednesday by the United Church Bay of Quinte Conference. Dr. S. M. Gilmour, professor of Theological College, Queen's University, Kingston, spoke of the need for 250 United Church ministers in Canada. "The extreme lack of ministers now was a most serious problem facing the Church," he said.

He told delegates at the 24th session of the Conference that the problem should be discussed openly with young people in the presbyteries.

The conference, meeting in its second day, also heard a report from the committee on colleges and secondary schools delivered by Rev. G. A. Brown.

Rev. C. H. Dickenson of Toronto, book steward, said the sale of religious books had declined 25 per cent. since the Second World War.

Most Raise Standard
Rev. G. A. Williams of Toronto, associate secretary of the missionary and maintenance department, felt "there was something bigger and better to come for our church." He said "we must get more people giving in the Christian stewardship way. There must be a raise of the standard of living among our people."

The missionary and maintenance report, presented by Rev. H. R. Neal of Toronto and Rev. F. P. Pugsley of Norwood, was unanimously adopted by the conference. The Bay of Quinte conference objective last year of about $175,000 had been raised within $5,000. The 1948 objective was set at $190,000, and the 1949 objective at $210,000.

During the evening sessions the more than 350 delegates attended ordination services in the century-old Trinity United church. Rev. J. V. McNeely of Oshawa, newly-elected president of the conference, represented the Rt. Rev. T. W. Jones, moderator of the United Church of Canada. Those ordained were: Morley G. Clarke of Trenton, Thomas E. Hancock of Newcastle, James C. Kellogg of Parham and Robert M. Thompson of Oshawa.

Pay Tribute
Earlier the delegates to the 24th session of the conference paid tribute to the retiring president, Rev. Charles D. McLellan of Nanaimo. They recorded appreciation of his constant concern for the interest of the church, his energy and leadership.

Mr. McLellan presided for the morning session of the conference which continues until Friday. He expressed appreciation to officers and particularly the secretary for work and assistance during the year.

Recommendations he made included several changes in the conference program, abbreviation of reports and more assistance to students for the ministry.

The more than 350 clergy and laymen gathered at the conference were greeted Wednesday by Rev. J. K. Lattimore of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Smiths Falls. Mayor M. F. Davidson extended a civic welcome from the council and the town.

Glover Treasurer
Sessional meetings continued and new officers were elected to take charge of the conference. Rev. Harold Hough, Professor Emeritus of Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N.J., conducted the opening devotion Wednesday and spoke on the book of Job. They were: Mr. McNeely of Oshawa, president; Mr. McLellan of Nanaimo, past president; Rev. H. C. Wolfram of Almonte, secretary; Rev. Alfred Poulter of Madoc, assistant secretary; Rev. J. E. Glover of Hastings, treasurer; Rev. E. B. Snodgrass of Gratiot, statistician; and Rev. D. J. Faulds of Portsmouth, archives.

Graham Towers Appears In Prices Probe

OTTAWA, May 27.—(CP).—The prices committee today will question Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, to see what connection it can find between fiscal policy and the cost of food to the housewife.

The group ended its probe into vegetable prices Wednesday with a 35-minute dispute on a point of order when an American witness, Thomas Gregory of the Atlantic Commission Co., told them he thought that Canadian farmers had received very low prices in the past for their produce.

Mr. Gregory, who lives in Boston, was called because his firm operates in Canada as a purchasing agent for its parent company, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. He was replying to a question about price controls asked by W. R. Thatcher (CCP-Moose Jaw.)

Not Qualified

Liberal members objected that he was given evidence of opinion, not of fact, and that as an American citizen he might not be qualified to discuss Canada's economy.

Acting chairman R. W. Mayhew (L-Victoria, B.C.) supported the objection and said he thought it unfair of members to seek replies that fitted their conveniences.

His ruling immediately led to further dispute. Members generally wanted it made clear that opinionated evidence would be admitted when Mr. Towers appears tomorrow.

Jean Lesage (L-Montreal)

L'Islet), who raised the original point of order, said his objection had been based on Mr. Gregory's qualifications.

Mr. Mayhew agreed that Mr. Towers' position would be different.

Who was one of the pioneers in the Ontario Legislature in advocating collective bargaining for labour? None other than the Hon. Farquhar Oliver, the present Ontario Liberal Leader. That was years ago as a young private member. He had studied the developments of advanced labour legislation in the United States and other countries and was advocating labour reforms long before they became an accepted part of the legislative programme in Ontario.

The Liberal party when returned to power in Ontario UNDERTAKES TO DO THE FOLLOWING:

- Increase workmen's compensation benefits to 75% and shorten waiting period from 7 days to 3 days.
- Compulsory two weeks' vacation with pay for industrial workers after two years' employment.
- Assist in formation of National Labour Code; and

ALSO

To co-operate with Federal Government in implementing a contributory Old Age Pension Plan for all shop and industrial workers; and To facilitate the early adoption of a nation-wide Health Insurance Program with hospital, nursing and medical services.

Drew has ignored labour. Drew has been a bar to progress. He promised advanced labour legislation and pledged co-operation with Ottawa in 1943 and 1945 election campaigns. He failed to keep both promises. All we get from Drew is speeches.

OLIVER as Minister of Welfare successfully negotiated with Ottawa before. He can do it again. LABOUR HAS A PROVEN FRIEND OF LONG-STANDING IN OLIVER.

Provide Proper Street Plan In New Areas

Annexation of segments of North Monaghan and Smith townships has not reduced Peterborough's problem of community planning said Arthur E. K. Bunnell, Toronto, at a dinner meeting in Hooper's restaurant on Wednesday night.

Problem of the city's fringe keep moving out ahead of boundary advances and should be approached by the concerted action of the neighboring municipalities.

Mr. Bunnell is consultant on community planning with the Ontario department of planning. He was here Tuesday night and spent all Wednesday on a tour of the city's borders. In that observation he was accompanied by James Dutton, James Hamilton, and the reeves of Monaghan, Smith and Douro.

Mr. Bunnell advised that steps be taken to analyze the changing conditions and the prospects in the band of suburban property extending through the townships, with particular attention to present subdivisions, topographical details, the names of property owners and the probable trend of development.

Of special interest to Peterborough in its continuing growth was its street pattern as a means of providing adequate facility for traffic. Main arterial roads should not exceed half a mile apart. Mr. Bunnell's observation was that the volume of traffic in most directions funnels toward too few streets.

Correction of this crowding could be planned even across township borders for the general convenience of the whole community, urban and rural. Mr. Bunnell said it was already evident that some undesirable development in the suburban fringe was taking place and early action should be taken jointly by the municipalities. He suggested that the township councils should pass at once urban development by-laws as provided by planning legislation. The townships would then be armed with control measures without reference to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Ready To Pass Bylaw
The attending reeves said they believed their councils were ready to pass this bylaw. Mr. Bunnell proposed that in the border planning the municipal representatives should invite the co-operation of members of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Engineering Institute for the preparation of maps and dealing with other phases of the expansion that is bound to continue. Their assistance could be obtained at small expense. Peterborough did not require to look beyond its own community for consultants in the planning which remained to be projected.

Main streets of low resistance to pressure selling are collecting pocketfuls of hope of winning anything from a basket of victuals to a bicycle or perhaps a suit of clothes, possibly a hairdo if luck is looking out the window when the tickets are drawn—at the end of the week is it?—in the Lowe paint store.

Members of the women's auxiliary of Civic Hospital are pursuing dimes and nimbler two-bit pieces with a persistence motivated by fidelity to a grand and high cause that leaves some of the merchants envious of all that curb salesmanship that could be profitably employed behind counters, if it were purchasable.

What's his name Carnegie could learn a lot about the art and the wiles of selling in a tour of main street any of these mornings or afternoons when the sun and the ladies are smiling. Their ambushes are located in the most unlikely and thereby strategic spots. And their continuous screening of the main street regulars, apart from the casuals of afternoon shopping and occasional cheery farmers whose spring crops are in the blade, is the most thorough and withal felicitous job that has been seen in a long time.

Nor is their accompanying feeling of inner satisfaction in having helped the cause. You tuck into an inside pocket the winning ticket on electric kettle

Law Fractured; Attacked On Excursion

A Peterborough man, Richard O'Brien, 24, Stewart St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken jaw and other facial injuries as the result of what he alleges was a savage beating-up by crew members of SS Ontario No. 2, a passenger boat on the Cobourg to Rochester run.

Mr. O'Brien and six companions went on the Victoria Day excursion trip, and it is claimed that when O'Brien embarked for the return journey, after an argument with several crew members, he was seized and taken to the hold of the ship where he was punched several times and tied to a steel girder.

As far as O'Brien can remember, the trouble started over a trivial incident. He said that some remarks were passed about his hat, and the upshot of the affair was that he was seized, beaten and then trussed up. One of the crew, he said, threw his hat into the water after he had been taken below and asked him if he still wanted it.

Later, he says, he was untied and a group of six or seven of the crew members (who he identified as deck hands), began to pummel him about the face until he lapsed into semi-consciousness.

The party consisted of the injured man, his brother, Jack O'Brien, Thomas Eakins, George St. Norman, Booth, Jackson Ave., and three girls. They said the voyage to the Genesee Docks near Rochester passed without incident. While in Rochester the girl went shopping and O'Brien and his three male companions had "several pints of beer."

Prisoner In Hold
Relating the story to the Examiner, Mr. Booth said the seven of them had walked back the distance of about a mile from the bus terminus to the docks. "Red" didn't have a girl and he dropped behind as the other six of us walked to the docks. We didn't see him again until after he had been beaten up."

When they did not see their missing companion and the boat pulled out, they began to make inquiries and learned they had boarded the vessel. Then they went to Capt. William Bryson who informed them that O'Brien was being held in the hold below.

"Could I have my brother released in my custody," asked Jack O'Brien.

And according to O'Brien, Capt. Bryson replied: "No. There's nothing I can do. He was causing a disturbance and he'll have to stay down there until he reaches Cobourg. He'll be all right."

One of the girls of the company managed to elude the vigilance of the crew and slipped down into the hold where she saw him seated on the floor with a rope tightly binding him to a steel girder and his face swollen from the beating.

She reported what she had seen to the others and another attempt was made to secure his release by interviewing the captain.

Bryson is said to have repeated his statement, "there's nothing I can do about it."

Continuing his story, Mr. Booth said: "Then for some reason O'Brien was let free and he rejoined the party. He was taken to the washroom where he bathed his injured face in cold water and tried to clean up."

"Meanwhile on the main deck what was described as 'a drunken brawl' broke out. Several drunks began quarrelling and when members of the crew moved in to break it up, the too became involved."

A Hollywood bar-room scene in the wild west. Two men were cut by broken glass as they wrestled on the deck; one woman was thrown through a window, another had some teeth knocked out and still another is said to have cut a man by striking him on the head with a coke bottle.

Apparently the fracas was a connection between this outbreak and the injury to Mr. O'Brien.

One of the ship's crew was described as "Oriental looking" by Mr. Booth and he was fighting drunk. "You couldn't walk from one end of the ship to the other without getting into a fight," said Mr. Booth. He added that the Peterborough party kept out of the battle.

When the ship finally docked they helped O'Brien to shore and took him to Dr. Wilkins of Cobourg for medical attention. At the same time another man, a Cobourg resident, was being treated for a large cut on his upper lip which he said was inflicted by a member of the crew.

They arrived back in the city and took the injured man to his home where he was treated by Dr. Herbert Young. Next day he was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where it was ascertained that his jaw was broken, and the bone holding the teeth is also believed fractured. A friend who met the party when it arrived home said he failed to recognize O'Brien so badly had the left side of his face been beaten.

The incident was reported to Provincial Police in Peterborough who are investigating.

Captain Bryson could not be reached for immediate comment.

Professor Weall To Address Horticulturists

Professor John A. Weall of the horticultural division, Ontario Agricultural College, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Horticultural Society Monday, May 31, at 8 p.m. in the YWCA. His subject will be "beautification of the Small Home."

Mr. W. C. Wilks says: "Prof. Weall discussed this same topic at the Ontario Horticultural Society's convention. It was so favorably received by the delegates that an invitation was extended to him to come to Peterborough. We are fortunate in his having this free date. Prof. Weall sketches the building of a house and elaborates it with interesting detail. He is a fluent and humorous speaker."

The public is invited to this meeting, especially all those who are thinking of building a house for themselves.

Refreshments will be served, and a silver collection will be taken to assist in defraying expenses.

Membership is at present more than 400, and is still less than last year. The special premium is the helpful book "The Modern Family Garden." It is worth more than the membership fee, and is a guide in all phases of home gardening. A few copies still remain. When they are gone, no further copies can be obtained.

The beautification committee has accepted responsibility of caring for the area at Cross and McDonnell streets, with its other projects.

"When completed this area will form a small park," Mr. Wilks informed the Examiner. "We gratefully acknowledge the co-operation of the city parks committee and invite citizens to support our efforts by preventing any damage to this work."

fore, and the National Research Council is working out steps to make the results available to industry as a whole, as well as to scientists and technicians.

It is encouraging visits to its laboratories and also seeking to exploit what is learned through a special crown company which will sell only ideas and inventions.

The first company so set up is Canadian Patents and Development, Ltd., with a board of directors drawn from industry, universities and the Research Council.

These steps were outlined by Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the council, in an address Wednesday to the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The company will, if requested, make its services available to Canadian universities and will provide a channel through which new developments by the universities may flow easily to industry. Any profits will be used for further research and development.

Justice Lost Under Reds, St. Laurent Says

MORRISBURG, May 27—(CP)—The Soviet state has demonstrated conclusively that the goal of social justice never can be reached by the Communist principles of terror and violence, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent told the Canadian Club here Wednesday night.

The leaders of the Soviet Union already had realized this fact, he said in an address prepared for delivery, but it was "obviously in their interests to continue to delude their unfortunate followers at home and abroad."

Mr. St. Laurent said Communist propaganda had "beguiled and confused true progressives and reformers for too long."

"It is time for us all to realize that the Soviet government, though proclaimed by Communist parties to be the champion of the oppressed, is itself an oppressor on a scale surpassing even Nazi Germany. It has already suppressed the freedom of man and imposed a police-regime on 10 countries of eastern Europe."

The methods and aims of Stalin bore a striking similarity to those of Hitler and Mussolini. While the slogans and theories differed, "The facts speak for themselves."

"It is time for the free world to realize that the division is not between the forces of reaction with the Fascists on the extreme right and the forces of progress with the Communists on the extreme left."

"The division is rather one between parties which advocate a police state and parties which advocate a free society."

No Secrets Hidden From Cabinet All Must Support Decisions

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, May 27 — (CP). — The Prime Minister takes his seat halfway down the long table covered with blue cloth, his back to the warm fire.

The murmur of traffic drifts up quiet Downing Street, but it does not blur the voices of the 16 men in No. 10 who form the British Cabinet.

The Lord President of the Council, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Secretaries of State, for Foreign Affairs, Home Affairs, Scotland, Commonwealth Affairs, and the Colonies, the Ministers of Defence, Labor, Health, Education, and Agriculture, the President of the Board of Trade, the Lord Privy Seal, and the Lord Chancellor each sits in his appointed place.

Ordinary-looking men, all Lord Chancellor Jowitt, tall and lean, wears a starched collar, but the rest look as if they had left little business offices or suburban shops they owned.

Innovation.

Most of them smile. Prime Minister Attlee pulls quickly as he runs over the agenda. An innovation, this. Until 1916, the British Cabinet had no secretary because the taking of minutes or records might have endangered security. For nearly 200 years their predecessors sat in this room with none to help them. Now there is a secretariat, with a permanent secretary and deputy secretaries, military and civil.

These 16 men are the core of the British Government. They are members of Parliament and appointed to the Cabinet by the King, on the advice of the Prime Minister.

The Lord Chancellor is from the House of Lords and the Cabinet sits in effect as a joint committee of both House of Parliament. It is, in the words of Bagehot, "a hyphen which joins, a buckle which fastens, the legislative part of the state to the executive part of the state."

Men of Different Opinion.

These 16 are men of independent opinion whose views sometimes differ and policies sometimes are beaten out on the anvil of hot words. When these policies are decided every Cabinet minister must support them. He must not excuse himself on the ground he was outvoted. He must defend the decision of the majority and vote for it in Parliament. If he does not consent to take responsibility, he must resign.

Automatically, their proceedings are confidential. The state has no secrets from them — defence, foreign affairs, research, Commonwealth relations, economic affairs, war and the problems of peace all come across the blue cloth.

The Prime Minister looks around the table. "To-day we have..." he begins.

Defends Sales Tax, But Raps Income Taxes

By FORBES RHUDE

TORONTO, May 27 (CP)—The sales tax was defended and the income tax questioned by Prof. J. L. McDougall of Queen's University in an address prepared for delivery today to the annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

He said there is every appearance that if the government makes a determined effort to enforce the present income tax upon farmers at anything approaching present rates it will have a full-scale revolt on its hands.

Prof. McDougall said "a heavy income tax is a magnificent device for raising a lot of money during a war, but the attempt to retain anything resembling those rates in time of peace when people lack the compelling incentive to pay such taxes is to court disaster."

"When exemptions were substantial, when tax rates low and when total tax collections were a lower percentage of the national income than they now are, the income tax had advantages which it now is in danger of losing."

Little Man

"Aggregate income tax collected from people with incomes below $3,000 now exceeds that paid by those with $10,000 a year and over. This is not because they are taxed unduly, it is merely a reflection of the fact that there are so many of them."

"I recognize that we live in a so-called 'positive state'. It accepts a constantly-broadening responsibility for the well-being of its citizens."

"A considerable part of the political support for it has come from people who thought it was all to come by 'taxing the rich'. Perhaps it is regrettable, but there just aren't enough rich people to make that possible. What is in fact happening is that the beneficiaries of that policy are being compelled to pay most of the costs themselves."

"In that situation, the sales tax is a far safer tool than the income tax. People get what they earn. They have full discretion in determining whether they will pay sales tax on the purchase of a new suit of clothes, or on a refrigerator, or will save their money and avoid the tax altogether."

Prefacing his remarks Prof. McDougall said he assumed "the external situation will be sufficiently threatening to make it necessary to enlarge greatly our expenditures upon defence."

Two Indians Suffer Gun Shot Wounds

BRANTFORD, May 27—(CP)—Murray Woodruff, 18, and Marian Martin, 13, are recovering in hospital at near Oshawa from wounds suffered in separate shooting incidents of the Six Nations Indian reserve.

Woodruff suffered a flesh wound in his thigh when a home-made .22-calibre pistol accidentally discharged, police said. The Martin girl suffered a splintered ankle bone when a .22-calibre rifle discharge as she and a group of friends engaged in target practice.

Farm Posse Formed Seek Sheep Attacker

LONDON, Ont., May 27 (CP)—A posse of about 50 London township farmers under the supervision of Police Chief Harry Carter and his staff will scour brush country on the outlying 15 and 16 Concessions this afternoon in search of "wild animals" which have been worrying cattle and sheep. Several complaints of animal worrying have been made in the last few weeks and some fowl have been reported killed.

No dogs will be used but all farmers will be armed.

Aerial Spraying Used On Weeds

CALGARY, May 27—(CP)—A new method of weed eradication—air spraying—will be tried out on a 1,000-acre farm in Southern Alberta this week. It will mark the first attempt to use the spraying system on a large grain farm in this province.

Stuart Turner of Vancouver, former lecturer in agriculture at the University of Alberta, who developed the spraying method, said he believed it would soon be used to control the grasshopper menace and to kill mosquitoes.

Scene of the experiment will be a large farm in the Foremost, Alta., district, about 170 miles southeast of Calgary, and 55 miles southwest of Medicine Hat.

"Spraying is more economical than crop dusting," Mr. Turner said. "It is not affected by weather. Where dust will be washed off with a heavy rain, the spray seeps into the body of the weed and kills it by sudden overgrowth."

Gordon Elves, manager of the firm owning the plane, said it would be flown about 15 feet off the ground, at about 50 to 60 m.p.h.

"Flying in a straight line across a field, the plane can spray a swath 60 feet wide," he said.

Two Policemen Hurt Subduing Prisoner

TORONTO, May 27—(CP)—Two policemen were injured in the midtown Belmont St. station today as they struggled to prevent the escape of a prisoner suspected of gasoline theft. The man was subdued by two detectives who went to the assistance of the uniformed officers.

Sgt. Keith Sison suffered knee injuries in the battle and required hospital treatment. Constable William Percy suffered back injuries and was given sick leave.

Police Baffled

SUDBURY, May 27—(CP)—Sirens whined and the chase was on in nothing flat when a man calmly climbed into an automobile outside police headquarters and drove away. The car belonged to a policeman—and he saw the whole thing.

The "thief" stopped, went into a store, came out again—and walked into the law. This was his explanation:

He'd borrowed keys to use a friend's car. He'd forgotten to ask his friend what the car looked like. But the ignition key fitted the one outside headquarters. He really was pretty embarrassed about the whole thing.

The police? They were just surprised. They let him go.

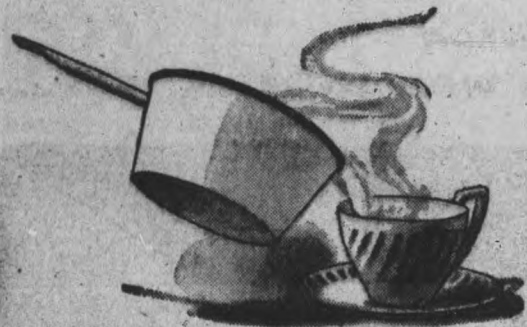

Prime Minister Smuts Party Leading Vote

JOHANNESBURG, May 27—(Reuters). — Prime Minister Smuts' United Party held a comfortable lead in South Africa's general election today, with nearly half the results declared.

Figures were: United Party, 53 seats; Nationalists, 14; Labor Party, 4; South African Party, 1. Seventy-eight seats are still in doubt and the remaining three in the Assembly, to represent Cape province natives, will be voted on later. The Nationalists, led by Dr. D. F. Malan, had gained three seats without losing any so far. The United Party had gained five — chiefly at the expense of other Government parties — for the loss of three.

Asks Commons To Speed Work

OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King served notice Wednesday that the Commons will have to speed work if it wants to have parliament prorogued by June 30.

He told members that about 25 measures, not including those on the order paper or before House committees, remain to be considered. He announced several months ago that if the Commons does not conclude it work by the end of June parliament will adjourn and return in September.

Mr. King said most of the new measures are relatively simple and may not occasion much in the way of discussion. He did not give details of the bills, but simply listed their titles.

The Income Tax Act, the Dominion Succession Duties Act, the Excise Tax Act, the Excise Tax and the Customs Tariffs Act will have to be amended to provide for the tax changes announced in the budget.

A bill simplifying the Income Tax Act, introduced but not debated at the last session, will be reintroduced.

MP Highly Unpopular Asks Alcohol Cut

OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP) — A. E. Robinson (PC-Bruce) proposed a highly-unpopular reform in the Commons Wednesday night.

To the cries of "No, no" from his fellow-parliamentarians, he suggested during the budget debate that the alcoholic content of beer be lowered and then countered this with the proposal that all liquor taxes be reduced.

He said the government had "extracted" hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes from "the poor unfortunate people who drink." Once the liquor taxes were lowered, the remaining revenue should be used for temperance education in public schools.

He suggested that if there was less revenue from liquor the various governments would show more interest in temperance.

Pick Immigrants For Canada With Great Care

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, May 27 — (CP). — The Society for Overseas Settlement of British Women has assured the Government it is ready again to face the problems of increased emigration, including persons like the little girl who was amazed to find Canadians ate marmalade with bacon.

That unidentified little girl was projected into a review of women's emigration in the fifty room of Philip Noel-Baker, Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations.

Miss O. M. Hargreaves, joint chairman of the society executive committee, said much time now is spent in dissuading women from going to Dominions where they would be unlikely to make a success. The society also tried to give would-be emigrants an understanding of conditions they would face.

There was the problem of emigrants accepting the customs and manners of a new country.

Years ago the society sent girls on a tour of Canada and the venture was a success except for a girl who wrote a magazine article noting that Canadians had the curious habit of eating marmalade with their bacon.

Not Amused

"The story rocketed across Canada," said Miss Hargreaves. "Canadians didn't think much of children going out and criticizing them. They were not amused."

Margot, Lady Davson, vice-chairman, said increased emigration usually followed war. She said the original society was formed in 1886 to assist women emigrating. Now it is given a government grant for administrative expenses and in migration matters acted as women's branch of the Commonwealth Relations Office. It co-operated with associated bodies in the Dominions.

Guidance given would-be emigrants by the society prevented disillusionment and failure to succeed later.

Noel-Baker said Britain could not afford to lose expert technicians and craftsmen at a time when labor actually is being imported, but otherwise the Government would not stand in the way of those who wished to go overseas.

Pair Lose Appeals In Death Sentences

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — Appeals against death sentences were dismissed by the Ontario Appeal Court Wednesday in the cases of Leslie Davidson, 29, Montreal-born pianist, and Maynard-Jonathan 17-year-old Brantford Indian.

Davidson was found guilty by a Supreme Court jury and sentenced to be hanged June 29 for the murder of his former sweetheart, Mrs. Margaret (Mickey) Meredith.

Jonathan will be hanged June 22 for the murder of Isaac J. Hill, 77-year-old Indian trapper. Hill died in November after being beaten.

$300,000 Fire Races Through Lumber Yard

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — Fire raced through the Sheppard and Gill Lumber Yard in Toronto's east end Wednesday, destroyed $300,000 worth of lumber and equipment, and forced scores of persons from nearby houses.

The blaze was brought under control about two hours after firemen first were called.

Firemen from seven stations battled the three-alarm blaze and four suffered minor injury.

School children and their parents helped the firefighters by using garden hoses to douse rooftop fires started by flying embers.

The flames roared more than 50 feet into the air and thick smoke billowing over the fire scene was visible in downtown Toronto.

The blaze is believed to have started when a spark from a defective motor ignited a pile of shavings. Within a few minutes it spread to the neat piles of lumber and licked its way to all corners of the yard.

Police went from door to door, warning citizens to leave their houses. Many removed furniture and personal belongings and piled them on front lawns.

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — Caught trying to take $128 in United States money out of Canada illegally by hiding it in his socks, Gaspari Ditta, Toronto fruit dealer, Wednesday was fined $103. He also forfeited the $128. The court was told Ditta was found to be "well-heeled" when he tried to cross the border at Niagara Falls last Christmas on his way to visit friends in Brooklyn, N.Y.

"A Good Medicine To Know About," Says Mr. Aberhart

Tells of Benefit From Using Syntona. Helped Overcome Stomach Disorders, Rheumatic Pains, Backache And Nervousness. "Wouldn't Be Without It," He Says.

MR. JOHN ABERHART

The great popularity of Syntona Herbal Compound is by no means accidental. It is due almost entirely to the experiences of men and women who have taken it and who in turn have recommended it to their friends and neighbors because of the good results it gives. And in this way Syntona has become a favorite remedy in thousands upon thousands of Canadian homes.

A typical example of the benefits to be obtained by taking Syntona is found in the recent experience of Mr. John Aberhart, 59 Delatre street, Woodstock, Ontario, who said:

"A few weeks ago I began suffering from stomach disorders and rheumatic pains. After my meals I would have very bad distress from gas, heartburn and sour acidity. I often got dizzy spells and sick headaches, and my nerves were so on edge I couldn't sleep well at night. As a result I felt fatigued and listless. I had a nagging pain across my back and this with the pains in my limbs, joints and muscles often made me feel sore and lame all over."

"I began taking Syntona after it was recommended by a friend and it wasn't long until people began saying to me, 'My, how well you look.' I felt ever so much better, too, as my food was digesting without any distress afterwards and the aches and soreness had left my back, limbs and joints. My nerves calmed down as I could once again get sound, restful sleep and the fatigued feeling went away."

"Ever since then I have kept Syntona in the house. If a cold or anything gets me down, I take this medicine awhile and soon I'm all right again. It's certainly a good medicine to know about and I wouldn't be without it."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help you, too. — (Advt.)

Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter Elected Legion President

By DOUGLAS HOW

SASKATOON, May 27. (CP)—The Canadian Legion's five-day national biennial convention swung to its close today with an agenda that could produce the most controversial session of the week. So far there has been no major controversy.

The 1,000 delegates move back to debate on resolutions that involve raps at defence preparations, the entry of Canadians into the fighting in Palestine and the use of the term "Maple Leaf Legion" ask deportation of foreign-born Communists and encourage world federation.

British Columbia delegates have also obtained permission for reconsideration of an earlier vote which declined to throw Legion support behind efforts to get rehabilitation benefits for wartime merchant seamen and air transport pilots.

The convention decided Wednesday to provide for a two-day interim between nominations for Legion offices and elections at future conventions, to permit delegates to consider the candidates. It accepted an Alberta proposal to this effect after hearing J. Harper Frowse, an Edmonton delegate, charge that the lineup of new officers—Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter of Winnipeg was elected Dominion president—had been arranged even before the delegates arrived.

Follows Price

Col. Baxter, Army Service Corps veteran of the First World War, succeeds Maj.-Gen. C. F. Price of Montreal, who relinquished the presidency after two years in office.

The convention also: 1. Support unanimously a change in admission ritual requiring new members to declare they were not Communists, Fascists or advocates of overthrowing the government by force.

2. Approved weekly radio broadcasts on Legion aims, and set "Legion week" from No. 5-11. 3. Approved a resolution sponsored by Fred Jones of Victoria asking that women who served with the Red Cross and St. John's Ambulance Corps and as occupational therapists overseas be accorded rehabilitation benefits.

Quints Observe 14th Birthday; Given Holiday

CALLENDER, May 27. (CP)—Unconcerned about statistics as to how long they may live, the Dionne quintuplets who defied science by surviving in the first place, will aggregate 621 pounds tomorrow when they will take a holiday from school and share a five-layer birthday cake.

Heaviest of the five famous sisters at 130 pounds is Yvonne. Figures show the girls have jointly gained 610 pounds 13½ ounces since their first official weigh-in at one week old.

A picture of rugged French-Canadian health, the girls will open presents and letters of congratulations, oblivious of the fact the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in New York has announced they have overcome statistical risks that face the average woman in 65 years.

The sisters—Yvonne, Emilie, Annette, Cecile and Marie—have never suffered common diseases of children such as measles, mumps and chicken pox. In the last year they've never had as much as a cold.

Chances Excellent

On the basis of the special care under which they have been brought up, Metropolitan Life statistics gave them more than a one-in-five chance they will all live until 85. The Quints now are healthier than the average child.

Each of the sisters will sport a corsage, present of Hayden Elliott, Crockett, Calif., businessman, who has sent the children flowers from his California home on the 28th day of every month since their birth.

Special mass will be offered tomorrow, with Archbishop Alexandre Vachon and Rev. G. Sauve of Ottawa University, both close friends of the family, present. Later, Archbishop Vachon will show movie films of the Marian Congress which the Quints attended in Ottawa last year.

Ilsey Defends Tax Changes Says Reductions Wisely Selected

OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP). — The man responsible for Canada's finances through the most critical years of the war took the floor in the Commons Wednesday to defend the government's 1948-49 budget. Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsey, now minister of justice, said the tax reductions in the budget had been "wisely selected" and would prove "beneficial." He was the first to speak in resumed debate on the budget.

Garfield Case (PC-Grey North) said Finance Minister Abbott had tried to justify continued high taxation by saying that it was not known when the international situation would necessitate more expenditures on national defence. If another war came, said Mr. Case, money to fight it would be found just as it had been found in 1939.

W. D. Wylie (SC-Medicine Hat) said farmers in his area were leaving hog production because of the high rate of income tax.

Other speakers included T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview);

J. A. Ross (PC-Souris); F. S. Zaplinsky (CCF-Dauphin); A. E. Robinson (PC-Beuce) and Charlie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South).

Under Consideration

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said Canadian recognition of Israel is still under consideration.

Transport Minister Chevrier tabled the annual report of the National Harbors Board which showed that every Canadian harbor shared in an over-all 14 per cent increase in cargo tonnage handled last year.

In the budget debate, Mr. Ilsey said he thought Canada should attach "more importance" to reduction of the national debt.

Defending the budget surplus of $670,000,000, he said the government would find it "far easier" to meet the legitimate needs of the people if it could budget for "substantial" surpluses during the next few years, reduce the national debt and thus cut down the interest charges arising from the debt.

For example, a drop in the debt of $2,500,000,000 would mean a $70,000,000 saving in interest. Mr. Ilsey answered opposition charges that the 1946 dollar devaluation was responsible for Canada's foreign exchange difficulties with the flat statement that the currency change had no effect on Canada's import and export trade figures.

Sound Move

He said he believes revaluation of the dollar in 1946 was sound and that the retention of the dollar at par with the United States dollar is still sound today.

The minister recalled that Progressive Conservative members had said revaluation of the dollar had discouraged the investment of American capital in Canada.

Actually, much of the investment had been of a speculative type in Canadian securities, including government Canada bonds.

Risk capital had not come into Canada from the U.S. last year because of recurrent rumors that the dollar was to be devalued. Now, however, confidence in Canada was returning and a new flow of risk capital had developed in recent months.

Despite these statements, Mr. Case said the parity of the Canadian dollar is merely a "joke" because the dollar is discounted as much as 15 per cent just across the border.

Mr. Wylie said the Government, which had built up a surplus of $670,000,000 last year, was not giving the average taxpayer an opportunity to accumulate a surplus.

Referring to Canada's American dollar shortage, he said possibly $100,000,000 could be derived annually from the removal of the ban on beef cattle shipments to the United States.

Mr. Ross charged that Canada's Prairie farmers have lost $274,000,000 since last August through the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement. He said the loss had been suffered on wheat sold at home and abroad under controlled prices set out in the contract, now in its second year.

Chevalier Composes Citizens' New Name

GRANBY, Que., May 27 — (CP) — Mayor Horace Boivin wanted a proper name to designate citizens of this Eastern township city. French singer Maurice Chevalier did not hesitate.

"Granbyens," he said in French. And the way he pronounced it, the named sounded like "Grands Biens" people of great wealth. Mayor Boivin was pleased and those seated around Chevalier at a dinner tendered by the city applauded.

So Maurice became the first official Granbyen. He was given a symbolic key engraved with the coat-of-arms of the city and was made an honorary citizen of Granby.

Alnwick Township Citizens Pay Tribute to Parkers

ROSEBATH, May 26 (ENS).—A community party was held on Friday night at the Orange Hall to honor Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parker, residents of Alnwick Township for 30 years, who are retiring from farming and are moving to Norwood.

Silas Sherwin, township clerk, then read an address, the text of which follows:

"It is with mixed feelings of joy and sorrow we address you, and the occasion emphasizes the fact that joy and sorrow go hand in hand. We would not allow you to leave us without paying tribute to, and giving voice to our appreciation of such a high type of citizenship.

"We pray that your tasks may be lighter and that leisure may be yours while you are still young enough to enjoy such leisure. In church, in community, in neighborly fellowship, in fraternal society, in municipal offices, in Red Cross, your contributions in ability, judgment and time, together with your constructive criticism have served in continuing the construction of a modern township.

"What part has Mrs. Parker had in these municipal activities? Her Red Cross work is well known. For a few moments think back and recall to memory that behind the life of many a great man stands a great woman who has been the inspiration in much of the success of her husband's life. Content to shine in the reflected glory of her husband she keeps the home fires burning while her husband maybe keeps the political pot boiling."

In Council For Years

"During your terms in municipal and county offices, as councillor for four years, as reeve and county councillor for six years, as school trustee for three years, as assessor for thirteen years, as an officer in your Lodge (L.O.L. 264) you had the courage of your convictions. Possibly your opponents may not have agreed with lowed by her councillors, Joan Carawith, Oshawa, and Gwenna Griffith, Stratford, in the procession to her throne.

you on many questions, but all would agree that you were sincere in your convictions.

"As members of the United Church your contributions whether monetary or otherwise, were graciously given and gratefully received. As a previous member of the board of stewards, your judgment, assistance and loyalty have been of much value.

"It would not be seemly to allow this occasion to pass without making reference to Gordon's ready wit, his great sense of humor, and his fund of anecdotes. As you go out to a new home, in a new community, our thoughts and prayers will follow you. You are not too far away, we hope to see you from time to time.

"We know you will not forget us, your old friends, but so you may be assisted in remembering us, we bring a gift. May your pleasure in receiving be as great as ours in the giving.

"May God bless you as you enter into new activities in your new community."

Ree Brown then presented a chair and a floor lamp on behalf of the community. Reeve O. J. Robbins then read an address and a presentation of two woolen blankets was made on behalf of township officials by Fred Norris.

Reeve Robbins said: "It is a pleasure for us to represent the municipal officials tonight to do you both honor at this gathering. It is with deep regret we contemplate your moving away from among us. Mrs. Parker, we know will be missed in your varied activities among us and you, Gordon, will be missed by the council, especially.

"It has been very convenient in the past to be able to consult you, and your activities have always been marked with fair play to all parties concerned. We humbly beg you to accept this small token from the municipal officials. We wish you both many happy years together and sincerely hope you will be back among us frequently."

The address was signed by the Reeve, councillors, Fred Murphy, Fred Broadworth, Harold Taylor, and James Thompson; township clerk, Silas Sherwin; treasurer, Roy Thibodeau; road superintendent, Edward Noonan; Constable Fred Norris and stock valuator, A. J. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker then thanked their many friends and neighbors for their gifts and the kindness they had shown while they had lived in the community.

The entertainment consisted of of dancing and cards. Refreshments were served at midnight.

Casserole Dishes of Fish Will Aid Limited Budget

By MARY MOORE

The new budget conceivably may lower the price of meat to housewives, since the Sales tax is removed, but I have become such a doubter I will have to see the money leftover in my wallet before being convinced.

Recently we have made a definite swing to fish dishes, and they have been received very well by my critical family, so I venture to set them forth here, because they are lower in price than meat dishes—pound for pound. The following recipe calling for a combination of canned salmon (the pink kind at 38c per lb.) and carefully mashed potatoes and grated onion, is quite delicious and is one of the popular specialties at a large downtown restaurant.

Salmon Patt

Three cups hot fluffy mashed potatoes, 1 pound can salmon (2 cups) or any other cold cooked fish, 1 tablespoon minced onion or juice, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley or celery, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 eggs, yolks and whites separated. Mix the flaked fish and potatoes. Add the onion, parsley or celery and lemon juice. Add beaten egg yolks, then fold in beaten whites last. Pour into well-buttered casserole, dot top with butter, sprinkle with paprika, and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until well-puffed and gold on top. Serve at once. If for very special occasion pass hot tomato sauce.

NEW PRINTS—Many and beautiful are the designs of this season's prints. We are indebted to the designers who have used indigenous sources such as the Northwest Passage series which inspired this crepe printed in an Alaskan theme. This shirtwaist frock is cut full for comfort, with front buttoning from neck to hem. The long pointed collar is convertible. It is one of those live-in-all-day dresses that are nice for general city or country wear, and good travellers. Dramatic prints offer a change from pretty florals and more conventional themes.

Casserole Of Fish, Italian Sauce

One-quarter pound sliced mushrooms, 1-3 cup diced celery, 1 medium sized onion chopped, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 cups tomatoes, 2 cups pepper, 2 cups sugar, 2 cups flaked fish, cooked haddock or cod, 3 cups tomatoes, tea biscuits.

Saute in butter the mushrooms, celery, onion, then combine with tapioca and remaining ingredients in order. Bake in buttered casserole at 425 deg. F. for 35 minutes, stirring twice. Cover with cut-out tea biscuits 12 minutes before baking is finished. Serves eight.

Butter Fish Loaf

(There is an open discussion continued on the instalment plan based on two different versions of hospitality: 1, should one keep open house all the time and provide refreshments such as are on hand—that is "pot luck"—to all comers; or 2, should one insist on folks being invited, and when they do come serve them a repast fit for royalty.)

(I know different families who adhere rigidly to both schools of thought—but I'm a student of the former.)

(That is why I am including the following recipe—it will serve 12 people and costs about $1.50. Try and serve 12 people from a $1.50 roast of beef. The flavor is tops; the appearance is attractive; the total effect is sensational.)

Butter a large loaf pan generously. Drain liquid from three 1-pound cans pink salmon, flake salmon and remove bones and skin. To the flaked salmon add juice 1 1/2 lemons, 1/4 cup fine breadcrumbs, 1 small onion, grated, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 tablespoon chopped dill or sweet pickle, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and dash of Tabasco Sauce. Now make a thick cream sauce by melting 6 tablespoons butter with 6 tablespoons flour and stirring until mixed; pour in 1 1/2 cups milk while stirring until thick, then add 2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Mix with the salmon mixture. Fold in 3 well-beaten egg yolks. Place 2 fillets of flounder; place two along sides of loaf pan; cut the other one in halves crosswise and use to line ends of pan. Pack in salmon mixture. Stand pan in larger pan containing hot water and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 1 hour or until "set". Let stand 15 minutes in warm oven to solidify it and it will turn out on platter better. Serve with a cream sauce liberally flavored with sliced stuffed olives. Do not overlook this sauce.

QUESTION: I saw the recipe for individual English Pork pies. Somehow I misplaced it; would you oblige me by sending two as I want to send my sister in New Zealand one. We used to get Ha'penny pies in Lancashire. A.F.

ANSWER:

English Pork Pie

Use hot water pastry for this: Pour 1/4 cup boiling water over 1 cup lard or shortening and cream these together until blended. Then add 3 cups flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon baking powder. Mix well, form into ball, cover well and chill. When cold through, roll out on floured board and cut into rounds to fit individual pie tins or large muffin tins

Filling: Roll 1 to 1 1/2 pork shoulder meat which has some fat on it, in water to cover for 1/2 hour. Drain and put through 1/4-inch plate of meat grinder. Return meat to cooking liquid of which there should be at least 2 cups. Mix together 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 3 tablespoons potato flour, 1/4 teaspoon white pepper, and either 1 tablespoon grated raw onion, or 1 teaspoon onion salt, add 1/4 cup cold water to make paste and stir into the meat over medium heat until thick. Put about 2 tablespoons of this meat mix into each little pie, cover top with pastry crimping edges well, and slashing top to allow steam to escape. To give them a nice glaze brush tops with egg white, or egg yolk or milk. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 12 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. to finish. A very little sage or marjoram may be added if the meat filling is desired.

QUESTION: I want to write to you about 2 things. I like your suggestions for economizing on meat and wondered if you would not like my recipe for Spanish Sandwich—it is a little bit like Welsh Rarebit, with some interesting additions. Also I want to give you one of my ideas for a lunch that has to be eaten in the car while you are driving. Spanish Sandwiches (or Welsh Rarebit de Luxe—

from A. Walsh)
Two tablespoons chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup tomato juice, 1 cup grated cheese preferably old, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of paprika and cayenne, 1 beaten egg, about 6 slices buttered toast. Sauté the pimiento, and onion in butter 5 minutes. Add tomato juice, cheese and spices and cook 5 minutes, stirring until cheese melts. Stir little of this in, to the egg, then return egg part to hot mixture and cook 2 minutes. Serve hot on toast.

The car lunch idea is this: Since I try to keep the lunch as neat as possible I struck on the idea of serving fruit jellied in packaged jello in Dixie cups. I fill the cups only 2-3 full; there is no spilling, and the cups can be discarded as soon as empty. But don't forget to take spoons along! A Walsh.

ANSWER: Thanks for both good ideas
Anne.

PETERBOROUGH GIRLS GRADUATING IN TORONTO—Among those graduating from St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, during Commencement Exercises held Wednesday in Convocation Hall were Miss Mary T.

Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, 468 Gilmour St. (Left); Miss Catherine Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ryan, 364 Brock St. (Centre); Miss Dorothy Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Sullivan, 666 Downie St. (Right).

Pinafore Parade, Program Delights Tea Guests Of St. Paul's Evening Aux.

Dozens of pinafores and aprons were on display Wednesday evening in the YWCA, proving that this pioneer garment is very much of a necessity to the modern housewife. They were the featured attraction of the annual spring tea and sale given by Evening Auxiliary members of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and were modelled before a capacity crowd of friends. Purchases of favored styles were readily made and the prices seemed most reasonable for such fine workmanship. All were designed and made by the members who found a much wider variety of pretty materials available this year and so were able to present a very attractive range that was sure to please.

Miss Verna Johnston introduced the "pinafore parade" with interesting data on the apron's history, commencing with the fact that it is mentioned in the Bible, in the third chapter of Genesis, verse seven. She continued with its rise and fall in elegance through the centuries until today when it is considered a utility garment. Convener of the apron sale were Mrs. A. R. Bennett, Mrs. R. Barrie and Miss F. E. Vickers who attended a table assortment in the entrance hall.

A tempting display of delicious home baking attracted a host of customers who were served by Mrs. D. Dickson, Mrs. P. Hawthorne and Mrs. L. Dyer.

Miss Margaret Reid, president, made the introductions for a delightful musical program. The artists entertaining were Miss Iris Whalen, who contributed two lovely songs, and was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. P. Hooper; Misses Barbara Craig and Joan Carley, piano duo, and Miss Joy Walker, singing two pleasing selections, with accompaniment by Miss Mildred McIntyre.

Decorating convener, Miss Marjorie Best, had used almost every variety of spring flowers, within reach, placing gay tulips in low bowls, heavily perfumed lilacs in baskets with sprigs of dainty gypsophylla, wild orchids in another bouquet, and a striking combination of narcissus with purple iris on the mantel, and pink mimosa branches and narcissus in other bouquets.

White was featured in the tea table setting, using a hand-embroidered Japanese linen cloth which had large dragons and sprays of flowers in the centre and inserts of hand-made lace around the border. Three bouquets made up the centerpiece, using stately white narcissus combined with the feathery gypsophylla. For color, the candles in triple silver holders on either side were pink, turquoise and cream.

The tea was dispensed by Mrs. C. G. Boyd and Mrs. F. D. Weir. All members of the auxiliary acted as tea-room assistants, under direction of Mrs. Stewart Finnie, convener. Assisting her with arrangements were Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Hugh Stewart and Mrs. Walter Peck.

In the receiving line were Miss M. Reid, president, and Mrs. Jas. McLeod, vice-president. Miss Eva Roberts was at the treasurer's table.

Battling Parents Have Bad Influence on Children

A correspondent asks: "What is your opinion of the effect it would have on children growing up in a home where the father never speaks to the mother because he has fallen in love with another woman?"

depends upon the wisdom and the strength of their mother.

There are women who know their husbands to be unfaithful to them, whose hearts are broken by the knowledge that their husbands have ceased to care for them and whose prides are humbled into the dust by the affronts that are offered them, yet who, for the sake of giving their children a good home that their father can supply them and the advantages of education and social position that he could give them and they could not, somehow manage to carry on and keep their homes bright and cheerful in spite of what they are personally suffering.

In such cases the mother hides from the children their father's sin and weakness. Sometimes she is even big enough to teach her children to respect their father and love him, for very often a bad husband is a good father. But it takes a woman with the spirit of a martyr and the courage of a hero to do this.

Half Sacrifices Bad, Too

Few women are big enough to make the whole sacrifices. Most of them make half sacrifices. For the sake of their children they condone their husbands' infidelities to the extent of not leaving him and not breaking up their homes. Then they revenge themselves by indulging in never-ending quarrels with him and by bitter and jealous recrimination. Often a mother will even tell the children of the wrong their father has done her and make them fierce partisans of herself.

There can be no question of the harm that is done children who are brought up in a home where there is perpetual strife and wrangling between their parents, and where they are taught by precept and example to dishonor them both.

Such family scenes sear a child's very soul in its infancy. They burn up all belief in everything good and fine. Untimely knowledge of passions for one too young to understand make it cynical and hard. Listening to the mother's charges against the father and the father's accusations against the mother slays all respect for both, and home comes to be a place of torment and discord from which it escapes as soon as it possibly can.

The effect of these unhappy homes upon the children is written in the police records of our cities. Statistics show that from them come the great majority of the boys and girls who go astray. (Release by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, May 28

In spite of several static, congested and disturbed conditions, there should be definite progress made in putting important and long-range propositions over with lasting and very substantial returns. This by a concerted marshalling of varied forces and talents, with ingenuity, application and hard work, supported by clever strategies, in which intuition or "hunches" may play more than a minor role. Well-organized plans shrewdly executed, with the long-view should reach solid ground.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to plan carefully, with far-range vision and solidarity in sight. A policy of clever strategy and perhaps secret plans, put over with determination, concentrated efforts, and practical techniques could attain enduring and lasting security. Working to this end, for substantial futures and possessions, perhaps heeding shrewd "hunches" or intuitive leads might have power to remove obstacles and plant genuine creative foundations. But submit emotions or urges to logic and common sense, for best results. A child born on this day although possessing shrewd and clever emotional leads or impressions, also has good judgment and application to back up its ideals.

Organ Recital

Held at Park St.

A musical recital was held at Park St. Baptist Church on Wednesday evening, when Colin Corbett of Toronto played on the new electric organ, the first to be installed in any Peterborough church. Mr. Corbett, who is a former Peterborough boy, has given recitals on the CBC, at Shea's Theatre and at Simpson's Academy.

The program consisted of a pleasant selection of well-known classical music. Mr. Corbett played a wide selection of pieces, such as the choral prelude "Ohi Sacred Head Now Wounded," by J. S. Bach and Clair de Lune of Debussy.

Adam Hawley, baritone, sang several songs, including "The Great Awakening" by A. Walter Kramer and "The Lord's Prayer" by A. Malotte. Park St. Ladies' Trio, consisting of Mrs. J. Barry, Mrs. G. Batley and Mrs. C. Corbett, sang "Never Jesus Will I Leave" by Bach; arranged by Davis, and "Brother James' Air" by Gordon Jacob.

The Peterborough String Trio, consisting of Cecil Searies, Thomas Smith and Charles Allen, played several pieces, such as Spanish Dance Opus 12 No. 1 by Moszkowski, and the Waltz from the Sleeping Beauty of Tchaikovsky.

In his introduction to the recital, the Rev. E. J. Whan welcomed everybody and said he was happy to see so many people from other denominations present at the church. He then said a short prayer.

Church Opposes Single-Ticket Czech Election

PRAGUE, May 27.—(AP). — Roman Catholic Bishops in the Olomouc Archdiocese in Moravia brought out into the open today the church's opposition to the Czechoslovak government's single-ticket election.

A proclamation from the bish-ops, ruling priests out of politics, was posted on Emaus church to-day for Corpus Christi Day wor-shipers to see.

Many viewed it as virtually an order to Rev. Josef Plojhar, min-ister of health in the Commun-ist-dominated government, to choose between remaining in the government or in the church.

Father Plojhar is a member of the Catholic People's Party. He once was read out of it but regained leadership in the Communist coup of last February. The election is next Sunday.

Father Plojhar has been active in support of the government.

Significantly, perhaps, he has not been reported to have made a campaign speech since Tuesday night, when he spoke at Bruenn at about the time Vatican City divulged that Archbishop Josef Beran of Prague had forbidden the priest to campaign or hold office.

Father Plojhar has not been av-ailable since the notice was posted for any direct comment. A sec-retary said he felt the archbish-op's ruling was an invasion of his personal rights and a viola-tion of the Czechoslovak consti-tution.

Archbishop Beran declined comment.

YORK, England, May 27.—(AP)—Most Rev. Cyril Garbett, Archbishop of York, in an address to a convocation here today ad-vised strongly against the waging of "a holy war or religious crusade" against Communism.

"Indiscriminate ex-communi-cations," he said, would endanger Christian unity and might do great harm to millions of Chris-tians living in Communist coun-tries.

"We might easily prejudice their positions with their Com-munist rulers and we should cer-tainly be giving the militant atheist an excuse for demanding the resumption of persecution on the ground that Christianity was a danger to the state," the arch-bishop continued.

Many Roman Catholic in Po-land, and Catholics and Protest-ants in Hungary and Czechoslov-akia supported Communist polit-ical regimes but at the same time held fast to the Christian faith.

"Positive presentation of Chris-tianity would do more to check the spread of Communism than any amount of angry denuncia-tion and ex-communication," Dr. Garbett said.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

PROVIDE FOR ADVERSITY

"HOPE for the best, but prepare for the worst" is probably a good idea in all phases of human endeavor. It certainly fits a game like bridge. It is all well and good to play a hand the way that produces the best possible score if all goes happily. But to do that while risking your fate unnecessarily is not wise. If, without sacrificing any of the possible benefits of good fortune, you can simultaneously provide against adversity, you are giving the hand just that much better play.

Notice the nice bid East made after West showed his diamond suit. Plugging up the possibility of three losers there, making it virtually certain West was fairly short in clubs, caused East's hand to look very much better. Since he had passed on his first turn, he feared that a minimum rebid now of only 2-Spades would get left in. So he boldly invited game with his 3-Spades, an invitation West had to accept unless his own hand was the worst it could be.

What is the best bidding, for all concerned, on this big deal?

Outline Three-Party Issues In Ontario June 7 Election

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — The re-election or defeat of Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative government forms the Dominion issue in the Ontario provincial election June 7.

Choice of the nearly 3,000,000 eligible voters rests between the Progressive Conservatives and the Liberals—each contesting all 90 seats—and the CCF which has 79 candidates in the field and may have more when nominations close at 2 p.m. Monday, May 31.

In announcing the election, on April 18, Premier Drew said a $800,000,000 development program for the provincially-owned Hydro-Electric Power system was the chief reason for the vote. In campaign speeches since, he said that Hydro is not the only issue, but it forms part of a general program aimed at prosperity for the province.

Premier Drew has just completed a two-week tour of Northern and Eastern Ontario, and in the next 10 days will concentrate on the South-western and Central sections of the province. Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal Leader, has charged political interference with the Hydro system. He described Premier Drew's campaign promises of financial aid to centres in Northern Ontario as "signs of a defeated Prime Minister."

Covers Territory
Mr. Oliver has spoken at widely-separated points since he launched his campaign shortly after the election announcement. He has been in North-western and Eastern Ontario and has spoken at several other centres. This week he heads into the Eastern half of Northern Ontario, and next week he concentrates on the South-western part.

E. B. Jolliffe, CCF Leader, has charged the Drew government with failure to carry out "previous election pledges on housing and with wasteful exploitation of forests for private profit. He has emphasized the program of Saskatchewan's CCF movement in urging the claims of his party for support in Ontario.

A new party for Ontario appears likely to rank fourth in number of candidates in the election—the Union of Electors. This group, which believes in Social Credit but does not see eye to eye with Social Credit Party, expects to have about 23 candidates. Names of 14 have been announced.

ORDER NAVY EVACUATE FLOOD VICTIMS

CHURCHILL UNVEILS MEMORIAL—A memorial at Westminster Abbey, London, to the Officers and ratings of the submarine branch of the Royal Navy, who lost their lives in the 1914-18 and 1939-45 wars, and to all ranks of the commands and airborne forces killed in the 1939-45 war, was unveiled by Winston Churchill, Britain's war-time premier on May 21. Photo shows Mr. Churchill giving his address shortly after unveiling the memorial.

Car and Trolley Collide 1 Dead, 4 Others May Die

HAMILTON, May 28—(CP)—One woman was killed and four other persons are not expected to recover as a result of an early morning accident in which a car bearing a Quebec family smashed into the side of a Westdale street car at Longwood Road and King Street, the impact lifting the trolley from the rails.

Theft Suspect Killed Fleeing

MONTREAL, May 28—(CP)—Police today identified a man slain last night by police bullets as William Henry Thompson, 32, of St. Catharines.

Thompson was shot down in Griffintown as he attempted to escape from constables who were arresting him for theft. Identification was made by a fingerprint check. Police said the victim had a long record.

Later a coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. Police testified the man had been going under the name of Green and said his criminal record began in St. Catharines in 1934 when he was twice convicted of false pretences.

He was identified by Mrs. Claire Woody as being the man who two days ago held her up in her kitchen and escaped with $100 worth of jewelry and $10 in cash.

2 Brothers Die In Bike Crash

OSHAWA, May 28—(CP)—Ronnie Drozdok, 10, died in hospital early today, raising to two the number fatally injured in a collision between an automobile and a bicycle here Thursday night. His 11-year-old brother, Eddie, was killed outright in the accident.

Police said the two boys were riding a bicycle that was struck by a car driven by Laidlaw Addison of Belleville. Police added that the boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Drozdok, cut directly in front of Addison's car. Addison was not held.

Up For Manslaughter After Street Fight

LONDON, Ont., May 28 (CP)—Lloyd Penfold, 47, appeared in Magistrate's Court today on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the street fight death of Lloyd F. Lee, father of two children. Penfold was not asked to plead and was granted bail of $3,000.

Lee, a garage mechanic, died in hospital early Wednesday, 24 hours after he had been reported to a "bad fight" on a south-central street. Coroner A. R. Routledge said Lee suffered a double skull fracture and a ruptured stomach.

Smuts' Party Defeated; Premier Quits

Dr. Malan To Form
New Government
Favors Separation

SMUTS RESIGNS—Following a smashing defeat in his own riding, Field Marshal Smuts, Premier of South Africa, resigned today and Dr. Malan has been asked to form a new government.

JOHANNESBURG, May 28.—(AP)—Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts resigned today and Dr. Daniel Francois Malan, victor in Tuesday's elections was called to form a new South African government.

Malan is an outspoken isolationist and his Nationalist party advocates segregation of the natives.

Smuts lost his own seat in parliament in the balloting Tuesday and his party lost its parliamentary majority to the coalition of the Nationalists and the Afrikaners.

The 78-year-old statesman had only this to say:

"These things happen. What is to be will be."

With unofficial results of Tuesday's balloting complete in 152 of the 153 parliamentary races, Smuts' party—the United Party—got 65 seats in the Assembly, the Lower House of Parliament, to 69 for Malan's Nationalists.

The Afrikaner party, linked closely with the Nationalists, won nine, and the pro-government Labor Party six. The other three seats represent natives and favor the government. They are decided in a separate election.

Unofficial Standing

That would give a Nationalist-Afrikaner coalition 78 seats, to 74 for the United Party, the Labor Party and the Natives.

(Reuters News Agency said a total of 1,067,249 persons voted. Of these, 524,230 voted for the United Party, 401,834 for the Nationalist, 41,885 for the Afrikaner Party, 27,360 for Labor party and 7,940 for others.)

Announcement of the defeat of Smuts by 224 votes in his own district came with startling suddenness Thursday night and was followed swiftly by a swelling of the anti-government trend in other districts. Smuts, 78, has been prime minister since 1939 and also served in that post from 1918 to 1924.

Dr. Malan is a 74-year-old former clergyman of the Dutch Reformed church.

"Revolution"

The Nationalist press described the developments as a revolution.

In the early returns, the United party had things all its own way, but when results began pouring in from the strongly Nationalist rural regions the trend swiftly was reversed.

The prime minister's own defeat in Standerton, the constituency he had represented for 24 years, came at the hands of C. Du Plessis, who once was secretary to Smuts' long-time foe, the late J. B. M. Hertzog, with whom Smuts had vied for years for political dominance in South Africa.

(In London, the Conservative Graphic commented that the action of the Standerton voters "will stand in history as one of the classic examples of the fickleness of the electorate.")

Britain Offers Alternative To Partition

LONDON, May 28—Britain is working out a detailed alternative to the United Nations plan for splitting Palestine and will submit it to the Security Council, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The new proposals aimed at bringing about a Jewish-Arab settlement are still being drawn up.

The foreign office announced 21 British officers, on loan to the Arab Legion, had been ordered to withdraw from Palestine. The spokesman emphasized that the officers were not ordered to quit the Arab Legion, Trans-Jordan's army.

The British proposal for settlement was described as only the "beginning" of a plan which Britain hopes can be forged into being through discussions in the Security Council. Its principles have not been sent to the United States government, the spokesman said.

First hint of the British move was given to the Security Council Thursday by Sir Alexander Cadogan, in proposing a four-week truce in Palestine.

Gives Way

The decision to withdraw officers from Palestine came as a result of Foreign Secretary Bevin's talks with U.S. ambassador Lewis Douglas. The spokesman said Bevin apparently "gave way" to a Douglas point of view.

Negotiations between Britain and Trans-Jordan on suspension of other British commitments are expected to follow any United Nations decision on a cease-fire, the spokesman said.

Britain's representative on the U.N. Security Council, Sir Alexander Cadogan, announced at Lake Success Thursday night that British personnel lent to the Arab Legion of King Abdullah would not be permitted to serve in Palestine. These number 21. Sixteen additional Britons are employed directly by Trans-Jordan, and are not subject to British instructions, Cadogan told the Council.

Diplomatic officials reported the withdrawal plan does not affect Brig. John Glubb Pasha, one of the 16 United direct contract with Abdullah. He is a major in the British army reserves, but over-age and thus not subject to War Office orders for active service.

PLAN DUNKIRK

Plan Dunkirk Evacuation Along Fraser

Rush Assault Boats
To Agassiz Area;
Disaster Toll Mounts

VANCOUVER, May 28—(CP)—The Fraser, chief river of British Columbia, today was spreading disaster over its 740-mile length. The Royal Canadian Navy prepared to launch all their small craft in a huge "Dunkirk" evacuation of flood-swept Fraser Valley inhabitants.

Naval officials at the Esquimalt base said big units also were being readied to assist in rescue efforts. A naval radio station will be set up today at Mission, 40 miles east of here.

Large scale evacuations have been ordered from valley points as weary flood workers concede they cannot hold the onslaught of the Fraser, a rapid and tempestuous stream even in normal times.

Mobilization of naval resources began Thursday night with the tug Glendon leaving its Vancouver Island base for Mission. Two harbor craft with four whaleboats, each able to accommodate 27 persons, were dispatched from H.M.C.S. Discovery here to the same area.

Army engineers are rushing assault boats to the valley's Agassiz-Dewdney area, further down the river.

Crisis Area

The lower Fraser Valley now is B.C.'s crisis area as the swollen river continues to gobble up town after town.

Three hundred exhausted evacuees from Agassiz arrived in Vancouver by train Thursday night and early today.

They left Agassiz as "ghost" town. The Fraser roared down its main street and 5,000 acres of rich farmland surrounding it were under water.

Five hundred miles north of here, the Skeena in its mad plunging carried railway tracks across highways alongside. In other places eight feet of water covered the tracks.

Prince Rupert, Terrace and scores of villages were isolated with rail lines and communications cut. At Uxuk 150 families had only a few days food left.

To the east, in interior B.C., East Kootenai district, 250 feet of C.P.R. track was washed out early today 20 miles west of Cranbrook. It broke the last rail link into the East Kootenays.

Doing Better

However at Kimberley, earlier the hardest hit with $1,000,000 property damage, the course of Mark Creek had been established and further demolishing unnecessary.

The death toll stands at 13—two in B.C., eight in Pacific states and three in Alberta where a train plunged into a flood creek.

Floods still threatened the prairies. The northern Saskatchewan river at Edmonton receded but northern Manitoba still was inundated by the Saskatchewan.

Bad Windstorm

BELLEVILLE, May 28—(CP)—A barn, a henhouse and several apple trees were flattened Thursday night in Rawdon township, 20 miles north of here, during a windstorm. One man was knocked unconscious when struck by falling timbers but suffered no serious injury. Animals in the barn escaped injury.

Jews Surrender To Arab Legion In Jerusalem

INSIDE JERUSALEM'S OLD CITY, May 28—(AP)—Jews in the Old City surrendered to the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion at 2:30 p.m. today.

Under the surrender terms the women and children, estimated to number 300, and the old men will be turned over to the International Red Cross. Younger men will be placed in a concentration camp "outside Palestine."

Jewish negotiators said their people affected by the surrender numbered between 1,300 and 1,600.

Of this number the leaders said many were dead or wounded. Four Jews they said, died of an "unidentified disease."

The Jews had been completely without food and short of ammunition after their 11-day pounding by the guns of the Arab Legion.

Arab foot soldiers had been called in to root out the last-ditch defenders of the Old City, who were holed up in three stone houses beneath the South Wall. The Israelis claim most of the modern city of Jerusalem. The old city is an area less than a mile square behind walls in the heart of modern Jerusalem. The old city's final fall may signal the all-out battle for the modern city.

With the removal of the Jews from behind the walls, the old city will be without any Jewish population for the first time in 2,000 years.

Arab leaders said these last-ditch fighters, numbering less than 400, took cover in the buildings Thursday after Legionnaires captured and occupied the great Hurva Synagogue in the Jewish quarter.

Hurva was the last of the old city's five synagogues to be evacuated by Hagan and Irgun Zvai Leumi forces. They then ran to the group of houses in the shadow of the old city's south wall.

Still Seek 3 People In Gandhi's Murder

NEW DELHI, May 28 (AP).

A police charge sheet disclosed today that at least three persons still are being sought in connection with the assassination of Mahatma K. Gandhi.

They were formally accused of "murder in special court Thursday and face trial June 14."

The three still at large were listed as Gangadhar Sakharan Dandawate, Gangadhar Jaddy and Suryadev Sharma. The charge sheet said "others not known" also are being sought in connection with the conspiracy.

Report Masaryk Planned Escape

LONDON, May 28—(CP)—Exiled members of the Czechoslovak parliament were told here today that the late Czech foreign minister, Jan Masaryk, had planned to escape the country by plane on the day he was found dead outside his office in Prague.

Twenty-three of the parliamentarians, in exile since the February Communist coup, gathered in Ceston Hall to declare publicly their intention of striving for "the return of freedom and democracy in Czechoslovakia."

Chairman Dr. Blazej Vilim, former secretary-general of the Social Democratic party, declared that Masaryk, whose black-and-white portrait was displayed in the hall, was one of the first victims of "the Communist terror."

Masaryk had planned to escape on the day he died "to lead the struggle for a free Czechoslovakia," Vilim said. In a statement made later to the press Vilim declared he did not believe that Masaryk was a suicide.

Farmers Join Police Posse Seeking Thedford Robbers

PARKHILL, Ont., May 28—(CP)—An all-night vigil by a posse of provincial and district police failed to produce any trace of two bandits who held up and robbed the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Thedford Thursday.

Police believe the hold-up men are somewhere in the "Pinery" bush which extends from Grand Bend to Ipperwash along the shore of Lake Huron. Thursday night, the stolen car which police believe was used for the bank robbery was found camouflaged with tree branches and parked in a bush near Sylvan about five miles southwest of this Middlesex county village.

The posse was expected to be strengthened today by the addition of district farmers and volunteers under the direction of District Provincial Police Inspector Glen Jordan who has taken charge of the investigation.

Provincial Police sent out a request to drivers to "not pick up hitch-hikers in the district" as they may be the wanted men. The bandits were expected to make an appearance for food within the next 24 hours if they were in the bush. Cottages were being watched along the Lake Huron shore for signs of the bandits.

In London, provincial police were fingerprinting the car stolen from a downtown street Wednesday. It was the one police believe was used by two bandits who robbed C. H. Kennedy at his Ostrander store north of Tillsonburg on Tuesday. The car used at Ostranders had been stolen in Toronto and was abandoned in London.

There were no license plates on the car found at Sylvan but it fitted the description of the one which sped out of Thedford about noon yesterday with the hold-up pair. The markers on the Thedford car were stolen in Toronto.

Police continued with their first theory that the bandits at Ostrander and Thedford were the same.

Three U.S. Tourists Charged With Starting Forest Fire Appear In Police Court

Flames Still Raging Despite Rainfall
As 250-Man Force

Continues Battle Against Heavy Odds

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 28—(CP)—Three United States tourists appeared in police court today, charged with starting a 500-600 acre forest fire near Searchmont. The fire still is out of control. The complaint, laid by the Department of Lands and Forests and signed by Chief Ranger Harold Greeff, Green, charged careless disposition of cigarettes.

Facing the charges were Dr. Harry Luton, John Neimeyer, and Henry Niebor, all of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Defence Counsel W. G. Atkin entered pleas of not guilty on behalf of all accused.

The hearing is continuing. Forest fires raged in widely-scattered sections of Northern Ontario and Eastern Manitoba and made headway in woods tinder-dry from several days of spring sunshine. Biggest blaze reported was out of control through 4,250 acres of timber land 46 miles northeast of the Northern Ontario lumbering community of Blind River. A 250-man force, supplied with equipment by Ontario Forestry Service Aircraft, fought against heavy odds.

Reports Thursday night said strong winds were fanning the fire northeastward through stands of mixed pine, dead balsam and old logging slash and into valuable timberland. Chief Ranger Tom Cassidy described the situation as "extremely serious."

A 1,700-acre fire raged out of control in the Chapleau district, northwest of Sudbury. It was said to have started during clearing operations for the Chapleau-Thessalon highway.

Careless Fishermen

Careless fishermen were blamed for starting a 500-acre fire in the Searchmont area about 30 miles northwest of Sault Ste. Marie. More than 60 men sought to bring it under control.

More than 150 miles farther north, a small fire near Fritz on the Algoma Central Railway was checked by firefighters.

The black smoke of burning timberland also darkened the sky in Manitoba. Blazes along the Winnipeg Electric Company's power transmission line near Great Falls, Man., 70 miles north of Winnipeg, were brought under control but four new fires were reported Wednesday in the File Lake area, 80 miles north of The Pas, Man.

Covers 6,000 Acres

A fire burning over cut land and young growth east of Lake Helen, 70 miles east of here, now covers approximately 6,000 acres. R. Boultebe, district forester, said today.

A rainfall of 22 inches Thursday was sufficient to dampen the fire and give the fire crew of approximately 150 men a chance to patrol the smudge. More men and equipment, however, were sent in later in the day.

Other fires in the Lakehead district also were dampened down by the light rains, but fire crews will remain on patrol for several days.

Extend Strike Ban To June 11

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP).—Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today postponed until June 10 legal battle between the government and three railroad unions over whether a ban against a threatened rail strike across the United States should be continued.

Goldsborough at the same time extended until June 11 a temporary order preventing the unions from walking out.

This order, signed by Goldsborough on May 16 and already extended once, would have expired tomorrow night.

The three unions and the justice department consented to the new extension of the temporary ban.

Iran Arms Supplies To Cost US $9 Million

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP).—The United States is preparing to ship military supplies costing $9,995,987 to Iran.

The State Department said today that the supplies, all from surplus, will include a few tanks, fighter and cargo planes, guns, ammunition and other equipment.

Plans for the proposed military aid to Iran outlined before the Senate appropriations committee by John Jernegan, chief of the state department's division of Greek-Turkish-Iranian affairs.

Oliver Pledges Special Housing Session

TORONTO, May 26 (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal Leader, said Thursday night that if a Liberal government is elected in Ontario June 7 it will immediately call a special session of the Legislature to deal with housing.

He spoke at a meeting of the South Cochrane Liberal Association.

Mr. Oliver said lack of materials would not stand in the way of carrying out his party's housing program. If elected, he would appoint a minister of housing to co-ordinate private and government efforts to meet the housing shortage.

He called recent government housing legislation—providing for loans of up to $1,250 on the down payment for persons who want to build a house or buy a new one—"too little and too late."

At the start of the election campaign the Liberal party announced a plan to relieve home owners of municipal tax payments in the early years of ownership.

Mr. Oliver said that in the Progressive Conservative's 22-point platform, in 1943 Mr. Drew had promised to co-operate with the federal government. In the last five years he had done nothing but try "to embarrass and harass" the government at Ottawa.

The only two provinces that had not signed an agreement, Ontario and Quebec, were led by "the two most reactionary prime ministers in the Dominion of Canada."

They were united only in their "antagonism to and hatred of" the Ottawa government.

ness and ingratitude of democracy."

Dr. Malan's party traditionally has stood for separation from Great Britain, in contrast to Smuts' advocacy of closer ties with Britain. The Nationalists sought to have South Africa declared neutral at the start of the last war and after hostilities began they agitated several times for a separate peace.

Stock Prices Down In Sluggish Trading

TORONTO, May 26 (CP)—

Prices were down in dull trading as industrials and golds dropped more than a point on the Toronto Exchange today.

The index showed industrials down 1.41, golds 1.30, base metals 20, western oils 11.

Steels, utilities and liquors weakened in industrial groupings but paper had a firmer tone. While leading stocks dropped fractionally, St. Lawrence Paper preferred rose strongly to a new high at $130. Brazilian Traction, Bell Telephone, International Paper, Walker's, Distillers Seagram and Algoma Steel showed fractional losses. B.A. Oil and Consolidated Gas gained.

Golds showed little apparent reaction to the recession in gold shares on the London market following announcement of the results of the South African election. Seniors were weakest with small losses scattered throughout the juniors.

Base metals were mixed with Falconbridge, Excess and New Calumet advancing and Noranda, Oskalo and Gulf easier.

Consolidated Homestead traded more than 134,000 shares for a gain of 3 1/2 up to 27 1/2 in western oils. Pacific Petroleum was up 3 cents at $12.99. Calgary and Edmonton eased 5 cents.

Judge Dismisses Perjury Counts

Charges of perjury against Carl Milner, Gordon Ave., and Vernon Revoy, Park St., were dismissed this morning by Judge S. L. Smoke in County Court. They were alleged to have given false evidence at a trial of a companion, Murray Nice Douglas Ave., who was convicted in Magistrate's Court on February 11, of moving a bus without consent.

At the Nice trial Milner and Revoy testified that they had not entered the Border Transit bus, out it was denied by Nice who said all three had boarded it to help him look for a lost glove. After Nice's conviction his two companions were charged with perjury.

At today's trial, however, Nice stood in the witness box and said he could not remember whether the two accused had been in the bus or not.

Then if Revoy and Milner say they were not in the bus, that would be the truth," asked defence counsel, W. J. Arthur Fair. "Could be," said Nice.

That was the answer that turned the case.

Constable Gordon Trennum said he was standing on King St. near George St. shortly after midnight on February 8th. He said he saw the three youths enter the bus, and saw the bus drive in reverse as they got out.

According to his testimony he then ran across the street to see Revoy and Milner run out of the bus and he met Nice coming out. He drew his gun and ordered Nice back into the vehicle, and an arrest was made. Neither of the other two were charged.

James Fleming, court reporter in the Magistrate's Court, was called to the witness box to read a transcript of the evidence Revoy and Milner had given at Nice's trial. When cross-questioned he said he could not remember the two being sworn but he was certain they had been, and he had made a note of it.

After dismissing the case Judge Smoke asked the two youths to rise and said: "I hope you realize the seriousness of the situation in which you have placed yourselves."

Let this be a lesson to you, any time you are called upon to give evidence in future in court, I hope you will realize the seriousness of the oath you take."

Vocal Duet Class Given • High Praise At Festival

COBourg, May 28 — (ENS). — Warm praise for the competitors in a vocal duet class for pupils under 16, was voiced by adjudicator Eldon Brethour of Toronto at yesterday's county music festival. The festival will conclude on Saturday. Mr. Brethour pointed out that many did not realize that it was a very difficult thing for two voices in a duet to blend expertly, while it was much easier for a large choir to blend harmoniously. In a duet every little detail was noticeable and it was difficult to sing softly.

"A great musician told me once that an orchestra of violins could play more softly than a single violin, and that same applies to voices," the adjudicator said.

Following were the results yesterday:

Class 18, mezzosoprano solo, open—Mary Philp, 80; Helen Macklam, 80; and Mrs. T. Wallace was tied with Shirley Kellog for third place with 75.

Class 5, piano solo, open—Bert Bowen, 80; Mattie Bull, 79, and Carolyn Atkinson, 78.

Class 21, tenor solo, open—John Dean, 82; S. Hopping, 75, and John Leen, 74.

Class 6, piano solo, grand challenge—Jack Peterson, 85.

Class 28, male chorus, not under nine voices—Bethesda, 86.

Class 9, piano duet, open—Jack Peterson and Bert Bowen, 85; Anne Nicholls and Shirley Burgess, 83; Barbara McClelland and Yvonne McFadyen, 80.

Class 20, vocal solo, female grand challenge—Betty Greer, 80. Class 25, rural church choir—Bethesda South, 87.

Class 2, rural school chorus in unison—SS No. 12, Hamilton, 85; SS No. 4, Hamilton, 84, and SS No. 13, Haldimand, 83.

Class 30, rural school chorus in two parts, unaccompanied—USS No. 1, 25 Percy and Cramahe, 83; SS No. 4, Hamilton, 82, and SS No. 9, Hamilton, 81.

Class 31, rural school chorus, 2-roomed schools in unison, unaccompanied—SS No. 21, Murray, 80; SS No. 22, Cramahe, 79, and USS No. 16, 18 Murray, 78.

Class 32, rural school chorus, 2-roomed schools—USS No. 16, 18, Murray and Brighton, 82; SS No. 22, Cramahe, 81, and SS No. 7, Hamilton, 80.

Class 12, boys' vocal solo, unchanged voices—Billy Dixon, 85; George Linton, 83; Philip Knight and John Haynes, 82.

Class 37, vocal duet, elementary school pupils under 16—Shirley Boyce and Anne Hay, 86; Lorene Timlin and Paul McIntosh, 84, and Thelma and Norma Brown, 82.

Plane Industry Aids Growth In Dominion

TORONTO, May 27 — "There can be no doubt in the minds of our Canadian people that the aviation industry is making and will continue to make progress, and a substantial contribution to the welfare and growth of our country," D. R. MacLaren, director of passenger service for Trans-Canada Air Lines, told a group of interested listeners at a meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

The Canadian aircraft manufacturing industry is at present dependent upon the advancement of air transportation within our borders. Mr. MacLaren found but added that this would not always be the case, as the Canadian aircraft industry will be able to market its products in other countries on a much larger scale than it is now doing.

"The demands of national defence is an interesting factor which may greatly influence aircraft production," Mr. MacLaren said. "It is no secret that the United States is formulating plans for the defence of their country to an extent never before considered in the history of a nation. They consider that world peace and the security of the United States are one and the same, and that the defence of the United States must involve the whole continent of North America. Their military establishment must be built around the air arm. It would then seem reasonable that any plans for the defence of Canada would be integrated with those of the United States and the potential aircraft manufacturing industry in our country would be considered a part of the industrial power to be relied upon in the defence of this continent."

Mr. MacLaren stated that he foresaw a great future for the aircraft industry in Canada and that within a few years time the delays encountered in regular air line operations would gradually diminish. "New methods of aircraft traffic control and instrument landing systems are needed to reduce delays and cancellations of regular flights. With this in mind TCA is carrying out experiments with new instrument landing system (ILS) and within the near future pilots would be aided to a great extent in landings when bad weather would ordinarily prevent approach to an airport." He warned the meeting that the general public had a misconception of the new system. "ILS is only a landing aid for the pilot. It will not land a plane automatically. With the use of ILS, the bad weather ceiling for safe flying can be reduced considerably but not eliminated entirely," Mr. MacLaren gave credit to the pioneers of the aviation industry who were flying in the north country long before scheduled air line services were in operation.

Four Hundred Dollar Exemption For Tourists

The American Government has increased the value of goods which tourists to Canada may take back home free of duty from $100 to $400 (after a stay of twelve days). This will give a fillip to tourism and trade. It will encourage tourists to come to Canada not only to fish and frolic but to shop. It will stimulate trade and, we hope, result in more American dollars being spent here on Canadian goods—dollars which will help to improve the stultifying balance of trade which we now do not enjoy. We are still spending two American dollars for every American dollar we get our hands on.

The increased exemptions will be a boon to Peterborough merchants and we think that their wares and merchandizing methods are sufficiently good to tempt our tourist friends to spend liberally.
It would almost be an American's patriotic duty to do this! The more he spends here the more he is helping his own industry, for every American dollar that we get goes back to the United States for goods which we must import.
The fewer we get, the less goods we can buy or the more dollars we have to borrow.

We must beware considering our American friends who come to Canada as merely sugar-daddies. They must not be coerced into buying by high-pressure salesmanship, or greeted with cheap
"Welcome To Canada" signs and a glum clutch. Since we like and admire them and since they are valuable to us, we must give them the best of goods and services that we can offer at the prices our own people pay.

It is central Europeans and other far-flung people who think that all Americans walk on streets paved with gold and bathe in champagne and eat caviar for breakfast. We in this district are sufficiently familiar with Americans to know that most of them are quite ordinary people who like ourselves have to save for a holiday and must spend dollar bills as judiciously as we spend them.
They want to get value for their money.
There are many who do have a bit more money than we have, and those people want the better things their bigger money should command. Therefore, for them, we should have ready to offer not only better goods, but better accommodation, meals and holiday facilities than we ourselves might expect.

A code of conduct for Canadians who have or hope to have dealings with American tourists might be useful. We suggest—do not fawn, fume or fleece; be natural, normal and neighbourly.

The Silly Sheep

Sheep are close to our heart.
They are such gambolling creatures, such silly things that only the stony-hearted could fail to delight in them—or the farmer who has to cater to their whims. In these parts, however, the sheep seem to be less frolicsome, more serious than in other countries where we have observed their antics. Some of Southern Ontario's stolidity has entered their livers.

It is not of sheep's silliness—our one domestic animal which is both singular and plural, and the one which has transformed the word 'silly' from the original meaning of frail and simple to its modern human meaning—that we feel impelled to write. It is of their place in the national economy. That place is described in a pamphlet called Canada's Sheep and Wool Industry published by the Agricultural Institute of Canada. It is an important place.

The sheep population of Canada last year was 2,700,000, but that apparently is very low, the lowest since 1925. During the war when navy men needed wool and infantry soldiers were fed dehydrated mutton and the airmen mutton chops the population was greater. In 1945 the total supply of lamb and mutton was sixty million pounds. Last year it was down to 53 million. This year it expected to drop 25 per cent. from that. This is a curious state of affairs, for Canada normally produces only one-quarter of its wool requirements and the present world need for meat is very great. Perhaps fillet mignon brings the farmers more money, and of course sheep are too silly to produce steaks. Further, lamb forms only a small part of the meat diet of the ordinary Canada—he eats only about five pounds of it a year. Mutton is more an English dish—witness the names of Canadian sheep (in descending order of population): Suffolk, Oxford, Hampshire, Southdown, Leicester,

Shropshire, Cheviot (only 440 of them),
Dorset Horn, Lincoln and Cotswold.

The Agricultural Institute's booklet tells us many more interesting things, but not the reasons that sheep have not come into general use as automatic lawn mowers. Sheep crop grass closely and thoroughly. Why should not each Peterborough lawn have one tethered sheep—it would be good for the soil, keep the grass short without the labour of pushing a lawn mower, and the watering of the animal would be no heavier a job than the nightly watering of the lawn. The same hose could do both animal and grass. In the autumn the animal could go into chops. It is a topic which merits investigation.

Lessons Learned In Spain

A decade ago it was the fashion for political and military critics to point out that Germany and Italy had deliberately used the Spanish civil war as a training ground for their forces. There they received battle inoculation which they put to use during the war. It should not be forgotten that Soviet Russia also actively participated in the Spanish civil war—in the opposite camp. The Communists had pupils in the same school of experience.

The Ottawa Journal calls attention to some facts published in an American magazine.

Georgi Dimitrov drew up the plans for the international brigades in Spain. He is now the Red dictator of Bulgaria. Tito (then Joseph Brozovitch) was on Dimi-trov's general staff in Spain. He now rules Yugoslavia, with his secret police.
Klement Gottwald was a political com-missar in Spain. Today he is the Prime Minister of a Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia. Andre Marty was in active charge of Dimitrov's plans in Spain. He is now a leader of the French Communists. Bora Nakisov was a commissar in Spain. Today he is the chief of Tito's police. Fedeusz Oppman was sent from Moscow into Spain. He is now recruiting a new international brigade to help Communists in Greece. Giuseppe di Vittorio was also a commissar in Spain. He is now secretary of the Italian (Communist) federation of labour.

The Knowledge Of Good And Evil

"Good and evil we know in the field of this world grow up together almost inseparably; and the knowledge of good is so involved and interwoven with the knowledge of evil, and in so many cunning resemblances hardly to be discerned, that those confused seeds which were imposed on Psyche as an incessant labour to cull out and sort asunder, were not more intermixed. It was from out of the rind of one apple tasted that the knowledge of good and evil, as two twins cleaving together, leaped forth into the world. And perhaps this is that doom which Adam fell into of knowing good and evil; that is to say, of knowing good by evil. As therefore the state of man now is, what wisdom can there be to choose, what continence to forbear, without the knowledge of evil?"

"He that can apprehend and consider vice with all her baits and seeming pleasures, and yet abstain, and yet distinguish, and yet prefer that which is truly better, he is the true warfaring Christian. I cannot praise a fugitive and cloistered virtue, unexercised and unbreathed, that never sallies out and see her adversary, but slinks out of the race, where that immortal garland is to be run for, not without dust and heat."

Thus splendidly and exaltedly did John Milton set down in the seventeenth century in his immortal essay on the freedom of the press, Areopagitica, the basis of personal freedom. Against this must be judged the practice of princes, the seeming benevolence of dictators, the protective measures of prohibitionists of every sort and the ethical dictates of organized society, whether it be Peter-borough's or western democracy's. As therefore the state of man now is, what wisdom can there be to choose, what continence to forbear, without the knowledge of evil?

"The Colonel"

By GRANT DEXTER
(In the Winnipeg Free Press)

THE death of Hon. James Layton Ralston removes one of the giants of the present generation.

His intimates called him Layton but to most of his friends he was known, simply, as "The Colonel." In a capital city teeming with colonels, it has been true over the past twenty years, that a reference to "The Colonel" would be instantly understood by everybody as meaning Mr. Ralston. There was but one
—"The Colonel."

His political career went back farther than was commonly appreciated. In 1908, aged 27, he stood for his native riding of Cumberland in the general election which first brought
Mr. King and Mr. Meighen to the House of Commons. "R.B." came in 1911. Ralston was their equal and, indeed, in important aspects of character, their superior. He had served nine years—less overseas service as officer commanding the 85th Battalion—in the Nova Scotia legislature before he entered the House of Commons in 1926 to become minister of national defence. He continued in Parliament until 1935 when he retired to practice law at Montreal.

MANY thought that The Colonel was recalled to Ottawa in September, 1939.
That was not the case. On the night that Hitler struck at Poland and war became inevitable, he realized that he could not go on with his law or any kind of private business.
He must somehow have a direct part in the war, even if it were only to be "Clarence Howe's messenger boy." The next morning he went to his office, turned the key in the lock and took the train for Ottawa. Mr. King made him minister of finance in succession to Mr. Dunning who had retired because of ill health. Then in the summer of 1940, after Norman Rogers was killed in an air crash,
The Colonel took over the ministry of defence. From then until November, 1944, his career is the story of the expansion, training and deployment for battle of the Canadian army.

AS to the actual conception crisis, it began in the early summer of 1944. Col. Ralston left for overseas to inspect the troops late in the summer and speedily found out that reinforcements were urgently required beyond the numbers which the voluntary system could provide. He called his views back to Mr. King and arrived home himself on October 14. He reported to the cabinet on October 24. The time had come when conscription was necessary. Col. Ralston insisted upon the fulfillment of the pledge of 1942.
Mr. King opposed him. The cabinet was deadlocked. On November 1, Mr. King announced that Col. Ralston had resigned. Mr.
King repeated the word "resigned" in his brief formal explanation to the House of Commons at the opening a few days later.

WHAT actually happened is without precedent in this country. Mr. King dismissed
Col. Ralston while the cabinet was in session and while both men were seated at the council table. He simply said that The Colonel would no longer be the minister and that Gen. McNaughton would take over. Thereupon Col. Ralston rose and walked around the table, shaking hands with the men who had been his colleagues and walked out of the East Block a private member. He did not shake hands with the Prime Minister. He did not become a King-hater, like many others, but from that day forward he never had respect or affection for Mr. King.

DURING and after this crisis, Col. Ralston's position in the country was at its zenith.
Stripped of his office, reduced to the status of a back-bencher, his actual power exceeded that of the Prime Minister. In this hour, Col. Ralston spoke for the vast majority of the people. He was their man. Had he chosen to use this power selfishly, he almost certainly could have destroyed the Government and brought on a general election, as in 1917, on this issue. He might well have headed a wartime coalition government.

Anyone looking back over these days will note how speedily the Conservative party made advances to him. Moreover, in the end, many of the ministers had turned against Mr.
King and Gen. McNaughton. Col. Ralston obviously would have been their natural leader.

IN the three years remaining to him, he satisfied his desire for public service by choosing briefs which made him the advocate of the people. He acted for the Maritime Provinces in the freight rate case, becoming by general consent the leader or spokesman for all seven provinces opposing the increase.
This is the record of the man.

SUCH mistakes as The Colonel made were generally due to misguided loyalty to others. He would back his friends, his officials, the Brass Hats, and all to whom, sometimes unwisely, but with characteristic wholeheartedness he had given his confidence. A defect was his inability to decentralize or delegate authority. He was aware of this and tried hard, without success. No doubt the final appraisal of his war administration will reveal errors of this kind. But none will touch the man himself.

Answer To Economic Union

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

THOSE in Canada who think that the present shortage of United States dollars makes economic union with its neighbour the simple remedy could be helped to better understanding by more plain talk like that given by Mr. Donald Gordon, Deputy-Governor of the Bank of Canada, in Cleveland recently. Mr. Gordon told the Advertising and Sales Clubs convention that to a nation proud of its achievements and looking forward to a greater future the preferable solution appears to be large imports of Canadian goods by the United States and the restoration of multilateral trade.

As a striking climax to his story of the rise of this country to a leading position in industry and trade, he estimated it would cost the United States $34,000,000,000 to grant other countries credits and relief equivalent to those already granted by Canada. To support his prediction that past achievements will be put in the shade by those of the next ten years, he cited vast resources as

Canada's oil, iron, forests, and water-power, with diversification of industry and a rate of capital expenditure that in relation to national income is one-third higher than in the United States.

But Mr. Gordon spoke of more than economics. He described the pride of the Canadian—"a resourceful, hard-working, frank but reserved fellow"—in his accomplishments, his faith in the future, his belief that Canada has a serious part to play in world affairs, his unwillingness lightly to surrender independence "no matter how attractive the material benefits can be made to appear."

And the Canadian "likes to pay his own way." But lacking the United States dollars he used to earn overseas he yet has been buying from the United States at the rate of two dollars for every American dollar paid to him. Hence import restrictions and the need for Americans to spend more here if they wish to maintain sales.

Male Vanity

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

AFTER all, why not? Roosters strut. Peacocks dazzle. And males who sneak out the back door of Hollywood's new beauty parlor for men, creamed and waved as exquisitely as their wives, are only following nature's leading—abettors, of course, by art and commerce.

It's not only actors, we hear, but businessmen who slip in to have their hair "shaped" or to acquire that smooth, tan look. Before long, when men speak of "bleachers," it may be in reference to beauticians rather than ball games. To be "plucked" may not infer an unfortunate business deal but something to cause a real raising of eyebrows.

Here, perhaps, is the logical culmination of the cult of muscle building which has been sweeping the country. This vast business (pardon us, art) has produced nationwide male beauty contests, with photogenic young hearties swelling their muscles far beyond the point of usefulness and posing in brawny emulation of the sculptured athletes of antiquity. When the American "tough guy" begins to play Narcissus, it is not surprising that the tired businessman resorts to a simple mud pack.

Facts About Business

A group of Brantford businessmen have just done a useful piece of public education.
Through the Board of Trade, they have studied eight local industries and come up with the following facts:

Out of every factory dollar:
64% cents went for materials, supplies, etc.
26% cents went for wages
5% cents went for taxes.
2-2/3 cents was retained in the business for plant renewal, extension, etc.
and nine-tenths of a cent was to shareholders.
The investigation also showed that for every 10 employees, there were 92 shareholders; that the average annual pay for each employee is 27 times the amount paid to each shareholder; that it takes an average capital investment of $4,764 to provide a job for each person on these payrolls.

Companies in the study are Brantford Oven and Rack, Brantford Roofing, Cockshutt Plow, Harding Carpents, Kitchen Overall & Shirt, S. C. Johnson & Co. (waxes), Universal Cooler and Waterworks.

The facts about business are its best answer to the nonsense fables of those who want a do-all, be-all, rule-all state—Financial Post.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb; and he healed him, inasmuch that the blind and dumb both spoke and saw. And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the son of David?

But when the Pharisees heard it, they said,
This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils.
And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand; and if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand?

And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges.

But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you.
(Matt. 12: 22-28.)

Letter To The Editor

CANADIAN NAMES

Sir: I would like to congratulate you on your editorial of last week on "the importance which people attach to names", especially names which are not Anglo-Saxon. I think that it is too bad that those of us in Southern Ontario have continued to judge new acquaintances or neighbours by the standards "who is he?" and "what does his parents do?" rather than accepting him for his own merits. I am not saying that heredity is not important but I do not think that a girl or boy should be discriminated against just because their name sounds slightly different than those to which we are accustomed.

Last summer it was my privilege to meet many Canadians in our Canadian West and it was one of these families, that had what many would call a foreign name, who made me feel more proud to be a Canadian than I had felt for a long time. This family, who had come out from Poland after the 1917 revolution, told how lucky they considered themselves to be in Canada where they could own their own farm and could invest their earnings in something that would be "theirs" and not "someone else's."

As thousands of guests are migrating to Canada—guests whose experiences and privations would give us lots to think about and be appreciative of, I hope more of us will welcome them and never refer to them as "foreigners" or in some such derogatory way.
I think your editorial helps us to direct our thinking in the right way on this subject and hope you will continue.

Yours sincerely,

JEAN M. MANN

Ottawa.

Only Production Can Reduce Canadian Prices

OTTAWA, May 28.—(CP)—Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, will appear again today as a witness in the prices committee's probe into the rising cost of living.

Thursday, in four hours of questioning, Mr. Towers held out little hope that anything except increased production would reduce Canadian prices.

He said an attempt to reduce them by a system of controls would lead to "indefinite difficulties" and the system would become more rigorous than during the war. Then, he pointed out, patriotism and the existence of controls in the United States contributed to the success of Canada's system.

Mr. Towers could see no way in which prices could be reduced through voluntary action.

Much of the questioning, mainly conducted by Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto), Eglington, dealt with the supply of money in Canada. When members wanted to know how much money actually circulates in the country, Mr. Towers told them it is affected by several factors, he gave the main one as borrowers' demand for bank credit, the action of the banks, the government's fiscal policy, Bank of Canada policy and the country's foreign exchange reserves.

He explained the Bank of Canada thinks it desirable that capital expansion should be tapped off and that it had sought to reduce the amount of bank credit used for this purpose. He warned, however, that it was a field in which care was necessary. Unemployment might result from overly drastic efforts to slow industrial expansion.

Mr. Towers also warned that if there is only $2,000,000,000 worth of manpower and materials available for capital expansion, an attempt to carry out $3,000,000,000 worth will not increase the actual construction achieved. It may, however, cost the country the extra $1,000,000,000.

Wrong Approach Used In Ads

By The Canadian Press

Industry is wasting millions of dollars on unreadable printed materials, both in selling its products and in its approach to its employees and public, industrialists were told in a two-day discussion in Toronto of Education and Public Relations.

Robert Cunniff of Columbus, Ohio, speaking to the Canadian Manufacturers Association Thursday, recommended the language of the Bible, Dickens and Mark Twain. One of his briefer examples was:

Business Jargon: "Proper procedure for the administration of your nasal medication." Same in simple English: "How to use your nose drops."

However, D. O. Durkin of Toronto thought much progress had been made by companies in the last 25 years in their presentations to both employees and public. Incidentally, he said, "Many industrialists now think of employees as their No. 1 public. Employees are potential moulders of public opinion for or against the company employing them."

Wilfrid Sanders of Toronto said polls had shown that when the public has a fair grasp of the facts of a situation it can be relied upon to come to fairly sound conclusions.

Thrust Into Highest Position Truman Faces Job Courageously

By CLYDE BLACKBURN.

WASHINGTON, May 28 (CP).

The would-be king makers may have written him off, but Harry Truman, President of the United States and the equal of any head of a country to-day, may surprise the doubters and return for an elected term in the White House.

The former haberdasher, who never went to college and failed to finish his high school education, went up through the ranks to become a County Court judge, a United States Senator, the Vice-President of this country, and, when President Roosevelt died in 1945, he succeeded to the Presidency.

Harry Truman would be the first to admit—as he has admitted on a number of occasions—that he was not qualified to head the most powerful and important power emerging from the Second World War.

But the job fell on his shoulders and he has done it as honestly and ably as he could. In view of all the circumstances it may be said Truman has done a good job. Certainly he has done a far better job than even his closest admirers expected.

VOTE TO RE-ELECT SCOTT JUNE 7

Just Another Rotarian

Harry Truman is just another local Rotarian or Lions club man in any town of Canada or the United States thrust by fate into the highest position his country could give him. What has set him apart is his courage which has been his never-failing attribute.

He wants to be elected to a full term as President. He has made no secret of that and it is natural that he would have that ambition.

But, in the election year when every Presidential move has a political significance, he has headed straight into the barrage of unpopular opinion.

Fearless Politician

He has successfully fought the labor unions in the railway and coal industries, knowing fully that the consequences might be to his election chances.

Truman flew straight into the arms of peril when he asked for legislation which would ensure fair and equal treatment of the colored minority. He invited the crushing opposition of the solid Southern States which now are trying to defeat him.

He has opposed tax reduction because he feels the United States is in a perilous stage of world history when preparedness must be the constant preoccupation of those charged with defence and offence if such be needed.

Powerful democratic interests have publicly urged him to get out of the picture. He has said he was in to the finish, and if he sticks to that decision his party will nominate him at Philadelphia next July.

If he is elected next November the United States will have fulfilled the extreme letter if its democratic concept and deliberately put at the States' head a man as much of the people as it is possible to choose.

Legion Takes A7-2 Win Over Knights

Legionnaires defeated Knights 7-2 at the Bowl last night in a snappy men's softball struggle, run off in slightly more than an hour. On earned runs it was 4-1 and a keen contest throughout. The winners had six-hit pitching from Dalton and cashed in on their chances, while the luckless Knights couldn't come through with punches when there were ducks on the pond. Crowley threw a good enough game and the fielding was pretty even but walks worked into three Legion runs and errors figured in a couple more.

Howie Dalton helped his own cause considerably with three hits in four appearances, as Withers had two for four and Pagett two in five tries. Jake Wade led the losers with one in one official appearance, drawing three walks, and Carvey got one as a pinch-hitter. Dalton, Wade and Spencer hit doubles. While the fielding generally was good by both squads, there were no defensive features.

Scarboro Grads and the Petes have a lacrosse exhibition at nine tonight in Miller Bowl. The Grads, it will be recalled, gave the locals a terrific five-game series last fall before bowing out in their OLA senior "B" group finals. The resumption of their feud here this p.m. should be right interesting to view, especially since the Creighton crew appear stronger this spring. The Grads may have bolstered, too. Incidentally, the two Hills and Gordon of Orillia reckon they'll return to their home town next week if they can't get housing accommodation here shortly. Most of the Petes, who played Brampton at the Bowl last Friday, will see action again tonight.

Cobourg plays the intermediate Petes a Lakeshore Baseball League fixture here at three tomorrow aft in Riverside, and this one should draw well. Cobourg, the team to beat in this loop, has such players as: He, Campbell, Quigley, Zealand, Johns, Ewart, Bevans, Smith, Bateman and several more. Either Baz Murphy or Vern Marshall will pitch for the Petes, and it ought to be a fine fray. Fans are still talking of the Petes' triple-play here the other eve against Colborne. The team drills at 6.15 tonight in the Ex. Senior Petes are off to Oshawa on the morrow, and the junior Bees play there also. South and east midsets go tonight at 6.15 in Riverside, and tomorrow morn there it's west peewees vs. south at 10, followed by East City vs. Crawford's Grove. Monday, the eastern javes play the north-western crew. City Ball Loop executive meets tonight.

Needed Inner Soles

Noted this item in Collier's the other day: "A Dodger farm hand, Fresco Thompson, coached one of the teenage teams in the 'Brooklyn Against the World' series at Ebbets Field last summer. After battling naively, a youngster asked Thompson: 'Did you notice my swing?' 'No,' Fresco replied. 'Well, I was swinging under the ball,' Mr. Thompson. Wasn't hitting it quite level. Hit more high flies than liners.' 'How much under the ball were you hitting?' Fresco wanted to know. 'Not much—just the tiniest fraction of an inch.' 'That's easy,' Fresco corrected, 'get yourself some inner soles!'"

Girls' softball games at the Bowl tonight are: Leck Co. vs. Lindsay at seven, followed by Lakefield vs. Westclox. And they should be real interesting as the champ Westclox bunch are an unknown quantity yet this season—both likely to be plenty strong again—while Lindsay and Lakefield are brand new outside entries in this colleen's circuit. Leck Co. look much stronger, too, than a year ago, and this is likely the lineup tonight for Paul Caravaggio's crowd: Pat Williams, p; Doris Westlake, c; Joan McIntyre, 1b; Ronnie Roberts, 2b; Betty McMahon, ss; Tiny McQuade, 3b; M. Plumpton, lf; Carm Michaud, cf; Jean Gordon, rf. No gate charge at these tilts.

Legion On Upswing

Legionnaires climbed to a tie for first place in the men's softball loop last eve at the Bowl when they defeated Knights 7-2. On account of the Combines, now tied atop the heap, lost to Comstock's Outlaws. A goodly gallery viewed two neat numbers on a warmish evening. Knights didn't have any luck in the first fray—they've played four fine games as far but didn't come through with ducks on the pond—while Legion cashed in on Dalton's pitching and hitting with a few timely blows to cop it. Guess Garvey will have to get in there yet, as his pinch-hit single meant their second run. Right now, Combines and Legion have three wins and a loss each, while Comstock's have two and two, and Knights have lost four.

In the nightcap, Haddy Eakins rushed down from Lindsay and, without a warmup, went out and threw five-hit ball to give the Outlaws a 4-3 nod over the R-E Combines. First setback they've had this semester. Ron Akers was nicked fairly hard in several frames but had good backing, while Eakins' support wasn't the best. That made it close, as Outlaws got more hits but Combines drew more free tickets. Eakins, Mackness and Anderson—with Borland and Leether for the losers—all had two hits in four tries. The ump temporarily forgot the rule on fanning with one on and no one out (it's Rule 43, section 6) but it didn't do any damage. And the twin bill was over at a quarter to 10, as we live and breathe!

Frank Missed Out

Frank Dohane, local heavyweight, lost out in the Olympic boxing trials for Canada in Montreal on Thursday. He lost on points to Keith Christensen of Kingston. A CP dispatch mentions it this way: "There was little action packed in the three rounds with Christensen landing the only staggering blows." Haven't seen Frank or his manager, Ron Menzies, since to get any further details on it. Billy Goulding of Oshawa is still in the running in the welter class and the survivors battle it out today for the eight Olympic berths. Incidentally, we hear that Don Mogard, heavyweight pro stable-mate recently of Jack Dugan's, may appear in a prelim spot on the Louis-Walcott card.

DESE, DEM AND DOES: Grove plays the local cricketers at 2.30 Saturday in the Oval. CGE-Legion soccer match tonight has been cancelled as some of the players are unable to play; O'Halloran's go to Lindsay tomorrow, leaving the "Y" at two, and taking wives and friends. Four juvenile lacrosse teams have been picked and they drill Monday at 6.30 p.m. in Miller Bowl; schedule will be announced at this workout. Still room for more players, 16 to 19 years old. Men's softball executive meets Monday at 7.30 p.m. in the "Y" to name umpires, etc. Church midset tilts Tuesday: Keene vs. St. George's at KE school, Knox vs. George St. at Oval; in peewee, it's SA vs. Murray St. at FW, and St. Andrew's vs. George St. at Central. Industrial Softball League opens its schedule Monday with Westclox playing Quakers. Junior Bees and east juveniles have a baseball practice at 6.15 tonight in Morrow Park. Which about does it for this far-from-frosty Friday.

Comstock's Get A4-3 Tilt Over Combines

Comstock's Outlaws edged out a 4-3 men's softball win over the R-E Combines before a good-sized crowd at the Bowl last night to hand the Combines their first reverse of the season. It meant two wins and two losses so far for Comstock's—while R-E and Legion are tied atop the loop with three and one each. This was a keen contest all the way. Haddy Eakins pitched five-hit ball but was a bit wild and had poor support, while Ron Akers hurled fair ball and had better control and better support. The losers had a man on third and one on second at the final out. Leether and Borland each had two hits in four for the Russellie pack, as Blewett hid a double. Eakins, Anderson and Mackness each bashed out two for four for the winners, with the latter having a double. Courneya got two in five tries. A catch by Jaquith and a double play, Jaquith to Courneya, were fielding features in an interesting and close contest. It was over in an hour and a quarter.

Umpire Toes Line For Coach

NEW YORK, May 28.—(AP)—When big Cal Hubbard reached Detroit to umpire at Briggs Stadium the other day, one of the first things he did was visit his former Geneva college coach, Bo McMillan. That reviewed the old story of the time that Bo, a comparatively little guy, accused Cal of loading on the football field and then roughing up some of the players. McMillan merely warned him: "Cal, if you don't behave, I'll grab a hickory stick and beat you within an inch of your life." Cal behaved.

Zal-us Worker Rocky Graziano says he'd like to have four men, instead of three, in his corner when he fights Tony Zale. And National Boxing Association president Abe Greene says it's okay if Rocky "gives me a justifiable reason." If Abe would just look at the pictures of their first fight, he'd realize Rocky might need them for protection.

Dots All, Brothers Howie Odell's first University of Washington football team drew a crowd of 10,000 for its final spring scrimmage. Bill and Bunny Cook, the old Ranger hockey duo, fell one game short of sweeping the league hockey playoffs titles this year. Bunny's Cleveland team won the American League and Bill's Minneapolis boys lost out in the final United States League playoff game. Navy's basketballers will play twice in the Chicago Stadium next winter. Seems Navy is getting into the swim.

Intermediates Ask Assistance Of Fans

The following letter is from the manager of the intermediate Petes of the Lakeshore Basketball League: Dear Sir,—As you know, we have entered an intermediate team in the Lakeshore League this season. This has been made possible only through the generosity of some of our business men, namely: Hugh Campbell of Outboard Marine Co., who supplied us with uniforms; Bert McLeod; Stan Easton; and James Hefferman, of Colonial Weaving, whose donations have given us a start. From now on it will be through the patronage of sports fans who, by their attendance at our games, will show whether we will be able to carry on. Our team is made up mostly of junior players who this year are too old for minor ball, and unless we have the fans' support, they will be out of baseball. I wish to thank you for your co-operation through your column and know you will continue to lend a hand. Sincerely, Jack Billingsley

Athletics Smear Senators As Bottles Shower Umpire

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Connie Mack's Athletics are safely home in first place in the American League, fooling the wisecracks who said Philadelphia would fade in the western swing around the circuit. Winners eight times in 13 stars since leaving friendly Shibe Park, the Mack-men now must be considered bona fide pennant contenders.

The A's Wednesday night smeared Washington Senators 7-3 to move a full game in front of the idle Cleveland Indians, and, more important, nine percentage points to the good.

Umpire Red Jones found himself in the midst of a shower of bottles, beer cans and other debris at Washington in the ninth inning. He was in the path of a ball thrown to the plate by Mickey Vernon of Washington. Vern scooped up Pete Suder's grounder and tried to catch Sam Chapman at the plate but the ball struck Jones' chest protector as he stood in the base line.

This most explosive outburst by Washington fans in recent years didn't end until Jones told the public address announcer to say the game would be forfeited unless the shower ceased. The game was finished and police escorted Jones from the field.

Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., held the Senators to five hits in winning his fifth game at the expense of Walt Masterson who was driven to cover in the third with his third loss.

Musical Stars
In the National League, Stan Musial polished off his sensational eastern swing with two hits, including his 10th homer, in St. Louis Cards' 9-8 victory over New York Giants.

Red Schoendienst's bases-loaded single was the big blow for the Cards as they scored four runs in the ninth to top the stubborn Giants. Ken Trinkle was nipped by Schoendienst but the loss went to Clint Hartung who loaded the bases on walks. Jim Hearn, who replaced starter Murry Dickson in the seventh, was the Card winner.

Brooklyn Dodgers ended a one-day stay in the National cellar, climbing to sixth place by shading Chicago 4-2. Pee Wee Reese stole home on Russ Meyer with

Bears Outslug Syracuse 5-4; Leading League

By The Associated Press

Newark Bears have parlayed that unbeatable combination, good pitching and timely hitting, into a nine-game winning streak that has put them on top of the International League.

The Bears took over first place from Syracuse Wednesday night by downing the Chiefs 5-4. They held a full game edge.

Ken Silvestri led the way with two homers, driving in two runs while Ray Starr, with help from Frank Lamanna in the eighth inning, received credit for the victory, his fourth in five decisions.

Starr, who fanned nine, ran into trouble in the eighth which pinch-hitter Dixie Howell opened with a homer. Harry Donabedian followed with a single, stole second and rode home on Kermit Wahl's double. Lamanna took over at this point and ended the rally.

The third-place Montreal Royals took a 7-5 beating from Buffalo's fourth-place Bisons to remain 2½ games off the pace.

Tex Shirley went the route for the Bisons, yielding nine hits while his mates clubbed three Montreal pitchers for 14 hits, including Chet Laab's 11th homer of the season.

The victory enabled the Bisons to stay a game ahead of the fifth-place Jersey City Giants who nosed out Baltimore Orioles 2-1, behind the two-hit pitching of Andy Tomasic. Lloyd Gearheart drove in both Giant runs with a homer and single.

Rochester's Red Wings remained half a game behind the Giants as a result of their 9-1 victory over the tail-end Toronto Maple Leafs.

Rookie outfielder Frank Gravano paced the Wings' 16-hit attack by driving in three runs on a homer, double and single.

Regatta, to be held on the Royal Canadian Henley regatta course here Saturday, June 5.

School boys will race in two classes, as follows:

Heavyweight—Canadian championship eighth, four, doubles and singles; open eighth, four, doubles and singles.

145-lb. class (with 5-lb. allowance) — Canadian championship eighth, four, doubles and singles; open eighth, four, doubles and singles.

All races are one mile, straight-away.

Doris Hart, the American star seeded number one, was defeated in Paris Thursday in the semi-final of the French tennis tournament by her teammate, Shirley Fry, 6-3, 4-6, 11-9. This was the first major upset in the French lawn tennis championships.

In the men's singles semi-finals played Thursday, Czechoslovakia's Jaroslav Drobny bested Budge Patty of the United States, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3. Frank Parker, United States number one player, is the other men's finalist. He beat the South African champion, Eric Sturges, with surprising ease, losing only five games. He won 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Americans Edge Out British Amateur Golfers

SANDWICH, Kent, England, May 28.—(AP).—Prospects today were for a second straight all-American final round in the British amateur golf championship.

Moving steadily forward in opposite brackets are defending champion Willie Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y., and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio.

Stranahan was a 3 to 1 favorite to win the title as he entered quarter-final play today. Turnesa was 4 to 1 to be the first American to win the crown twice in a row since Lawson Little did it in 1934 and 1935.

Stranahan meets Mario Gonzalez of Brazil in the quarter-finals while Turnesa is paired with S. B. Roberts of Wales. Other matches send D. H. R. Martin of Scotland against John Campbell of Scotland in Stranahan's bracket and Charlie Stowe against Charles Lawrie of Scotland in Turnesa's bracket.

It was Lawrie who Wednesday ousted Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N.C., one up, in 19 holes. Chapman, Turnesa and Stranahan are regarded as the American "big three."

Turnesa eliminated G. A. Love-day of England 4 and 3 and A. J. Mitchell-Clarke, a British army major, 8 and 7, in matches Wednesday.

Stranahan put out James Taggart of Ireland 5 and 3 and Capt. David Blair of the British army 3 and 2.

The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

Launch Investigations

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—President Truman and angry lawmakers launched multiple investigations Thursday into Voice of America broadcasts branded on the floor of Congress as subversive "smears" on American states and customs. The National Broadcasting Company, who prepared the broadcast, said the script writer, Rene Borgia, has been dismissed. The network also said Borgia's supervisor, Alberto Gaudero, was transferred to other duties and later resigned.

CZECH AIRMEN ESCAPE—Flying in a "borrowed" twin-engined German Siebel aircraft, eight Czech airmen, fleeing from their country, landed at Manston RAF airfield, near Margate, Kent, Eng. Five of them are married to English women living in the country, but so secret was their flight kept, that even their wives knew nothing of the plot—or that they had arrived in the country. The men were held under observation, while home office and foreign office were consulted. After a short delay, they were granted provisional passports for six months. It is understood that five of the men, who had been pilots working with the Czech air force, had been dismissed because they had married English women. The airmen specially requested that their faces be kept out of photograph because they have parents living in Czechoslovakia and they might be hurt if the men could be identified.

Government Survives 2 Non-Confidence Motions

OTTAWA, May 28.—(CP)—The Commons approved the government's 1948-49 taxation policies Thursday by voting down two opposition motions of non-confidence in the Liberal administration.

After one of the briefest debates in recent years the Chamber voted 72 to 54 against a Progressive Conservative motion which called on members to express the opinion that the government does not possess the confidence of the people.

Earlier, members voted 122 to 30 against a CCF motion which asked the House to express regret that the government had failed to:

1. Relieve the excessive burden of taxation on those in the low-income groups.
2. Increase income tax exemptions to $1,200 for single persons and $2,500 for married persons.
3. Remove sales and excise taxes which bear most heavily on those in the low-income group.

4. Establish a public investment board of control capital investment.

The Social Credit party did not have a separate motion of non-confidence although it joined in general criticism of the budget.

The Social Credit, CCF and most independents joined to support the CCF motion. The Liberals and Progressive Conservatives voted against it.

Solid Opposition

There was a solid opposition vote in favor of the Progressive Conservative motion, but as the House sat beyond the usual 11 p.m. adjournment hour many members were absent from their seats.

For instance, J. M. McDonnell (PC-Muskoka Ontario), chief financial critic for his party, voted against the CCF motion but was absent when the vote was taken on the Progressive Conservative motion which he sponsored. It was learned later that he had left the chamber of catch a midnight train.

Before the votes were taken, Lt.-Col. Alan Cockram (PC-York South) warned that Russia's fear that every move by the outside world is aimed at war will force Canada to keep her defences in a state of preparedness for years to come.

Defence Plan Unsound

A veteran of the two world wars, Col. Cockram said that in his opinion Canada's defence program is "inadequate and unsound".

Col. Cockram said a separate minister should be appointed to handle matters pertaining to mines, forests and scientific services.

A policy of expansion and development, designed to broaden the basis of taxation, would ease the tax burden on the people. The mineral industry of Canada under able guidance and assistance of a full-time minister, is capable of increasing its production to more than $1,000,000,000 a year.

He said: "It is no secret that dangerous shortages of strategic minerals exists in the United States today, particularly in regard to lead, zinc, copper, high grade iron ores and petroleum, and I would be most surprised if similar conditions do not prevail in Canada at the present time."

Hold 14-Year-Old Boy For Slaying Child

CHICAGO, May 28.—(AP).—Police said today that a 14-year-old boy identified as Roy Adams, seized on a subway train after an all-night police search, orally admitted the brutal slaying of eight-year-old Nancy Schuler.

Nancy, known in her neighborhood as "The Little Doll" because of her beauty, was found smothered to death Thursday in the bedroom of a neighbor's apartment.

Nancy was found lying face downward in bed, three big pillows piled on her head. The pillows were weighted down with a heavy chair and a magazine rack.

Charges Of Force

TORONTO, May 28.—(CP).—Charges of force and intimidation were heard Thursday as a union dispute was aired before the Ontario Labor Relations Board. C. L. Dublin, counsel for the United Electrical Workers (CIO), said those were the tactics of foremen and supervisors at the Rogers Majestic Ltd. plant in suburban Leaside, seeking to get workers to join the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL).

Geo. L. Phillips Dies In Marmora

MARMORA, May 28.—(ENS).—At his home on Hays Street on Wednesday evening, after several months of suffering, the death occurred of George Lewis Phillips, aged 56.

Son of Sylvester Phillips and Sarah Davidson, he was born in Marmora township and has been a lifelong resident of the district. After working on the farm in earlier years he took employment with the Deloro Smelting Company, Limited, working in their oxide department for several years. This he left a few years ago to give more time to the bus service from Marmora to Deloro which he and Joseph Doyle inaugurated. Failing health caused him to relinquish his partnership a few months ago. "Louis," as he was known to his many acquaintances, was highly esteemed. He was a member of St. Andrew's United Church, and also a member of Marmora AF and AM 222.

Surviving are his wife (formerly Mary Lough) and six children: Gordon of Marmora, Alvin of Toronto, Douglas at home, Mrs. Edson Sine (lla) of Frankford, Mrs. Wellington McInroy (Rita) of Marmora, and Audrey at home, and his father and step-mother,

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Phillips of Marmora township; three sisters: Mrs. William Simmons and Mrs. Earl Eldridge of Toronto, Mrs. Henry Empey of Marmora, and one brother, Elmer of Marmora. Funeral has been arranged for Saturday afternoon, under Masonic auspices. The service at St. Andrew's United Church at 2.30 p.m. conducted by Rev. E. M. Cadigan, will be followed by burial in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

NEW ATOMIC STRIKE—Coral Rapids on the Polar Bear line in Ontario's Northland, 96 miles beyond Cochrane, today commands world-wide attention as prospecting headquarters in Canada's newest field of radioactive mineral. Nineteen years ago, in railway construction days it was a "jumping-off" point and the end of steel. When the railway was finished to James Bay, its population declined to four white persons and a dozen huskies. Now better things are in store. Beside the Otter Rapids on the Abitibi River, three miles above the Coral, is a deposit of radioactive ore, strong enough almost to "make a Geiger counter pop out of a prospector's hands." The first samples were found in a dried-out gorge last July.

Will Review Copyright Regulations

By STUART UNDERHILL.

LONDON, May 28 — (CP). — Regulations that govern the publication of writing, music and paintings originating in other countries will get a going over at Brussels in June at the first conference on international copyright in 20 years.

Those attending are representatives of countries which subscribe to the Bern Convention of 1886, which bound them to respect one another's copyright laws. There are 39 members, including Canada, but there may be absentees, especially from Eastern Europe.

Soviet Russia, the United States, and most South American Republics have not signed the convention.

"This is our first meeting since the Rome conference of 1928," said a member of the British delegation. "Mostly it will be concerned with technical details."

"What many of us hope is that it will clear the way for a wider conference which would result in the United States and its South American neighbors joining our union."

"This is an old dream. The chief obstacles in the way of its fulfillment are the United States laws requiring registration at the US Patent Office, and publication of literary works in the United States before their copyright is recognized."

Canada Accepts

The question of the United States joining the convention is not likely to be raised at this year's meeting, which begins on June 5. Most of the proposals, dealing with technical amendments, were drawn up in 1938, when a scheduled conference was abandoned because of "uncertainties" in the international situation.

Canada is one of 18 countries which accept the Bern Convention without reservations. Small concessions have been made to other countries—such as permitting them to publish unrestricted the works of any author who fails to obtain publication on his own behalf within 10 years of the first appearance of his work.

PILOT DROWNS—Horace William (Jimmy) Westaway, 50-year-old bush pilot who had flown with the Ontario Air Services for 25 years, was drowned Thursday when his aircraft overturned in the Severn river after hitting a log during a takeoff. He is seen filing one of the blades of his plane's propeller.

Can Prevent War By Being Ready

TORONTO, May 28 — (CP) —

There is only one sure way to prevent war and that is to be fully prepared in every possible phase, the Canadian Manufacturers Association was told Thursday by H. J. Carmichael, of St. Catharines, president of Canada's new industrial defence board.

Mr. Carmichael's address was only one of several which stressed national defence as the 2,000 industrialists went through the second day of their annual meeting.

Mr. Carmichael, outlining the plans of the Industrial Defence Board, declared that war is the last thing any Canadian wants, but to prevent it preparedness is necessary "so that we will have properly trained personnel in our three branches of the armed services to become the nucleus of an armed force capable of defending our country from any kind or type of attack; and from an industrial standpoint to have our resources so mobilized that at a moment's notice they may be quickly converted from peacetime pursuits to that of total all-out war effort."

Train Hits Car Child 2 Killed

ARNPRIOR, Ont., May 28 —

(CP) — Two-year-old Frances Farrell of nearby Pakenham Thursday night was killed and her mother, Mrs. Helen Farrell, was critically injured when a freight train crashed into the side of their car, three miles east of here.

Only occupants of the car, the two were hurled clear of the wreckage strewn about the level crossing. The child was found dead with her skull fractured, lying close to her unconscious mother.

The Canadian Pacific Railway freight train was proceeding from Renfrew to Smiths Falls and had just pulled out from Arnprior station when the accident occurred.

Dr. J. Giberson said it was a miracle that Mrs. Farrell had survived.

It was understood Mrs. Farrell had been driving on a country road and came in contact with the slow-moving freight atop a grade. The car was dragged more than 75 feet before the crew were able to halt the train.

Blind Delegates Seeking New Legislation

A six-point program designed to secure better legislation for the blind was put forward at the fifth annual meeting of the Ontario Division, Canadian Council of the Blind, held recently in Grimsby.

The program includes:

1. Creation of a Blind Persons' Act separate from and independent of the Old Age Pensions Act.
2. Use of the term "Blindness Allowance" and elimination of the term "Pension."
3. Elimination of the Means Test in the award of Blindness Allowance.
4. An adequate rate of Blindness Allowance in relation to the cost of living. Under present circumstances, this would appear to be not less than $50 a month, preferably uniform for all provinces.
5. Reduction of the present residence requirement from twenty years to five years, in the case of a person with normal vision who has taken up residence in Canada in good faith and at any time thereafter has lost his sight.
6. Adequate provision for medical or surgical treatment for eye conditions to conserve or to restore vision and to prevent blindness.

Two subjects that produced considerable discussion were the fact that blind persons must pay a higher premium for life insurance and the use of a lighter type of white cane for sightless women. Delegates attended from Windsor, London, Stratford, Kitchener, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Toronto, Kingston, Peterborough, Ottawa and Montreal.

The Peterborough representative was Frank Simmons who was present on behalf of the Louis Braille Society.

One of the highlights of the convention was when a blind lay reader, Joseph Smith of London, read a scriptural passage from a Braille translation.

R. F. Troughton, Manual Trainer, Ontario School for the Blind was appointed to be director of a Summer Camp for the blind, August 9-19, at Ancaster. The camp will accommodate 100 persons and is equipped with a swimming pool and other recreational activities.

ARAB PRISONERS—Some idea of the "army" clothing and equipment which go with the current battles in Palestine is afforded by this radio photo showing Jewish guards, clad and armed as for guerrilla warfare, leading a group of Arab prisoners through the all-Arab city of Acre. Previous to her marriage Mrs. White belonged to the former Methodist church, but since that time has been a member of the Presbyterian church, active in its societies, and faithful in attendance and support. She belonged to the Women's Missionary Society and the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook.

Besides her husband, the surviving relatives are one sister, Mrs. C. Hact (Maud), of Omema, and one brother, John Robertson, of Spokane, Washington. There are a number of nieces and nephews. The funeral was from the McPherson Funeral Home, Millbrook, on Friday at 2 p.m. Rev. Walter Patterson was in charge of the service. Interment was in the Presbyterian cemetery, Millbrook.

Two Ukrainian Bishops Are Consecrated

TORONTO, May 28 (CP).—Immigration of Ukrainians to Canada, effected in a comparatively few years, "has had results of profound religious significance for the Roman Catholic church," James Cardinal McGuigan said Thursday at a consecration service for two Ukrainian Bishops.

Speaking at St. Michael's cathedral, the Archbishop of Toronto witnessed the consecration of most Rev. Andrew Roboretsky, of Toronto, and most Rev. Isidore Borecky of Brantford. Bishop Roboretsky is the auxiliary to Bishop Basil Ledyke, head of the Ukrainian Catholics of Eastern Canada.

The colorful ceremony of consecration was conducted before a congregation that packed the huge nave of the cathedral to overflowing. Many scores remained standing throughout the service.

"Midst the sorrows of the Holy Mother church in many lands and especially in the homeland of the Ukraine, where during the last few years a ferocious persecution is raging, this majestic ceremony gives us great cause for joy and exultant hope," cardinal McGuigan declared.

The congregation included members of the three Ukrainian parishes here with children carrying small Ukrainian national flags in procession. Present were Bishop Borenski's father and the parents of Bishop Robeski. Both dominion and provincial governments were officially represented.

600 Men Short In U.C. Ministry

HAMILTON, May 28 (CP).—The United Church of Canada will be 600 men short in the ministry by 1954 and is 405 men short at the present time, the Rev. W. H. Young, secretary of the committee on colleges and secondary schools, today told the Hamilton conference of the United Church at McMaster University.

There are 426 candidates in the colleges, he said, but they will not be ordained for another six years. In that time 600 ministers will be lost by retirement or death.

"There will be no long term solution to this problem until we get religion re-established in our homes," he said.

The Rev. J. Lorne Graham told the meeting that only one minister will be ordained in this Conference in 1949.

The shortage of ministers is also affecting the Board of Home Missions, the Rev. J. R. Lang, assistant secretary, told the Conference. As of March 31, there are 114 vacant fields across Canada.

The financial report was read by F. M. Robinson, Dundas, treasurer, revealing a balance on hand of $5,010.60, and Conference expenses of just over $3,000.

Posed As Fishermen While Seeking Ore

CORAL RAPIDS, Ont., May 28 (CP).—Prospectors who posed as hunters and fishermen stalked claims on deposits of radioactive ore near this tiny settlement on the Ontario Northland Railway 96 miles north of Cochrane.

Unusually low water last summer in the Abitibi River enabled prospector Alex Mosher to take samples from the river bed about three miles from here.

Atomic Energy Commission experts in Ottawa expressed interest in the samples and soon claims were staked by Mosher and four other Haliburton men, Fred Austin, Mel Robb, Miner Kenty and Austin's son-in-law Gordon Arm.

A light cattle run of 3,800 head, down some 1,800 from last week, was cleared at the higher prices. Bulk of steers sold at between $18 and $19.75. Butcher heifers were $16 to $19. Butcher cows sold at $12 to $16.50, with canners and cutters mostly $8.00 to $11.50. Bulls were $10.50 to $15 and fed yearlings $17.50 to $20.

Loot 5 Cottages At Eels Lake

Another series of break-ins has been discovered. This time, it is in the Eels Lake district, where Provincial Constable Bert Howden, Apsley, has checked all cottages. There have been five run-downed on the lake.

Most of the missing items were fishing rods, equipment, dishes, canned goods. One valuable gun was stolen.

Early in the month, complaints had been received in the region of the work of prowlers. With a boat, OPP Howden examined all the cottages of the lake. The five had been broken-in by the same method—slitting the screens and forcing the windows.

Owners of the five cottages are: Magistrate W. R. Philp, Peterborough; Fred C. Stann, Lockport, N.Y.; Robert Dudley, Toronto; Arthur Baker, Leamington; and George Trotter, Apsley.

Tomcat Has Right Idea Just Eats, Sleeps, Prowls

"I think people are crazy," said Henry the house cat in a silent catty interview the other morning. He lolled at great ease on a soft couch in a shaft of warm sunlight. With the whole household bustling around the living room, he slept blissfully and dreamed his cat dreams of juicy mice and big saucers of cream; a balmy breeze with that aromatic fishy smell flowed from the Otonabee River through the open windows and doors. "Yes, and I'll tell you people are crazy," yawned Henry again, "that is, if I can keep awake long enough."

"The Boss Man comes in late every night and snatches a few hours of sleep; his bed is all right—I've tried it lots of times when there was no one around. Anyway, the Boss springs up in the morning followed by Mrs. Boss and such a commotion you never saw. They turn on the radio, the toaster, the hot plate and run water taps and they are too busy to hear me yowling from the cellar to be let into the kitchen. By the time I can smell the toast burning, someone opens the door and I put on a real show of meowing just to gain attention and maybe something to eat."

"I like to jump on the kids' bunks and purr loudly in their ears till they get restless. Boss boy is the one to watch, for he gets grumpy if I wake him too soon—sometimes he knocks me off the top bunk. On the other hand, Boss Girl Two drags me into bed with her now and then. Now the real chaos starts when the kids drag themselves out. I beat it for the couch and let the whole family go to it. Guess I'm naturally the laziest cat on the river and come by it naturally."

They tell me I was born a year ago on a farm out in Smith, born in a bureau drawer on a pile of clean shirts with four sisters. We were promptly moved to the woodshed where the Old Lady made a nest of sorts in an old basket and we lived well on moles and the occasional starling. The owner of the place was fixing some insulation in the walls above the kitchen and the big piles of rockwood looked like a comfortable place to park. One Sunday the Old Lady carried me upstairs to our new home and in skittering around in the dark, I stepped off the edge of my world into a hole between the walls. It was 10 feet down, so they said, and if it had not been for the Boss Girl looking for me and hearing my racket, guess I would have been buried in rockwood in a Smith farmhouse wall. It took two men with tongs an hour to get me out of that mess and from that time on, I decided that I was a little bit above the ordinary barn cat and had started to use up some of my nine lives at a very early age.

Lives By the River

Then we moved to the house by the river, my two sisters and me, and lived the life of Riley all winter. Come very early spring Mrs. Boss used to talk to Boss Man about my sisters, they were growing up, and pretty soon would be raising families and she would have no part of their looking after. I made my self scarce for a while and teamed up with an ugly red tom and we went prowling and howling nights on peoples' verandahs.

One morning I went home, for no other reason than a good meal, and my sister were gone, the Boss Girls were weeping and Mrs. Boss looked relieved. From that time on I took over the home, act affectionate to get sympathy or something to eat and sleep on the softest beds in the house. Everyone that comes along says what a handsome devil I am when really I am nothing more than a tabby barn cat that has gone places.

So, everyone at home stews around but me; I eat and sleep all day and prow around all night. People think I'm lazy but I think people are crazy, no hum, pardon me for yawning.

Crowding Taxis A Problem; Find No Answer

A special meeting of the Police Commission with the taxi operators of the city, held to discuss the problem of overcrowding taxis at rush periods, reached only one decision Thursday afternoon: all agreed that it was a problem. The Commission had invited the cabmen to meet with them for discussion following public complaints and letters in the press regarding this matter. Outcome, after debate, was a decision to have the taxi owners study the problem further and present a report at the next meeting of the Commission.

The owners present described the difficulties they encountered at such peak times as the night trains at the station. They said it was practically impossible to put into efficient operation a "zoning system" whereby passengers for one section of the city took the same cab.

"The passengers load themselves into the cars—we haven't anything to say about it. You can't kick them out after they're there."

Hugh Davis explained that in larger cities, where a taxi-meter system was used, the fare for a single fare was almost as large as the fare for four passengers. He pointed out that, under the fixed rate system in Peterborough, it was impossible to operate a cab business without taking multiple fares.

Five Miles for 50 Cents
"With the city growing the way it is," he said, "we have calls where we have to travel five miles—for a 50 cent fare."

"If Peterborough gets much bigger, and if they insist on single calls, we might have to ask for another rate boost—and the public wouldn't like that," said another. Mayor William Owens, chairman of the Commission, agreed.

It was also contended by the taxi men that the complaints of the full-car system were in a minority. He said that the delays of taking single fares would cause much more complaining.

"If there's an answer to it, we'd like to know what it is," said one.

During the meeting, the cabmen also mentioned a number of grievances in the business, which they reported to the Commission. They said that several companies in the city had been "cutting rates" below the set schedule. This, they said, was unfair.

They also charged that other companies were soliciting fares in front of the Brewer's Warehouse and hotels, contrary to provisions of the city bylaw.

Police Chief John Thompson told the Commission that these and several other complaints would be investigated and dealt with.

King Of Norway Honors Stringer

Ontario's Commissioner of Police William H. Stringer had been decorated by the King of Norway. Provincial Police Inspector E. V. McNeill of Peterborough District Headquarters said that the announcement had been made by the Royal Norwegian Council-General.

The award is the King Haakon VII Cross of Liberation and was made effective to January of this year. The announcement from the King said the award was made for "distinguished services to Norway during the war."

Two Motorcyclists Hurt In Crash

Two youths were injured late Thursday night when the motorcycle on which they were riding collided with a car at the corner of Water and Mill Sts. Frank McFee, Apsley, 19 years old, driver and owner of the motorcycle, had cut hands, an injured leg, some concussion and teeth knocked out when he was thrown off. His passenger, Donald Ferguson, 10 Glenelg St., Lindsay, caught his heel in the rear wheel and received an injured leg and heel.

Driver of the car was Nelson Kerr, 68 Aylmer St. Both youths were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment. Damage to the motorcycle was to the gearshift, muffler and kickstand. The Kerr car had a front bumper half broken, the front half of the left fender crumpled and a wheel damaged.

PC C. J. McGillen investigated.

OFFICER TRANSFERRED
Provincial Constable A. F. Grayling of Havelock has been transferred to No. 8 District Headquarters here. He had been stationed at Havelock. Inspector E. V. McNeill said that the Havelock detachment would be discontinued in the transfer, because of new radio equipment being installed here makes it unnecessary to have a man stationed there to give effective police coverage of the area.

CLOTHING FOR LABRADOR

Executive officers of the Peterborough branch of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission are appealing again for old and new clothing for the residents of the fishing village of Harrington Harbour, P.Q., on the lonely north shore of the St. Lawrence River in the Canadian Labrador. Silk stockings and underwear, not nylon, are required for the cottage craft industry of hooked rug making. Contributions are being received at the Grafton men's furnishing store, through the courtesy of manager C. Hughes and the bale will be closed for shipment in the third week of June.

Pleads Guilty To Neglect Second Time

The horses of Thomas J. Hetherington, elderly Lakefield Highway farmer, will be sold or disposed of within the next 60 days. This was the condition of an agreement presented in police court Thursday afternoon when the accused man pleaded guilty to a charge of neglecting his animals. He was fined $25 and $39.50 costs.

Counsel for Mr. Hetherington, Ralph O. Standish, in outlining the terms for the conclusion of the battle between the accused and the Peterborough Humane Society, which has raged for some years, said that the essential factor of the case was Hetherington's inability to cope with the work which his many horses required.

Under the agreement, which was worked out by counsel for the defence and the Humane Society, the animals will come under the trusteeship of Mr. Standish and A. M. Johnston, veterinary surgeon.

"This takes the matter out of the hands of Mr. Hetherington," Mr. Standish explained to Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C.

Evidence in Thursday's hearing—the last of a number held against Hetherington—was given by two expert witnesses from Hamilton who came to the city for this case.

C. W. Morris, Chief Inspector for the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, testified as to conditions on the Hetherington farm when he visited it on May 7. The animals in the main building were five stallions in the central portion, a blind mare and a stallion in a hayloft stall on the ground level. There were no mangers, oastboxes, feeding boxes, water system or stalls in the stable, he said, and the floor was wet with no bedding in many places and manure a foot deep in some areas.

He referred to excessively long toe-growths on the stallions in the separate stalls. He said Hetherington had a ladder lying there for the horse to break off the growths. He said that this was dangerous, as the stallion could easily break a leg on it.

Inspector Morris said that he had given Hetherington a week's notice in which to improve conditions, but that after that time, no improvements had been made in the way of stable facilities.

Dr. Fred Bridgman, of Free-man, veterinary consultant for the Ontario SPCA, also told of the farm's condition. He said the horses were "all in very poor shape."

Discussing whether the animals were suffering, the witness pointed out that "such fine blooded animals as these" would fight when a pair of males were put together. Here, he said, five stallions were in the same enclosure and too weak in vitality to bother each other.

"The situation is absolutely ridiculous—all those beautiful animals being treated like that." He added that he did not think that the accused owner treated them so through any desire to be cruel or in bad faith. It was a case, he said, of not having the proper knowledge or physical capability of handling the horses.

Co-Workers Honor Stanley Longhurst

Members of the office and maintenance staff of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation presented Thursday an engraved gold pencil to Mr. H. S. Longhurst, retiring administrator, who severs his seven-year connection with the company next Monday.

The presentation was made on behalf of the staff by Mr. John Raine, who spoke of the pleasant relations which Mr. Longhurst had maintained in the business of the company. Girls of the office provided refreshments for this little event closing the day's work and terminating Mr. Longhurst's management of all the wartime houses in Peterborough with supervision of its other housing projects in eastern Ontario.

Jewelry Worth $600 Stolen At Warsaw Farm

An estimated $600 worth of old jewelry was stolen from the farm house of George Forbes in Dummer Township, it was discovered this week. The house had not been used all winter, as Mr. Forbes suffered a stroke last fall and had been living with his wife with relatives in the Warsaw area.

The whole building had been thoroughly ransacked, with bureaux turned out, cupboards rummaged. The loot had been in a suitcase under a bed upstairs and consisted of jewelry which had been left by Mrs. Forbes's brother. It included about 50 rings of various types, about 10 stick-pins and 10 brooches.

Provincial Constable Keith O'Shaughnessy is investigating.

NEW CITY CONSTABLE

Grant J. Gillespie, formerly of Buckhorn, was appointed a police constable, 4th class, at the Thursday meeting of the Police Commission. He will replace Malcolm Bassett, who has resigned from the Department to take a position in the Welfare Department of the city.

testified that there had been no improvement in conditions since he inspected in February of this year, at which time a conviction against the accused had been registered on similar charges.

Special prosecutor W. B. Gordon, in referring to the agreement, said that he was satisfied. "Something had to be done to keep this from being dragged through the courts endlessly," he said. "The case was giving this county a wide notoriety."

Brantford Gets 103 Houses; Spent $300,000

Brantford is getting 103 more government houses to rent at a maximum of $37.20, according to a report of a council meeting in the Examiner.

Their housing experience, past and present, sounds almost identical with Peterborough's. Similar circumstances apply to both, even the report of council meetings.

Ald. Patte reminded council June 1 was the deadline for re-questing houses under the 1948 program. Ald. Winter considered $37.20 a month $5 too high for a returned soldier to pay.

"We have spent about $300,000 for housing; there has to be a limit, and I believe we have reached it."

Ald. Shillington said the test was not the amount of money the city had spent to get these houses but the fact that some 700 families still needed houses in Brantford. "We have dilly-dallied with this project so long we have only a week left to act," Ald. Pennell said Brantford's expenditure to get government houses amounted to more than $400,000.

Brantford is now asking for revision of rents upward to provide increases in the $24 and $30 a year payments by the housing administration to the city.

Mayor Owens would comment that it had a familiar ring:

FOXY THEATRE PATRONS

While three bulldozers and two dozen workmen are laboring against time to erect the new Drive-in Theatre on the Lakefield road, their progress is being checked daily by a red fox vixen and her pup on a hillside just west of the project. She is far enough away to watch that someone does not try to sneak too close with a rifle. She has a burrow under a grove of basswood trees that will provide a quick getaway in case of any suspicious movements. In the meantime, she is styling herself the first patron, from a good distance.

US and Canada Have Power To Restore World To Economic Health—Moore

A comprehensive picture of the part played by savings and investment in the Canadian economy was presented to Kiwanians at their luncheon on Thursday afternoon by Trevor F. Moore, Toronto, vice-president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

"Today retirement is a luxury and beyond the reach of far more than was the case a generation ago," he said. Then he quipped "a man who saved money was called a miser; today he's a wonder."

Mr. Moore said he was a great believer in free enterprise and provided his own five-point definition: one, private property, whereby we agree to let people own and control their goods, and to choose their occupations; a free market, whereby we determine how much of what shall be produced and how much reward there shall be for that production; three, profits and incentives, whereby we stimulate the supply of scarce products and labor, and improve methods; four, competition, whereby we prevent monopoly and the exacting of an unfair reward through control of supply; five, government regulation but not control whereby we police the free market by a power outside the business community.

"Whether you believe in this system or not, you and I have the right and freedom to get up on our feet and criticize it or defend it."

He related the prosperity of the North American democracies to their economic system. "The January 5th issue of the New York Herald Tribune stated that democratic Canada and the United States are the only two important nations with the vitality and resources necessary to restore the world to economic health. They alone among the chief nations produce more than they consume."

"Is it so very odd that the truly democratic countries of the world—the countries which believe in the competitive enterprise system existing within a framework of fair regulation—are those countries which for some years past and some years to come must provide the materials, the vitality and the leadership so badly needed elsewhere?"

He described personal savings as synonymous with "capital."

which he said was a word "in dispute with many because they don't understand it."

Savings Do Job

"It is the money the industrious put to work, the savings you invest in your own business, in another business, in government bonds or in the expectation of a reward." That much, he said, was obvious and well-known.

But he added "the system under which we live likewise expects your savings to maintain business operations, to expand, to maintain jobs, to create jobs, and it is only when your capital savings flow freely to industry that business is good, the standard of living is good, employment conditions are good."

"Before you open a small store to sell cigarettes, tobaccos, magazines, you must take your savings or borrow someone else's savings to provide the fittings, the shelves, the inventory, etc."

The primary function of the investment dealer, he pointed out, is to obtain capital for the use of governments and industry, and at the same time, provide investments for savings.

Referring to the recent budget brought down by the Minister of Finance, he said: "I am sure that the Federal Authorities are sincere in their desire to see small businesses encouraged, and the recent budget gave an indication of this in provided exemptions from Federal Succession Duty on estates under $50,000. This is one step in the right direction. I respectfully suggest that another far more important step would be to eliminate double taxation. The investor and saver who provides the funds for company's needs finds that when the venture is a success, the company pays a tax on its net profits and, if a portion of these profits is disbursed in the form of dividends, the investor pays a further personal tax. One of these taxes should be eliminated."

The speaker was introduced by William Richardson and thanked by Jack Sinclair. Edward Pridham was in the chair.

Fairbanks Plans To Do Film On Sir Lancelot

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 28 (AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will head for Europe soon to lay plans for a super-version of the Sir Lancelot legend.

After completing "The O'Flynn," the actor-producer goes to London to confer with J. Arthur Rank on their unlimited-budget "Sir Lancelot of King Arthur's Round Table." The film will centre on the Arthur-Guinevere-Lancelot triangle, with side-lights of lavish court life. English landscapes will be used for the epic, but no real castles. "They are not big enough," says Doug.

King-sized Cowpoke

Rod Cameron, the king-size cowpoke, is set for the busiest year of his career. Currently galloping through Republic's "The Plunderers," he expects to co-star with John Wayne in "Wake of the Red Witch." He has four other deals cooking for him. He turned down a lead opposite Winthrop's Deanna Durbin. Says he: "About all a man can do in Deanna's pictures is hold her music."

Could there be a feud brewing between 20th-Fox and Paramount following the sudden yanking of Paulette Goddard from the "Yellow Sky" cast? Now Paramount will rush "The Heiress" to the screens about the same time as "Snake Pit," the other Olivia De Havilland film which 20th-Fox has been holding as its Academy bet. Now its 20th-Fox's move...

Capsule Reviews

"The Emperor Waltz" (Paramount) brings charm back to the screen musical. Brackett and Wilder whipped up a concoction which harks back to the better Chevalier films. It's a pleasant fable about a duchess (Joan Fontaine) and a travelling salesman (Bing Crosby) in the Franz Josef era.

"Time of Your Life" (U-A) misses greatness. It sticks to the mood of the Saroyan play with its grotesque characters and off-beat dialogue in a San Francisco bar. But the drama is destroyed by a Hollywood ending. Still, it is an interesting study, ably acted by Jim and Jeanne Cagney, Wayne Morris, Bill Bendix and others.

Liberal Farm Policy Too Vague Drew Declares At Simcoe Meet

TORONTO, May 28 (CP).—Premier Drew addressing gatherings at Simcoe and Hamilton, termed the Liberal party's agricultural policies "vague and uncertain" and predicted that most Ontario farmers "are not going to accept the Liberal program." One reason was that Ontario now has in Agriculture Minister Kennedy "the most able and effective agriculture minister it has ever had," he said.

E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, spoke in Toronto and made an address over the CBC. Dealing with hydro, Premier Drew said Ontario now is developing and growing faster than any other similar area in the world.

"In the last five years we have added more power than in all nine years of the preceding Liberal administration."

At Hamilton Mr. Drew sparred verbally with hecklers and said the interruptions indicated that "right here, just as they did in Welland, the C.C.F. are joining with the Communists to try to make this meeting impossible to carry on."

He said the Ontario housing program had been described in a Canadian Legion publication as an example for the rest of Canada, asserted the provincial police had been used in strikes only to maintain law and order and declared that Ontario has the most advanced legislation of any Canadian province.

Racial Unity
Mr. Jolliffe said in his broadcast that the C.C.F. has as its ultimate objective racial unity built on the basis of co-operation between farmer and worker, economic security, racial tolerance and equal opportunity for every Canadian.

The C.C.F. leader told a Toronto meeting the labor governments of both New Zealand and Great Britain made housing schemes work. He promises 20,000 low-rental houses for Ontario if his party is elected.

He attacked the Drew government for what he called its lack of a housing program and said Canada wasn't even building fast enough to keep up with the population.

"In 1946 there were 41,000 residential building contracts awarded—but 71,000 young couples were married. And, in addition, there were thousands of new citizens being brought from overseas."

Mr. Drew had been making special promises to particular communities "in order to enhance his party's chance of election" in view of the fact that "the Magna Carta of 1943," Mr. Drew's 22 promises, were still "unfulfilled. It was 'most unlikely' that his more recent promises would be met."

The time had come when "you can't buy people in election time." People were "too intelligent to be bought with their own money."

Knows Problems
The premier declared "Tom Kennedy knows the problems of the farmer thoroughly." He had introduced an up-to-date marketing set-up and through farmers' committees had brought to agriculture the knowledge of the farmers themselves.

He also had been devoting more attention in the last five years than had ever before been devoted to the Junior Farmers Associations.

"He believes the best way to assure the future of Ontario is to train and educate our youth and give them the confidence they need to carry on."

Today Ontario was developing and growing faster than any similar area in the world.

"Don't be startled at the thought of this province having a population of 9,000,000 or 10,000,000 eventually. It is not so far off. In Premier Drew's Hamilton appearance, heckling from among some 600 persons reached noisy proportions during the early part of the premier's address but almost disappeared when he went on the air to deliver a half-hour radio address.

Wind Chill Deciding Factor Not Thermometer In Arctic

By H. DENT HODGSON.

CHURCHILL, Man., May 28 (CP). — At this experiment in Arctic military establishments, winter weather is not measured by the thermometer. The word for how cold it is today is "wind chill."

Those in the know at the joint experimental station here find that wind is just as tough a factor as temperature in determining how soon a person will freeze when he steps outdoors. And they use wind chill, a combination of both factors, to decide what to wear.

Basis for the wind chill factor is a graph showing how quickly a glass of water will freeze if left outside in Arctic weather. According to this formula, a temperature of 5 degrees below zero with a 17-mile-an-hour wind is as tough to buck as a temperature of 40 below with only a 3½-mile-an-hour breeze.

The critical figure in wind chill is 1,400—the figure at which exposed flesh will freeze.

"Wind chill 1400" is dangerous weather at any time. It can happen with a temperature of 20 above and a 20-mile-an-hour wind; 15 above with an 11-mile-an-hour wind; 5 above with a 6-mile-an-hour wind, 15 below with a 2½-mile-an-hour wind, or 40 below with a wind of 1 mile an hour.

Not Many Matches

The wind at Churchill averages about 15 miles an hour during the winter, with a maximum of 40; the temperature averages about 20 below, with maximum of 40 below. The worst conditions last winter found the wind chill at 2,370—a figure which could be matched by few places on the globe.

Even at 90 above with a slight wind, there can be a wind chill, since this factor is a measurement of the rate of cooling of a substance and a breeze on a summer's day has a slight cooling effect.

Scientists are still not content with using merely wind and temperature as a final guide to revising the public's ideas of weather, however. It works well enough in the Arctic where the humidity is relatively stable, but in warmer climates humidity must be considered as well.

Wind chill itself, and the formulas by which it is determined, were established at the other end of the world by Dr. Paul Siple, a member of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition.

In the afternoon, the highlight of the Camp took place with 13 stations being laid out each under a Scout. At various times during the afternoon the Patrols moved from one station to the other.

Monday morning found many getting ready to break camp and by 4:30 in the afternoon one could hardly tell that some 160 Scouts and Leaders had been camping there for the past three days.

Only one case of sickness was reported, this being through over indulgence and one case of home sickness, both subjects being delivered to their respective homes on Sunday morning.

The staff consisted of J. Brown camp chief; Ed Pinn, camp secretary; Tom Littlefair, Photographer; Cy Davis, Earl Westman, Peter Dominik, Quartermaster; A. NRMA Troops Refused Entrance Into Legion

By DOUGLAS HOW

SASKATOON, May 28.—(CP)—Veterans of two world wars, after a realistic appraisal of the possibility of a third, have placed on record the steps they feel Canada should take to prepare for any eventuality.

At its 12th biennial national convention, which ended Thursday the Legion

1. Refused admission to NRMA troops called up in Second World War and who served in an actual theatre of war.
2. Recommended that Canadian youth be given compulsory military training in reserve forces.
3. Asked Federal government to study legislation curbs against Communists' subversive activities "without unduly curbing our normal civil rights."

As had been expected, these recommendations aroused the most spirited discussion of any of the measures put before the convention, opened May 24 by Field Marshal Viscount Alexander. The question of admitting National Resources Mobilization Act troops to Legion membership drew from Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, immediate past president, the comment that it was "ungenerous" and "unworthy" to deny it. National unity would be torn.

Conscript Wrangle
Two delegates—one from Winnipeg, the other from Montreal—said conscripts should be allowed to join the Legion which accepted British veterans who were conscripts. In the angry debate, W. J. Williams of Edmonton said 500 volunteers would leave his branch if conscripts were allowed in. W. A. McKee of Newcastle, N.B., asked "what they (NRMA troops) have got in common with us?"

The convention asked the Federal government to deport foreign-born Communists other than those on foreign government service, recommended that any Communist schools be closed and that lectures and institutions "glorifying" the ideology be forbidden. In earlier proceedings the Legion:

Approved a proposal for 3½ per cent loans to better-off veterans and more wartime housing and rental subsidies for low-income veterans.

Reverse Decision

Reversed a previous decision not to back merchant seamen in their efforts to obtain rehabilitation benefits.

Supported student veterans' requests that included wider financial loan regulations. Asked that any new national flag include the Union Jack, and that parliament bring down the report on a national flag prepared last year by a Senate-Commons committee.

Approved a request for an increase in the rates of allowances paid aged and needy veterans. The government proposes to pay single veterans $40 a month. The Legion asked that this be raised to $50, and that $85 be provided married recipients rather than $70 a month.

Certify Textile Union As Bargaining Agent

TORONTO, May 27.—(CP)—The Ontario Labor Relations Board, in a statement released today, announced that the Textile Workers Union of America (C.I.O.) has been certified as bargaining agent for employees of Riverside Silk Mills, Limited, of Galt and Mitchell.

A request by the Canadian Textile Workers Union (C.F.L.) to be certified as agent was denied by the Board.

The Board's statement said it was "satisfied that the authorizations to represent for collective bargaining purposes a majority of the employees affected by the petition (by the T.W.U.A.) are, in the light of the interference and intimidation indulged in by the management, sufficient to establish that the petitioner enjoys the requisite support to entitle it to the certification requested."

Educational Program To Qualify Rankers

OTAWA, May 28.—(CP)—An educational program for qualifying armed services "rankers" as officers was announced today by Defence Minister Claxton.

The plan applies to all branches of the army and air force and to the technical arms of the navy.

Mr. Claxton said all candidates must have a minimum nine months' satisfactory service in the regular force and the equivalent of senior matriculation. This qualification can be obtained in courses within the service.

For this year, candidates for university training must be under 25 as at June 30. This age will be reduced annually by one year until it reaches 23. For entry to the service colleges, candidates must be unmarried and under 21. This age limit will be reduced to 20 next year.

Will Go Ahead With Conference

LONDON, May 28.—(Reuters).—Authoritative quarters here today said plans for an autumn conference of Dominion leaders will go forward, so far as Britain is concerned, regardless of post-election changes in the composition of the South African government.

The ideal composition of the conference would be a complete muster of Dominion Prime Ministers, but political observers recognize that there might be difficulties.

Dr. Daniel Malan, who will succeed Gen. Smuts in the Premiership of South Africa, may have domestic preoccupations making it impossible for him to leave the country for some time. Impending retirement of Prime Minister Mackenzie King equally leave a large question mark about Canada's representative. Domestic responsibilities of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan are also regarded as great.

Golden Wedding Saturday To Be Happy Family Party

Lifelong residents of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ranger, 276 Romaine St. are celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary on Saturday, May 29. For the gala occasion they will be surrounded by relatives and friends, many of whom are travelling some distance to be with them.

Looking back over the half-century since their marriage at St. Peter's Cathedral on May 30, 1898 the couple could recall only pleasing incidents in a congenial happy life together. Until he retired with a pension one year ago, Mr. Ranger was an employee of Canada Packers Limited and took keen interest and enjoyment in his work for 45 years.

In sports his greatest interest is in lacrosse and baseball and he misses few local games. In earlier years, Mr. Ranger played with the senior Peter lacrosse team and played baseball for the CPC.

In winter time he favors hockey but was never more than a spectator of this game. Now, with plenty of time at his disposal the genial groom of 50 years ago, plans lots of fishing expeditions.

A past master in this art, it is evident he knows where to find the big ones, in local waters and farther north, but he has only dipped his bait once this year, feeling that it has been too cold for good fishing.

Mrs. Ranger is the former Louise Rishes, both families being descendants of French settlers in Quebec. Their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Moses Ranger and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rishes, all of Peterborough. She was a member of the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society of Sacred Heart Church, but her interests have been mainly centred in her home.

Celebrations on Saturday will commence with a breakfast at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, attended by their family and guests, followed by a dinner party at their residence. From two to four in the afternoon they will be "at home" to their friends.

The couple have two sons, Harry of Peterborough, and Wilfred of Detroit. A daughter, Evelyn, died nine years ago. They also have seven grandchildren, Paul Ranger, Carl and Marie Heath, of Peterborough, Jackeline, Jimmie and Joey Ranger of Detroit, and Miss Phyllis Heath of Ottawa. Two sisters of Mr. Ranger in the city are Mrs. Nelson Feeley and Mrs. Jack Feeley.

Mr. Amel Rishes of Peterborough is a brother of Mr. Ranger. Others expected to be present for the anniversary are the Rev. Leo Rishes of Woolley; Mrs. Frederick Rishes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry LaConte, Mr. Anthony Ranger, Mrs. J. Houlihan, Mrs. Oliver Guerrier, all of Rochester; Mrs. Wilfred Ranger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goble of Detroit, and Mrs. L. Jones of Toronto.

son gave the temperance talk, assisted by several members. After leading in prayer, Mrs. E. Alton asked for volunteers to collect for the Bible Society and a number of members offered their services. She then took charge of the devotional period. Mrs. M. Stockdale read the scripture with responsive replies. Short readings were given by Mrs. J. Finnie and Mrs. Knox.

Mrs. J. Ellis contributed a pleasing piano solo. In a talk on the Bible, Mrs. E. Boorman spoke of the sacrifices made by so many to give the testament to others. The meeting closed with prayer.

Veterans' Meeting
C.G.E. Ex-Servicemen's Club held a smoker on Thursday evening at the Legion Hall. John Ridley, chairman of the entertainment committee, presided. Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion served lunch.

Honor Bride-Elect
Mrs. W. G. Gunn, Stewart St., opened her home for a delightful party given by Mrs. Neil Jewell and Mrs. Rose Gunn in honor of Miss Dorothy Carr, June bride-elect. Mrs. R. Williamson To Head ORMTA

Annual dinner meeting of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association, Peterborough branch, was held Wednesday evening in the Empress Hotel. Tall yellow tulips were the festive table decorations. Retiring president, Mrs. Cecil Searles presided.

A pleasing highlight was the performance of two violin solos by Daffy Langmuir, this year's winner of the Glidden Memorial Scholarship. He played "Sonata" by Nandel and "Lezardas" by Monte. Miss Moss Cox congratulated the young student on his ability and presented the engraved certificate.

Following a short business meeting, the election of officers took place with Mrs. E. Johnston in the chair. The new executive members are: president, Mrs. Ross Williamson; first vice president, Mr. Charles Allen; second vice president, Elsie Chambers Flett; treasurer, Mrs. W. L. McNeil; recording secretary, Mrs. J. L. Smith; corresponding secretary, Miss Alma Blanchard.

On taking over her new office, Mrs. Williamson expressed the opinion that the Music Teachers' Association performs a very real service to the community in teaching and promoting music, although it is not primarily known as a service club. She urged the teachers to always maintain the present high standards and ideals of their profession.

Musical contests were enjoyed with Mrs. J. L. Smith acting in the capacity of master of ceremonies.

High Tea Given Delegates By Life Members Club

High tea, courtesy of the Life Members Club of Peterborough, Local Council of Women, was the opening social event of the semi-annual meeting of Ontario Provincial Council of Women, being held in Peterborough this week-end. Mrs. F. Merrett, president, received the out-of-town delegates and guests in the parlors of St. John's Parish Hall at five o'clock on Thursday. She was assisted by Mrs. W. Addyman, president of Peterborough Local Council of Women.

In the tea room a charmingly arranged central table was laid for buffet serving. Mrs. Jas. Dutton, a former president of Peterborough Local Council of Women presided at the tea. The table cloth used for this occasion was embossed, white linen with dainty rose centre design and bouquets at either side effectively combined red roses with pink snapdragon. A central candelabra held rainbow-colored tapers whose golden flames lent enchantment to the scene.

Quartette tables were tastefully tired to the music room for entertainment arranged by Miss M. King, Mrs. G. Samson, Messrs. P. D. Windrim, R. Rutherford and J. Anderson. Mrs. E. Foster was the pianist for the program.

DOROTHY DIX

Tea Party Tightwads Should Be Scorned by Other Women

Dear Miss Dix: We have two women friends who are very wealthy. They have a lovely home and two cars, but for all that they are grafters. They accept invitations to luncheons, bridge parties, etc., but they never feel that they are called on to entertain. They always use the other fellow's car.

Everyone is expected to do nice things for them, but they never do anything for anyone else.

The friends of these women are getting mighty tired of being used and have about decided to drop them unless they show more willingness to do their part. Don't you think we are right?

SISTERS

ANSWER: I certainly do. Selfishness should be met with selfishness. The friends of these women should be just as selfish as they are and refuse to be victimized by them. There is no merit in suffering yourself to be held up and robbed. Rather, it is a weakness and cowardice to submit to it.

The people who live selfish and self-centered lives, who never go out of their way to do a kindness, who never give a dollar to one in need, who never trouble themselves to write a word of congratulation or sympathy, who never sacrifice themselves for another, who never do their part in any way, soon find that they have no friends and that they are very lonely. But they are getting their just deserts.

Extravagant Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married man with two lovely daughters. I earn a fair salary, but the trouble is that my wife keeps me head over heels in debt because she has a perfect mania for buying the children expensive clothes. If the girls next door get a new dress, she immediately goes out and buys one a little finer for our girls, even if she has to use DELICATE AND CHARMING—Basking in the spotlight of popular favor this season is delicate, finely-wrought fashion jewelry, the sort of thing that some very smart women prefer to the big pieces. This lace feminine set, is patterned after the French. The delicately interwoven necklace is gold, finished and accented with tiny rhinestones. The matching earrings and bracelet complete a flattering ensemble, a nice way to animate a simple dinner dress.

the grocery money to do it. Now I like for my daughters to be well-dressed, but this being constantly in debt is driving me crazy. What can I do about it?

WORRIED

ANSWER: Doubtless it is natural for a mother who thinks her children far more beautiful than other children to want to deck them out in finery. So far as that goes, we would all like to have the luxuries of millionaires, but we are bound by the limits of our purse and both good taste and good sense bid us respect it.

Your wife is a very silly woman to try to compete in dress with people who are better off than she is. More families have been ruined through trying to keep up with their neighbors than by any other cause in the world. Perhaps if you can make your wife see that if she persists in spending the grocery money on the children's clothes that she will ruin their health and turn them into undernourished, sickly girls, she will come to realize how wrong she is.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman 40 years old. Have let my chances for marrying go by, waiting for I don't know what. Now I am lonely and I would like to marry a widower and be the mother of his children, as I love youngsters. What would you say to my advertising for husband? LONELY

ANSWER: I don't think the kind of a man who answered your "husband wanted" advertisement would be the type of man who would make you happy. I don't think he would have very much respect for you, either, or value you very highly. But your position emphasizes the fact I have so often made, that if convention only permitted women to seek their mates, it would solve many matrimonial tangles. Here you are, a lonely woman, yearning to give children a mother's love and tenderness and care. Probably the widower with children—would jump at the chance of marrying you and settling his domestic problems so satisfactorily. Only a silly convention stands in the way of this comfortable solution of the matter. (Release by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 29.

The lunar transits for this day encourage a definite and quick grasp of a sudden opening to achieve an important objective largely by an astute stroke of ingenuity or creative skill in which the element of surprise may prove an asset. Matters of surprising scope and magnitude may be abruptly moved to dynamic achievement, with surprising crisis and enhanced popularity and prestige. Seek collaboration from those in high places. The element of romance and adventure may prove highlights, so dare to deviate from regulation and beaten paths, prudently.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a sudden and dramatic about-face in their affairs, in which an unanticipated event or visitation may beget a stroke of lady luck, under which increased assets, expanded openings for exceptional achievement and innovation. Dramatic and thrilling events may swerve affairs into far fields, and with long-range adventure, fulfilled hopes and wishes. Ingenuity, skill, or innovation are in line for spectacular culminations.

A child born on this day has much originality and ingenuity, and should make a surprising success of its life, with an adventurous career.

COUNTRY CLUB CHOICE—It won't be long before the country clubs and the beach clubs will be operating in high gear. At such resorts, we notice that it is the simply dressed, which means the appropriately dressed, woman who always looks just right. Attracting attention, but not of the admiring variety; is one who wears a too elaborate frock, exotic furs, much jewelry and an over-trimmed hat. Perfect for daytime sports wear is this frock of white spun rayon made with a corseletted midriff and circular skirt. The wide belt is of white patent leather stitched and eyeleted in gold. The short sleeves and tab collar are fastened with tiny gold buttons.

DOUBLE BAD FIVE WAYS

THERE are five ways in which a double of a slam bid by an opponent may be bad. First, it may scare him from an unmakeable contract into one in which he can't be beaten. Second, it may tell him how to play the hand, counting on you for the cards marked by your double. Third, it may cause your partner to lead a certain suit which is just the suit you don't desire. Fourth, it may merely hand your opponents a lot of extra points in exchange for the chance to increase your own by only a few. Fifth, it affords them an opportunity to redouble if for some reason they find their slam is an airtight cinch despite your double.

30 SHIPS EVACUATING FLOOD VICTIMS

Forest Fires Slowed By Rainfall

Situation Still Bad Flames Envelop
About 20,000 Acres

By The Canadian Press
Firefighters got a break in the weather Friday and made progress in their battle with seven major fires in Ontario's forest-rich Northland.

Rain fell, temperatures dropped and winds subsided. It meant that, for the first time in several days, the weary crews were able to surround the fires and fight on even terms.

But provincial forestry officials in Toronto warned that the fight is far from won. The fires now cover more than 20,000 acres and may spread unless there is more rain.

"The areas are so large," said one official, "that anything might happen if the temperature goes up and the wind strengthens again. We need considerably more rain to make doubly sure."

The biggest blaze—both raging over 6,000 acres—are in the Nipigon and Chapleau districts.

The first is east of Helen lake, 70 miles east of Port Arthur. A rainfall of .22 inches Thursday damped the cut land and young growth, enabling the 150-man crew to patrol the smudge thoroughly. The situation was reported "quite a bit improved."

The 6,000-acre fire in the Chapleau district is three times as big as it was Thursday morning. It started during clearing operations for the Chapleau-Thessalon highway in remote township 8-D, and, fanned by a 50-mile-an-hour wind made rapid headway. Ten thousand feet of extra hose and three extra pumps were taken to the scene from North Bay.

Another big blaze, in the Missisagi district 50 miles north of Blind River, now covers 5,000 acres and is being fought by 137 men and nine pumps.

Other fires, by districts: Port Arthur, 1,000 acres; Sault Ste. Marie, 500 acres; Chapleau, 300 acres; Sudbury, 1,500 acres.

Fly Sandbags To West Coast

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP)—Within minutes of receiving an urgent call for help, army officials here Friday ordered 50,000 sandbags to be flown from an army depot at Montreal to the west coast, where rampaging floods were despoiling the Fraser Valley.

An army spokesman said the appeal for help came from civil authorities at Vancouver.

The RCAF North Star transports will start a pre-dawn trip to speed the sandbags to the west coast.

This was the second time this spring that the army has been called on for help. A similar number of sandbags had been flown to the Prairies which suffered heavy flood damage.

The spokesman said the army, in co-operation with the air force, had also picked up tents at the western command headquarters and flown them to isolated areas.

The tents were being dropped at points in the Fraser Valley where whole families have been driven from their homes by the surging waters.

On behalf of the British Tuberculosis Association, he also thanked the CFA for the Christmas seal

WANNA GET MARRIED—Dorothy A. Lawlor, 28 (above), a hatchback girl at the Midway Inn, Valley Stream, Long Island, is looking for a man with $10,000. Object, matrimony. Business at the inn is expected to improve, as prospective suitors come round to look over this prospective bride.

U.N. Stalemate On Palestine Appears Certain

LAKE SUCCESS, May 29 (AP).—Despite strong American-Russian support, a proposal for United Nations force to stop the Palestine war appeared headed for defeat today.

The May security council president, Alexandre Perotti of France, said he hoped to get a vote by tonight. The plan needs seven affirmative ballots in the 11-member council. Only the United States, Russia, the Soviet Union, France and Colombia have supported it.

The Russian-introduced proposal would order the Jews and Arabs, including Arab governments, to halt military operations in the Holy Land within 36 hours. Failure to comply could bring economic sanctions and the use of an international army.

If the strong-arm plan fails to pass, the council will turn to milder proposals from Britain, France and Colombia. They are briefly:

1. Britain wants a four-week armistice during which final efforts toward peaceful settlement of Jewish-Arab differences would be pushed. During that time imposition of arms and fighting personnel into Palestine would be banned. The Jews already have rejected the plan in its present form. Canada was reported preparing a series of amendments in a move to help its passage.

2. France wants the council to concentrate on stopping the warfare in Jerusalem. The plan would call on Jews and Arabs to cease fighting in the Holy City with a threat of strong measures if there was not complete compliance.

3. Colombia asks the Big Five to consult on measures to enforce compliance with two previously ignored cease-fire appeals from the council. Under this plan a five-power commission also would be set up to seek a peaceful settlement.

Spectators cheered Friday when United States delegate Warren R. Austin announced his support of the Russian "get-tough" resolution. It was the second time in a week that the two powers stood shoulder to shoulder on the issue.

Fraser River Crumbles 5 More Dikes

Expect Flood Peak
In 48 Hours;
Five Towns Isolated

By RAY TIMSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, May 29.—(CP).—A Canadian Navy task force infiltrated the flood-beset Fraser Valley at dawn today to evacuate hundreds of homeless women and children.

Families, some with hand-luggage, some with just the wet clothes they were wearing, waded knee-deep to the sides of tugs, cutters, landing craft and even whalers.

Thirty ships in all, including the frigate Antigonish, bucked the turbulent Fraser to reach the stranded and stricken flood victims.

Mission, the Fraser-south bank city of 7,000 almost circled in rampaging waters, loomed today as the focal point of the flood hysteria.

Meanwhile, on what land was still above water, a militia force of 100 men fought valiantly but vainly to hold sandbag dikes. The Fraser thundered over five dykes Friday night, crumbling them like so much paste.

Western members in the House of Commons described the flood as a "national disaster."

Cmdr. Owen Robertson, directing the mass evacuation, briefly summarized the flood crisis which spells continued devastation, disaster and peril:

1. The roaring Fraser will reach its peak within 48 hours. The navy is working 24 hours a day, shift-style. The onslaught of water is expected to be incessant for the next five days.

2. Agassiz, Dewdney, Harrison Hot Springs, Mission and other valley towns will be ghost cities within hours. Evacuation continued throughout the night. New centres are threatened every 30 minutes.

3. Attorney-General Gordon Wismer has ordered British Columbia's reserve army force of "500 and up" to stand by. The active militia of 300 men is being belched and expected to be dispatched at noon.

4. The navy has appealed to all civilians with previous flood experience to volunteer for work in the inundated valley.

5. Communication lines, railroads, highways and lanes are awash. There is still only one single rail line connecting the flood-ravaged province with Eastern Canada. And it, the CNR, is being threatened.

Nichomin Island back in the valley area near Agassiz, today was just water. Two dikes broke at midnight and the 400 families on the tiny isle fled to navy boats.

In the rich and fertile Okanagan apple valley, a terrific flooding of the Okanagan river has threatened the huge irrigation project near Oliver, pasture and hay.

Leaders Press Smuts To Stay

PRETORIA, May 29.—(AP).—Newspapers said today South Africa's new Nationalist government is likely to consider whether to withdraw from the United Nations.

The Nationalist party which defeated Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts in the election Tuesday frequently insisted in the past that South Africa cancel her membership in the U.N. because of the world organization's attitude toward South Africa's Indian question.

Smuts met with his United party leaders, meanwhile, to discuss whether he will remain in politics. Leaders of his party were pressing him to stay, despite the defeat suffered at the hands of the Nationalists in Tuesday's election. Smuts, veteran British Empire statesman, resigned as premier Friday. Dr. Francois Malan, 74, has been called upon to form a new government.

Free Americans In Fire Charges

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 29. (CP)—Three United States tourists were acquitted Friday of charges that they caused a forest fire by discarding cigarettes carelessly. They are Dr. Harry Luton, John Niemeyer and Henry Nieboir, all of Grand Rapids, Mich. Magistrate James McEwen ruled that the crown proved only that the men were in the vicinity of the origin of a 500-acre fire at Searchmont, 40 miles northeast of here.

B.C. FLOODS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE—This photo shows one of the B.C. homes dynamited in floods which are causing death toll to mount and destroying property which runs into millions of dollars. The Fraser, chief river of British Columbia, continues to spread disaster over its 740-mile length, causing a steady stream of evacuees to arrive in Vancouver. Meanwhile the Royal Canadian Navy is preparing to launch all their small craft in a huge "Dunkirk" evacuation of the flood-swept Fraser valley inhabitants.

Ancient Jerusalem Ghetto Now Just a Burning Hulk

INSIDE THE OLD CITY OF JERUSALEM, May 29.—(AP).—Jerusalem's ancient ghetto lay a burning gutted hulk today, its people all departed. The last of the pathetic group of Jewish civilians—women and children—young and old—fled through Zion gate, now held by the Arab Legion, shortly after midnight. They trudged through the shell scarred Church of Dormition and crossed over to Hagana's lines.

It required more than six hours for the shabby, frightened group, estimated at more than 1,500, to leave the walls of the old city and return to Jewish hands.

An Arab soldier fell wounded early this morning at Zion gate when sniping suddenly broke out there, coincident with attacks against Jaffa and Damascus gates.

In the old city's police barracks 294 Jewish men of military age were temporarily behind bars. From the Jewish military hospital in the burning Ghetto, Legionnaires helped carry 150 Jewish wounded to the safety of the Armenian quarter school.

Seriously wounded Jews, according to the surrender terms, are to be delivered to Jewish lines in Jerusalem. Others, if of military age, may be kept prisoner.

A Swiss official of the International Red Cross who remained with the Jewish wounded overnight commended the Arab Legion on its conduct.

"They carried old women in their arms to Zion gate," he said. "They slaved for hours carrying the wounded from that burning hell out there to this school."

The Legion blamed fires which raged through the night on Jewish mines which exploded from time fuses after the surrender was concluded at 2:30 p.m. Friday. Some troops also claimed the Jews purposely kindled fires just before the evacuation of the rubble-strewn quarter adjoining the Southern Wall.

The Legion said at least 80 Jews died in the 11-day battle with Trans-Jordan forces.

Jewish attacks against Jaffa and Damascus Gates into the Old City at 8:30 p.m. lasted nearly 90 minutes, then dwindled to scattered small arms fire with the approach of midnight. Flares flared in the sky. Legion field guns pounded modern Jerusalem.

Eric J. Mayer, a Jewish agricultural expert in England before he became a Hagana liaison officer, leaned wearily against the steel bars of his prison and tried to reconstruct the history of the battle which made him a captive. "Our fighting men were too few—our arms were too few—finally our position was hopeless and casualties were very heavy," Mayer said.

"We kept hoping for a link-up with our people outside Zion Gate. You see we had this link-up the evening of May 17 and got in new fighters and ammunition."

Arabs Ring Jerusalem City All Roads Blocked Launch All-Out Offensive

Thousands Locked In Bitter Fight
Along Tel-Aviv Highway
Lifeline For 80,000 Trapped In City

CAIRO, May 29.—(AP).—Arab troops began an attack today in modern Jerusalem. Jews, short of water and food, tried desperately to break a blockade on all four highways entering the city. Legion guns pounded Jewish concentrations in New Jerusalem, even as raging fires swept the ancient Jewish ghetto in the old city. Now the Jews in all Jerusalem are under a throttling state of siege that can be ended only by the opening of supply routes to the Mediterranean coast.

Thousands of Jews and Arabs were locked in a battle west of Jerusalem for the highway from Tel Aviv which could supply the Holy City's 80,000 Jews. The Arabs threw armor, artillery, planes and all the manpower they could spare into the fight, Tel Aviv reports said.

Jews fighting to break the Arab ring around Jerusalem could see smoke and flames belching from the rubble-strewn old city. Arab forces, commanding the Zion gate, led the last group of Jewish civilians—women and children, young and old, from the old city.

In the old city's police barracks, 294 Jewish men of military age were temporarily behind bars, waiting buses to take them to a camp at Amman, Trans-Jordan.

To the west in the Latrun area the big battle which may be a decisive one, grew hourly in the intensity. Thousands of both sides were committed to the struggle for the life-line road which links Tel Aviv with Jerusalem. Egyptian planes were reported taking part in the fight.

An Egyptian defence ministry communique said Friday night Egyptian bombers attacked and scattered Jewish troop concentrations at Bab El Wad Gorge, 11 miles west of Jerusalem, through which the highway winds.

The battle is being fought along a four-mile stretch from Bab El Wad to Latrun, key stronghold 15 miles from Jerusalem.

An indication that Israel's war machine needs oil was seen in a report from Haifa that the government of Israel had offered to guarantee the flow of oil products to the Arab states if they provide oil for the Haifa refinery.

A British informant said the Iraqi Petroleum Company pipeline which supplied the refinery could be operated at once, if an agreement could be reached.

A Jewish government representative said he was prepared to supply the labor to operate the refinery and also to train Arabs for similar work.

Benes Won't Sign New Constitution

PRAGUE, May 29.—(AP).—President Eduard Benes has not signed Czechoslovakia's new constitution, and there is no indication that he will, it was disclosed today.

The President's failure to approve formally the "people's democracy" constitution adopted by a purged parliament May 9 led to speculation that he may not continue in office.

There was talk in Prague that Benes, who observed his 64th birthday Friday, would resign after tomorrow's Communist-dominated single state election. This talk was plainly labelled as speculation, however.

Danish Princess To Marry Former King Michael Is Partner

COPENHAGEN, May 29. (CP).—A source close to the royal family said today Princess Anne of Bourbon Parma will marry former King Michael of Romania in Athens June 3. The princess will leave Copenhagen by air for tomorrow.

The wedding ceremony will follow the Greek orthodox ritual and will be performed by the aged Archbishop Damaskinos, the informant said.

Michael, 26, is a member of the Greek Orthodox Church. Princess Anne, 24, a Roman Catholic.

Last March Pope Pius refused to grant a special dispensation permitting the marriage. Queen Helen, mother of Michael, and Princess Margrethe, mother of Anne, had visited the Pope in the hope of obtaining the dispensation.

Anne's mother and her two brothers Prince Jacques and Prince Michel, will accompany Anne to Athens.

The marriage will take place on Denmark's Constitution Day. This is regarded as a courtesy gesture towards the Royal Danish house to which Anne belongs.

Monty Demands Streamlined British Army

CAMBERLEY, Surrey, England, May 29 (AP).—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the imperial general staff, laid down blueprints today for a streamlined British army in the atomic age.

In a prepared statement, he said the pace and scientific surprises of modern war made the old-style military machine useless.

"Now as never before," he said, "real preparedness is essential. We can no longer have a breathing space at the beginning of another war, in which to build up and train our land forces."

His statement climaxed a special week at this famed war office staff college, the annual training conference and exercise for senior army officers, all under Lord Montgomery's eye.

In the past Britain relied on two armies—a small regular one backed by the territorial army which was mobilized when war broke out. Then hastily trained and expanded.

"The old conception of two armies has not stood up to the test of modern war," he said. "It became clear that a new conception was necessary."

Vital in development of the new plan is a "regular flow of trained and disciplined men."

This could be achieved "only by imposing upon the system of national service with the active army an additional reserve liability with the volunteer territorial army. We have done this by requiring our national service men to serve six years in the territorial army after the conclusion of their 12 months active training."

Thousands Flee 15 Die In Flood

SEATTLE, May 29 (AP).—More thousands fled their endangered homes today in the worst flood in 54 years.

The United States death toll mounted to 15 and property damage soared into uncounted millions. Main rail and highway routes were disrupted and more were threatened.

An officially declared state of emergency existed in Washington and Idaho. Travel was disrupted in Washington state. The transcontinental main line of the Great Northern Railroad was cut by the Wenatchee river near Cashmere. Traffic was being rerouted over other tracks.

The main Columbia river highway east of Portland was closed by floods.

Bay Of Quinte Conference Charges Drew Gov't Returned Old Bar System

Delegates Urge Political Action
Again Ontario Liquor Laws;
12 Charges Still Without Ministers

SMITHS FALLS, May 29—(CP)—Announcement of ministerial changes mark the end of the United Church Bay of Quinte Conference here Thursday, but delegates found that because of lack of church recruits, at least 12 charges were left unsettled. The delegates approved a resolution urging political action against present Ontario liquor laws.

"We call upon all our people when exercising their franchise to remember that the present Ontario government legislation must bear responsibility for legalizing what is in effect the old bar system," the resolution stated, "without any reference to the people and without any mandate for the people."

The conference also heard reports of various committees, including the radio committee whose chairman is Rev. D. C. Amos of Belleville.

Rev. Bruce Gordon of Peterborough presented the radio report, which presented three programs during the year dealing with the work of the United Church. Radio editor of the committee is Milton Bell of Kingston, a theological student at Queen's University.

The conference also urged all people to support the United Nations by word and deed as the immediate instrument through

Oliver Forecasts Farmers To Aid Liberals

TORONTO, May 29—(CP)—The resignation of Dr. Thomas H. Hogg came up again in Ontario election campaign speeches Friday night with Premier Drew asserting the former Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission chairman gave ill health as the reason for quitting.

Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, has said that if his party wins June 7, he will replace Hydro chairman Robert H. Saunders with Dr. Hogg.

The Premier said at London there was no reason why Dr. Hogg should be any more able to handle the job than when he resigned due to ill health several months ago.

"I hope I will not be forced to reconsider his explanation of why he was unable to carry out his duties."

Premier Drew also spoke at Ridgeway. Mr. Oliver addressed meetings in Kirkland Lake and New Liskeard while E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, spoke at Welland and Niagara Falls.

In his Ridgeway speech Premier Drew discussed Canada's dollar position. He said that if the Canadian dollar continues to be maintained at par with the United States dollar, its external value will be reduced to a level where there may be "serious consequences."

"If it was sound to have the dollar at 90 cents (in U.S. funds) from 1939 to 1946, then it is 10 times more important now. We would increase our annual income by more than $500,000,000 a year. Then, as exports expanded, our dollar would move back to par on the basis of external credits."

The Premier said statements by Colin Campbell, a Liberal party speaker, that former Lands Minister W. G. Thompson was "dismissed" from his post were untrue. Mr. Thompson had to resign due to pressure of private duties, he said.

Mr. Oliver told a New Liskeard gathering that a redistribution bill should have been introduced in the 90-seat Ontario Legislature before the election was called. He claimed Premier Drew was aware a redistribution would give Northern Ontario more representation with a resultant loss of Progressive-Conservative strength.

Ordinary distribution of seats was adjusted every 10 years and areas which had grown in population were given additional representation. This had not been done since 1933.

At North Bay he predicted the Liberals would win seats in Welland, Niagara Falls, Hamilton county and two in Essex county. He said the industrial areas of Southern

New Appointments of Central Ontario Credit Exchange

MR. W. R. THOMAS

MR. N. G. HUNTER

Mr. W. R. Thomas, formerly manager of the reporting department of the Peterborough Branch of the Central Ontario Credit Exchange, has now been appointed Branch Manager at Oshawa. Mr. Norman G. Hunter, formerly in Peterborough for six years, has returned from Oshawa to take up his new duties at head office as Assistant General Manager of the organization. He and his family have now taken up residence in Peterborough.

Ontario would go to the Liberals — "not to the CCF"—and that his party which held 12 seats in the last House, also would win the farm block in Western Ontario. Mr. Jolliffe charged at Port Colborne and Niagara Falls, that most Ontario strikes are caused by reactionary employers who are not prepared to bargain "straightforwardly" with unions of their employees. He said his party proposed labor legislation intended to bring about harmony between employees and employers.

Popular Norwood Couple Mark 50th Anniversary

Fifty years ago on June 1 John F. Elliott and Alice Squire were wed at her home, the James J. Squire residence in Norwood, and for the past 30 years have lived in the village. They are celebrating their anniversary today, a few days in advance of the proper date, so that their son Frank of Buffalo and daughter Lillian of Arnprior, can be with them on their happy occasion.

Mr. Elliott comes of Northern Irish stock and recalls family history of his grandfather, John, who came out from Donegal to Upper Canada to Cobourg to get his land allotment. He took 200 acres of bush on Lot 12, Concession 10, Asphodel township, not far from the present village of Norwood. Mr. Elliott's father acquired a farm nearby where five sisters and two brothers were born. Until 30 years ago, Mr. Elliott had his own land in various parts of the township and even when he moved into the village to live, he was still active in supervising work on his properties and is still interested in farmers' problems.

Mrs. Elliott was born in Staffordshire, England, and came to Canada to settle in Norwood with her parents. She has many relatives in the Old Country still and in 1937, she and her husband took a trip, she to renew old acquaintances and relatives and he for the first time. Mrs. Elliott was very taken with London and says she would like to live there. As far as her husband was concerned, he was more interested in the country of his forefathers' in County Donegal where he visited ancient stone houses, one where his grandmother was married. He marvelled at the well-kept towns and countryside and the difference between Irish and Canadian farming methods.

The Elliotts attend the Norwood United church and the two former denominational churches that stood on the present site. He is a Black Knight of the Orange Order and follows the Societies' affairs with interest. Their opinions of the present day state of affairs is one of bewilderment at how much longer the extreme high living costs will continue without levelling off. They live in a very trim home known locally as the Squire House, a block east of the main village intersection. Mr. Elliott spends a great deal of time on his neat grounds that will soon have an excellent display of lilies-of-the-valley at a shaded end of the west lawn. The house and grounds will look their best on today's important anniversary, the Elliotts' 50th wedding anniversary.

Am I too old to buy life insurance?

The middle-aged man who asked this question feared that at his age the cost of life insurance would be prohibitive... but even were he much older, Mutual low-cost life insurance would still prove good business.

Unfortunately many people realize the importance of life insurance only when through age or other disability they are no longer able to secure it. A life insurance programme should be started as early in life as possible.

'Name The Budget Contest' Open To All Canadians

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL.

OTTAWA, May 29 — (CP). — Enter the "Name the Budget Contest." It's open to everybody. Opposition members of Parliament for the last week have been doing their best to outdo each other in christening Finance Minister Abbott's 1948-1949 budget.

They have given the budget such names as "The Black Budget," "The Sour Budget," and "The Black Douglas Budget." Mr. Abbott's first name is Douglas.

Lack of tax relief brought this comment from Solon Low, Social Credit Leader.

"It has been a delightful experience to listen to speeches in relation to a budget which has been variously described as an umbrella budget, a vinegar budget, a n alarm clock budget."

Said M. J. Coldwell, the CCF Leader:

"It was appropriate, I think, that the Government should remove the tax of 60 cents a gallon on vinegar. It will at least remind the Canadian people of a budget that is thoroughly sour."

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe) tacked the "Black Douglet, an alarm clock budget."

Oddity

It probably never happened before. It may never happen again.

Through an odd conjunction of circumstances Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) spent an afternoon leading the official Opposition in the Commons and the same night headed the Committee of External Affairs.

By convention, the chairmen of committees are members of the Government. But Joseph Brantette (L-Cochrane), chairman of the External Affairs Committee, was out of town. Mr. Graydon as deputy chairman, stepped in for the same reason he earlier had filled Opposition Leader John Bracken's shoes.

Foreign Affairs

Canada's mushrooming External Affairs Department is building a staff of foreign service officers of which this country can be proud.

The Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, dapper L. B. (Mike) Pearson told the External Affairs Committee that the calibre of the men taken in for foreign service since he war was "astonishingly high."

And then, with a wry grin he added: "They are even better than many we took in 19 years ago." —Mr. Pearson joined the service 19 years ago.

Are Your Municipal Taxes Down??

KNOW THE FACTS

Premier Drew in 1943 pledged himself to make substantial reductions in municipal taxes by increasing grants to municipalities for educational and other purposes.

HERE IS THE RESULT

Premier Drew assumed office August 4, 1943. The following is a statement of municipal taxes collected from ratepayers of the City of Peterborough in the years 1942 and 1947:

1942—taxes collected in Peterborough $752,592.32
1947—taxes collected in Peterborough $1,139,784.87

SCHOOL TAXES

1943—School taxes paid by Public and Secondary School supporters $273,603.00
1947—School taxes paid by Public and Secondary School supporters $398,267.00

MILL RATE

1943—City of Peterborough Mill Rate 30 Mills
1948—City of Peterborough Mill Rate 41½ Mills

LOOK AT YOUR TAX BILLS

While some grants have increased, grants from the Government to municipalities are in nearly all cases based on a percentage of the costs. Costs of construction and all other costs have almost doubled, so automatically the grants would increase. And, so have your tax bills.

BUT, REMEMBER

Revenue has been up in all countries. In Great Britain and even in Central and South American countries surpluses are reported. And, Premier Drew only passed back a part of the huge increase in revenue from gasoline and liquor sales, including cocktail bars.

IN ADDITION

Although he collected $25,000,000.00 more than he needed in 1947, he imposed a 3 cent tax on gasoline a short time ago (which will net him an additional $13,000,000.00 a year) and last week he imposed a 20 per cent. amusement tax (which will net him a further $25,000,000.00 a year).

AND NEXT

It is anticipated he will impose a provincial income tax.

AND WHY

Premier Drew knows he must supplement his revenue, unless he makes a financial agreement with Ottawa—and that is something his political ambitions will not permit him to do.

IN THE MEANTIME, IF DREW STAYS IN

Basic old age pensions will stay at $30.00 a month. The shop and industrial workers will be deprived of the right to enjoy the benefits of a nation wide scheme of health insurance. No progress will be made to secure the adoption of a plan of Contributory Old Age Pensions.

AND

The Electors will continue to pay high municipal and provincial taxes.

DREW MUST GO

The one man Government has been a BAR TO PROGRESS. In 5 years under Drew Social Security legislation has been at a standstill, taxes have increased tremendously and no plans made to meet housing problem, reclaim agriculture, to organize forest control or to implement urgent changes in educational system recommended in submissions to Royal Commission over 3 years ago.

SENSING CERTAIN DEFEAT

Premier Drew has directed violent epithets at his opponents—even to Ministers of the Gospel. Greeted by small meetings and heckling throughout Ontario, to meet the WAVE OF RESENTMENT he resorts to POLITICAL BRIBERY in a last ditch stand to stave off defeat. His promises of $1,000,000.00 grants and universities here and there to curry favour on the eve of an election indicates that THE ONE MAN GOVERNMENT KNOWS HE IS IN FOR A RUDE AWAKENING ON JUNE 7TH.

'Newfies' To The Polls

Next Thursday the little schoolhouses in the little outposts of Conception Bay will be newly painted and new Union Jacks will be flying over them. For next Thursday is an important day for the 'Newfies'. Since flags are flown to announce the arrival of a visiting preacher and each schoolhouse receives a bit of fresh paint at ordinary election times, the paint will glisten and the flags will flutter on June 3rd when 170,000 voters are called on to decide the political future of their land.

The fishermen and lumbermen and the St. Johns townsfolk have the choice of (a) Commission government for another five years, (b) Confederation with Canada, or (c) Responsible government as it existed before 1934. It is unlikely that they will choose to continue in their semi-colonial status, although Commission government (and wartime prosperity) has brought the country from bankruptcy and political corruption to affluence (Newfoundland-style) and governmental honesty (Newfoundland-style). The real fight is between the self-government enthusiasts and the Confederates.

Political fever is now epidemic among the politically excitable, insular people and the campaign has developed into an old-fashioned scrap of the kind known in Upper Canadian hustings fifty years ago—for Newfoundland is culturally, industrially and socially fifty years behind our times. Major Peter Cashin, enemy of union and leader of the self-government factions stomps the islands with oratory like this:

"Under Confederation (union with Canada) you fishermen might as well sink your boats and cut up your nets—there will be no work for you in the fisheries. . . But you will never fall into the clutches of the Confederates; 65 per cent. of the vote will be for Responsible government!"

J. R. Smallwood, the Confederate leader, gives him the lie:

"The Responsible government crowd are fighting a lost cause, and they know it. That's why they're so bitter. Confederation will sweep this country—nothing can stop the landslide for Confederation that will be piled up on referendum day."

And he dangles the Canadian baby bonus in front of them: "If we go in with Canada, see what you'll get for your children!"

Should Newfoundland become a tenth Canadian province there are complicated matters to be ironed out, despite the long conference in Ottawa last summer. But the majority of the people are not interested in or able to cope with complicated matters—for most of the ablest and best educated have emigrated to Boston or Canada, as they have always done. That is one reason for Newfoundland's retarded development. It is the people of Tilly's Island and Twilling Gate and Trinity Bay, the people who ask where you are going by saying "Where's you to at?" and the small-time, not incorruptible and not selfless grade-school moguls of industry and commerce, who will decide the issue. Before Newfoundlanders make a deal, they ask, "Is there anything in this for we?" That is the country-wide question.

Had Canada wanted to influence the voters directly it should have offered not an elaborate though generous list of terms but a new government wharf for every outpost. But Canada has properly stayed on the sidelines. All Canadians will, however, be interested in how the folk of the coasts mark their ballots after next Thursday's breakfast of Newfoundland "brewis" (codfish and hard-tack). It is for the Newfoundlanders themselves to decide 'what there is in this for we'.

The Next Prime Minister's Wife

Prime Minister King, a bachelor, will give up the leadership of the Liberal Party this summer. Soon after that he resigns his Premiership and his successor in the party leadership will become

Prime Minister. A quick survey of the field shows that the next Prime Minister has a wife at first base—be she Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. St. Laurent, Mrs. Claxton, Mrs. Martin or Mrs. Isley. Even the dark horses who seem now to be non-starters, have their ladies to groom them.

So for the first time since 1921 there will almost certainly be a First Lady in Ottawa. (Somehow we tend to elevate the wife of the Governor-General above that title.) The late R. B. Bennett had his hostess in his sister Mildred, but she was married within a year of his taking over the premiership. It will be a strange and good thing for Ottawa to have a Prime Minister's wife presiding over teas and dinners. A capital city needs a parliamentary First Lady to brighten and lighten its diplomatic and bureaucratic dullness, to give it grace, femininity and the New Look. We look forward to a revival of the Drawing Room with its curtains and courtesies, its trains and its fashions, its glitter and décolletage.

The Liberal convention in Ottawa this summer will be watched both by politically-minded males and socially conscious women, for not only will a new Prime Minister be nominated but a wife, who will be arbiter of teas and dinners and, we hope, of fine fashion.

The Defeat Of Field Marshal Smuts

The British Commonwealth's senior statesman, Field Marshal Smuts, was defeated at the polls in South Africa on Tuesday, and has resigned the premiership. Not only did his United Party fail to muster a majority but he himself was not re-elected in his own riding.

What are the reasons for this defeat? First, he is 78 years of age, and has been a leading political figure in South Africa for fifty years. Democratic populaces are fickle. An election appeal can be successfully based on the cry: "Time for a change". Secondly, the people of young countries are less concerned about their leaders' international reputation than in how they prime the village pump. It matters little to up-state electors that Smuts is revered abroad as a philosopher, a military strategist and a moulder of our Commonwealth (he even gave us the name 'Commonwealth' to replace the term 'Empire'). Smuts suffered defeat partly because his interests were broader than South Africa's. It was only last Sunday, in the midst of the bitter elections of his career, that he made to the world his profoundly important proposal for an Anglo-American alliance, an association of the British Commonwealth and the United States to "give pause to potential aggressors".

He was defeated because of his racial and liberal policy. The racial situation in the Union is so difficult that even a liberal like Smuts dare not champion racial equality. There are 2,300,000 Europeans (including Boers), 7,700,000 Bantu (aborigines), 900,000 Cape Coloured (a product of race mixture) and 282,000 East Indians. All these people live in an area about twice the size of Ontario. Smuts's United Party's policy was one of co-operation of Boer and Briton, continued membership in the Commonwealth, and a gradual raising of the status of the natives. This policy has been rejected.

The leader of the Nationalists, Dr. Malan, has become the new Prime Minister. His party's policy was to segregate the natives. Dr. Malan represents the old and powerful stern tradition of his Boer people—a patriarchal attitude to the natives, and isolation of the country from foreign influence.

Field Marshal Smuts merits a rest, but his rejection in his own constituency seems, to outside observers, an ungracious display of ingratitude.

Anglo-American Coolness

In the last several weeks there has been a slight but frosty breeze blowing between Whitehall and the White House. The Americans have been bugging E.R.P. pretty strongly but Britain has not yet received any money. She has had advice from the E.R.P. Administrator that E.R.P. is for free enterprise and not for subsidizing Britain's socialism. The Americans do not look with approval, either, on Britain making independent trade deals with, for instance, Russia. There have also been minor tiffs in Berlin.

A chief source of strain has been Palestine. Britain thinks the Americans have muffed matters and do not sufficiently understand why John Bull has not turned his back on the Arabs as stinkers. The U.S. thinks that Britain thinks that the U.S. is too strongly pro-Israel. Each thinks the other guilty of treasonable disregard of U.N. Now, however, the sun is shining again, the air over the Atlantic is warming up, and the breeze is balmy.

All mankind loves a lover, but especially the jewellers who sell the rings and the Department of National Revenue which collects the 25 per cent. tax

Trivia

By ALPHA

GEORGE Street may be an uncommon main business street and full of interest (for instance, I noticed the other day at a doorway leading to offices that one of the chambers was still listed as C.W.A.C. Recruiting Office—which shows that Peterborough is either well behind or well ahead of the times)—but it has this in common with most great and small cities in Europe and America: the busiest side is the west side.

Of the hundreds of towns I have been in the only one I can remember offhand whose main north-south shopping street was busier on the east than the west side is Aylesbury, England. Yonge Street in Toronto, St. Catherine's Street in Montreal, Main Street in Winnipeg, Fifth Avenue in New York, in Copenhagen in Denmark, in Toulon in France, in Stockholm in Sweden, in Constantinople in Algeria (but that is in North Africa and outside my unscientific survey), in pre-war Frankfurt in Germany—the busier sides of the main streets are the west sides.

It would be interesting to have a proper survey made. Perhaps readers of this column can name me a dozen cities with busy east sides to my half dozen with busy west sides. Why should the west sides be the busier? Do afternoon shoppers appreciate the shade? Do cities grow westward and therefore the newer and bigger shops appear on the west sides?

ANOTHER interesting observation I have been able to make is that in most cities the "west end" is the fashionable and residential section. Peterborough has its "West End"—though it is growing so rapidly that all ends of it have their fine new homes and prominent citizens. Toronto's west end (like Parkdale) has gone into decline, though farther west new stately homes have risen. Montreal has its West End—the City of Westmount and the sector known as N.D.G. (Notre Dame des Graces). London has its West End, so has Naples, so has Florence—likewise almost any city that comes to mind.—Paris, Breslau (which now bears the Polish name Wrocław), Helsinki (Finland). If it is not the West End that is residential and fashionable, it is the north. There are exceptions and there are cities like pre-war Berlin and several Dutch cities which are hedge-podges. The reason for the West Ends is probably that the east ends developed first and first have gone into commerce or decline. The movement of people and the growth of cities has generally been west and north from the Mediterranean and west from the Atlantic seaboard.

I AM getting away from my streets. Incidentally in these radiant and verdant late spring days the absence of trees on George and Charlotte Streets is very marked. Why should business streets not have their trees? They do not take up much room, and do help to relieve the pavement's drabness. If we cannot have them on George Street, surely downtown Water Street could afford them. The people of Berlin have a street named Unter den Linden—"under the linden trees", but it used to have no trees. One of the reforms of the late Adolf Hitler was to plant lime (linden) trees along Unter den Linden. We might copy Hitler in this regard with much improvement to Peterborough without being accused of having Nazi tendencies. We in Peterborough need another Walter Stocker—the late alderman who was responsible for the little boulevards, the trees along streets like Sherbrooke, the flower beds here and there.

STREETS have their histories, though many of the most famous are not called streets—it is The Strand, the Champs Elysees, The Haymarket, Whitehall, Fifth Avenue, Unter den Linden. . . . Yonge Street and Dundas Street (Toronto) were originally thoroughfares into the wilderness and built in the time of Governor John Graves Simcoe. A street is, in strict meaning, any paved way—a German strasse, a Dutch straat, a Latin strata. In Ireland a barnyard with paving stones instead of mud—or ever with mud and manure—is called The Street—pardon, The Shireet.

STREETS have their poetry. An urban dweller is most conscious of this when he is removed from busy thoroughfares and imbedded in the countryside. He misses the harmony and stimulating cacophony of the metropolis, the humanity unknown but felt of the streets. Mourners go about the streets, love is on the streets, lie, and the pursuers of happiness are there. Even nineteenth century Peterborough's Isabella Valancy Crawford, devotee of nature, could say: I see no flowers, but as the children race With noise and clamour through the dusty street, I see the bud of many an angel face, I hear the merry feet.

STREET terms have crept into the language. "The Street" means King Street, St. James Street, Wall Street, where men of finance barter stocks. Fleet Street is central to the newspaper world, though only one important London paper is located on it. Street Arabs are waiters. Street-cries of hawkers persist only in oldest streets like Glasgow. The "village street" has its own meaning and those who are on "quiet street" hope they have retired from the hurly-burly; they are not in the same street with commercial barons and corner-uppers even though they may be on easy street. They are not of course, "on the street"—a phrase reserved for prostitutes.

Which calls to mind a fear of local prohibitionists that our George Street may become a street of cocktail bars. The fears are wanton. There are not enough Peterborough people on easy street to keep cocktail bars in profitable existence—with drinks at 60 and 70 cents a shot.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

Women In Public Life

(MARY STOCKS IN THE SUNDAY TIMES, LONDON)

MORE than once have I been asked this question: Why have women not produced better and bigger fruits from the tree of their emancipation?

One can, of course, find a few outstanding women in most spheres of activity. That is not peculiar to our emancipated era. Constitutional monarchy, for instance, is a sphere peculiarly adapted to the special aptitudes of women, and here they have made their mark on history.

In the writing of fiction they have more than held their own; and the late Sir Robert Bridges once unhesitatingly asserted that the greatest of English prose writers was Jane Austen. In poetry and drama they have had less to show—as also in painting and music. In science the name of Marie Curie stands out like an Alpine peak set amongst the Pennines. One could of course run on; and the very fact that one could run on, naming here and there an isolated eminent woman, really reveals the barrenness of the land.

On paper, women's emancipation is almost as complete as law and social sanctions can make it. The success of the suffrage agitation has brought women into politics on equal terms with men. The Sex Disqualification Removal Act has swept away a host of legal barriers. The fight for equal opportunities in education has been won hands down. Even the University of Cambridge has now capitulated. Women have kicked themselves free of clothes and social conventions which hindered their physical mobility and have only themselves to blame if the yoke is reimposed. An inflationary economic situation prevents a wide extension of the "rate for the job" irrespective of sex, but in the Universities and in medicine it is well established.

Only in the House of Lords and the Church are women still regarded as in some respect sub-standard human beings. In the former case this archaic attitude is unlikely to survive any new reform. In the latter, it is to be hoped that the forthcoming Lambeth Conference may be persuaded, if not to repudiate it, at least to explain its persistence, which is otherwise unintelligible to the modern mind.

In academic life, where the fruits of the emancipation of women have so far had the longest time in which to ripen, they have been on the whole disappointing. This is perhaps partly due to "marriage mortality," which diverts able young women graduates into sphere of life where the conditions of academic concentration are unfavourable. But there is more to it than this.

Women by nature and training are personally altruistic; and quite apart from the claims of matrimony and motherhood they find it difficult to achieve that ruthless single-minded concentration on their own work which great achievements in scholarship, and for that matter in professional life, demand. They are much readier than men to bother about other people.

This is probably why, in contrast to their rather disappointing achievements in scholarship, the fruits of their emancipation in politics and social reform have been of swift and almost spectacular growth. For a decade or so before 1918 the energies of innumerable politically minded women were diverted into the suffrage campaign, where they learned the technique of political organization and democratic agitation. As a result, the various women's organizations which survived the first world war, or took shape after it, showed a surprising aptitude for team work and for astute apprehension of the realities of a political situation.

The tale of actual Parliamentary achievements by women is certainly encouraging, considering their recent appearance on the floor of the House. One remembers Margaret Bondfield driving through her unpopular Anomalies Act under vicious cross-fire from both sides of the House; Ellen Wilkinson shouldering the grave decision to raise the school age at a moment when, to more timorous spirits, pressure on the educational accelerator seemed an inexcusable risk; Lady Astor, dangerously exposed as the sole pioneer woman M.P., recklessly charging Horatio Bottomley where others—knowing his capacity for splitting mud—forebore; Susan Lawrence, a little puzzled by male humour when her perfectly apposite reference to an algebraic formula provoked the mirth of fools; the Duchess of Atholl incurring odium from Fascists and Communists alike because with feminine logic she was prepared to denounce cruelty without reference to the political colour of its perpetrators. There is a refreshing flavour of courage and independence about these newcomers in the political arena.

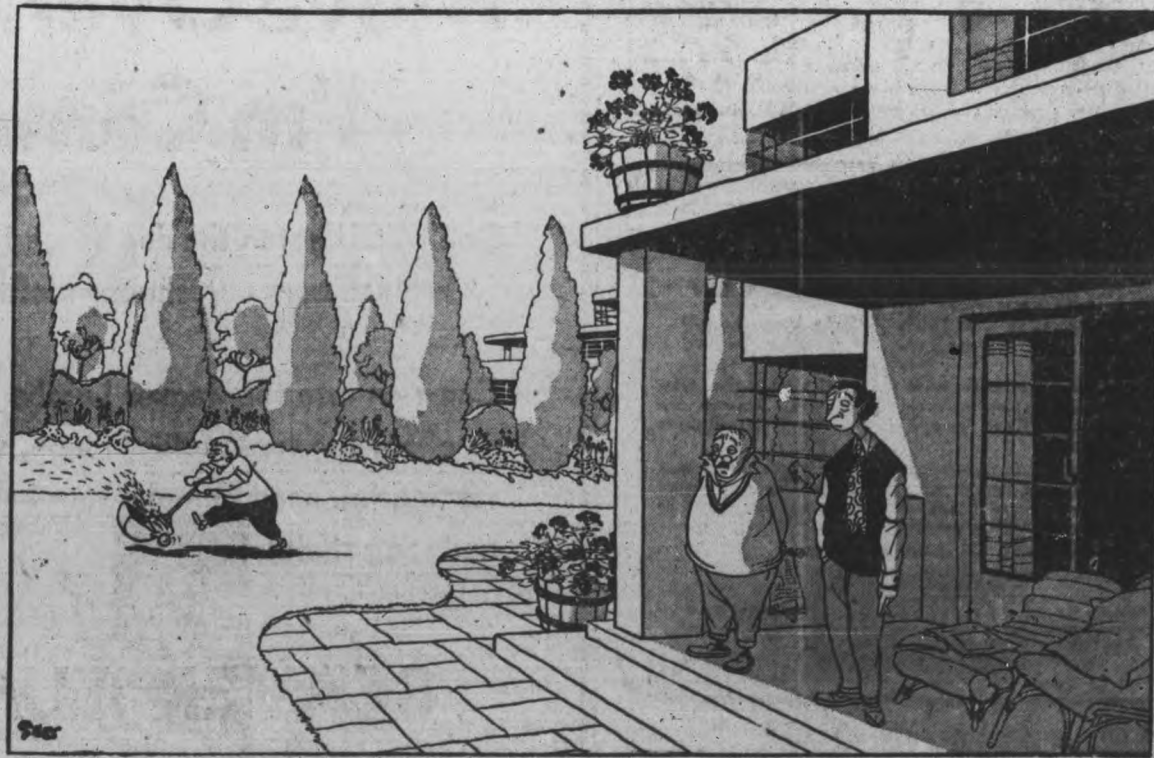

The fruits of emancipation are there all right. They may not be quite as diversified or even as colourful as our militant grandmothers expected, but they are very full of vitamins and the body politic can digest them with advance to its good concern.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven.

And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night. (Rev. 12: 7-10.)

And after these things I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia; Salvation, and glory, and honour, and power, unto the Lord our God.

And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunderings, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth. (Rev. 19: 1, 6.)

STURGEON LAKE, in the upper Kawartha chain, didn't get its name because some chap of that name lived on its shores, but because the fabulous fish, the sturgeon, inhabits its waters. That bit of information should cause some eyebrow lifting in the district, but it is a fact. Two years ago, one weighing 17 lbs. was caught on a worm bait. The sturgeon is not even listed in the game fishes of North America, nor covered in the game fish laws of Ontario, so far as I can discover. They are quite edible, though, and the famous caviar comes from the eggs or roe of these fish. Built along the general lines of the muskie, the sturgeon has no dorsal fin, and its mouth is on the underside of its head, indicating it is a bottom feeder. This fish attains a tremendous size and they have been caught up to 24 feet long. Many people holidaying at Sturgeon lake have seen these fish in schools playing on the surface of the water. The scales are large and resemble the armour plating on some prehistoric land animals.

FISHING DEEP with doughballs should be a good way to tangle with these monsters. There is always the possibility, too, that the angler using this bait will hook a whitefish. These are plentiful throughout the Kawarthas, but rarely caught. Two years ago Don Mackay, now a member of the Peterborough City Police force hooked and landed a 17-pound sturgeon near Pleasant Point. He had difficulty finding anyone who could identify the fish. Mr. Mackay claims it was good eating, and this year when holiday time rolls round, he intends to resume his feud with the big ones, deep in the waters of that same Sturgeon lake. Normally the sturgeon is a sea or Great Lakes fish, and they run into rivers, like the Atlantic salmon, to spawn. Development along waterways down through the years has trapped many that normally make their homes in the Great Lakes, so that they have been locked in inland waters for many years. These do not attain the size of their brothers in the larger bodies of water.

PICKEREL FISHING has been spotty during the past week, and for a few days the walleyes wouldn't hit any bait during the day. They took minnows readily enough after dark. Art Hann, landed a 9½ pounder at Burleigh Falls on a minnow, and his fishing partner Jim Tobin, got one a pound lighter. A few anglers claim the fish are hitting black plugs, and still others report good luck on black flies. In the fast water below Young's Point dam, the pickerel hit briskly on yellow streamer flies, but here too, they didn't start to bite until 9.20 in the evening. It is necessary to keep the fly darting and jerking to simulate the movements of a live minnow. It's expensive business though, because the rocks take a heavy toll of the flies, and these baits are expensive. Obviously the pickerel are still moving up into the fast water for a minnow feed just as darkness falls, and there should be good fishing in such spots for another two weeks. These fishermen who think a flyrod is essential for pickerel fly fishing are wrong. A good job can be done with a supple steel rod.

THIS IS THE STORY of a dead man saving the lives of two canoeists. Back in 1915, two husky young Toronto chaps, who hated the hypocrisy of modern living used to spend much time in the Ottawa valley and Algonquin Park section on canoe trips. One day they shot a series of rapids on the Petawawa river. As sundown approached they neared the last rapids above Cedar lake. Something made them pull ashore, and while one named Ed, chided his friend "Quirk" on his ability to shoot the white water, the latter urged that they sit and smoke a pipe before trying this last dash. Quirk leaned back against an old pine stump, and puffed on his pipe. Suddenly he felt something jabbing him in the shoulder blades, so he turned trying to make himself more comfortable. Across the face of the stump was a small board—a board telling that a lumberjack named Corbett had been drowned in the rapids and was buried there. "Look, I'm sitting on a grave," Quirk remarked. "That's enough for me, we will walk this portage; instead of risking the white water," his pal quickly replied.

SO THEY STARTED the half mile jaunt along the precipitous banks of Petawawa. Halfway over, they stopped and looked down on the whirling, seething maelstrom they would have had to traverse to reach the calm water of the lake below. Their faces paled, for halfway through the rapids, and hidden by the losing waves, was a sheer drop of more than ten feet. Because the walls offered no handholds, and because they were already weary from the long paddle, the two were certain they would have perished when the canoe plunged over that precipice. Two frightened young men continued silently on their way, murmuring prayers for that gallant lumberjack who perished years before. Truly a dead man had saved their lives.

IT WAS ALMOST SUNDOWN as I leaned back against a rocky shelf on the island below Burleigh Falls last week. The pickerel weren't biting and the warm air was an elixir, stimulating, yet soothing. I looked along a path of shimmering silver into the face of the setting sun, and breathed deep of the full sweet smells of spring. Pine trees were etched sawtooth fashion against the horizon, the inky black handiwork of the Master Painter against a canvas of molten gold. Here was the promise of another summer, three long glorious months—months in which the bodies of civilized humans can be restored to their former vigor and health. Tired bodies, jaded and unstrung by the manifold demands of an age that takes heavy toll of energy. How many, I thought, will be intelligent enough, to recognize this period of refreshment and restoration. How many will slow down, do a little thinking, be a little more kind to their weary frames? Or will they keep on, in this mad whirl of so-called living, dominated by greed, and selfishness, never knowing how beautiful life can be, once a person gets straightened out in his sense of values.

MANY MASKINONGE have been hooked by fishermen, casting in the fast water below the dams of the Otonabee. This is unavoidable, but there is no need for any loss if the fish are handled carefully and returned to the water. Following the spawning season, the muskies move into fast water presumably for a wash-off, but also I believe to feed on minnows. At that time the pickerel are up in droves. So far no cheaters have been reported, and with maskinonge becoming more scarce, every sportsman should strive to protect the breeding stock in the spring. Several large-mouth and small-mouth bass have also been hooked—of a tempting size too. These must also be returned to the water as the season does not open until July 1. Rock bass are legal catches at this time of year, and residents of the Peterborough district should try a feed of these delicious panfish. Americans consider the "rockies" a delicacy. Sunfish, perch and mudcats can be taken now, also.

TOBY WAS RESCUED. Ambling across the road in front of my home, minding her own business was Toby. I was afraid some fast-travelling motor car would make a thin pancake of this traveller, so I picked her up, noted her name (or maybe it's a him), dabbed in red paint on the shell. Tak, tak. Why don't people take care of their pets. So I carried Toby to the backyard and set her loose in the soft earth and the green grass, and away from the hazards of modern motor traffic. Toby, is a painted turtle, a friendly character, with several chins, harmless too, and if the owner wants to make a search, it is possible she can be located again. But even a turtle has some rights, and those rights include being left alone in her habitat.

One Inch of Water Each Week Needed By Garden

At least one inch of water every week should be available to garden plants, both flowers and vegetables, to obtain vigorous growth. If this quantity does not fall in rain, it should be made up by watering with the garden hose.

Water from the hose does not seem to go as far as rain, so more than an inch is actually needed during dry spells when most of the water is supplied artificially. This probably has a simple explanation. In dry summer weather it is hot and sunny, so more water evaporates than in cloudy weather, when it rains, thus making the rain more effective.

If this is the case, then it makes all the more important the need for getting water down into the soil as deep as possible. This cannot be done by sprinkling a brief period every day; that is bad watering practice because it moistens only the top few inches of soil, and encourages root growth near the surface where the soil dries out quickly.

Let the hose run without a sprinkler, so that the water falls upon a board which scatters it and prevents washing out a gully; or use a canvas hose which leaks all along its length and serves as a portable irrigation ditch.

But let the soil dry out between drinks. A good soil holds both water and air at the same time, he said. These are held in space between the soil particles, called "pores." When there is an excess of water, air is driven out, and the plants suffer for the lack of it. This occurs in gardens when water stands on the surface; and is the reason why quick drainage of excess water is so important.

A plant will make the best root growth when it is drying the soil down. When the soil is soaked, and the excess drains away quickly, fresh air enters the soil to take the place of water. The roots reach out for water as the supply diminishes, and vigorous growth results.

In growing melons and tomatoes, many amateur find that by sinking a tile into the ground near each hill, before the seed is sown, they can simplify the task by watering.

Water poured into the tile is carried immediately down to the deepest roots, and this often results in exceptional growth.

Old Palace Barge Served Many Uses In Early Days

By E. S. CLARRY

A perusal of reports, now historical records, of lacrosse matches played in this district in the early 90's indicates that the young people of that time had plenty of fun and that any hardships they may have endured in the transportation facilities between neighbouring towns had their compensations. In fact a lacrosse match was sometimes a means to an end. It was in some cases an incident around which was built a degree of gaiety, exercise and excitement which cost little money and made life worth living in those by-gone days.

The record of a match played on June 13, 1895 at Hastings between the team of that village and Millbrook makes interesting reading to-day and gives one some idea of the method employed in one team travelling to another town to participate in an exhibition of Canada's national game. In this case, however, it would appear that the lacrosse match was secondary to, or at least an incident in connection with a Sunday school excursion. And it may be noted that even these affairs have changed in their style in the past forty years. No Sunday school picnic was worthy of the name if it did not include a trip on one of our rivers or lakes by steamboat generally with palace barge attached. Of course the old Golden Eye the queen of the water transportation on our local lakes and rivers was sufficiently large to carry the biggest Sunday school excursion party, but the old Beaver whose home port was Gore's Landing, the Rainbow whose winter berth was near the mouth of the Trent and the Water Lily one of "Cutty's Line of Steamers" could not carry more than a hundred souls so that when chartered for a Sunday school excursion it was generally advertised as by steamer with palace barge attached.

The barge it may be noted was a covered scow and was probably used for several days the same week in transporting hogs from the south shore of Rice Lake to the packing plant in Peterborough, or carrying grain, lumber, or other commodities from one port to another. However when required for a Sunday school excursion it was swept as clean as possible, dozens of benches without any backs to them were placed in position on the flat deck and the covered hog scow was for the occasion described as a palace barge.

And so it was that when a South Monaghan Sunday school was having its annual excursion to Hastings on the 13th day of June in 1895, it was advertised as "by steamer Beaver with palace barge attached." The record shows that the Millbrook lacrosse the excursionists to Hastings and play the team of that village as an added attraction to the day's outing. The affair was an exceedingly jolly one and the Beaver with its palace barge was loaded to capacity. The port of embarkation was Bewdley and quoting from the record the members of the Millbrook team "got up at 5.30 and drove in Larmer's livery to Bewdley in time to catch the excursion boat" and the sail down the lake and the river Trent was a delightful one. The Ballieboro brass band which was engaged without remuneration for the occasion sending across the rice

Ancient Free Masonry Established In Peterborough 100 Years Ago

Free Masonry was established in Peterborough on May 17, 1848 with the institution of Corinthian Lodge No. 101. Peterborough was then a part of the township of North Monaghan with a population of 1,200. But even at that early date men who had joined the craft in the Old Land had come to Peterborough, and were desirous of carrying on Free Masonry in Canada. Corinthian Lodge was formed under the register of the Grand Lodge of England and it was not until 1859 that it became affiliated with the Grand Lodge of Canada.

George Cunningham an English gentleman was the first ruling master; Dr. John Gillerist, physician, farmer, store keeper and lumberman was the senior warden; Rev. Robert Taylor, fourth rector of St. John's Anglican Church was junior warden; Dr. Thomas Hay, physician secretary; William Henry Weller, lawyer, senior deacon; John Lesparance, merchant, junior deacon and Rev. J. H. Dunsford, clergyman and editor, chaplain.

The first place of meeting was in the Court House then the most important building on the town site. The lodge room was immediately over the present chambers of the county judge. The furnishings were primitive and liberal cost of sawdust covered the floor. Some two years the lodge rooms were established in the Oddfellows Hall on Rubidge St. now the residence of Miss M. A. Hamilton. This building was later sold and the lodge moved to a store on George St. between Simcoe and Hunter, later to the Sons of Temperance Hall and then to south-east corner of George and Simcoe St. where it remained until 1887 when it moved to the Dunsford Block on Water St. immediately across from the present market square. The lodge met here until 1902 when it went back to a new building erected on the south-east corner of George and Simcoe St. These lodge rooms were destroyed by fire in 1918 and the present lodge rooms were occupied in 1919.

Corinthian lodge after its formation speedily occupied a prominent place in the social and civil activities of the town. It drew to its ranks men of consequence in the community. Down through the years many members of Corinthian lodge have gone far both in masonic and civil life. William Henry Weller, the first senior deacon later, became Grand Master of Grand Lodge and also a county judge. Kivas Tully, an engineer, became honorary Grand Master. Hon. Thomas White was a member of the cabinet of Sir John A. MacDonald, and Deputy Grand Master; Hon. William N. Kennedy became Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba and went with General Wolseley and the Canadian Voyagers to the relief of Khartoum in 1885 where he contracted fever. He was taken back to England where he died.

A family that has been prominent in Corinthian Lodge down through the years has been the Dennistouns. Robert Dennistoun was master in 1850, 1855, 1866 and 1887 and later became a county judge; his son James Frederick was master in 1871 and 1872 his grandson R. Maxwell Dennistoun, now of Winnipeg, is the oldest member of Corinthian Lodge and was master in 1904. Mr. Dennistoun is a retired justice of the Supreme Court of Manitoba. Samuel Strickland founder of the village of Lakefield was another early member, as was Dr. George Burnham the first master of Peterborough Lodge A. F. and A. M. No. 163. Other prominent members in the early days were George Barker Hall, second judge of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. Rev. Vincent Clementi who for 44 years contributed much to masonry in Peterborough and district, and then in later years T.A.S. Hay son of the first secretary, E.H.D. Hall who for over 60 years was a leader in masonry H.R.H. Kenner for many years principal of the collegiate and Adam Dawson, Harry C. Winch and T.F. Matthews.

The six veteran members of the lodge are R.M. Dennistoun initiated in 1888, Harold A. Morrow in 1895, Roland M. Glover in 1901, John F. Allin in 1902, F.D. Kerr K.C. and Vincent Eastwood in 1903. A. L. Elliott, K.C. is the present master of the lodge and on Thursday night the 100th birthday is to be marked with an anniversary dinner at which the grand master and other Grand Lodge officers will be in attendance. The dinner which is being held in the new dining room of the Empress hotel is expected to be attended by 300 masons.

Excessive Whip Cracking Forbidden In Cabbie Bylaw

By NICK NICKELS.

Back in 1906, when there was no such thing as new-fangled automobiles for hire and livery stables did a thriving business, there was great dignity connected with it all whether the operator hired out cabs, gugges, landaus, berlins, carriages or omnibuses. The business was subject to rules and regulations in Peterborough, as elsewhere, and to learn what was expected of drivers in those days, one has only to examine By-law 4, Section 22, which says in part:

"Every driver of a cab or carriage shall be properly dressed and be civil and well behaved; and drivers shall not stand in groups of three or more, or in any ways obstruct the use of sidewalks, or needlessly snap their whips, or make any loud noise or disturbance, or use obscene, abusive or impertinent language, or molest, annoy or insult the owners, occupants, inmates or inhabitants of any house or residence, or any passenger or other person whomsoever."

Apparently there was no objection to drivers smoking in those days, and occupants were willing to put up with the smell of strong tobacco which helped defeat the horse odor. However a later By-law Number 16, Section 34, Clause C, says owners and drivers are forbidden to smoke when delivering passengers.

Horse cabs are not extinct in Canada, by any means. A visitor to Montreal will see a line of horse open carriages beside Dominion Square on the Peel Street side every day in the year. Famous Mt. Royal Park is open only to horse vehicles, and it is a common thing for visitors to go riding on the Mountain by cab in summer and cutters in winter. Down in historic Quebec City, the Place d'Armes in front of Chateau Frontenac is ringed with cabs, called caleches. Drivers will take their fares as far as Montmorency Falls across the St. Charles River. Most of them have Irish names and speak French only, a colorful combination.

It is not clear why there was a penalty in Peterborough in 1906 against excessive whip cracking, while excessive horn-blowing by cars at weddings is tolerated in the present day, although there is also a by-law against this sort of disturbance, as well.

Petes Rack Up Lacrosse Win Over Scarboro Grads, 20-8

Racking up a 20-8 margin over Scarboro here Friday night before 2,000 fans, the Petes coasted to an easy lacrosse victory. They had previously tied Brampton's "A" squad this season in another exhibition, Friday night's number being their second start of the season. They will soon be into scheduled fixtures in a group with Huntsville, Orillia, Oshawa and Scarboro.

It was a fair fray, enlivened by one fight, but the Petes' scoring punch early rolled up a comfortable lead. They were in front 5-0 in the first quarter, 8-1 at the half and 13-4 at the three-quarter pole. The visitors showed lack of practice and condition but kept fighting to the final bell. The penalties came in the third heat when McWhinnie and Dundas got it for roughing and then Poyntz and J. J. Hill drew majors for fighting.

Checked Back

The Creighton crew showed nice work both on the attack and defensively. They got back fast to cover up and give the Grads a rough ride coming in on the home net. And they broke fast, passed well for so early in the season and flicked some hot shots at goalie Armstrong in every period. He made a lot of nice saves, despite the 20 shots that beat him. And the Petes themselves were careless in checking on only one of the Scarboro goals. The pace was fairly fast and the customers saw some good lacrosse.

The two Vitarelli, Emmett Creighton, Foote, Bob Break-spear, Dugan and Gordon were all prominent on the attack for the winners, and all were in on several goals apiece. The local defence and goalies were good, too, Edgar taking over toward the last from Bun Hill in the hump cage. Fairley Marks, Jeans, McWhinnie and Poyntz were the pick of the visitors, and the team will be tougher later in the season when they get into condition.

The teams:

Scarboro—Goal, Armstrong; defence, Ward and Pattison; centre, Fairley; wings, Harrison and Digby; rover, Thomas; alternates, Marks, Fewster, Gillies, Jean, Fleming Carroll, McWhinnie, Poyntz and Davidson.

Lindsay Girls Take Win Over Lock Co.

Lindsay lasses took an 8-2 triumph over Lock Co. at the Bowl last night in their Girls' Softball League debut. Fairly big girls, they fielded well and had good pitching, which will improve as the season progresses. And the Lock Co. crew looked better than last year and will be a hustling, peppery team this season.

The winners got one more hit but had a margin in the fielding department as the losers were a little loose defensively. J. Bryans gave 10 hits on the Scugog slab as she fanned nine and walked none. P. Williams pitched six heats for Lock Co., giving nine hits and whiffing two as she waked three. D. Derry finished up. J. McQuade and J. McIntyre went good afield for the locals, with D. Palmer and M. Chase showing well for the visitors. They each hit a homer and M. Chase let the hitters with three for four. J. McQuade topped the clouters for the Caravaggio crew with three in four trips.

Your sports arbiter has a tough job at times but not too often if he is a capable official.

Keep Atop The Play

Snyder starts off by saying: "No matter what game you are officiating, always stay on top of the play." He points out that you can't catch everything if you lag behind the play. A lazy ump who misses a play and has to guess his call creates distrust and anger by players and onlookers. To keep on top of the play, you have to be in pretty good physical condition, able to run around the diamond on a hot day without being all in. Bill insists you must know your rules backward and forward, and carry a rule book, too.

Besides advising umpires to be cool and calm at all times—and not letting players or fans rile 'em—he feels that umpires should be colorful. Capable and colorful. When you make a call, don't mumble—shout it out. Make appropriate motions so that everyone in the park knows exactly what the decision is. Emphasize your concentration on the play. And make your calls most decisive. Don't, for goodness' sake, show any indecision in a call. He also thinks all umps should dress properly. Don't slouch around in any old thing. Dress like a big leaguer and act like one—and you'll be treated more like one.

Just As They Read

Two more points, Snyder makes. Check equipment before a game, like OHA referees do. See that the lines are laid right and the rubber and the bags are okay. Also, call the rules just as they are in the book. No private interpretations at all. If it's a balk, that is what it should be called regardless of what anyone says. He sums his treatise up with four rules, (1) know the rules; (2) be decisive; (3) call them as they are in the book; and (4) never become prejudiced against a player or team which may be riding you. This latter is important, we feel, as some players really ride an ump vocally. But as long as a player doesn't over-step the rules, ye ump should not try to even things. He should be as impartial as a court judge.

Lindsay beat Lock Co. 8-2 and Westclox defeated Lakefield 11-4 in girls' softball at the Bowl last evening. Two good tilts and the two newcomers to the loop look okay. Lindsay lasses should make quite a splash in the puddle this season and the Lakefield girls will win their share, too. Lock Co. colleens are better and scrappier than last season, so they should improve plenty ere long. While Westclox aren't as strong on paper as a year ago, they still looked fairly impressive in their victory last p.m. The champs will miss Barb Rome and Nona Whetung, and could stand another good pitcher, but they'll do all right. Wimp Borland is looking after 'em this year—softball-ically, we mean, as Westclox girls can always look after themselves otherwise!

Petes Breezed In

Down at Miller Bowl last eve, the Petes took a 20-8 lacrosse exhibition win over Scarboro Grads. The Grads lacked condition and the Petes had it pretty much their own way. Showed a lot of class in all departments in a pretty fair tussle before some 2,000 cash customers. Scoring was spread around and they back-checked well in a game marked with but four penalties given by Freddy Marchant of Toronto, last year with the locals. They're grouped next with Huntsville, Orillia, Oshawa and Scarboro, and they'll play next Friday here, either a loop fixture or another exhib. Bob Pearson has taken over the presidency of the club as Doug Miller will be busy enough as manager. And Clyde Cameron will be vice-presy since he hasn't the time to manage the team.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: O'Halloran's have a soccer match this aft in Lindsay. Four juvenile lacrosse clubs drill at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Miller Bowl. Congrats to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ranger—parents of Harry and Biffer—on their 50th wedding anniversary; he used to play ball and lacrosse. Industrial softball starts Monday with Quakers playing Westclox. Men's softball executive meets at 7:30 Monday eve in the "Y". Girls' games at the Bowl on Monday: CGE vs. Lock Co., and Woolens vs. Marines. Men's meecs next night: Comstock's vs. Knights, and Legion vs. Combines. Petes' COBL-ers have their postponed joust with Batawa in Bella Villa next Thursday night. Westend midgeets have a six p.m. workout on Monday in Morrow Park. Looks like the lacrossers will need more bleachers well before playoff time. And that washes out the week.

Westclox Takes Lasses' Win From Lakefield

Westclox damsels resumed their winning ways at the Bowl last evening when they took an 11-4 victory over Lakefield to open their Girls' Softball League schedule before a fair-sized crowd. The Clockers may not have the class that took them to the championship a year ago, but they still have some smart players. And Lakefield showed a lot of stuff for a young team in its first start of the season on a strange diamond. They had one more hit than the victors but kicked in with four errors, while Westclox fielded in perfect fashion. Lakefield rallied strongly near the finish.

M. Sloane went the distance for the visitors, giving 11 hits and two walks as she fanned four. M. Downer hurled six frames for Westclox and gave but three hits and two walks, whiffing six. L. Reed pitched the rest of the route. D. Nicols and V. Clements looked good for Lakefield, while B. Morrow and V. Dorrest (nee Toots McLean) shone for the winners. Jean Vass had three hits in five for them as H. Dunford had a homer and single in four for Lakefield.

The teams:

Lakefield—D. Bullock, lf; V. Clements, 3b; R. Boyce, ss; E. Boyce, c; R. Mahoney, 2b; N. Clements, cf; M. Sloane, p; P. Nicols, 1b; H. Dunford, rf.

Tag Team Match On Mat Card

Following many requests, Brock Arena Manager Jim Laidlaw has signed up a Tag Team wrestling match for his feature attraction next Wednesday. A team of the Masked Marvel and Jim "Goon" Henry will meet the team of Pat Flanagan and Earl McCready. If Pat and Earl win the Masked Marvel will have to de-hood. That probability makes for additional thrills beyond even the spectacular action always resulting in one of these four-man affairs. Flanagan and his mate are tops in the team action and the bigger but slower Goon and Mask look to be in for a spot of heavy weather this time.

Nick Vitarcelli will be given a spot on the card probably against the tough little Detroit Mexican, Juan Lopez. A third bout is in the making.

Relief Hurler Delights Connie Mack

By BEN PHLEGAL

Associated Press Sports Writer

Connie Mack, whose luck seems to be all good for a change this year, apparently has found the relief man he wants in the veteran Nelson Potter.

Mack's Philadelphia Athletics figure to have just about the best pitching staff in the American League. But Connie wanted an experienced man to play fireman when one was needed.

A couple of weeks ago the Athletics bought Potter from the St. Louis Browns in a straight cash deal.

Strictly a starting pitcher with the Browns ever since 1943, Potter has been used three times by Philadelphia, always in relief. He worked once in a losing cause, then saved a game for Joe Coleman.

Friday night in Shibe Park against New York Yankees he clinched the job. He entered the game in the fifth with two on and none out. He escaped without a run and from then on the Yanks couldn't move past first. In all, Potter gave up only two hits and received credit for the 5-3 victory. It was the sixth in a row for the A's who maintained their one-game first-place margin over Cleveland.

Cleveland stayed right behind by whipping Chicago White Sox 2-0 in Chicago. Don Black and Christopher gave up only five hits but were in trouble several times. On three occasions the Sox loaded the bases but failed to score.

Boston Red Sox slipped to seventh place again by losing to the Senators 2-1, in Washington.

A seventh-inning rally brought the Browns a 5-4 victory over Detroit and moved them to within three percentage points of the fourth-place Tigers.

In the National League, St. Louis Cardinals increased their first-place lead to three full games over New York Giants, although rain shortened their game in Pittsburgh to a 1-1 six-inning tie.

The Giants couldn't handle Philadelphia Phils in the Polo Grounds and lost 4-3. New York Manager Mel Ott announced he was playing the game under protest after a ninth-inning argument, but the dispute involved an umpire's judgment and the protest isn't likely to get anywhere.

Brooklyn Dodgers, finally caught up with Boston Braves and beat them 7-5 in Boston. It was the first time the Dodgers had turned the trick in the last nine games between the two clubs.

Hank Sauer hit his 11th and 12th home runs and Grady Hatton and Johnny Wyrostek chipped in with four baggers for Cincinnati Reds against Chicago Cubs, but the long blows weren't enough. The Cubs came from far behind and nosed out the Reds 10-8 at Cincinnati.

TRAINS FOR TITLE BOUT — Rocky Graziano, the middleweight boxing champion, trains for his approaching bout with Tony Zale in Newark, N.J., June 9, by sharpening up on his left hand in his New York camp.

Newark Scores Ten In A Row

By The Associated Press

Frank Lamanna, who decided to switch from the mound to the outfield in 1947, is proving to be a valuable performer for the high-flying Newark Bears.

Lamanna has appeared in four games as a relief pitcher for the International League leaders, winning one and saving a few others, but he has enjoyed more success in pinch-hitting roles.

Batting over the 300 mark, he belted a three-run pinch-hit home run Friday night with two out in the ninth inning to lead the Bears to a 5-4 triumph over the second-place Syracuse Chiefs.

The victory was the 10th in a row for the Bears and it stretched their first-place margin to two games.

The third-place Montreal Royals moved to within half a game of the Chiefs as a result of their 11-6 victory over Buffalo Bisons.

Jersey City Giants trounced Baltimore Orioles 12-4 to move over the Bisons into fourth place.

In a pitcher's battle, Emory (Bobby) Church of Toronto Maple Leafs outpitched Ray Yochim of Rochester Red Wings 3-2.

Yochim yielded only three hits but his nine walks cost him the game. Ed Sanicki, who homered in two runs in the fifth, singled with the bases loaded in the ninth to break up the game.

Bell Squad Victors

Bell Telephone edged out an 8-5 win over Grafton's in a Civic League Softball game at King Edward Park last evening before a good-sized crowd.

Both pitchers, Keith Anderson and Jim Price, pitched steady ball. Price injured his hand earlier in the game and asked to be relieved in the seventh after the Bell had scored once and had the bases loaded. Arnold Riches finished the game on the mound.

Greatrix caught a long, hard drive to deep centre from Livingston to spoil Grafton's chance of a rally. Greatrix, Gillespie, and Harrison for the Bell, and Lake, Taylor and Livingston for Grafton's were best at bat.

Grafton's meet Babe's Place Monday evening, 7:00 p.m. at King Edward Park.

Grafton's—Sheehy, Wilson, Livingston, Lake, Blackwell, Taylor.

CHAMP IS A FAMILY MAN—Rinty Monaghan, first Irishman to hold the undisputed flyweight championship of the world, is seen with his wife and three children outside their home in Belfast. The residence is in one of the poorer sections of the city, but the champ will now be able to afford to buy a house somewhere outside the city. He took the title last March by knocking out Jackie Paterson in the seventh round of their fight.

Name 8 Boxers For Olympics

MONTREAL, May 29.—(CP).—

Fifty-nine bouts, crowded into two consecutive nights of fighting, ended here Friday night with the crowning of eight new Canadian amateur boxing champions but discussion on the tournament will probably go on for some time.

The winners of the eight divisions of the C.A.B. will undoubtedly be chosen for the Olympic team, but selections will not be made known until some time, probably next week.

The trials provided a thousand and thrills, but dissension marred an otherwise successful tournament.

One boxer, middleweight Jimmy Crooks of Vancouver, slugged a referee, and two Ontario fighters withdrew from competition in the welterweight class in opposition to an official ruling.

One Olympic official said that the Ontario fighters—Larry Simons of Brantford and Billy Boulton of Oshawa—have made a full formal protest and the matter will be dealt with at a special meeting of the Olympic committee in a few days. The protest arose after Cliff Blackburn of Montreal was given a bye into the finals and crowned champ when the Ontario boys withdrew.

Montreal headed the championship delegation, with four representatives. Regina, Winnipeg, Victoria and Ottawa had one apiece.

The new champs: Flyweight, Joe Sandulo, Ottawa; bantamweight, Freddie Daigle, Montreal; featherweight, Armand Savoie, Montreal; lightweight, Eddie Haddad, Victoria; welterweight, Cliff Blackburn, Montreal; middleweight, John Keenan, Montreal; light-heavyweight, Ed Eastre, Winnipeg; and heavyweight, Adam Faul, Regina.

Says Premieres Not Like They Used To Be

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 29 (AP)—

"Yes, that was a big bash Paramount tossed for its picture this week," said the old-timer, "but it doesn't hold a candle to the premieres we used to have."

The old boy was talking about the glittering opening for "The Emperor Waltz" — television "it" everything — and the big supper party that followed. Even stay-at-homes like Crosby, Loy, Fontaines, Gable and Loretta Young showed up.

"But that ain't nothing like the blow-outs we used to have," said the old-timer. "I remember when Warner dreamed of his '42nd Street Special.' It was a big gilded train with searchlights in the baggage car and it took a load of stars all over the country at the depth of the depression."

"The train was in New York when Long Beach earthquake struck, and all the stars — Tom Mix, Joe E. Brown, Bette Davis, and others — were frantically telephoning their homes."

Played to the Hilt

"Warners played that special train stunt to the hilt. They took a mob to Dodge City at the time when the Dust Bowl was at its worst. Then came Virginia City, and I think that little Nevada town is still mad at Hollywood."

"The most infamous of the Warner junkets was the SS America jaunt from Los Angeles to San Francisco for 'The Sea Wolf.' It was a rough sea, and nearly everyone was leaning over the rail instead of watching the picture."

"Who could ever forget the 'Hell's Angels' premiere at Grauman's Chinese. There were airplanes all over the skies and the leather-bound programs cost more than the tickets."

Mad At Milton

"At the 'Patent Leather Kid' opening, Richard Barthelmess got sore when Milton Sills introduced him to the audience as 'a fine actor who has come back,' because Dick had had a couple of bad pictures. So Dick insisted on being master of ceremonies at the premiere of Sills' 'The Barker.' Sills even lost weight worrying about it, but when the time came, Dick introduced him with a glowing tribute. "Then there was the time Wally Beery came to a Garbo premiere dressed as Garbo. Yep, these new-fangled premieres just ain't what they used to be."

Denmark Anxious To Stress
Sovereignty Over Greenland

COPENHAGEN, May 29 (Reuters). — Although the Danish Government appears to be in no hurry to end the wartime agreement whereby the United States undertook the protection of Greenland, there are signs here that Denmark is anxious to establish clearly her sovereignty over her only colony.

Twelve Danish scientific expeditions have been given permission to make various investigations there this year.

Premier Hans Hedtoft has announced his intention of visiting "the northern outpost" this summer, while there were also plans for a visit by King Frederik. This has, however, had to be postponed.

This unusual Danish interest in Greenland has been interpreted here as indicating anxiety to keep before the world the fact that the territory belongs to Denmark.

The United States-Danish agreement, signed April 9, 1941, when Denmark was occupied by the Nazis, stipulated that it should remain in force "as long as threats exist against the peace of the American Continent."

No Combat Troops

Denmark has taken over some of the old, established meteorological stations and some of the new American stations as well, although United States bases are still maintained. No American combat troops are left in the territory.

Quarter of the size of the United States and the world's largest island, Greenland's inhabitable coastal strips are roughly equidistant between New York and Moscow — some 2,000 miles in either direction.

Although only one-seventh of its 840,000 square miles could be regularly used, Scandinavian air experts believe that possession of Greenland bases would be a decisive factor in any East-West clash.

Boxer Braves Smoke and Flames to Rescue Child
WINS DOW AWARDARMAND SAVOIE OF MACKAYVILLE, QUE., risks life to rescue 3-year-old from burning home

The fire had started between the walls of the two-story house in Mackayville, a few miles from Montreal. The flames were already spreading rapidly by the time Mrs. Prince had succeeded in getting four of her children to safety. Five of the others were at school — but 3-year-old Gisele was trapped upstairs.

DASHES INTO BUILDING

Running into the house the instant he heard of the child's plight, Armand Savoie climbed up the stairs through the heavy, hot smoke to the bedroom. The little girl had hidden herself in error behind a bureau . . . and Savoie had to crawl underneath the bed, which was blazing, and then grab the youngster from behind the smouldering furniture. The smoke had become almost impossible to bear . . . and both Savoie and the child were choking by the time they got downstairs and outside. The boxer quickly applied artificial respiration . . . but, in spite of his and the hospital's efforts later, little Gisele died the next day.

The gallant 18-year-old boxer, a member of Griffintown Club, who has just won the Quebec Golden Gloves finals in his weight class, and an Olympic candidate, deserves great praise for his heroic and unselfish action. We are proud to pay tribute to Armand Savoie of Mackayville, Que., through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Hearing that 3-year-old Gisele Prince was trapped in a second-floor bedroom, the young boxer dashed into the burning house and climbed the stairs through dense, hot smoke.

Armand Savoie, after crawling under a blazing bed, managed to grasp the terrified child and carry her, choking and almost suffocated, outside.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture — Jonah

By Alfred J. Buescher

The voice of God came to Jonah telling him to go to the wicked city of Nineveh and tell the people to repent or He would destroy the city. Jonah did not want to go and took a ship that was sailing to Tarshish.

A great wind arose and tossed the ship about so that all feared that they would be wrecked. By casting lots they decided Jonah was to blame and cast him overboard. A great fish swallowed him, but after three days he was cast out.

Jonah then obeyed the Lord, went to Nineveh and told the people that in 40 days their city and all its people would perish, but they repented and the Lord, seeing that they grieved for their sins, forgave them and spared the city.

Jonah was angry that his prophecy was not fulfilled and went outside the city to sit under a gourd, but the Lord rebuked him for his lack of understanding and unforgiving spirit. MEMORY VERSE—Jonah 1:6.

Strengthening Your Mind In the Time of Adversity

By REV. E. R. JAMES

I will lift up mine eyes.—Ps. 121:1.
This is from the Jewish Hymn Book. A devout Jew is calling to us across the centuries. He is one who has passed through much trial and tribulation and has made the great discovery that God does not fall the man who puts his whole trust and confidence in Jehovah. Are we, with a wider revelation of God through Jesus Christ, standing on a higher level? Is our faith more steadfast and more deep with a clearer sense of the nearness of God to His own children. In a word are we better men because of the revelation that Jesus Christ is the Son of God as well as the Son of man.

"I will lift up mine eyes." Have you a clearer spiritual vision of God in these trying days? What is your mental vision of God. The Jewish prophets bitterly opposed the use of images primarily because the idol never changed. Has your mental image grown as the years passed by. If it is the same as in your childhood days, to that extent you are an idolator. To put it more simply, you have not put away childish ideas. As a child you had a spiritual sensitivity of God. Has it grown. For where there is life there is growth. Do you find it more easy to realize God's presence when you offer your prayers and supplications.

"I will lift up my mind." Do you think upon the deep things of God. It is a shallow theology that despises the intellect. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy mind" is the command of the Lord Christ. It is His addition to the original in Deut. 6:5. The minds of the early Christians were gripped by the wonder of the incarnation of the Lord. God became man was their philosophy, which they offered to thoughtful Greeks and Romans. They had the experience of the ancient prophet: "Thou shalt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed upon Thee" Isa. 26:3. Your mind will be strengthened in time of adversity. "The floods arose and the stream beat vehemently against that house and could not shake it because it was founded upon a Rock, even Jesus Christ."

"I will lift up my hands." Let the lifting up of my hands be an evening sacrifice. Standing with upraised hands, palms upward. The hands are clean. Clean hands in the highest sense imply social righteousness. Are you just and upright in all your dealings? Do your workmen thing of your name with a blessing of a curse? The hands are empty. "Nothing in my hands I bring," teaching helplessness and want. "When they cried unto the Lord in their trouble He delivered them out of their distress. For He maketh the storm to cease and bringeth them into the haven where they would be. Think of this all embracing promise: 'I will open the windows of heaven and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it.' 'I will lift up my heart.' 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart.' When you have experienced the loving kindness of the Lord your heart will go out to Him in love and adoration. A great spiritual thinker was on his death bed. A friend called and asked: 'What is religion?' The saint summed it all up in one word: ADORATION. It is the interpretation of the moving word picture: 'The four and twenty elders fell down before Him that sat on the throne and worshipped Him that liveth for ever and ever.'

I HEARD THE VOICE OF A GREAT MULTITUDE SAYING ALLELUIA FOR THE LORD GOD OMNIPOTENT REIGN-ETH.

Intolerance Is Defined As the Evil Child of Pride

Scripture — Book of Jonah

By NEWMAN CAMELL

Intolerance is the evil child of a great and false pride. The world has just seen what frightful fruit may grow from the rotten tree of intolerance in the fall of a great nation because its savagely intolerant leaders eventually brought down the wrath of an enraged world upon them and the people.

Has the world learned a lesson from the fate of the Nazi experiment in intolerance? We do not know anyone but we know if Jonah, one of the Hebrew prophets of old, ever learned to really repent his own display of intolerance.

The story of Jonah is one of the most fascinating in the Old Testament. A proud and forceful man Jonah, having prophesied that the wicked city of Nineveh in Assyria would be destroyed, was adamant in his hope that his words of doom would be fulfilled. Jonah, as a prophet of God, heard the Lord's voice telling him to go to Nineveh and tell them that He was weary of their vices and would destroy the whole city unless they repented. Unless God was willing to give the Assyrians another chance but not so Jonah! As Jonah did not want to do this bidding of the Lord's, he decided to flee. He boarded a ship that was going to the city of Tarshish.

However, a great wind arose and so tossed the ship about that all on board were fearful of their lives. They thought someone on board must be responsible for the storm. They threw overboard the freight with which it was loaded, and then, as the ship seemed about to be broken into pieces, they drew lots to decide who was the guilty one.

The lot fell to Jonah, and they asked him what evil he had done that this calamity had befallen them. "Whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?" Jonah answered that he was a Hebrew, who feared God. His shipmates learned that Jonah was fleeing from the presence of God, and asked what they should do with him. Jonah told them to cast him into the sea—which they did.

A great fish was lurking near by and Jonah was swallowed by the creature and remained inside of it for three days and three nights, praying to God for deliverance. On the fourth day the great fish cast Jonah forth onto dry land, and the voice of God came again, telling him to go to Nineveh and warn the people to repent. This time Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, and when he entered the city he cried, "Yet 40 days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown."

MEMORY VERSE
"What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, call upon thy God, if so be that God will think upon us, that we perish not."—Jonah 1:6.

The people were terrified and the king commanded that all put on sackcloth and fast—from the least to the greatest—and cry mightily unto God, asking forgiveness of their sins. They did so and when the Lord saw that they turned from their evil ways, He forgave them.

When Jonah saw that his prophecy was not to be fulfilled, he was very angry. Apparently, he had no conception of the innocent people in that great city who would perish because of the sins of the few. Jonah told the Lord that he had feared that what had happened might happen because he knew God was gracious and merciful and might repent his edict and forgive the sinners.

The Lord said, "Dost thou well to be angry?" Jonah answered, "I do well to be angry, even unto death." And he went and sat outside the city, made a booth, that he might sit in its shadow and see what happened to the city.

The Lord made a large gourd grow over his head to shade him from the hot sun, and Jonah was grateful, but when the morning rose a worm destroyed the gourd, and the heat was intense and a great east wind arose, so that Jonah fainted, and wanted to die.

Then the Lord said, "Thou had pity for the gourd, for which thou hast not labored, neither madest it grow; which came up in a night, and perished in a night. And should not I spare Nineveh, that great city, wherein are more than six score thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand?"

The story ends there. We are not told whether Jonah realized how wicked he had been in his pride over his position and his unfulfilled prophecy; whether he ever came to realize that innocent persons had been spared a cruel death. Also we are not told if he had learned the lesson that all God's children are precious in His sight and are entitled to His love and forgiveness. (Distributed by King Features, Inc.)

Big Increase In American Business In Canada Expected From New Law

More American dollars will be spent in Canada this year by tourists, as a result of a new bill signed by President Truman. The new law now "permits United States" travellers abroad to bring home $400 worth of goods duty free. For 50 years they have been permitted to bring home goods to the value of $100 without paying duty.

The Business men's Association and Peterborough Chamber of Commerce are notifying merchants of the new regulations. They are arranging for cards to be displayed in stores for the benefit of tourists, and wish to make all managers and clerks aware of the new law.

James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was of the opinion that, "This will mean literally thousands of dollars extra business for Peterborough merchants, in that it permits a couple to take back $800 worth of Canadian goods, as against $200 under the previous regulations."

Several American tourists passing through Peterborough were asked what their reactions were to the new regulations. None of them had heard of the change which now quadruples the value of their Canadian purchases.

When informed of the details they all expressed approval but none were sure that they would take full advantage of it.

"By the time we finish our holiday we'll be lucky to have $100," said an Ohio housewife. Her husband, who declined to give his name, said he wanted to buy a suit while in Canada. That along with "a number of other things" he felt would boost him over the $100 mark and thus the new law would help him.

A New York couple said they hadn't heard of the matter and as they were staying in Ontario until October, they were not concerned with it at the moment. "We'll see when the time comes," the driver commented.

Clerk Says Peterborough Housing Costs Reasonable

Referring to a Brantford comment that government houses had cost that city somewhere between $300,000 and $400,000, City Clerk Outram said today: "It is something that is difficult to compute, but I certainly don't think our housing project cost anything like the Brantford figure."

I have attended meetings and conventions of municipal clerks and other officials, and from discussions I concluded that Peterborough was in a far better position than many other cities in regard to housing outlay. Their representatives used to say they didn't want any houses of that description.

Wartime Housing provided the land and services of all the first projects. Peterborough's city council had to accept by agreement the annual fixed payments of $24 and $30 a year in lieu of taxes. But, some of the cities got in late on housing accommodation. The urgency of wartime pressure had passed, and the need was different. At any rate, Peterborough is being asked to provide the land for the 200 houses the council applied for some months ago.

I believe that we got 560 at comparatively small cost to Peterborough. The council of those years was reluctant to go into this kind of housing, but when you hear about housing costs in some other cities you realize that our council, by contrast, did well. Wartime Housing one year even helped the city put in a sewer.

King George St. Options Being Arranged

City council needs 30 vacant lots for its new 200-house project, and is asking property owners on King George St. for immediate options. City Clerk Outram was this morning sending out letters explaining the urgency of this matter as a condition to the early beginning of work on approximately 90 of the houses.

The special housing committee of the council, of which Ald. Gordon Armstrong is chairman, had obtained options on a sufficient number of lots in the Caddy-Beverly section of Ashburnham. When Central Mortgage plan for Peterborough was held up by contractual tender exceeding the estimated cost, council decided to dispose of them to Arnold Steele and Don Eppgrave for their new integrated housing program for this year.

Council has 60 lots in sight south of Lansdowne St. but requires at least 30 more, preferably in one area, as assurance to a contractor of economy and other advantage afforded by a compact location. Mr. Outram is informing the owners of the King George St. lots that Assessment Commissioner Bert C. Graham will be in his office next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings to meet them and discuss the sale of their land.

Boon to Lot Owners
Actually, this is an unusual appeal to citizens, seeking their cooperation in willingness to sell as a means of assisting the council and thereby the community in bringing into effect almost at once a housing program for this year.

Most of the King George St. lots are said to be of 30-foot frontage, 10 feet less than the required 40 feet required by the building by-law. Property owners therefore have an opportunity of selling undersized lots. Central Mortgage builds on 50-foot lots.

Mr. Outram is stressing the community sentiment this request invokes. Immediate option will enable the council to give the assurance to Central Mortgage that the land is available for the first phase of a contract. Other lots could be purchased elsewhere for the remaining 100 houses of the project.

Mr. W. W. Scott, Toronto, who is in charge of the Corporation's negotiations with municipalities, was here Thursday, and reported that the Peterborough project would be in motion as soon as land is available. Units of location of the houses is a highly desirable factor.

Highway No. 7 Tourist Route

A suggestion that tourist traffic along Highway No. 7 could be increased was made in a letter from Westboro Board of Trade read at a meeting on Friday of the No. 7 Highway Association of Ontario. It pointed out that the highway passes through some of Canada's most famous wilds and natural beauties.

It stated that the route between Toronto and Montreal, via Peterborough, although approximately 20 miles longer than the much travelled route along the St. Lawrence, is fast and provides safer driving.

It was suggested in the letter that a committee be formed for the purpose of publicizing the route and finding ways and means of erecting suitable direction signs at vantage points.

The letter added, "It is understood that the section of the highway between Perth and the Quebec border, via Ottawa, is to be marked '7' also and this will facilitate direction."

A general discussion took place but no definite decisions were made. It is hoped that another meeting will take place in the fall with more representatives of interested municipalities present. Mayor T. E. Henry of Stratford, president of the association, presided at the meeting. Others present were R. E. Wilson, secretary, Arkona; Alderman Henry Sturm, Kitchener; Wilson Gemmell, president, Peterborough Chamber of Commerce; J. J. Doris, secretary, Peterborough Chamber of Commerce; Alderman H. Dods; A. E. Chalmers, city engineer; Oliver Scott, J. A. Jeffrey and Gordon Morningstar, Arkona; James Fraser, manager, Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

Complete Course

Closing exercises were held at the Normal School on Friday when 17 out of 78 pupils graduated on recommendation. The remaining 61 pupils will be writing examinations during the coming week, the results of which will not be known until late in June. The Ontario Department of Education approved the term record of those who were excused writing examinations.

The program on Friday consisted of brief farewell messages from the principal, L. W. Copp, and each member of the staff. The valedictory address was given by Miss Madeline Davidson. During the summer, the staff will be teaching at various summer schools throughout the province.

Cash Rolls In For Civic Arena

Canvassers for the Civic Arena campaign have been out and are meeting with a fair response. Some people, who have been waiting for the secondary rink project to get under way, are fulfilling their pledges now that the contract has been let and an arena promised for November 1st.

One of the special names canvassers turned in $100 from five calls. The Peterborough Kinetics have sent in a cheque for $50, and Westcoast Social and Athletic Club another for $25. Peterborough Collegiate pupils in Form 2 Commercial have sent in $10.

Stan McBride, chairman of the publicity committee, says, "The Civic Arena Committee would like people to volunteer for a night or two to help in the general canvass. It would be a good gesture if the fathers of the minor hockey players would turn out and help on this job."

Forester Group To Aid Arena

Ythylak, onUP C com-en-m a Youth Group of the Canadian Order of Foresters will undertake their first civic project on June 23 with their "June Moon Frolic" total net proceeds to go to the Civic Arena fund. The group will be assisted in their efforts by COF ladies committee and the direction of Mrs. Harold Hamilton as well as officials of the Arena committee. This June party will be complete with usherettes dressed in order regalia.

A meeting was held by the Youth Group heads on Wednesday with Janet Kearns, supervisor, presiding. Four girls ball teams, the Cubs, Beavers, Tigers and Orioles are managed by Dave Quigley, Hugh Dewar, Alex Reader and Reginald Adams and will open their schedule on June 14 but the boys' teams, headed by Arthur Reynolds, have not completed their final arrangement to date.

Chartered buses from Pickering, Oshawa, Whitby and Bowmanville will bring eight girls' and seven boys' teams to Peterborough as guests of the local Youth Group on July 17. Peterborough teams will visit Oshawa on August 14 and proceeds from games will go to the Arena fund.

Police Probe Report Of O'Brien Assault

Provincial police have handed statements to Crown Attorney H. Deyman, Cobourg, from Richard O'Brien and his companions regarding the Victoria Day trip of the S.S. Ontario No. 2 from Cobourg to Rochester. O'Brien is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken jaw and other facial injuries which he alleges were received from deck hands aboard ship who punched him and tied him to a steel girder in the hold. Police point out the incidents may have occurred in American territorial waters which would complicate the investigation. No charges have been laid by O'Brien.

Waste Surveys Suggested As Means of Saving Food

Mrs. James Roberts of Hamilton urged active interest in the Canadian Association of Consumers in her presidential address Friday to the semi-annual meeting of Provincial Council of Women in Peterborough. She stressed wise buying of foodstuffs and care in their preparation. It has been suggested to Council that they set up a waste survey in the cities and this matter will be dealt with further.

"We talk about divorce, drunkenness and child delinquency, but do we ever stop to realize all of this is a direct result of the housing situation," said Mrs. Roberts. "It is the right of every Canadian citizen to have a roof overhead for each family. Where several families are forced to live in a one-family house, life at times becomes unbearable. Modern people do not hold to the old-time philosophy 'What can't be cured must be endured.' Instead they go to the beverage rooms and cocktail bars and let alcohol spread a haze over their troubles."

"If we would destroy Communism we must meet the needs of Canadian citizens," Mrs. Roberts pointed out that some way must be found to provide more housing immediately if the Red threat is to be combated. A family is the greatest responsibility in the world she said, and there must be a good home and good parents to bring them up as good citizens. It was found that in nine-out of ten cases where boys are committed to penal institutions the cause is lack of home influence. "Perhaps there is some lack in our educational system too," she suggested.

Promotion of a "save the food" campaign to make as much food available for export as possible was suggested in the Canadian Association of Consumers report read by Mrs. F. C. Brunke of Toronto. Wise buying and resistance to high prices was greatly stressed and many very helpful suggestions for preserving and keeping foodstuffs fresh were included. Mrs. Brunke added several recipes of her own that enable her to make use of every morsel she buys. "Canadian housewives can save more Canadian dollars than all the executive planning if we use only Canadian foods," she said. "If you have too much food on hand share it with your neighbor, but don't throw it away," she cautioned.

Miss Grace Gordon, Toronto, convener of laws, reported on the inspection trip to Brampton prison farm made by nine representatives of Ontario women in their study of penal reform. The setting

Trust Neutral On Extension Of George Street

Morrow Park trustees will not be an active party to city council's application for a judicial declaration as to whether the trustees may assent to the extension of George St. through the park and exhibition grounds.

Neither will the Trust oppose the city's contemplated action. They intimated to a committee of the council this week that they would adopt virtually a neutral attitude on this question which was thrust into community attention by the petition of some four or five thousand citizens in the south end of the city.

Trust and committee discussed this matter again on friendly terms, and relations continue on that level. It was suggested that the council might agree to defer their approach to the courts until after this year's Exhibition, and it is understood that members of the council were inclined to fall in with that proposal as a gesture of good relations with the Exhibition and the Trust, while at the same time retaining their primary interest in the appeal of the south-enders of whom Rev. E. C. Moore was their spokesman.

PLENTY OF QUALITY — If it is true that "Genius is the ability to take infinite pains" then this house surely shows that prized characteristic. That quality of sparkle seen in the picture above is achieved only through meticulous maintenance care. To start with, of course, good design is essential. But then the house must also be painted and planted neatly and be generally well kept if it is to keep its glamour. In plan this house offers practically every quality that could be desired. All rooms are of ample size and there are closets in abundance throughout. The connection between the garage and house is particularly good. Omitted from the accompanying plan, however, are two additional steps from the side entry down to the garage floor level. Plans may be had from Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

transportation system or in other words the complete exhaustion of Mr. Larmer's horses the narrative concludes rather abruptly. They did not feed the horses at Bewdley hotel. How the truth of this statement was established was not revealed but evidently while the boys were cruising Rice Lake and the Trent, enjoying the refreshing June breeze, thrilled by the peppy music from the Baillieboro Brass Band; while they were wallowing Hastings on the lacrosse field, the noble beasts were begging for fodder by pawing the floor of the hotel-keeper's stables at Bewdley and suffering the pangs of hunger. They were, therefore, no more able to pull twelve or more husky young men from the head of the lake the thirteen miles to Millbrook without food in their stomachs than could a motor bus in this modern age without fuel in its gas tank.

Playing a game of lacrosse in a neighbouring town back in the 90's was accompanied by plenty of excitement both on and off the field.

Arab World Facts Filter Through

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. — The Arabs, none too politely, told the Security Council yesterday that what they were doing in Palestine was their own business. They rejected a Holy Land cease fire. They promised, for the future, to listen to the Council if —

And here follows a great succession of "ifs":

If the Council would advance a political solution (i.e. partition or no partition);

If the Council would persuade the Jews to cease all fighting in Palestine (the state of Israel has five times agreed to a truce);

If the Council will stop all Jewish immigration and all arms imports to Palestine;

If the Council will break up the state of Israel;

If the Security Council of the United Nations does all these things, the states of the Arab League will then consider the Council's proposition. They promise an answer within 48 hours.

One could admire the colossal gall of the small, weak Arab states. Never in the world's history has so great an organization been snubbed so severely by so few. One might deduce from their attitude that the states of the Arab League are in a strong position. They are not, as certain

Peterborough County Has a Worthy Representative in the person of

Honourable Harold Scott

Minister of Lands and Forests

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

When you re-elected Harold Scott in 1945 by an increased majority over 1943 you again showed good judgment.

When Harold Scott was chosen to be Minister of Lands and Forest in 1946, your wise choice was proved once more, and he had fully justified the confidence which you placed in him.

A MINISTER AT YOUR SERVICE

As Minister of Lands and Forest in the Ontario Government, the Honourable Harold Scott now has more opportunities to serve you than as an ordinary member of the Legislature, with greater opportunities to serve your interests, those of the City and County of Peterborough and of the Province as well.

HAS THE ABILITY

That the Honourable Harold Scott has the ability necessary to handle his job ... both as a private member and Minister in the government ... has been amply demonstrated and is generally agreed upon throughout the whole province.

The Honourable Harold Scott is highly regarded not only in this riding but everywhere.

ALWAYS AVAILABLE

Although there are innumerable demands on his time, your member has never been too busy to grant an interview to anyone who requested one, never too busy to serve you and this riding, regardless of political leanings. He is a true servant of the people.

VALUABLE SERVANT

The majority of electors in Peterborough riding have in the past shown their trust in Harold Scott in increasing numbers. It would now be a fine gesture to show the rest of the province what electors of this riding think of their Minister of Lands and Forests by renewing his mandate by a greater majority than ever before.

HIGHLY REGARDED

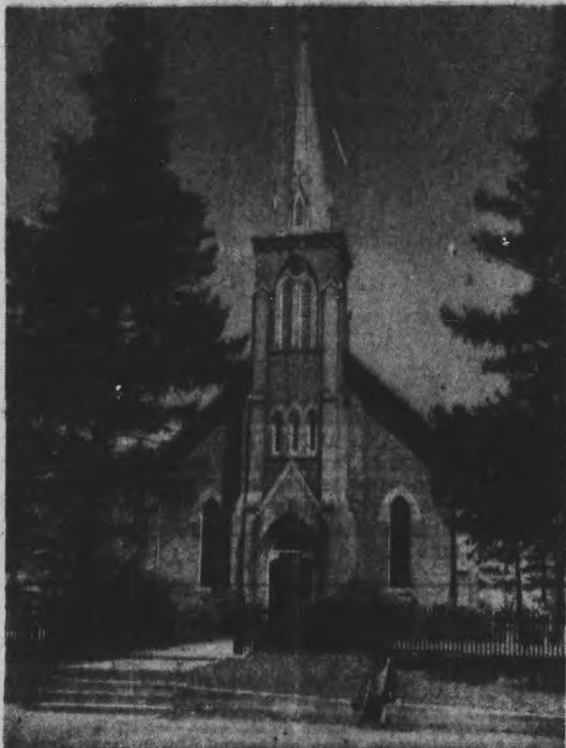

It is the general opinion throughout Ontario that the Progressive-Conservative Government is sure to be continued in office, it is therefore to your interest and that of all the people of Peterborough City and County that the Honourable Harold Scott should continue to represent us.

LET HIM CONTINUE HIS GOOD WORK

May we therefore suggest, ladies and gentlemen, that you let no opportunity pass to enlist new recruits to the thousands who have already placed their trust in the Honourable Harold Scott. Let us give him every opportunity to continue his good work for YOU, the people as a whole in this riding and the Province of Ontario, by voting for him on Election Day, June 7th.

PETERBOROUGH COUNTY PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION

facts cited here, will show.

Leaders Shaken

The following are some facts of life from the Arab world as they filter through the smoke screen at Lake Success:

Truman — The Arab leaders were shaken to the core by the reports of President Truman's meeting with Dr. Chaim Weizman, the president of Israel. What shook them particularly were reports of an American loan. They have long supposed that the arms embargo would be lifted.

Trans-Jordan — It would be an error to suppose, according to sources close to the Arab leaders here, that the Arab military effort stands or falls on King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan. Abdullah has long been on terms of most intimate friendship with at least two officials of the Jewish Agency — and the Arabs from the other states watch him with a certain suspicion. If Abdullah's campaign goes down—as it seems to be doing — the Arab League leaders are willing to switch the initiative to Egypt.

Tactics — Some Arab advisors are dissatisfied with the military strategy used thus far in the Holy Land. This lies in with the suspicion of King Abdullah. Abdullah, presumably, wants a showy victory and has directed all his efforts to the capture of Jerusalem. Other Arabs who want more decisive victories would have favored by-passing Jerusalem and concentrating the attacks on the territory of Israel. They are uncertain whether Abdullah is concentrating on Jerusalem was swayed by vanity—Jerusalem is a big name in the Moslem world—guile—the Trans-Jordan ruler might quit when he gets what he wants—or by religious feeling...

Tactically the only defence they can make for the Jerusalem operation is that it immobilizes about 20,000 potential Hagana effective.

Israel — Some pro-Arabs are willing to concede that the present military campaign against Israel will fail, inasmuch as it will not extinguish the state of Israel. What they see in its stead is a long, undeclared war of attrition, the sort which was waged against the early New England colonists by the aborigines. This sort of war is said to be more suited to the Arab temperament than a regular military campaign. It is a form of warfare which can be peculiarly unnerving to persons of European background as the Jewish settlers are. The alternative of an honest peace never seems to come up when the question is discussed in Arab circles.

Glubb — An old acquaintance of Major General John Bagot Glubb, the British commander of the Arab Legion, who talked to Glubb as recently as last February, is convinced that Glubb will stay with the Legion, which is his particular pride. If the United Kingdom government withdraws its nationals on loan to Trans-Jordan, this source is convinced that Glubb will, if necessary, forfeit his British nationality and remain with the desert army he has built. Others who know Glubb point out that in the little Eastern Kingdom of Jordan, second only to the ruler, whereas in London he would just be another retired major. Aside from this mundane consideration, he is said to be fanatically devoted to his Legion.

Outlook Brighter

From the point of view of the Representatives of Israel the situation, although clouded by war and uncertainty, was a good deal brighter than it was a week ago. The delegates here were encouraged by the Truman-Weizman conversations. Israel's second offer to accept a cease-fire order, conditioned on the other side accepting it, came as a result of these talks. Previously the Israel provision government had been against having anything further sistent now that this partnership in the Middle East must be based on recognition of the state of Israel as a fact and some Americans at least, consider it the key fact in the Middle Eastern maze

National Council Annual Meet This Week-end

OTTAWA, May 29 (CP) — With everything from housing to health and education on their minds, members of the National Council of Women will converge on the capital this week-end for a six-day annual meeting. More than 150 women from across Canada are expected to attend the convention, the first which the Council has held in Ottawa since 1934.

Housing, citizenship, child and family welfare, have been listed among the items to come up for discussion during the meeting, said Mrs. G. D. Finlayson of Ottawa, corresponding secretary.

Now in its 48th year, the NCW is the oldest of the larger organized bodies of women for voluntary community service in the Dominion. Its 49 local councils operate in cities across the Dominion. There also are provincial councils in each of the nine provinces.

Founded by Lady Aberdeen to serve as a medium in which the problems of the day could be discussed, the NCW has tended increasingly to become a forum or discussion body attempting to focus the attention of women within their communities and nationally on the general problems of welfare of national and community interest.

Viscountess Alexander will attend the convention's formal opening Monday afternoon, and Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Agincourt, Ont., will deliver the presidential address.

Canada's Tourist Industry Requires Women's Support

"More women have a direct part in the tourist industry than any other Canadian industry," declared Mr. George A. Martin, first vice-president of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus. He was addressing delegates to the Provincial Council of Women semi-annual meeting, and members and guests of Peterborough Local Council of Women following their Friday evening dinner served in the George St. United Church Sunday School auditorium.

"Every Canadian is affected directly or indirectly by the influx of visitors from other countries and provinces," he said. Benefits of the "visitor industry" to employment is incalculable. Second great benefit is profit for the manufacturer, wholesaler, jobber and retailer each make a modest share of profit which totals millions of dollars to Canada's prosperity each year. There are profits too for the importer, artist and craftsman who sell their products as souvenirs.

One of the seldom recognized values of this industry is the revenue secured from taxation through gasoline taxes, sale of hunting and fishing licenses, sale and lease of Crown Lands and other items.

Having given a picture of the immensity and importance of the tourist industry, Mr. Martin asked the help of all Local Council members to keep it growing. "Word of mouth is the best publicity we can have so we do need satisfied guests," he said. "One poor meal in a half-dirty restaurant, or one small act of discourtesy is enough to condemn the whole country from their point of view." The women were asked to make a worthwhile and definite contribution to increasing the trade by demanding a higher type of standards in resorts and summer hotels, and through greater practice of courtesy when dealing with strangers.

Though the tourist industry is about the third largest in Canada at present, the revenues show that only $12.00 per capita of United States population was spent in Canada last year while Canadians spent $122.00 per capita in United States.

Mrs. C. A. Campbell of Pakenham thanked the speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. James Roberts, president. Mr. Martin is also president of the Muskoka Tourist Development Association; founder and immediate past president of the Tourist Resorts Division of the Hotel Association of Ontario; and chairman of the national committee for Tourist Service Education Week. He also lectures to the course in Institutional Management at the University of Toronto on Sales Promotion and Advertising.

present were Miss Rose Sexsmith, Mrs. P. Bullied, Miss G. Creba, Mrs. Stan Pogue, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. R. J. Gurney, Miss May Caird, Mrs. W. Firth, Mrs. E. Robertson, Mrs. E. McKinstry, Mrs. K. Baking Expert At Maytime Tea HASTINGS, May 29 (ENS). — There was a good attendance at the Trinity W.A. "Maytime Tea" in the church basement on Wednesday.

Mrs. Fox welcomed the guests present from other churches and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Ballantyne.

Mrs. Ballantyne gave an address on the history of cooking and modern methods of home baking, stressing how important it is to teach a girl to cook early in life, giving the ideal age for starting as 8. Stating those that build a good home help to build a better nation.

Mrs. A. Metcalfe thanked Mrs. Ballantyne for the address. Lunch was served by the ladies of the W.A. Mrs. Glover and Mrs. Metcalfe poured tea from silver tea services set on a table covered with a lace cloth and a bouquet of tulips.

Color Films, Talk Much Enjoyed More than 50 members of the Mr. and Mrs. Club of St. James United Church attended the monthly meeting on Friday, May 28.

Guest speaker, Mr. John Pierce, was introduced by Les McLaren. Mr. Pierce gave a very interesting talk on his experiences on the recent survey of the last lap of the boundary between Ontario and Manitoba. Color films taken by Mr. Pierce during the survey were shown and much enjoyed.

Harold Bell thanked Mr. Pierce on behalf of the members.

Mrs. Hazel McLaren sang "I'll Walk Beside You," accompanied by Ashton Fife on the piano. An enthusiastic sing-song was led by Cyril Davis and was one of the highlights of the evening.

An invitation to hold the June meeting at the summer cottage of Bill and Dorothy Prest on Belmore Lake was accepted. This meeting to be in the form of a wiener roast.

CITY BLACK—Fashions come and go, but the little black dress, so at home no matter what the season or the occasion, goes on winning new friends all the time. No wardrobe is complete without at least a couple of such frocks. Shown here is a smart model. It is a simple dress of black crepe. An original touch is the crocheted lace of the same fabric used for the brief cap sleeves and for a ruffled peplum. The slim waistline is tied with a sash in back. This is a good dress for city girls, and extra nice when pointed up with a wide hat and bag, and mayhap white costume jewelry.

DOROTHY DIX

Children's Resorts Provide Mothers Respite from Work

Probably not greater contribution to human happiness and well-being has ever been made than the instituting of summer camps for boys and girls. Of all the inventions that the ingenuity of man has devised it

Dorothy Dix comes the nearest to filling a long felt want. For it has provided an outlet for the energies of youth and thereby save the sanity of innumerable mothers.

Time was when the mothers of children at the kid age looked upon the summer vacation with horror and dread. It was their stretch in purgatory when Johnny and Jimmie and Mary and Susie roamed through the house shouting and screaming like Indians on the warpath, and when there was no peace nor rest nor quiet to be had by night or day.

It was a season when little savages defied all the rules of civilization; when they broke up all of Mother's cherished antiques to make bonfires; when flower-beds were trampled down to make a baseball field; when perpetually hungry youngsters gobbled up the cake prepared for company, and when Mother's nerves were worn to frazzles trying to answer the continual cry of: "M-o-t-h-e-r, what will we do next?"

For school was out, and hordes of children, too immature to have any resource within themselves, were simply bored to death. So it was no wonder that the youngsters got into trouble; that they formed bad habits, and that they got to running with the kids across the tracks who taught them all the things they shouldn't know. Nor is it surprising to learn that the children's vacation landed Mother in a rest cure, unless she was a woman of remarkable physique.

No Rest For Mother

But there the situation was—a lot of bright, healthy, curious youngsters with nothing to do, no way to kill time, no way to amuse themselves that they hadn't exhausted. They were bound to get into mischief. And all that poor Mother could do was just to buckle on her martyr's crown and bake another batch of cookies.

Then some inspired individual, who should have a monument as high as a church steeple had the bright idea of corralling the restless children into a safe place in the country, or on the mountains, or at the seaside where everything was new and strange and interesting and different, and where they could do all the things they couldn't possibly do at home.

The summer camp was the opening of a new Heaven and new earth to the average boy and girl. They were disciplined without knowing it, and they gave each other discipline that no child would take from his parents. It was a chance to calm down and spruce herself up some, instead of being the family drudge, and especially to get acquainted with her husband. Also, a two or three months separation changes the whole relationship of mothers and children and puts them on a better ground, for Mother's nagging is more nerves than anything else, and the best cure for it that has ever been devised is the summer camp.

And not the least of the many virtues of the boys and girls summer camp is that it gives Mother a chance to calm down and spruce herself up some, instead of being the family drudge, and especially to get acquainted with her husband. Also, a two or three months separation changes the whole relationship of mothers and children and puts them on a better ground, for Mother's nagging is more nerves than anything else, and the best cure for it that has ever been devised is the summer camp.

new contacts, and happy engagements in home, social or cultural interests. However, it would be inadvisable to scatter the forces, or overdo in any affairs in which superiors figure. Such might be easily alienated, withdrawing vital support.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a lively and fruitful year in which fresh fields may lure into very pleasant and enjoyable pastures. Travel, change, new arrangements and contracts are in order. Adopt those with shrewdness and quick grasp, but take care not to scatter the forces or endanger openings in which superiors or employers might be disaffected.

A child born on this day should have much versatility, talent and adaptability, with a pleasant and productive life, provided it does not squander its favors, resources and forces, thereby losing support of superiors.

Davis-Downes Vows Taken In Bride's Home at Ida

An arch of pink and white streamers and bells, banked on either side with baskets of spring flowers was the setting for a pretty May wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Downes, Ida, when their daughter, Agnes Margaret, became the bride of George Russell Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davis, R.R. 3, Peterborough. The Rev. Dr. C. S. Reddick of Springville officiated. Mrs. T. W. McIndoo played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. Fred McIndoo who sang "I'll Walk Beside You" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was gown-dressed in white triple sheer, with full gathered skirt on a shirred bodice with square neckline and long bishop sleeves. Her finger-tip veil of silk embroidered net was caught to a band of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of American beauty roses.

Miss Elinore Downes was her sister's maid-of-honor, gown-dressed in aqua taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, short puff sleeves and full skirt. She wore a matching shoulder veil caught to a braided head band of the same material and matching lace mittens, and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Miss Pamela Jane Clements was the tiny flower girl, wearing a frock of pink triple sheer with full skirt falling into a slight train beneath a large bustle bow, and a bonnet of the same material tied under her chin with pink ribbon. She carried a nosegay of pink sweet peas and blue forget-me-nots. Mr. Bruce Davis was groomsman for his brother.

The bride's mother received her guests wearing a printed silk dress with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses and weep peas. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore navy and white printed silk with white accessories and a similar corsage.

For a honeymoon motor trip through western Ontario, the bride chose a softly tailored suit of grey and turquoise checked wool with turquoise shortie topcoat and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside at R.R. 3, Peterborough.

May Bids Adieu

May goes out with the rich incense of the lilacs. The lion of the lamb of March is far away and forgotten. Nearly every street in town is pervaded with the perfume that gathers potency when the stars peep out and the dew falls. Streets that are plain and almost drab the rest of the year, except when the chestnut and the locust trees are in bloom, are redeemed these evenings as if some one had sprayed them with the quintessence of white lilacs, trailing the green skirts of departing May.

Waste Survey

was a revelation to them after harrowing visits to various other institutions of the Province. They found 150 boys, 16 to 21, living in a most pleasant atmosphere on a 300-acre farm where there were no bars, a few screens served this purpose, no uniforms and carefully chosen guards. Six trades taught the boys with respect to their schooling and ability are welding, machine shop, automotive, sheet metal, radio repair and cookery. One fact which Miss Gordon feels may have special bearing on the success of this experiment is that the prisoners have the same menu as the staff. This is not done at any other institution.

Seeking to find what Provincial Council might do to further the plan, it was suggested the boys would like to have a band. To raise funds for this project, Miss Gordon has arranged a series of law lectures to be sponsored by Toronto Local Council of Women and available to other organizations for the same purpose. It was moved by Mrs. C. A. Campbell of Pakenham and Brigadier E. Green of Toronto, and unanimously carried that Provincial Women take over sponsorship of the lectures and the proceeds to be used for a band at Brampton prison farm.

Mrs. W. Weller, Toronto, convenor of arts and letters outlined what has been done through Provincial Council in putting on book shows and fairs in cities and towns for the purpose of educating the young by giving them reading material that will promote integrity and good citizenship.

The Federation of Agriculture convenor, Mrs. C. A. Campbell, read the resolutions of interest that have been passed at their recent meeting. Great concern is felt in regard to rural health and the scarcity of doctors. The rural populations totals 60 per cent, yet only nine per cent of the doctors are in the country. Consequently the Department of Health has been asked to petition the Federal government to give assistance in providing facilities for training students for rural practice. It is felt financial aid is needed to bring the medical course within the reach of students of moderate means, especially since the cost of instruments alone has increased more than 70 per cent. Another project is a solution to the farmer's labor problem and it is suggested that help be given in building homes for the workers, thus making some of the finest type available for farming.

Miss Jessie Redmond, president of West Algoma Local Council, Fort William read the report of a president's conference held Thursday with Mrs. E. C. Burke, president Toronto Local Council as chairman. "Resolved it is our duty to form more local councils to lift the financial burden from the few. 1—A drive for provincial life members, the money to be used for extension work. 2—That we have regional conferences, the province to be zoned and vice presidents in charge of the work in each zone. 3—Organizing a committee to plan this work. 4—Executives of existing local councils in each region to be asked to co-operate. In order to augment the provincial treasury it was suggested that each retiring president be made a life member instead of receiving a gift.

A letter from Mrs. C. E. Barnes-Read of the affiliated Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, read by the secretary, Mrs. J. A. Smith, Toronto, asked support of Provincial Council in obtaining a subsidy from the government of $10,000.00. Failure to receive such financial assistance will result in the society disbanding, and thus the welfare of dumb animals will have to be taken over by the province at much greater expense. It was moved by Mrs. K. Dewar of Toronto and Mrs. J. Fleming of Chatham that council do everything possible to stimulate interest in the society.

Mrs. C. G. Collins of Peterborough read the report of the Ontario Council of Girl Guides prepared by Mrs. Gordon Conant, Provincial Commissioner of Girl Guides. The purposes and aims of the association were outlined with particular emphasis on camps and outdoor education.

The secretary's report of work carried out since last meeting was prepared in concise form and read by Mrs. J. D. Smith, Toronto. Mrs. Roberts expressed sincere appreciation of the fine work in which she is handling the heavy assignments that have come to her. Mrs. Smith also read correspondence which included a letter from L. B. Pearson in reply to letters from Hamilton Local Council of Women and the sub-executive of the Provincial Council asking if United Nations sanction had been given on a consignment of implements of war to China, which was being held near Vancouver for unknown reasons. He states that this matter did not come under his jurisdiction, and that a ratified government in another country is at liberty to deal with authorities here.

Friday sessions of the meeting opened with a devotional service conducted by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. He urged demonstration of faith "by our works and the application of Christian ways of life to all contacts."

"And remember that in Russia today you would hold no meeting of this kind." A letter of greeting from Mrs. Robert Marshall, national president conveyed best wishes for a successful meeting. Civic greeting was extended by Mayor W. G. Owens of Peterborough who spoke of his high regard for women's organizations in Peterborough, particularly the Local Council, who have been very helpful to him and instrumental in carrying out work that would otherwise have been left undone. "Your comments are appreciated and greatly needed in planning a future rising generation" he said. Mrs. W. Addyman, president of Peterborough Local Council, welcomed the delegates with the hope that the meeting would be an inspiration, to all.

Miss Jessie Redmond of Fort William replied to all greetings and commended the Peterborough workers who stand well up in all departments of Local Council work.

The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Edmund Wand of Peterborough and showed a satisfactory balance on hand. Provincial Council has 13 life members and one sustaining member. Pins are available at this meeting and Mrs. Wand will accept all fees.

WORLD TRADE WEEK

May 30th to June 5th
MARKS THE OPENING OF THE FIRST CANADIAN INTERNATIONAL TRADE FAIR
May 31 to June 12

A new adventure in Canadian trade is the first Canadian International Trade Fair just opening in Toronto... as stirring an enterprise in its way as any in our history.

Thirty-two countries will be represented as exhibitors and twice that number as buyers. For two weeks the market place of the world will be in Canada—the first event of its kind ever to be held in North America.

On week-days the Trade Fair will be devoted entirely to business between buyers and exhibitors... but special arrangements have been made to admit the general public on the three Saturdays—May 29, June 5 and June 12.

Every Canadian firm interested in developing world markets for its products or world sources for its supplies will find it well worthwhile to send a representative.

Canada's observance of World Trade Week has been happily timed to coincide with the occasion of the International Trade Fair as a valuable contribution to better understanding by the Canadian people of their own important stake in world commerce.

World Trade Week is sponsored by the following Canadian business organizations: The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, The Canadian Exporters' Association, The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, The Canadian Section of the International Chamber of Commerce, and the Canadian Importers' and Traders' Association.

* Interested businessmen who are not in possession of an invitation may secure admission, by presenting at the door, a letter of identification from their firm, mentioning their official position. A 50¢ registration fee is payable at the reception centre in the Coliseum Building.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

CONSERVE YOUR ASSETS

THERE is obviously no sense in deliberately throwing away some of your high cards which later may become trick-winners if you hold on to them. But often a player, especially a defender, lacks the imagination to see that what he does may work out that way. This is especially true when the leader to a trick, or the second one to play on it, uses a high card which may possibly cause a high one by his mate to be used on it. In many such cases, it is advisable to play low, if your partner has a good chance to hold a high enough card. Then you avoid the risk of having two of your side's honors squandered on one trick.

East South West North
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 1 NT
2 ♠ 2 ♠ 2 ♠

Against that neatly-bid game, West led his club 4, which brought forth the J, Q and the heart 2. The spade Q finesse was won and the heart 4 brought from dummy. East jumped right in with the A and was right when it fell his partner's K to waste a certain trick. Flabbergasted by this, East returned the diamond 10, on which West could do nothing but play his J, the A killing it.

Think waste of two honor cards by East's misadventure made South a gift of two extra tricks. It was easy now to clear trumps with the 8, lead to the diamond K to down the Q and then score diamond tricks with the dummy's 9 and 7.

If East had used small cards when he should have, his side not only would have had two tricks in trumps, but could have scored also with the diamond 10 to hold the declarer to his contract with no extras.

Your Week-End Question
If a declarer has the A-K-5-3 of a suit in the dummy, opposite the J-8-4 in his own hand, what is the best way for him to seek three tricks in it?

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

County Farm Notes

—By HARRY THEOBALD

OTTAWA HOLSTEIN SALE

The All-Eastern Ontario Holstein sale Wednesday in the Coliseum at Ottawa set a new high average price of $465, compared with $391 last year and $435 in 1946. The 65 animals brought a total of $26,045. Thirty-six were purchased for export, 25 to the United States, 10 to the United Kingdom and one to Brazil.

Top price of $850 was paid for the Experimental Farm's 14-month-old bull, Ottawa Olan Bellane, by Carlo de Lima Savallanti, counselor for the Brazilian Embassy, for a herd sire on his own farm in Brazil. High for females was $800 paid for Mountain View Shirley, two-year-old heifer, consigned by E. Francis & Son, Renfrew, and bought by H. J. Havens of Houvelton, N.Y. He paid $700 and $725 for two other Renfrew females. Mr. Havens is building up a new herd.

Six buyers were present from the United Kingdom. The ten Holsteins they claimed were in the name of William J. Murphy of Lindsay, and will be exported. James H. Henderson, Portsmouth, chairman of the sale, welcomed the ringside crowd of 700.

J. T. Brown, Newcastle, bought a January heifer calf for $225 from W. M. Morrow & Sons. Most of the U.S. buyers were from New York with others from Michigan and Pennsylvania.

"Those eastern farmers should be mighty happy about the prices they got at the sale," Mr. Murphy remarked to The Examiner Friday night.

"I've got the ten animals I bought there, but I have better ones in my barn. We'll have 300 head going to England. The first 150 will be shipped June 28. As to the future of this market, anybody's guess is as good as mine. Here's an actual experience. A New York man named Dann, who milks 250 Holsteins, was up here this week looking for replacements. He sent a credit of $15,000 to a bank in Toronto. He spent a day and a half in Peel, and most of Thursday with me. I quoted him some decent prices, but he went home without buying an animal in either county. What he told me was that he could do better in New York State.

Personally I'm inclined to think we have reached a price peak, but maybe some of the breeders in the Peterborough area might feel like questioning my opinion. The market has been strong for four or five years, and conditions have continued healthy. I'd like to see them stay that way, but I don't know. We can all remember 1921 and 1929. I have been thinking a bit about Dann, who was a Welshman, going back to New York empty handed."

CONTACT PEAS SPROUT

Canada Packers have completed contracts for some 400 acres of peas in the areas around Centreville, Springville and the 4th line of Smith. Their tomato area is between Newtonville and Cobourg. They have arranged for most of their acreage along the lake front, but expect to sign up a few more contractors.

Most of the peas are above ground, and the greater part of the tomato setting was done this week. Prices to contracting farmers are higher than a year ago, Mr. G. S. Matthews of CPC told The Examiner. Cost of cans, wages of labor and various other items are all at a higher level, and are reflected in the contract terms.

The company is abandoning the pumpkin pack this year. Demand has been comparatively light, and canners generally have had a large carry-over.

CORN CROP COST LOW

Cost of seeding one acre of hybrid corn is relatively low, says James A. Garner, director of extension with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. One bushel will seed eight to nine acres.

Mr. Garner came to the department from Essex and has had many years of experience with grain corn. In his opinion it can be grown successfully in most counties from Windsor to Ottawa. New early maturing hybrid strains were successfully demonstrated last year in such counties as Ontario, Durham, Peterborough, Dundas, Northumberland and Carleton.

"The development of hybrid corn is one of the outstanding contributions that plant breeders have made in recent years. Farmers can now plant corn with increasing confidence, knowing it is suitable to their locality and conditions. It will do best on land that is warm, clean and in high fertility. The good corn grower will prepare the seed bed thoroughly, and use liberal quantities of farm yard manure as commercial fertilizer."

According to Mr. Garner, one

N. Moncrief Busy Spraying Apple Trees

It's apple blossom time in North Monaghan.

Aisles of blossoms in the apple orchard of G. Norman Moncrief, Peterborough-Port Hope Highway, west of Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Seventeen acres of McIntosh Reds, Snows, Spies, Taiman Sweeties and Baxters in a great bouquet of beauty and fragrance as the apple trees reached full bloom this week. On the reverse side of this picture is a long series of spraying in continuous defense against insects, blight and other enemies of the fruit trees. The first treatment is when the leaves are budding, the second when the blossoms open, the third when the petals fall. "We spray from seven to ten times during the season, depending on the weather," Mr. Moncrief said yesterday. "We go down the rows with the spraying machine every ten or twelve days." Some of the crop is sold to the wholesale trade, but the bulk of it moves through the retail business. Mr. Moncrief has developed.

The Moncrief orchard is one of the few north of Rice Lake. Because the season is somewhat shorter than the longer ripening of the common mistakes is seeding too thickly. In the corn belt, few growers seed more than eight to nine pounds an acre, depending on the grade of seed used.

FEDERATION PICNIC

Federation of Agriculture picnic Saturday June 5 at Exhibition Park is the main rural event for next week. The noon luncheon speaker is Prof. Arthur D. Runions of OAC whose return visits to Peterborough renew his local friendships.

Two judging competitions start the day's program around 8.30. They are for boys and girls, young men and women. They are divided into two age groups, one up to 20 years and the other from 20 to 26. The Federation is distributing $100 in prize money.

Classes for women's and school children's work require their entries to be placed by 11 o'clock. The afternoon program includes a livestock demonstration, sports program directed by Jack Dane and several draws for the oldest person on the ground, also the youngest, the person who came the farthest and the most recently married couple.

Federation executive has planned an interesting day, and with good weather there should be a big attendance.

JERSEY BREEDERS' TRIP

Thirty-one members of the Peterborough Jersey Breeders' Club had a pleasant bus trip to Maple and the Richmond Hill spring fair Monday. Roger Hanbridge is president of the club and Harry Young secretary. They looked through the artificial breeding plant at Maple and the new buildings.

A major attraction was the splendid display of 120 entries in the Jersey cattle class at Richmond Hill. The horse section was a fine feature. In the roadster class, W. H. Lindsay of Campbellcroft won first prize for team in harness and firsts for single horses under and over 15½ hands. He also was awarded the special for gentlemen's light horse turnout. Donald Tinney of Cavan and Bruce Sargent were winners of the carriage teams and single carriage horses. Sam S. Staples carried off saddle prizes and also a first in the pony race.

SPRAYING PRACTICE

Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, is using the following spray on their dairy cattle as relief from flies: Mix one pound of 50 per cent DDT water-dispersible powder in 2½ to 5 gallons of water. This gives a concentration of from one to two per cent spray which has proved satisfactory.

A similar spray, but of greater DDT concentration, is used in and about the dairy and stables to control cattle flies. It consists of

Army Reports Looting In B.C. Flood

Losses To Exceed 20 Millions;
Rivers Still Rising

VANCOUVER, June 1—(CP).—Battle lines were drawn today along the banks of the disaster-stricken Fraser River as the army took control of British Columbia's fight against ravaging floods.

A state of emergency was declared in the province by Premier Byron Johnson Monday night. He empowered Col. T. E. Snow, B.C. army commander, to call out all troops in the province to "combat the flood as well as any other matters arising out of this emergency."

One "matter" has already arisen. A new threat has been added in the form of looting. The navy reported looting has broken out in at least two sections of the distressed Fraser Valley.

Col. Snow was given authority by Premier Johnson under the aid to the civil power section of the army act to "call on all citizens" to help and "wherever necessary, solicit transport or essential materials."

While new preparations were being drawn up the mighty Fraser continued to spread calamity with each new hour. Peak of the river's rise was drawing near.

Red Cross officials estimated the Fraser alone already directly affected 75,000 people. Estimates of its damage ranged as high as $20,000,000.

The Federal Government in Ottawa announced it was ready to fulfill any request for aid from the B.C. Government and in Vancouver John Bracken, National Leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said his party would support immediate passage of a special House grant for flood relief.

Two more "ghost" towns were added to a list becoming alarmingly longer each day.

Fifteen hundred persons late Monday night and early today were evacuated from Matsqui 40 miles east of here.

Worst spot in interior B.C. was at Creston, 70 miles from Trail. The withdrawal of families from lowlands was being speeded up as 8,000-acre farm lands surrendered to the Kootenay River.

Halifax Awaits Fleet Carrier

HALIFAX, June 1—(CP).—Canada's newest naval craft—HMCS Magnificent—steamed leisurely along the Nova Scotia coast through fog and drizzle this morning to a rendezvous with the veteran destroyer Haida.

The Haida—carrying news and radio reporters and camera men—will escort the 15,000-ton aircraft into her future operational base here. The Haida left Halifax before dawn today.

The Magnificent is due to arrive in Halifax this afternoon to one of the greatest welcomes ever accorded a warship.

An early morning fog and drizzle combined to spoil the first scheduled welcome ceremonies—a flight of navy aircraft from the eastern passage airport which were to salute the carrier from the air. Take-offs were cancelled.

Waiting in the gaily decorated city hall are gifts which Mayor J. E. (Gee) Aherm will present later to the Magnificent, to her commanding officer, and to her executive officer.

The grey-hulled Magnificent—a light fleet carrier—is of the same "colossus" class as the Warrior which she succeeds. Her first cruise will take her into the Canadian Arctic with her brood of escort destroyers.

Vets To Buy Houses

CORNWALL, June 1—(CP).—City council decided Monday night to make available for sale to veterans 127 houses built here by War-time Housing. Mayor Lloyd D. Gallinger and City Clerk F. B. Brownbridge were authorized to sign a new 15-year agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation which includes a sale clause and provides for increased taxation.

PREVENT FOREST FIRES—IT PAYS—

It is fire season in Northern Ontario and in the Mississauga River area, 21 major fires are spreading on a 25-mile front, fanned by a 50-mile an hour wind: 250 men with 15 fire pumps and 75,000 feet of hose are working day and night to head off noseous fires spreading over four townships. A careless hunter in the Chapleau Game Preserve is supposed to have started the blaze last Tuesday and today 35,000 acres are burning, spreading and menacing fire-fighting crews that are being encircled at several points.

46,000 Acres of Forest Afire

TORONTO, June 1—(CP).—Three major fires, described officially as "catastrophes," raged unchecked today in the forests of Northern Ontario. Spurred by the tinder-dryness of the northland and whipped by strong, driving winds, each leaped through an estimated 3,000 more acres Monday, bringing to 46,000 the number now engulfed by the flames. T. E. Mackey, chief of the forest protection division of the Ontario Lands Department, gave this latest picture:

Portland Flood Losses Top 37 Million Dollars

PORTLAND, Ore., June 1—(AP).—The Columbia River flood, which already had taken a toll of at least 20 lives and property loss of more than $37,000,000, forced mass evacuation today of a 120-mile section at the lower end of the stream.

The river had already caused the northwest's greatest disaster as its crest approached the rich farmlands from the Portland area to the sea. Army engineers gave the warning to evacuate, but said many of the thousands of residents already had fled.

The toll of dead will not be known until waters recede. No estimate of damage throughout the area was available, but the Portland housing authority said damage at the crumbled war-housing city of Vanport was $27,000,000.

The only other estimate was $10,000,000 damage in the Kelso, Woodland and Kalama district of southwest Washington.

Before the Vanport disaster, United States army engineers had predicted the Columbia and its tributaries would cause a total loss of $30,000,000. The engineers now won't make any kind of an estimate.

The river, second largest in the United States in amount of water discharged, is at flood stage for 750 miles. The crest will reach the Portland area tonight or tomorrow.

Part of Portland's downtown area, including the Union Station, was under water today after the Willamette River topped the seawall. The station is Portland's only railroad depot, and trains were unable to use it.

Meanwhile, the main Columbia River dike guarding a section of North Portland was ordered abandoned and all workers and troops cleared.

The swollen Columbia broke

Smuts Accepts Parliament Seat

CAPETOWN, June 1—(CP).—Jan Christian Smuts, retiring as prime minister of South Africa, today accepted the offer of a seat in parliament from a member of his United Party.

He previously had stated that he hoped to continue to do his duty as leader of the party, but "if there is any blame for the present failure let it be mine."

Smuts will take over the seat of C. W. Clark, who won in Pretoria East in last week's election with a majority of more than 3,000.

Smuts lost his seat at Standerton, which he had held for 24 years, in last week's general elections to a Nationalist candidate.

After the defeat of his United party, which won 65 seats to the 70 for Dr. Daniel Malan's Nationalist party, Smuts said he would retire to his farm near Pretoria when Dr. Malan took office, but only to await events.

Czechs Hail Popular Vote Count Empty Envelopes As Votes

PRAGUE, June 1—(AP).—The Czechoslovak government, which got itself re-elected by a majority of 89.2 per cent Sunday, unanimously hailed the vote today as popular approval.

Cabinet ministers issued a series of statements insisting that the people now have spoken in favor of the February revolt in which the Communists took control of the government.

Nearly 11 per cent of the voters were recorded as casting blank (Opposition) ballots despite a lack of secrecy surrounding the actions of voters.

The number of mutilated ballots was not announced.

In at least one election place, the commission was instructed to count all empty envelopes and envelopes containing photographs of President Benes as votes cast in favor of the government.

This was a day of sober second thought for those who voted the while protest ballots with the knowledge their identities might be known or checked.

Some Czech political observers speculated whether President Benes will go along with Premier Klement Gottwald's government now, or resign.

Contractor Fulfills All Demands

Some Survey Work
To Be Done
Starting In June

Financial difficulties between the Thompson Construction Chemong Company and the County Council have been smoothed away and work on the long-discussed Chemong Bridge should begin almost immediately. The last minute bid of the contractor just before Council closed its special sitting on Monday afternoon was approved by that body in a closed session. County Solicitor F. D. Kerr, KC, was present.

Originally the contract was let to the Thompson Construction and Engineering Company but when it was unable to proceed with the work a new company, the Thompson Construction Chemong Company was set up. After a long conference at the last meeting of Council it was decided that the sub-company was not able to carry out terms of the contract.

Apparently the company is now satisfied that the company is able to meet its financial obligations.

Work will proceed after some preliminary survey work in the barrow pits.

The meeting was originally called to select a new county engineer but the news of the day was the final agreement to go ahead with the long-delayed Chemong project eliminating the floating bridge which spanned Chemong lake.

Archbishop Roy Gets Decoration

BRUSSELS, June 1 (Reuters).—Most Rev. Maurice Roy, Archbishop of Quebec and former Roman Catholic chaplain-in-chief to the Canadian army, is appointed commander of the Order of Leopold and is awarded the Belgian Croix de Guerre in Belgian army orders issued today. Air Marshal Robert Leckie, RCAF Chief of Staff, is made Officer of the Crown.

The wards are made for "services rendered to Belgium in European campaigns during 1944 and 1945."

BULLETIN

TORONTO — Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa, world and Olympic figure skating champion, has turned professional, it was learned from an authoritative source today. Details of the contract were not immediately available.

Sixty-one constituents have three candidates; there are two-way contests in seven; 19 have four candidates; three have five-man fights; in one, Toronto St. David, there are six candidates.

H. S. Enel, who sought to contest Waterloo North as a Social Credit candidate, failed to get into the race because his nomination papers were not in order before the 2 p.m. deadline for qualifying.

Seven women are numbered among the candidates five C.C.F. and two Liberal. Three members of the last Legislature are contesting the election under new party affiliation and 10 members of the last House are missing from the field.

A record 317 candidates competed for the 90 Legislature seats in the 1945 campaign — 27 more than in the present contest. The difference in the number of Labor-Progressive Party candidates largely accounts for the reduction in the total.

Premier Drew, in a three-way fight for re-election in Toronto High Park, heads the list of 90 Progressive Conservative candidates. His party won 66 seats in the last election and at dissolution held 65, one being vacant by death.

Heading a slate of 88 straight Liberals, Farquhar Oliver is in a four-way fight in the Grey South constituency he had represented since 1926. His party supports Liberal-Labor candidates in the remaining two ridings. The Liberals held 11 seats at dissolution and Liberal-Labor one.

E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. Leader, faces Liberal and Progressive Conservative opponents in the York South riding he represented from 1943 to 1945. The C.C.F. House Leader, W. J. Grummett, is in a four-way contest in the Northern Ontario riding of Cochrane South.

The C.C.F. held seven seats at dissolution but another member was killed in a traffic accident shortly before the election was announced.

Jews Accept Cease-Fire Order By UN

Arabs Mass Troops
On 40-Mile Front
Aiming At Tel Aviv

HAIFA, June 1 (Reuters).—The Jewish provisional government announced tonight it had accepted the United Nations' cease-fire resolution on Palestine and had ordered all Jewish forces to cease firing from 3 a.m., local time, tomorrow provided the Arabs did likewise.

The official statement issued in Tel Aviv said that the cease-fire order had been given on the assumption:

1. The ban on the import of arms to Arab countries shall apply to the delivery of arms from stocks owned or controlled by foreign powers within the territories of the Arab states.

2. During the cease-fire the armed forces of neither side will seek to advance beyond presently-held areas and each side will be entitled to maintain its present positions.

Bomb Trans-Jordan

TEL AVIV, June 1 (AP).—Israeli air forces planes bombed Amman today and struck at points in Arab Palestine where troops are reported massing, a Jewish communique announced.

The communique said the raid on Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan, was directed at military targets. It gave no details. Arab League leaders are meeting in Amman today on the United Nations plea for a cease-fire in the Palestine war.

(Amman officials said six civilians were killed. The British army announced in Haifa that 12 Arabs were killed and 30 wounded and a number of planes at an R.A.F. airfield near Amman were damaged.)

Other Jewish planes struck at Tulkarm, in Arab Palestine near the Israeli border and Equidistant from Haifa and Tel Aviv. The aircraft also hit Arab concentrations at Tyre village, south of Tulkarm, and along the Tel Aviv-Jerusalem highway in the bloody Latrun area.

Heckler Ousts Labor Minister

HANOVER, June 1—(CP).—Labor Minister Daley, after making an Ontario election campaign address Monday night in this Grey South riding industrial town, yielded the floor to a member of the audience and walked out of the hall.

During a question period at the end of the speech, Herman Denef, superintendent of the local Public Utilities Commission, asked a series of questions about Hydro and Mr. Daley suggested that Mr. Denef might like to take the platform and make a speech himself. As Mr. Denef walked up to the front of the hall and prepared to speak, Mr. Daley said:

"I came here to make a speech, not to listen to one."

Then he left the building.

Legion Fights Vet Allowances

OTTAWA, June 1—(CP).—The Canadian Legion returned today to its persistent attack on war veterans allowances.

In a new, special appearance before parliament, its Dominion command assailed the rates paid aged and infirm veterans and widows of veterans.

Brig. W. A. I. Anglin of Saint John, N.B., a vice-president, appeared before the veterans committee. He asked $50 a month for single and $25 for married recipients of $40 and $70, as proposed by the government.

"The Legion is greatly concerned about an increasing number of veterans who must subsist solely on the allowance," he said. "In these cases, the allowances are quite inadequate for food and shelter alone."

Upon the representative of His Majesty King George VI in this province, the Lions conferred honorary membership, an informal induction by District Governor Gordon Belyea of Toronto, who presented His Honor, on behalf of the Peterborough Club, with a lapel pin of solid gold inset with diamonds and pearls. And completing that happy incident of the anniversary program, the Lieutenant-Governor was immediately greeted as Lion Ray by Mr. Belyea.

Hon. J. L. Ilsley Quits Post Joins Law Firm

OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP).—Rt.

Hon. James L. Ilsley, who won the respect of Canadians as the country's wartime finance minister, is retiring from public life at a time when many capital observers believe he may be approaching the pinnacle of his political career.

The 54-year-old justice minister disclosed in a surprise announcement Monday night that he will retire from the government at the end of this month and enter the Montreal law firm of Ralston, Kearney, Duquet and MacKay. This is the firm headed by the late Col. J. L. Ralston, his close friend and former cabinet associate.

His announcement came as an "Ilsley boom" in the race for the Liberal leadership was rolling up on Parliament Hill.

However, while Mr. Ilsley is giving up public office, he will still be eligible for the leadership should any group of delegates ask him to stand and should he agree to run.

In a 175-word statement delivered to the press gallery, Mr. Ilsley said the "sole" reason for his decision was the necessity, after 22 years in public life, to give attention to his personal affairs. He "deeply regretted" leaving a government whose policies he "wholeheartedly approved."

He labelled as "unfounded" newspaper reports that he soon would be appointed to the bench.

However, close friends disclosed that Mr. Ilsley for some time has been considering two avenues—whether to accept anointment as chief justice of his native Nova Scotia or whether to return to private practice with Col. Ralston's firm.

your district, and in contributing equipment to a local hospital."

His Honor recalled that 29 years ago he was president of a service club in his former home town of London, Ont., when such clubs and their members were few. Today they have a total membership of about 1,000,000 men in some 15 separate organizations.

"We have come to realize that these are perhaps the most important groupings of men in the world today; the most influential, the most impervious to criticism; and, if they wish to, they may some time be strong enough to control the nation. It is comforting to know, however, that they work only for good. They began as luncheon clubs, but their program of service to humanity has far exceeded their original purpose."

I have personally known where service clubs have taken a keen interest in boys' work, in playgrounds, work for the blind, food for Britain. With money raised from bazaars, carnivals, etc., they have helped beautify their towns. They have engaged buses to take children on educational tours; they have sent crippled children to specialists and hospitals for advice or operations; they have assisted unfortunate people whose homes have been destroyed by fire. They not only initiate such work but they also assist the Red Cross, Salvation Army and other organizations.

I was greatly impressed when I learned that each year Lions Clubs throughout the world are completing 65,000 projects in various fields of good deeds.

I also learned that in Canada your Lions Clubs supplied more than $400,000 to take care of English children whose parents were killed during the blitz."

With that preface of tribute to Lionism, His Honor proceeded into the body of his address virtually taking as a text the experience of humanity that young men see, visions and old men dream dreams. He recalled the Utopia of Sir Thomas More and its conception of a perfect system of government where all were satisfied and there were no injustices. The title was a Greek word meaning "nowhere." There was no such country, it was a product of More's imagination.

The dreaming of dreams was characteristic of mankind. Men have always been dissatisfied with things as they are. Experiments were made with theories of administration. The Nazi in Germany, Communist in Russia and Fascist in Italy were most recent examples. In some countries, including our own, movements have been started with the object of reforming methods of government and administration.

"The thing that strikes me is that they usually fail, and at one point. A system cannot save man. You may give men perfect surroundings, but when self above service creeps in, everything will be destroyed. The League of Nations failed in spite of its idealism, because the nations were too selfish to work the system properly. If men's hearts are right, all good will follow."

In trying to build a new world out of the ruins of war, we must trust not only systems but ourselves. "I am old-fashioned enough to believe that though we cannot change human nature, there is a divinity within that can. We sometimes talk as if it were hopeless to attempt to change the mass of people, but if it is hopeless, then the outlook for the world is dark indeed."

Cow Goes Berserk On Street Police Get Firing Practice

Cows are agreed to be peaceful animals, as a rule. The exception to the case showed today, when the thought of providing stew for a family of humans proved too much for one cow. Bossy went mad, and escaped from Canada Packers stock sheds.

Through gardens, back alleys, and along main streets, Bossy led a group of determined police officers on a wild mile-long chase. Several shots were fired, and nervous citizens peered from front doorways.

"I thought there had been a bank robbery," said one housewife.

One of the constables said: "She was crazy all right. Whenever any of us got near enough for a close-in shot, she'd charge. We didn't miss her, though. You could see her jump whenever the bullets hit her."

A careful police estimate said that almost 80 per cent of the shots fired hit the cow.

In one of the gardens through which she ran, berserk Bossy threw a solid body check at a woman working, knocking her sprawling.

Not many cows go out in the burst of glory accorded to Bossy, nor do many police moving target practice for city police.

Trapped at last on the northeast corner of Reid and McDonnell streets, Bossy was killed. She left behind her a path of upset garbage cans, surprised people, and trampled gardens.

Bossy made her mark on Peterborough, and Peterborough police made Bossy their mark.

Base Metals, Oils Show Decline

TORONTO, June 1.—(CP).—Base metals and western oils were down and industrials showed a firmer tone in light trading on the Toronto stock exchange today.

Gold was quiet and a little weaker. Papers continued strong in the industrial groupings.

The exchange's noon index showed industrials up .37, gold down .31, base metals .89, western oils .73.

International Paper continued strong and rose 3/4 to a new high of 70 1/2 and Consolidated Paper and Minnesota and Ontario Paper advanced fractionally. Utilities traded actively for good gains.

Falconbridge and Labrador lost 10 cents. International Nickel gained 1/4.

Western oils showed weak tening edged down. Anglo-Canadian

We must steel ourselves to think of change, well ordered, well fashioned and sane. We must think our way forward steadily and patiently to such a system of relations in politics, in economics, in social life, as our reason can accept and our conscience approve."

It is a task for every citizen. We may not know anything about political economy, except that what is morally wrong cannot be politically right. We may not know all the rights and duties of citizenship except that the best citizen is he who is most ready to give himself for his fellow citizens. We may not know much about world geography and the claims of various nations except that all men are brothers. We may know nothing about high finance except that the highest finance is that which is controlled by the ideal of wealth as something to be held as a sacred trust for others.

Aerial Ladder Given First Workout

Hundreds of people gathered on Charlotte St., by the Market Hall this morning to look at the latest addition to Peterborough's Fire Department. It was an 85-foot aerial turret truck which is operated hydraulically on both vertical and horizontal planes.

The hydraulic ladder allows the fire to be fought from a height and yet it does not need to rest against a supporting building as the base is surely fixed on a 360-degree traverse attached to the truck. This is particularly useful in fighting fires in tall buildings.

The fireman is shot up to the correct height and he can stand off at a desired distance and send a steady flow of water into the blaze. A manually operated turret nozzle is used to direct the water into the blaze.

Civic officials as well as the tax-paying public watched as a number of firemen were hoisted on the long aluminum structure and were manoeuvred deftly between the Market Hall and the National Revenue building.

It was pointed out that if the ladder should run into a building the motor would immediately cut out, thus saving the fireman from danger and prevent damage to the aerial ladder.

The truck itself is a sleek-looking job, painted a brilliant red. 40-foot long and weighing 13 tons. Despite its length it is only just over six feet high. It carries a safety net, aluminum ladders, pipes, axes and other fire-fighting equipment.

"With the equipment we have here now, and considering the size of the city, we have equipment second to none in Ontario," said Fire Chief George Smith to a bystander.

One was quite impressed with the potentialities of the new truck, and commented that it would be an excellent thing for painting the town clock.

This afternoon a practical demonstration of its pumping power was given at the George Street Wharf. As Chief Smith pointed out it would have been somewhat impractical to shoot hundreds of gallons of water over the town hall.

And the pigeons would not have liked it.

County Council Appoints New Engineer

Peterborough's new engineer and road supervisor is John David Kean, 28, at present engineer for East Whitby County. His application was accepted over that of three other men by a unanimous vote of Council.

Mr. Kean replaces J. A. Fletcher whose resignation became effective on Monday. Mr. Kean's father has been engineer for Ontario County since 1919 and his son graduated from the University of Toronto in 1947 as a Civil Engineer. Previous to that he gained his commission in the Royal Canadian Engineers serving on the west coast, at Peleawawa and in the United Kingdom. For nine months he was junior engineer of East York before holding the post of East Whitby engineer.

Mr. Fletcher will supervise the Buckhorn Road project and it was announced that the Department of Highways had approved the 11-mile stretch from Highway 28 to Hall's Bridge as a development road.

It was expected that Mr. Kean would take over active office by June 15 and in the interim period the County Road Committee would assume control with Mr. Fletcher acting in an advisory capacity.

Salary is $4,000 a year plus six cents a mile travelling expenses. A point committee of the County Roads Committee and the Suburban Areas Road Commission first reviewed applications for the position. This latter body was represented by Harry Gainer, J. A. Middleton and W. A. Archibald, chairman.

Reeve James Gifford congratulated Mr. Kean on his new appointment and paid tribute to the service given to the county by Mr. Fletcher.

Judge Refuses To Preside In Court Case

MONTREAL, June 1.—(CP).—

When Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazarus discovered Monday that a principal witness in a case before him was a man he has known for 12 years he postponed the hearing until September when another judge will preside.

The case, in King's Bench court, was that of William J. Lawrence, formerly of Montreal and now of Belleville, charged with fraudulent re-sale of a property.

The hearing had almost been completed when the defence called Lawrence's brother, a court stenographer.

His Lordship intervened to say he had known the stenographer through his courtroom duties for 12 years and felt therefore he would not be "observing my oath of office if I were to continue to sit at this trial."

The Crown alleges that Lawrence sold a property on William street in August, 1946, and to have re-sold the same property later to his brother.

R. W. Barclay testified he signed an agreement to Aug. 23, 1946, to buy the property and paid Lawrence's agent, the Guardian Trust Co., $500. There was an additional $6,000 to be paid within 10 days of the sale, Barclay said.

Later he noticed several improvements were being made to the property. Thinking this strange, he said he investigated and found the property had been sold to Lawrence's brother. Lawrence testified he was going out of town and transferred the property to his brother so the brother could complete sale arrangements with Barclay. Lawrence denied any fraudulent intentions.

Housing Plan Of Ontario Government

The housing problem in Ontario is being attacked by the Department along four avenues of approach. The main objective is to encourage the construction of more housing of all kinds, to meet people's needs. The Government will spend $30,000,000 towards this end.

In the first place, to encourage individual home ownership, the Government has arranged to advance part of the down payments necessary to finance a newly constructed house. This will be done by a loan on a second mortgage, with a maximum amount in any one case of $1,250.

THE DOWN-PAYMENT

It is in connection with the down payment that the Ontario Government Dept. of Planning proposes to lend assistance on advancing one-half of it.

TWENTY YEARS TO YAP

Loans will be amortized over a period of twenty years and will carry interest at 3 1/4% in monthly instalments.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Secondly, the Department is investigating fully all new methods of construction and all new types of building organization which lead to reduction in costs. The Ontario Government will provide financial assistance for experiments in building projects which appear to be sound.

LOW RENTAL HOUSING

Fourthly, the Province of Ontario will contribute towards the Federal low rental housing program. Municipalities under that plan supply land and services to the limit of $600 per house. The Department of Planning and Development will now assume one-half of this cost, which will enable municipalities to meet their low rental housing needs to a very much greater extent.

PLAN APPROVED

This housing plan of the Ontario Government should prove very helpful and has been approved by the Hon. C. D. Howe, Ottawa Liberal Cabinet Minister.

TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1948

The Lieutenant-Governor's Visit

The Honourable Ray Lawson paid his first official visit to Peterborough yesterday. Mrs. Lawson accompanied the Lieutenant-Governor. The weather was beneficently bright; the ladies at the garden party, resplendent in summer frocks, had no last-minute alarm lest colours should run or hats drip; the late afternoon down-town reception had an amiable air. Even the secondary school pupils—hard-bitten judges of distinguished Visitors—viewed the visit with approval. (They were granted a half-holiday.)

Peterborough's life can be lightened and brightened by such semi-social official visitations: a little cream to the puff, spicing to the ham, gilding to the lily. They have their uses, particularly if they come on a Monday when housewives are ordinarily busy with the automatic laundry and businessmen are settling in to the week's routine. They shake things up instead of down. We look forward to the time when we shall have the new city hall with a proper municipal reception chamber. Then we shall really be able to receive D.V.'s with pomp and circumstance. Then, too, a procedure can be set up and the minor pitfalls and social contre-temps which now beset our attempts at entertaining can be avoided. Then the presenting of honours—as the M.B.E. to Mr. G. A. Gillespie and Mr. A. L. Killaly, to whom our congratulations—can be done in a fitting chamber.

Peterborough's Taxi-Cab Problems

The Police Commission held a special meeting last Thursday when delegates from the city's taxi-cab operators were invited to discuss with the Commission the matter of multiple fares. There is a problem, as the numerous letters we have published on this page in recent weeks indicate. No decision was reached on ways of solving it except that the cab operators will study the matter and present a report at the next Police Commission meeting.

We were rather flummoxed by some of the opinions aired at the meeting. The taxi men contended that the people who complained about the full car, multiple-fare, bus-like service were in the minority. That may be literally true, but there can be little doubt that for one person who writes to the newspaper about it or complains to the cab driver, there are twenty who shrug their shoulders and vent their spleen privately.

One operator said that the passengers load themselves into the cars—"We haven't anything to say about it. You can't kick them out after they're there." It is sometimes true that passengers crowd to crowd in; it is also true that many drivers solicit business at the edge of the station platform, take the person's bag, and lead him to a car to which he has already escorted two or three other passengers, or to which he plans to lead two or three more. Cabs meeting crowded week-end trains or late night trains are often too few to allow for single fares. Need they be as few as they are? There are sixty taxi-cabs in Peterborough. It is exceptional for two trains to arrive in Peterborough at the same time. If even half the sixty cabs were at the station at train time, there would not be the frantic grasping for taxis and the annoying, frequently uncomfortable bundling.

The taxi owners seem to feel that in order to stay profitably in business at the present flat rate of fifty cents, they must take two or three fares whenever they can arrange to do so. They maintain truly that they are committed to a possible five-mile journey for the fifty-cent fare. Such trips must be rare, for few people would ever journey from the far south end to the far north end of the city. If they do they get a real bargain at fifty cents. It may be that there are not enough short fares to compensate for one-fare long runs. In a place like Peterborough taxis are used most frequently not as alternatives to the bus service but during the hours when buses do not run—inconvenient hours for tired taxi drivers.

Nevertheless, the basic taxi rate of fifty cents seems to many users to be already quite high in comparison with New York (20c), Montreal (25c) and Toronto (40c), which have, of course, the meter system which is not feasible here. Local passengers may reasonably expect to have taxis at their sole disposal when they have paid the full fare. The problems exist. So do solutions, if the Commission and the cab owners really attempt to find them.

The New British House Of Commons

Early in the war the House of Commons suffered disastrously from German bombing. The "Mother of Parliaments" is more than stone and mortar and the destruction of the Chamber did not destroy the spirit and function of the institution. Since, however, the outward form in stone and oak is part of the Commons' history and integral to its future, plans for rebuilding were under way before the war ended.

At Mr. Churchill's behest and with the concurrence of all parties, the new House of Commons is to have virtually the same proportions and design as the old one. It will be too small to accommodate all the members. It will still be an intimate speaking-chamber. No vast vaulted ceiling and no amphitheatrical expansiveness will tempt the Honourable Members into demagogic oratory. Modernity will be under the check of history. A few days ago the Speaker, Colonel Sifton Brown, laid the cornerstone of the new House while the Right Honourable Winston Churchill whose words emblazoned the old looked on. May his spirit and eloquence long give benediction to the new.

Hubert Eisdell

We note with regret the death last Saturday of Hubert Eisdell. Few men here or abroad have possessed a voice as pure and well-poised as his or used it as exquisitely. He was English by birth and education but he lived, sang and taught in Canada for many years. He first came to this country as a young Cambridge graduate to teach at The Grove School in Lakefield; in later years he returned to The Grove, and at the time of his death was singing and classics master here.

His fame as a singer rests chiefly on his work in oratorio; the tenor voice in some of Sir Henry Wood's and Sir Thomas Beecham's finest concert and oratorical productions was Hubert Eisdell's. His voice is now stilled, but its echo will live on not only in memory's ear but in, for instance, a great Beecham recording of Handel's Messiah. Hubert Eisdell spoke "comfortably to Jerusalem" and to the people of the English-speaking world.

Bring On The Band

Band concerts will begin next Sunday, when the Salvation Army band will play from 8.30 until 10 p.m. at Riverside Park. Summer time and band concerts are inseparable—no band, no summer; no summer, no band. We would really begin to believe that the heavens were falling if there were not the blare of brass to support them and the melody of cornets to laden the breeze. The Canadian way of life needs band concerts and no town worth its salt lacks the savour of open-air Sunday evening concerts, no matter how inept may be the blowing and how dead the beat.

Peterborough has fortunately some quite good bands and there are good possibilities of both better playing and better music than we have been able to have in some former years. The height of band music is not eternally reached in the Poet and Peasant overture. Incidentally, some prospective listeners might even like to hear from the pipes, as a skilful interlude, one fine summer's evening.

We were interested to learn that the Salvation Army Band, the Citizens' Band, the Ministerial Association and the Local Film Council will co-operate in presenting the sixteen open air concerts. We look forward particularly to the evening when the Ministerial Association toot their horns. We expect their music to be more sacred than profane.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A correspondent calls to our attention a report that R. H. Saunders, Chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, used the Ontario Hydro plane to pilot Colonel Drew on one of his political campaigns. Mr. Saunders seems to be in the position of a child who has received a Christmas present of a toy train from a fond parent, and the parent, not the child, plays with it. Maybe after the elections Mr. Saunders can have his plane back again.

The Examiner's London Letter

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

THE worst breakdown in London's electric supply system in fourteen years took place on Sunday, the 23rd. Altogether, the power was off for over four hours in most of central and southern England, and many thousands depending on electricity for cooking had their dinners ruined, since the first break coincided with the mid-day meal. It was an unfortunate combination of circumstances, according to Lord Citrine, head of the newly-nationalized British Electricity Authority. The fine weather with its high temperatures broke suddenly, and there was widespread frost and chilliness. The electricity authorities, lulled by the warm weather, had taken many generators out of service for maintenance and overhaul, and when the cool weather and lowering skies brought the usual increased use of electric heaters and lights, they were caught flat-footed. The facilities in service were soon overloaded, and the idle generator capacity could not immediately be brought into action. The chairman of the electricity board has emphasized, if that was necessary, how slim the margin of supply is over the demand, and the need for continued economy by all. During the war, as in Canada, no new facilities were built, and much existing equipment suffered war damages. The high industrial activity of the post-war period has strained resources to the utmost.

AS in Ontario, the British Electricity Authority is a comprehensive countrywide organization, with the big difference that all electricity in this country is steam generated, as compared with what is known here as the "grid" system, by which power can be taken in almost anywhere in England, Scotland, or Wales for the general pool, and taken out on the other side of the Island. The country-side is dotted with the big power pylons similar to those south of Peterborough of the Ontario system that carry the electricity from the Ottawa Valley to Leeds. All during the war the British system was kept in full operation even at the height of the blitz. To domestic users, the power is supplied at 50 cycles AC 230 volts, as compared with the Peterborough 60 cycles AC 120 volts. Altogether, it is a highly efficient system, in spite of the present anger of housewives with spoiled Sunday dinners.

IN the face of widespread demand, the clothing ration was recently increased by the reduction of the numbers of coupons required in a wide range of articles—those in which there was a surplus of supplies. This did not satisfy the public, and in particular, the various drygoods and retail store associations and unions in the domestic clothing trades—the latter claiming that there was increasing unemployment in their industry—have been demanding further cuts. If not outright abolition of rationing. On Tuesday these demands were recognized by the president of the Board of Trade, the ultimate authority on clothes rationing, who announced some further cuts, a bonus of 12 coupons for all, and complete abolition of rationing on some limited types. But as a bit of a dampener, at the same time he announced increases in coupon values for various types of men and boy's shirts.

After the first whoop of joy, the public sat back to take a more critical look in this gift horse's mouth, and has not been entirely pleased with the result. Off the ration are ties, gloves, non-woollen yarn, and women's stockings not full-fashioned. The ties and gloves will be handy, but my wife assures me that there are few uses for non-woollen yarn, and most women will not be caught dead wearing stockings not full-fashioned. In fact, she says that they are no longer even sold in Canada, but I suspect she may be wrong on this point. The reductions cover quite a range, but do not include many of the more desirable items, such as men's suits and better women's dresses. One of the more intriguing cuts is that on babies' diapers, cut from 3/4 to 1/2 coupon a piece. Many people in Canada do not realize that other things besides straight clothing comes out of the ration, things such as sheets and pillow cases, towels, and curtains. The one positive benefit that all welcome is the bonus of 12 coupons, about 3 months' supply at the current rate. This answers a complaint made when the original cuts were announced: if you had already spent your ration, of what use were the cuts? Just goes to show that you cannot keep everyone happy. At least these increases should add a little extra to every wardrobe, and more important, will give a little psychological promise to a nation dispirited with the austerities of the post-war world, with its seemingly endless skimping and scarcity.

THE British Railways, as the nationalized railways of Britain are called collectively, have made an intriguing announcement. There has been great disagreement as to the colours of the new system. In the democratic manner the British Railways executive have decided to put it to the people, and as a result, the summer season will see a procession of trains bearing suggested colour schemes on the railways all over the country. Make your choice, then drop a postcard to British Railways and tell them what it is.

The announced samples sound mouth-watering, and as a firm believer in the bright side of things, I am eagerly anticipating Old No. 9 in the new colours. Main line express engines will be blue with red, cream, and grey stripes. Other expresses are to be green similarly striped, and mixed traffic engines black, again with the same striping. But what I am really looking forward to is the coaches. Two choices are offered for main line trains. The first is for coaches plum and "spilt milk" (an asterisk in the announcement says that this is white with undercurrent of blue) lined with bands of yellow-maroon-yellow. The second sample is chocolate and cream, with the bands in black and golden yellow. The locals sound a bit more sedate, — maroon with yellow-black-yellow band. Whatever the final decision, one thing is certain. The New Look for the railways will be the Bright Look.

OLD TRAGEDIAN IN THE WINGS

The 'Help Yourself' Meat Markets

(BUFFALO COURIER-EXPRESS)

YEARS ago—many years ago, it seems—a boy told by his mother to run to the butcher shop did not particularly mind. With its huge cutting blocks, hanging halves of animals and sawdust floors, it was as interesting a place as any for a boy to browse around. Then there was the entrancing possibility of a free clipped sausage or even of wangling an unsightly bladder for use as a football. There was something about a butcher shop in those days, including the prices. By comparison, the modern meat dispensary is fairly bewildering in its merchandising efficiency to tempt the appetite and mock the purse.

The end of progress, however, is not yet. Apparently the day is not far off when housewives can serve themselves at the butcher's counter. "Self-service meat" is one of the discussion subjects at the Super Market Institute's annual convention in Chicago. Whether or not in allowance of evidences of frustration and hysteria among meat shoppers, it is to be noted that none of the help-yourself plans contemplate the possibility of the customer wielding a meat cleaver to slash her favourite cut from a quarter of beef or a near-equivalent from a pushing neighbour.

Sidney R. Rabb, chairman of the board of Shop & Shop, Inc., Boston, and president of the Institute, said roasts, chops and even juicy bones for the dog's enjoyment would be prepackaged. There are many angles to presenting fresh meat that way, however—refrigeration, special counters, preparation, pricing and others.

Shoppers will specially be interested in the item of prices, in the hope that they may be brought more into reach. The average housekeeper's appreciation of self-service meat merchandising would depend upon somewhat of a concession to the traditional significance of "help yourself."

Unconsidered Trifles

Mr. Smith: "My wife came from a very large family. Did yours?"
Mr. Brown: "No, she brought it with her."

Tommy—"Let's play at being married."
Betty—"No, daddy said we mustn't make a row."

Severe Female: "Are you quite sure it's a nice leg?"
Butcher: "Madam, it would not disguise a chorus girl."

"If the barometer drops suddenly, isn't that a sign that it's stormy?"
"Either that, or it's fallen off the nail."

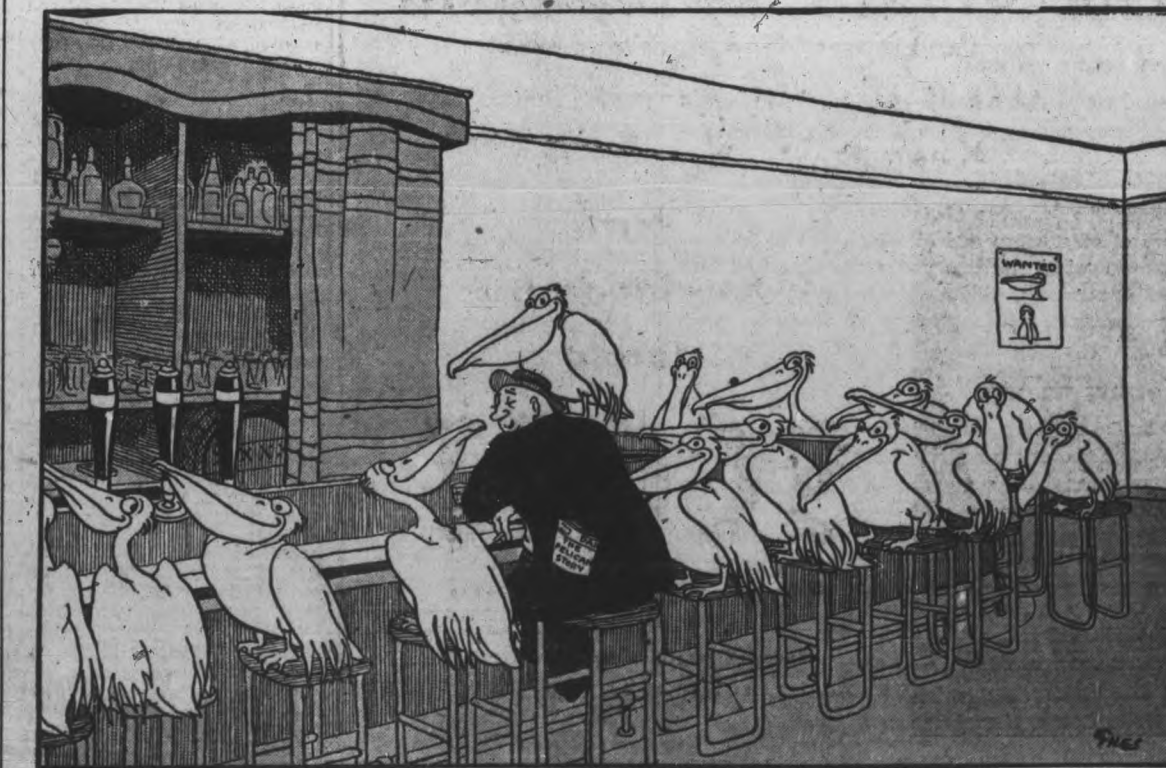

Two friends were having a drink. Presently a stranger entered in sombre garb.
"I say, old man," said one, "I believe that's the Bishop of—"

"I bet you half-crown you're wrong."
"All right; I'll go and ask him."
He went up to the soberly-dressed man and asked: "Excuse me, sir, but aren't you the Bishop of—?" It would settle an argument if you would tell me."

The stranger eyed him balefully and growled: "Mind your own so-and-so business!"
The other retreated hastily and returned to his friend.

"He won't tell me," he said sadly, "so now we shall never know."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion. When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens, and he causeth the vapours to ascend from the ends of the earth; he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the lightning out of his treasures.

Every man is brutish in his knowledge; every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them. They are vanity, and the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things; and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his name. (Jer. 10: 12-14.)

"Seeds Of Death"

Although some 350,000 mines sown in the seas missed being used for the specific purpose for which they were intended, it cannot be said, unfortunately, that the planting of so many "seeds of death" did not result in a harvest of human lives.

To date, 19 officers and 120 other ranks have been killed and nine officers and 37 other ranks have been wounded in the dangerous job of clearing the minefields, of which there were 2,900 at one time.

Happily, only nine fields remain, but some may never be cleared and will have to be permanently fenced off because of missing data on the location of the mines or a shifting of the mines resulting from erosion.—Brantford Expositor.

BIG CHIEF VISITS ALGOMA FIRES — Head of the world's largest fire fighting air service, Hon. Harold R. Scott, MPP, Minister of Lands and Forests, visited the Mississauga River fires in Algoma district Sunday. His seaplane picked him up at Chemong Lake, flew 1,000 round trip miles and made seven landings in seven hours flying time. Shown above (top left), deputy-minister Frank MacDougall, left, and Mr.

Minister of Lands and Forests Sees At First Hand Raging Forest Fires In Mississauga River Country

By NICK NICKELS

While most Peterborough people were blissfully sleeping Sunday morning, or attending church, the Hon. Harold R. Scott, minister of lands and forests, was waiting beside the famous floating bridge at Chemong Lake, straining his ears for the sound of an aircraft, and fiddling with his watch. His personal plane for the day, a Beaver, CF-OBS, flown by the department's deputy minister, Frank MacDougall, was due to pick him up at 8:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Scott was waiting with her husband, scanning the low horizon over the Ennismore shore for the seaplane. At exactly 8:10 a droning dot appeared, grew larger, and in less than a minute the plane let down for a smooth landing.

The high wing metal Beaver monoplane had no sooner hit the water than the pilot moved the throttle ahead a notch and planned to the bridge before shutting off the motor. He climbed out of the cabin and paddled the silent machine the few remaining yards to shore.

"Where have you been all day?" asked Mr. Scott with a twinkle in his eye, knowing full well his deputy had just come 60 miles from his overnight base at St. Mary's. "I only got up at 7:30; let's go," answered Frank. The plane took the minister and a reporter aboard. In what appeared to be a very short take-off distance from the bridge, he started the motor, revved it up and got the OBS on her float steps, off without a jar and climbed at a 45-degree angle over the Ennismore shore. Reporters get the small-boy thrill out of some assignments, riding in the fire chief's big red car, for instance. Here was a parallel case. Here was a ride in the chief's private plane, a man who headed the world's largest and most efficient fire-fighting air service, a branch of the Department of Lands and Forests. With 31 planes under his jurisdiction, his force patrol and control and forest wealth of Ontario's 425,000 square miles.

From strategically-placed watch towers, rangers watch the monotonous undulating forest, months on end, for the tell-tale wisp of smoke, perhaps from a runaway campfire, or a thunderbolt from a turbulent summer storm that ignited a resinous pine. They sound the alarm by radio or bush telephone. Radio-equipped seaplanes at scattered bases throughout the province are alerted, and rangers of many years experience go aloft to size up the blaze and make quick plans for control combat. The plane speeds back to its base to make its report, and if the blaze is bad, pumps, hose, tools and men are rushed to the scene. The object of fire fighting is not to extinguish a burning section, but to head off a blaze by cutting fire breaks and dampening down the approaching path of the fire to prevent it from spreading.

Two Anxious Months

If spring season is dry and a high fire hazard exists, the month of May and June are anxious periods. Small fires that cannot be headed off, sweep townships in a day, fanned by their own roaring draft. Wild life of the forest is trapped and burned and small streams full of fish are dried up, and in a few days' time or less, thousands of acres of forest are left smoldering, devoid of all life. A blanket of white wood ash mercilessly covers the charred remains of a million denizens of the wild. No more jobs here for hundreds of lumbermen and the generations behind them, no fish and game for Indians, hunters and tourists, nothing but a charnel house sponsored by carelessness. Oh, yes, those black and yellow posters which warn, "Put Out Your Fires," is a terse warning to be heeded by every Canadian and American alike.

Yes, June is fire time; it gets us back to the mission of the seaplane. It toolled along at 2,000 feet and the fertile farms slipped quickly below into straggling bush and the rich forest lands of Algonquin Park. Now, a left-hand spiral landing approach onto the glassy water of Smoke Lake beside the mirrored shoreline to gauge the lake's deceptive surface. A pair of loons skittered and dove before the rushing OBS as it coasted along to dock and the department's hanger to gas up for the next leg of flight.

A Quick Breakfast

John Bauke and George MacCrae caught the wing struts as she warped in to the neat ramp in front of the modified hanger. Frank made a quick bush breakfast on the single burner of the shop's hotplate, toast, coffee and bacon all cooking at once. A few minutes later, after Mr. Scott had inspected some cans of trout fingerlings, the OBS took off, up and headed north-west across the end of the park.

Another landing was made at Ramsay Lake, Sudbury, in the shadow of Copper Cliff's twin belching fume stacks that spread their deadly gas over the underlying nickel deposit, the richest in the world. The lake was busy with air traffic; a Nickel Belt Huskie flogged along for a take-off and an Austin Stinson paced the OBS for a smooth landing.

The trip was resumed after some business had been attended to and the seaplane soared away over the town, the smelter, the flaming slag piles and the yawning open pit of the Creighton Mine.

20 Fires Burning

Now bearing west and well north of Lake Huron's North Channel, the Algoma hills by under the droning plane, forest, sparkling lakes and turbulent streams from horizon to smoky horizon. It was getting smokier by the minute, and the back end of the cabin pitched and tossed in the warm thermal updrafts from the rocky ridges below. A thin pencil of dense white smoke showed ahead through the star-board window, a much larger one dead ahead, and two, four, five more on the port side. In a few minutes the plane was over 20 fires which smoked below on a north-east, south-west front 25 miles in length. We cruised in figure eights over a large territory that covered approximately four townships, belching white columns with jagged rings of orange flames at their bases; fires scattered on all sides. The smoke mushroomed to puffy heads and drifted east, fanned by a 30-mile an hour wind.

It was not a pretty sight, nor were the tired fighters at their base camps on Rouelle Lake where the plane landed. The weary crew, under Deputy Forester Perry Dickson, waded out waste-deep in the icy water to dislodge the OBS that had come aground on a sandbar. It was no use and Mr. Scott, Frank and the reporter waded ashore to where a gasoline pump drove lake water through 3,000 feet of canvas hose to the fire's front line. It was slowly circling their camp on the rising noon wind and only rain would stop the advance of the flames.

Two hundred and fifty men made up the fire-fighting army in this, the Mississauga River blaze. Fifteen pumps and 75,000 feet of hose were arrayed to control a conflagration started by one measly glowing cigarette butt, half an inch long. Who could be so dull as to ignore the department's warning, "Prevent Forest Fires—It Pays."

The flight took off again for the air service's flying headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie, where director George Ponsford met the plane and had dinner with the passengers. The plane took off an hour later over the smoking mills on both the American and Canadian shores, and left behind the slim ore whale-backs that piled up and down the St. Mary's River. Mr. MacDougall set course along the North Channel; Manitoulin Island stood out black to the south against the afternoon glare of Lake Huron, and a heavy south-west swell drove miles of white spindrift against the barren granite shore below. Dalton Returns To Cabinet Post

LONDON, June 1 — (CP). — When Hugh Dalton stepped down from his post as Chancellor of the Exchequer last November after news of his budget leaked out prematurely to a newspaper man, political observers forecast he would not be out of the limelight long.

They were proved right Sunday night with official announcement that Dalton has returned to Government office as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. The holder of this post usually is given important non-departmental government or cabinet duties. Most recent of these was responsibility for the British zone of Germany.

Dalton will be free to help in the work of the cabinet general since Prime Minister Attlee, at the time of Dalton's resignation, spoke of the "temporary interruption of a great career." Dalton succeeds Lord Pakenham, who resigned recently. Sir Stafford Cripps succeeded Dalton as Chancellor of the Exchequer in November. At that time, Dalton was accused of giving a London newspaper advance information on the budget tax changes. He accepted full responsibility for the leak, explaining it was given out inadvertently a few minutes before the speech was read in the Commons.

Rate Porterfield Best In Minors

By The Associated Press
Pitcher Bob Porterfield, hailed by Manager Bill Skiff of Newark Bears, as the greatest big league prospect in the minors to-day, has yet to taste his first International League defeat.

Porterfield has made eight starts for the league leading Bears and has won every one of them. His latest victory came Monday when he pitched the Bears to a 9-2 victory over the Jersey City Giants.

The triumph came in the first game of a Memorial Day double-header and snapped a five-game winning streak. The second game was called at the end of five innings because of darkness with the score knotted up at 2-2.

Jay Difani paced the Bears' 11-hit attack with two home runs. His first came with two aboard and his second with the bases loaded.

Five home runs helped the Buffalo Bisons hand the Toronto Maple Leafs a double-shelving 11-1 and 12-5 at Buffalo. Larry Barton belted one with the bases full for the Bisons in the opener. Johnny Groth and Anse Moore also homered in the first game. Coaker Triplett and Moore cleared the barrier in the nightcap.

Syracuse and Baltimore divided a twilight double-header, the Chiefs winning the opener, 8-0, and the Orioles taking the nightcap 8-5. Johnny Heiki pitched the shutout for the Chiefs.

Montreal and Rochester divided a double-header. After Paul Minner blanked the Red Wings 2-0 on three hits to outpitch Al Green, the Wings came back to outslug the Royals 11-5 in the nightcap.

Team wrestling, which goes as the feature in the Brock Arena ring tomorrow night usually develops just about double the excitement of a single match. The team of Pat Flanagan and Earl McCready represent a team of fast big wrestlers who should be capable of holding their own against almost any combination.

Opposed to them is the team of Jim "Goon" Henry and the Masked Marvel. The latter pair are enormous and powerful but McCready and Flanagan expect to "dust them off" on Wednesday night.

In the semi-final bout Dr. Ed Meske meets Dan O'Connor and to start the big evening off the Iowa grappler Nick Viccarelli meets Juan Lopez, the fiery Mexican of Detroit.

Record Number Sees Ball Games

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) - If there's been any deflation in the war-bred sports boom in the United States it wasn't noticeable Monday when record numbers of Memorial Day celebrators poured into major league ball parks and race tracks.

A total of 397,776, an all-time high, witnessed doubleheaders in eight big league baseball cities. The American League drew 192,300 and the National attracted 145,476.

But the diamond attractions failed to cut too deeply into devotees of the turf. A total of 345,997 visited 10 tracks and wagered $16,062,084.

The 500-mile speedway at Indianapolis, the country's greatest single gate lure, meanwhile, drew more than 175,000.

Belmont Park had the biggest turnout in its history and the second largest in the history of New York racing—63,409. Belmont's mutual was $3,444,160.

The two largest baseball crowds were at New York—62,626 at the Yankee—Washington game at Yankee Stadium and 57,102 at the morning-afternoon doubleheader between the Giants and Dodgers at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field.

ed a double-header. After Paul Minner blanked the Red Wings 2-0 on three hits to outpitch Al Green, the Wings came back to outslug the Royals 11-5 in the nightcap.

East Juveniles Roll Up Easy Ball Win

The north-east juveniles swept to a 26-2 City Baseball League win over the north-west squad last night in Riverside on an 18-hit tide. They hammered the ball hard and often as the losers came up with 10 errors. The victors fielded smartly behind three-hit hurling by Shaughnessy, who fanned 13 and walked two in a swell showing. Homers were hit by Langhorne, Swanson and McGillen as all the victors fattened their batting averages. The teams:

North-west: Carveth, c; Cullen, lf; Nichols, p; Hottis, lf; Wilson, ss; Bradley, cf; Pollock, rf; Johnston, rf; Cherek, 3b; Fontaine, p; Campanara, 2b; Collins, 2b.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

If all of the schedule games for the remainder of the season were to be played as smartly and promptly as those on Monday night—the opening night—there would be absolutely no kicking from anyone. There was not one default and the boys were off the greens and all lights out by 10:15 o'clock. That's the way it should be.

We'll see how Groups No. 3 and No. 4 do tonight. They have something to shout at.

We have been advised that the first mid-week tournament is set down for Wednesday evening. Draw from the board at 7:30 o'clock. Mixed rinks. Fee 25c. Come one, come all.

Notices have been sent out for the first open tournament of the season. It's for men's rinks—Stratton trophy—Wednesday, June 9; three 15-and games. Fee $6.00 per rink. So, now, bowlers, make up a rink and give your entry to Chairman R. Gamble or Secretary R. Knox.

Jack Boorman Gets Two Swim Firsts

Gordon Buck and Jack Boorman each scored twice in the Ontario YMCA swimming championships held in Hamilton last Saturday. Gord Buck won the 50-yard free style and placed second in the 100-yard back stroke for boys under 17. Jack Boorman won the 25-yard backstroke and the 25-yard free style for boys under 12. The competition was extremely stiff in all races as 14 YMCA's were represented. Swimmers competed from as far away as Sault Ste. Marie. Louis McClelland won his heat in the under 17 25-yard free style but was touched out in the final. Jack Forbes and Bob Howe did well in their heats but not quite good enough for the finals.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Ken Kingston tells us the midget lacrosse setup is blossoming beautifully in this borough now. The four-team juvenile loop is all set to go, and there are more than enough for four bantam squads. The midget players report tonight at 6:30 in Miller Bowl to register and meet two new managers, George Hill and John Cooper. Every-one interested is invited and no boys will be barred from any section of the circuit. One affiliated in each department with the OLA, by the way. Meaning winners will go into provincial playdowns. Jack Foote is chief coach of the minors and will make it a full-time job when school is out. Future of lacrosse locally really looks bright.

Recently read an article on heart diseases and it is amazing the number of victims claimed annually by this No. 1 killer. The number increases from year to year. Athletics are not blamed directly, but the inference is there. Overworking the organ, no matter how — and especially when the body is tired or when nearing the middle-age mark — is certainly an important cause leading toward later heart trouble. Men like DH Clapper, though still fine athletes, wisely retire before overdoing it. In the more strenuous sports like hockey, football and lacrosse, fellows in their late 30s are foolish to try to keep up with hustling youngsters in their early 20s.

He Was A Victim, Too

Abbie Rose was an ace athlete in hockey and baseball for years. After retiring, he had occasional heart murmurs. Some years later he went out and over-exerted himself playing ball in a benefit game at Riverside. It resulted in an attack which finished him. We recall as a youth playing hard handball with an uncle—then about 45—who could really make young speedsters puff and pant in tennis and handball. He often beat us, but youth eventually prevailed. He finally gave up such fast games—but he has a bad heart today though he is far from being an old man.

We simply point out these few facts as a word to the wise. The moral would seem to be: Don't play kids' games in your late 30s or early 40s. Taper off and figure you've had your day in athletics during your teens, your 20s and early 30s. There are exceptions, of course, but why take chances on strenuous sports too long? Why not shorten your playing career several years and probably add 10 or more comfortable years to your life? Sounds reasonable to us, and we'll bet a buck any doctor you ask will say the same. Heart trouble is no fun at all — it is deadly. Hence, we'd advise athletes of the harder types of play to think it over after hitting into the 30s.

They Named The Umps

Men's games at the Bowl tonight: Comestocks vs. Knights at seven, and Legion vs. Combines right after. At an executive meeting last night, 'twas decided to work the same two umpires both games in one night. They picked five umpires from the nine applicants like this: Harold Dorman, Les Caladine, Bas Frelan, Bernie Morin and Max Board. With Dorman listed as umpire-in-chief. Since the latest finish to date this season for a first game of a double-header has been 8:15, the executive ruled that teams going in the second game should be at the Bowl by eight o'clock. The managers are passing this along to their players, who are told to be there by eight and ready to go on the infield shortly after the first fray finishes.

Girls' games over their on the morrow: Ashby's vs. Marines, and Woollens vs. CGE. One fine fray last p.m. and a one-sided joust. The Electricians triumphed over an improved Look crew 12-7 and it was a neat number throughout. Marines lifted through the Woollens to the tune of 21-2, as the latter lasses came up with an "off" night. They were held to six hits while they kicked the cabbage around the patch 14 times. First fray reeled off in 1:15 while the second was 1:30—which wasn't too bad for that count. Umps Ron Akers and Bob Batley handed both tussles.

Batawa Beat Kingston

The Batawa bunch came through in Kingston last gloaming with a neat 4-3 COBL decision over the Locos. Latter outfit 'em 9-7 but had six errors to one. Jim Sherwood from Smiths Falls went well for the homers till the seventh but gave way then to Jack Stone whose speed ball fanned six and allowed no hits. Bedore went the route for Batawa, fanning three and walking four. The Oshawa scribe, warning the Merchants to strengthen up for the COBL campaign, predicts Batawa will head them all down the stretch. Pates won't be playing Batawa in Belleville this Thursday as grounds are not available. Kingston comes here Saturday.

DESE, DEM AND DOSE: Legion plays O'Halloran's a soccer match in King Edward tomorrow eve. Jack Boorman, starry young local swimmer, had two firsts in Hamilton on Sat'day. Nifty pro grapple card lined up for the Brock this Wednesday. West York senior "A" lacrossers play the Pates in Miller Bowl this Saturday (not Friday) p.m.; drills tomorrow at eight and Friday at 6:30 in the Bowl. Quakers took Westclox in industrial softball last night; two tilts tonight and it's De Laval vs. Brintons tomorrow. Intermediate Pates drill at 6:15 in the Ex Wednesday and Friday; Junior Bees are at Riverside at six tomorrow eve. West and east bantams play there tonight. The north-east javes swamped the north-west boys 26-2 last night behind grand pitching by Shaughnessy. Port Hope beat Bowmanville 4-2 in an intermediate game. Our big league scores are sometimes listed like this: Phil. 4, N.Y. 10—that shows which was home team. Wheel it off.

Ottawa Grooms Another Champ

OTTAWA, June 1.—(CP).—The capital is blossoming with girl champions. Having given the world Barbara Ann Scott as a figure skater, Ottawa hopes to have another winner, this time a tennis champion.

Its hope lies in Patricia Lowe, a 17-year-old girl who used to bounce a ball in Westmont tennis courts a few years ago. Today she is preparing for world tennis competition at Wimbledon.

It all started two years ago when Patricia captured the Canadian singles tennis championship for girls 15 and under. Last year she entered the Canadian open at Vancouver for junior women, 18 and under. She proved her ability by staying right up to the finals.

Capt. Gerald Wattsford, Patricia's grandfather, was one of a team to capture the Ottawa men's doubles championship in 1910 and 1911. In 1930 Patricia's mother, Mrs. Norman Lowe, won the Ottawa singles championship. Patricia has taken the local junior women's singles championship the last two years.

Like Barbara Ann, young Patricia practices hard and is se-

Marines Count A Victory Over Woollens

Outboard Marines rolled over Dominion Woollens 21-2 in a one-sided Girls' Softball League fray at the Bowl last night. Piling up an early lead, they coasted home comfortably, changing players often in the late stages. The losers had a bad night, being impotent at bat and kicking in with 14 miscues. The winners were in fine form to field well and pound the pill hard with runners aboard. It was just one of those games and they did well to clean it up in an hour and a half.

M. Connolly went half the distance for Marines and M. Downer finished up. The former fanned 10 and walked two, while the latter struck out one and walked a pair. S. Harris on the other hill had seven strikeouts and three walks, getting poor support. M. Behan, J. Jordan, E. Humphries and S. Harris were best fielders. L. Jordan led the hitters with four in six, and E. Whittaker hit a homer. S. Harris had two hits for Woollens.

The teams:
Woollens: B. Williams, rf; C. Ferguson, lf; S. Harris, p; B. Jaquith, c; J. MacIwain, 2b; M. Lang, 3b; S. Gilmour, ss; M. Frederick, ss; E. Humphries, cf; R. McIlroy, lf.

Quakers Gain Win Against Westclox

Quakers opened the Industrial Softball League at Quaker Field last night with a 14-7 win over Westclox. While the fielding was rather to one on both sides, the winners hit harder and bunched blows in several big innings. Horton struck out eight for the victors as two twirlers split duties for Westclox. Hay and Watson led the hitters. The teams:

Quakers: Lomax, c; Mantel, 3b; Dixon, lf; Horton, p; Weenber, cf; Renwick, 2b; Hay, ss; Gunn, 1b; Helms, rf.
Westclox: Murdoch, rf; McDonald, rf; Lex, cf; Healey, cf; McEsters, ss; Ferguson, c; Watson, 2b; Smith, lf; McIlroy, p; Kennedy, p; Hopgood, lf; Hefferman, 3b.

The Liverpool soccer team left New York Monday by plane to meet St. Louis All-Stars Tuesday night. The touring British team has won all five of its games so far against American competition. They will fly to Montreal Wednesday for the seventh game of their four Thursday night. They are scheduled to appear in Toronto on June 15th.

Odds against My Love, France's chief hope for the Epsom Derby, shortened from 100 to 9 to 10 to 1. It was announced in London Monday night. At the same time bookmakers extended the odds against My Babu, for the classic race to be run next Saturday. My Babu eased to 4 to 1.

Trainer Jimmy Jones of the Calumet Stable, said in New York Monday that Citation, Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, would not be shipped to Suffolk Downs for the $50,000 Yankee Handicap on June 5. He said he was afraid the shipping of the colt might affect his training for the Belmont stakes, third jewel in racing's triple crown scheduled June 12.

Jackie Robinson's right knee, which has been slow in healing since it was injured on May 13, will undergo X-ray examination Tuesday to determine whether there is a break. The Brooklyn Dodger infielder collided at first base with Zenny Zientara of the Cincinnati Reds on May 13. Robinson has been in and out of the lineup ever since.

Electrics Get Win Over Lock Co.

The Electrics came through with a 12-7 Girls Softball League triumph over Lock Co. lasses before a good-sized gallery in the Bowl last night. It was a tidy tussle throughout, run of in an hour and a quarter. The winners bunched their hits with a few walks in two four-run spasms to gain the verdict, but the losers were always in the hunt. The hitting was almost even and there wasn't much to choose between the clubs defensively as both came up with some good ball.

Marg Selkirk, on the victors' mound, struck out six and issued but one walk. B. Castle and P. Williams split hurling duties for the other side, the latter taking over in the fourth. The former had three strikeouts and two walks, while her successor whiffed two and walked three. M. Batley, R. Hewitt, D. Westlake and J. McIntyre all came up with good fielding efforts. M. Selkirk led the winners at bat with four for four, while the losers' hitting was well spread around.

Rose Is Victor In 500-Mile Race

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1.—(AP).—Fighting off challenges all the way, Mauri Rose of South Bend, Ind., Monday won the speediest 500-mile automobile race since the Indianapolis motor speedway's first Memorial Day feature in 1911.

Rose crossed the finish line with an average of 119.813 miles an hour for his third speedway victory and his second in a row. Right behind were his hard-luck team-mate, Bill Holland of Reading, Pa., at 119.147; Duke Nalon, Los Angeles, 118.934, and Ted Horn, Paterson, N.J., 117.844.

All four of those times were better than the previous record of 117.2 miles an hour, set 10 years ago by the late Floyd Roberts.

It seemed to be a record crowd as well as a record race. The crowd appeared to be between 150,000 and 200,000.

Last year Holland led most of the race and surrendered the victory to Rose.

Holland had had luck again Monday. He was running strongly near the end when his transmission began kicking out of gear. Duke Nalon also was coming up fast in the Novi grooved piston special when he had to make a pit stop for fuel.

Nalon and Horn both made two pit stops to one each for Rose and Holland, and that was the difference at the finish. Horn nevertheless remained the most consistent driver who ever rode the Indianapolis bricks. It was the ninth straight race in which he had placed fourth or better, although he never has won.

Cards Crumple Cincinnati Takes Twin Bill

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sport Writer

Memorial day, 1948, which produced the greatest single day turnout ever witnessed in the major leagues, will be remembered by baseball fans for a long time, but it will bring naught but poignant memories to the followers of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Only 24,009 fans were on hand in Cincinnati to see the lowly Reds inflict two decisive defeats upon the slump-ridden Redbirds which knocked the Cards out of first place in the National League.

The scores were 4-3 and 7-0. The defeats were the fourth and fifth straight suffered by the Cards.

The proud new occupants of the top berth are the New York Giants, who assumed a half-game lead over the Cards by earning a split in their double header with the Dodgers in Brooklyn. The Giants began by bowing to the Brooks 4-3 in the morning game. They came back strong, however, to win the afternoon game 10-1.

A crowd of 22,753 saw pitcher Ralph Branca help win his own game with a run-scoring single in the seventh inning which broke up a 3-3 tie. Another 34,349 came to see Johnny Mize slug two home runs, his seventh and eighth, and lead the Giants to their first victory at Ebbets Field this year.

The Philadelphia Athletics bounced out and back into the lead in the tight American League race by dividing a double header with the Boston Red Sox before Joe Dobson of the Red Sox had blanked them 7-0 on four hits, the A's came back to win the second, 2-1 to retain their game lead over the Cleveland Indians.

Manager Lou Boudreau's grand slam home run helped the Indians defeat the St. Louis Browns 8-3 in the first game to put the Tribe into temporary possession of first place. The crowd of 48,961 Cleveland rooters were doomed to disappointment, however, when the Browns, behind the four-hit pitching of Cliff Fanning, came back to win the second game 6-0.

The pitching of Frank Shea and the hitting of Bobby Brown enabled the New York Yankees to defeat the Washington Senators in both ends of a double header 10-0 and 5-4, before 62,626 fans at Yankee Stadium. Shea held the Nats to two hits in registering his third victory and second shutout.

Detroit's biggest crowd of the year—35,875 fans—saw the Tigers divide a double header with the Chicago White Sox. Scoring four runs in the first two innings, the Tigers won the opener 5-4. The Sox belted four pitchers for 15 hits to win the second game 9-3.

The largest attendance in the history of the Chicago club—46,965—saw the Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates split a twin bill. The Cubs won the opener 4-3. The Pirates won the second game 4-2 and left the third place Pirates only one game behind the front-running Giants.

After losing the opener to Philadelphia 6-3, Boston Braves sent the home crowd of 17,400 home happy by whipping the Phillies 10-4 to snap a four-game losing streak.

Lord Burchley, chairman of the Olympic organizing committee, recently disclosed in London that the U.S.S.R. had not yet organized a Soviet Olympic committee, the only action he said was necessary to qualify for an invitation to the games.

Investment Dealer Operates Much Like a Storekeeper

"There is nothing either mysterious or complicated about the operations of an investment dealer," said C. L. McCutcheon, vice-president of the Bankers' Bond Corporation, Toronto, speaking on Monday at the Rotary lunch at the YMCA.

"We operate very much like any storekeeper on George or Charlotte St. We buy merchandise and we sell it, sometimes at a profit, sometimes at a loss. Where do we go for our merchandise?—we go to the Dominion and Provincial governments, municipalities, public utility companies and corporations.

Mr. McCutcheon explained that the investment dealer has the machinery to advise on the type of securities best suited to the borrower's needs and the people to place those securities.

Have Their Customers

Insurance companies, trust companies and banks are all large buyers of stocks, and there are the business or professional men with savings to invest or matured securities to reinvest. "So," he said, "like the storekeeper, we have our customers or clients as we term them. We act as the merchandiser between those who have something to sell and those who have the wherewithal to buy."

He went on to give a brief account of the investment business, which until World War I was of small consequence in Canada. Prior to 1914 London security houses underwrote important Canadian issues, but the outbreak of war shut out the British market and Canada turned to New York to finance her war requirements. When the United States entered the war in 1917, Canada was forced to market her Victory Loan bonds at home.

Formed in 1916

"Although the Investment Dealers' Association was only formed in 1916," he continued, "it was given the task in 1917 of handling the subsequent Victory loans of the First World War. In that loan in 1917, all of Canada raised a 79 million dollar loan with 25,000 subscribers in 1917, we raised some two billion dollars with over 2,000,000 subscribers in the 9th Victory Loan in the fall of 1945.

"Our business now is a very large merchandising business, and fortunately for Canada, most of the debts or obligations of borrowers are being sold to our own people.

"Like most other businesses, we feel that we have almost too much supervision. In addition to

Collected $125 Under False Pretenses Man, 25, Gets Thirty Days In Jail

LINDSAY, June 1—(ENS)—Found guilty in police court this morning to four charges of obtaining money by false pretenses, Norman E. Bennett, 25, of 289 Arthur St., Oshawa, was sentenced to 30 days in jail. Bennett was arrested by Toronto police while working in a Toronto store and was brought back to Lindsay to face charges of selling advertising space while representing the Reddick Advertising Sales Co. of Oshawa, a former employer.

The accused, who acted without counsel, said he obtained about $125 from local merchants while selling ads for a Lindsay

Central Exhibition prize booklet. He claimed that he had been smashed up in the blitz while in London overseas with the army and was treated with dope until last year. Pointing out his marital troubles, Bennett stated that he had appeared before Magistrate A. Gee in Peterborough last June on a charge of attempted suicide.

"I took between 45-50 capsules of dope, recovered and received a suspended sentence."

"I'm giving you a break and a chance to make restitution," said the magistrate in sentencing Bennett.

He entered a written plea of guilty to illegal parking, and was fined $2, and $1 costs.

Labor Congress Abandons Code

OTTAWA, June 1—(CP)—President Percy Bengough of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada said today the congress has withdrawn its support from the proposed Federal Labor Code because of changes made in it by the Common Industrial Relations Committee.

Mr. Bengough said the bill had "deteriorated greatly" through the committee's handling. The measure now is before the Commons for third reading.

Committee changes objected to the T.L.C. were the broadening of the definition of "confidential" employees excluded from collective bargaining provisions of the code, and the deletion of a clause barring lawyers from labor relations board hearings. In its original form, the code excluded on "confidential" grounds only those employees working on labor relations matters. The committee widened this to take in all confidential employees. President Bengough said that change left the act too vague. Mr. Bengough said he expected the T.L.C. would issue a formal statement of its views on the bill this week.

Boy Leaves Home

WINDSOR, June 1—(CP).—Kenneth Gill, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gill, left his home to go to school a week ago. Since then his family has not seen him or have they heard from him. The youth apparently reached school but left in mid-morning.

He is six feet three inches tall, weighs 180 pounds, has black hair and a medium complexion. When he left home he wore a tan jacket, navy blue trousers and tan shoes.

ROBBERS MADE THEM LIE ON FLOOR—Kathleen Brown and Anna Borthwick, employees at the Bank of Commerce at Thedford, Ont., were forced to lie on the floor while thugs looted the premises. The muzzle of the gun "looked a mile wide," they said. The getaway car, camouflaged like a siege gun, was later found three miles from the $4,300 robbery. Earlier beliefs that the two robbers had been trapped has waned.

Bush Fire Smoke Noticeable In City

"There are no bush fires in our Kawartha area," said A. B. Local opinion was that the smoke drifted down from forest fires in the northern part of the province, an indication of timber loss.

Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Lawson Spend Busy Day In Peterborough

By HARRY THEOBALD

In his first visit to Peterborough Monday, Hon. Ray Lawson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, left many glowing opinions and grateful impressions of a zealous and cordial representative of His Majesty the King. And Mrs. Lawson shared in the pleasant memories they left in the course of their official calls during the afternoon. The Lieutenant-Governor's party came by automobile to the Empress Hotel shortly after one o'clock, and were greeted by Mayor W. G.

Ovens and the Hon. Harold R. Scott, who were accompanied by their wives. It may be told that to adjust their schedule to the afternoon program, the party, motoring from Oakville, brought a picnic lunch with them, and stopped for a while somewhere south of Bewley on Highway No. 28.

The itinerary of the afternoon began at the Collegiate and Vocational School, moved on to St. Peter's High School, then to Civic and St. Joseph's Hospitals. Next in the order was a garden party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pilon, 580 Gilmour St., where Mrs. Lawson remained for a while and then returned to the Empress, where a civic reception had been arranged by Ald. Adam Sands, chairman of the council's reception committee.

The official party was met at the Collegiate by the principal, Mr. C. S. Brown, and members of the staff, and Mr. D. V. Canning, chairman of the Board of Education. Mayor Ovens and Mrs. Ovens, Hon. Mr. Scott and Mrs. Scott accompanied the visitors in their afternoon calls. Mayor Ovens was the last to bid farewell to the Lieutenant-Governor after the Lions Club dinner at Brock Street Summer Gardens at 10 p.m.

Collegiate students packed their assembly hall. The school band, directed by Mr. Albert Crossdale, opened the proceedings by playing the Royal Salute, and after the presentation of the insignia of Member of the Order of the British Empire to Mr. G. A. Gillespie and Mr. A. L. Killaly, His Honor presented to the school a plaque of Ontario's coat of arms.

Describes Coat of Arms
"I have been surprised," he said, "that as I go about the province I find comparatively few people know what our coat of arms consists of. Its inscription is Latin meaning 'As loyal as she began, so shall she always remain.' Then there is the maple sprig and the red cross of St. George, patron saint of England. And at the sides are the bear, the deer and moose. If my visit results in your remembering that it will have been worth while."

His Honor said he had consulted his aide, Lt. Col. Whelpton, OBE, about the interests of young people, because the Colonel was nearer their age. "The information I got was that Col. Whelpton could recall a visit of a Lieutenant-Governor years ago, but his subject was beyond recalling. The one thing he remembered was that the Governor had requested the head of the school to give the children a holiday for the rest of the day. So, with the permission of your Mayor and your principal I think I shall stop talking and their permission to declare a holiday for the rest of the afternoon. I wish you the best of luck in your studies and happy days to you all."

The students, directed by Mr. Melvin Curtis, sang O Canada, and the visiting party retired to the office of Mr. Brown, and were introduced there to all the members of the staff.

St. Peter's Sea Cadets formed a double line to their main door to greet the Lieutenant-Governor with boyish flourish, and flags and bunting were strung from tree to tree. Sister Lucretia met the distinguished company who were received in the hall crowded with the high school students.

Bill Duignan had been assigned the privilege of extending the school's welcome to Hon. Mr. Lawson. In part he said: "We welcome you, sir, not only as the esteemed representative of His Gracious Majesty the King, but also as a Canadian citizen whose career might well be held as an ideal for any Canadian boy—the career of business executive, patriot, agriculturalist and patron of cultural enterprises.

"Your contribution to the Canadian aircraft industry as president of Federal Aircraft, which advanced materially the Commonwealth Air Training plan, was an outstanding contribution to victory. Among your many activities you are aiding the education of Canadian boys and girls by the establishment of loan funds for students. This is indeed a patriotic endeavor for it means the development of Canada's richest resource, her youthful talent. This appeals to us, and it warms our hearts to meet those who are interested in the welfare of young people.

"You are our friend, Honored Sir, and we shall always remember this day when our kind Lieutenant-Governor and his gracious lady showed their personal interest in Canada's future citizens by honoring us with a visit. May God bless you sir."

Miss Marilyn Doleman presented a bouquet of red roses to Mrs. Lawson.

"I hardly know how to reply to such a welcome," His Honor replied. "I wish to congratulate you on your splendid address, and I think we may look forward to hearing something of you in the future."

That compliment was to Mr. Duignan. His Honor then presented the coat of arms plaque to the school and explained its figures. He also asked Sister Lucretia to consider dismissing the class for the afternoon. His Honor remained a while chatting with the
